

"Affliction is a rough soil; but the Sweet flower Resignation grows in no other!"

[From "Ten Thousand Years."]]

MindWarren.

London 22 June 1865.

WARREN, Samuel. English Novelist; wrote "Ten Thousand a Year." AUTO.
QUOTATION SGD. 1p., oblong 4to. London, June 22, 1865.

AN INTERESTING QUOTATION FROM WARREN'S FAMOUS NOVEL, "TEN THOUSAND
A YEAR:" "Affliction is a rough soil; but the sweet flower resignation grows in no other!"— from 'Ten Thouand a Year.'

WARREN, Samuel. English Novelist; wrote "Ten Thousand a Year." AUTO. QUOTATION Sgd. 1 p., oblong 4to. London, June 22, 1865.

AN INTERESTING QUOTATION FROM WARREN'S FAMOUS NOVEL, "TEN THOUSAND A YEAR:" "Affliction is a rough soil; but the sweet flower resignation grows in no other!"—from "Ten Thousand a Year."