Dear Mrs Hertz,

If I possibly can go to you on Wednesday, I wish - but I despair of finding it possible in the face of the three engagements I have for that afternoon and evening: none promise so much interest to you, - but all have my promise - and what can I do but wish, like Lawyer Dowling, that I could "cut myself into a many pieces?" Give your love - whom I have been wishing to see every Sunday since I last did see you - have I seen you yet?

At the same time, other people, with quite as many calls on their time, manage to turn their expenditure of it to better account than I do - but that is their secret - not that of Yours ever most truly

Wm. Brewster.
