Dear Mr North I have written to a friend of mine at the Home Office since Lamb's portrait was hung (as it should) & he will doubtless let you have a line machine it.
easy to visit it.
Its own number of Lamb's is considerable I hope he will not be away in his holiday

the William Foster.

The Athenaeum review (the

begin in many ways that I have read) was of

Thomas Hutchinson's, the

know more about Lamb

& Lamb's contemporaries

than any one living.

It is he who ought to have made the critic. I know nothing of Macdonalds, & cept that he is a Scotch.

 man. I am a Quaker.
 I may need a few
 to tackle your C.L.
 of the indignity would be complete. Believe me yours sincerely

E. V. Lucas
