

Tr. Lodge, Cambridge

Nov. 25. 1854

Dear Sir

I send you the ~~two~~ article on Lewis's Poems, corrected. I hope that you or the Editor will see that the corrections are made, & for the length is terrible or severe as it is printed. The notes since I have marked A, B, C are misplaced. I should be glad to omit my own name in them, if I could: and am willing to omit the notes altogether if you either think it proper to do so.
I have added a few paragraphs with extracts from the book itself which I think make the article more amusing.
If possible I should like to see a proof of the whole, as you know I should not great delay & to pay it: be fore most of our small the expenses of publication.

I am, dear Sir,

Yours faithfully,

W. W. Heath
