My dear Sir,

I have just returned from Paris - to arrange for the publication of a series of papers to be called

Paris Pauperism.

They are to give a full account of the Maisons de Secours; the treatment of beggars & impostors; the pauper hospitals, &c. which, you may know, I have long studied. They will, I am sure, attract great attention now, & guide the government in

- in many particulars - showing how much better pauperism is managed in France.

I make you the first offer of them: if you think they would be useful in your columns, should be glad to call on you at any hour on Saturday

Yours faithfully

W. Blanchard Jenold
