Dear Mr. North:

Yours of Oct. 18th was received sometime ago and should have had an earlier answer but I have been away part of the time during this interim and your letter escaped my attention when I came back. Therefore it is probably too late for me to help you in the matter suggested now.

However I have two volumns of J. P. Collier's ^{rtical} Political Decameron which is a presentation copy by Collier to Lamb and apparently by him to W. E. Burton, and the books in question came afterwards from Burton's library. There are a few of Lamb's annotations in them.

Yours sincerely,

Henry S. Howe,
