Dear allsop. I have been very poorly and nervous lately, but am recovering sleep &c. I do not make or make engagements for particular days, but I need not say how pleasant your dropping in any Sunday morning would be. Perhaps Jamison would accompany you. Pray beg him to keep an accurate record of the warning I sent by him to old Parr, for I dread lest he should at the 12 months end deny the warning. The house is his daughter's, but we took it thro' him, and have paid the rent to his receipts for his daughter. Consult J. A. he think the warning sufficient. I am very nervous, or have been, about the House; lost my sleep, & expected to be ill, but slumbered gloriously last night golden slumbers.

I shall not relapse. You fright me with your inserted slips in the most welcome atlas. They begin to charge double for it & call it 2 sheets. How can I compute them by opening it, when a note of yours might slip out, & we get in a hobble. when you write, write real letters. Marys best Love & mine to Mrs A. Yours with C Lamb
