my dear North

I am dealing with the Punch editor's portrait - E.V. Knox.

You came not to Froghole but to Kingston Manor, near Lewes, in or about 1912. I had left Froghole.

The life of Moxon is being very carefully compiled by Miss E.C. Johnson, Claflin Hall, Wellesley College, Mass., who will be delighted to hear from you.

My edition of Lamb's Letters was a serious flop over here, where no one does more than talk of him. We and Dent, who combined to publish the work, each lost some hundred pounds.

But ~~of course~~ I want anything new that crops up.

I am glad you are writing your reminiscences.

Yours sincerely
E. Lucas
