Dearest Christine,

It has been delightful to hear that your husband is better. I do trust you will finally settle in quarters not too far off us.

Meanwhile I come as a Bore. You told me some time since of some nice apartments in France kept, I think, by a man and wife and not expensive. Could you, like an angel, send me the address & terms & any information abt them on a card, if possible by return? I should be more than grateful.

I have Daisy & Amy with me which I enjoy immensely, in spite of wintry winds.

What sort of summer have you been having. I often think you-wards and want to see you dear.

I am working hard at my book and other sneaks & otherwise have no news.

For I hope that it is not news that I am ever (and with many greetings to your husband)

Your very affec friend
Edith Litchell
