Nov. 24.

My Dear Sir

The postman luckily brought your packet to my house, but to-morrow I mean to take the original
M.S.S. to the Library. As a first glance they seem interesting and

humorous, though the subject is rather sad reading for a person who can't help preferring the old Hunt to the German pretenders. I trust as you know
the result of my examination of the papers.

Very sincerely yours
H. Lang
