

Audon, Mass.

October 30. 1875.

My dear Mr. Osgood:

Thank you

for the Gentry books which are thoroughly pretty. I am much pleased with them.

I am very to hear that you have been ill.

But who, being an American,
can be anything else?

For comfort but solid truth!

Please send me half a dozen more books this week if you can. Yours very truly, E. S. Phelps.
