EALING, W.5.

Dear Mrs Bayne.

I know how little words help at such a time, yet I must send a message of sympathy to you and a message of admiration for him. He was a fine man - how fine he was when he had strength to work I know perhaps better than any living man - and yet I thought him finer still when no suffering could break his spirit - and now he is at peace

With deepest sympathy
yours very sincerely
Hugh Mauleston
