

Dear Madam

15th January 1755.

My dear Mrs. Macqueen.

You are irresistible. What do you say to Saturday next, or Saturday week?

Believe me, I feel deeply the compliment which my good friend your husband paid me in buying my "Miscellany" paper; and am delighted to find that you are both pleased with them, so far

Mrs. Macqueen. }

as you have found

I wish your husband would carefully read "The Romance of Forgery" "Who is the Murderer" & "Speculations
among the Stars" - and I wish that you also would read them.

Wishing you <sup>with</sup> a happy New Year believe me

Yours very sincerely
Samuel Warren.

M. J. Estlin

W. Saturday to ask perfectly convinced;
I beg you to do so without a moment's hesitation. -
