

My Dear Lady,

I think I uncer-
-tained if you or Mr. Crouch would remind me, just povied to see Sytobittain, I would send you the 20/-:- Though you have forgot me, I have not you.

With love I hope,

In great haste

Your Madam

May 31-1834

Mr. Crouch.

Yours Respectfully
J. Woodfall

My dear Miss Cherry,

I am sorry I was from home when your note arrived yesterday afternoon, and additionally so, that Mrs. P. did not mention when I had the pleasure of seeing her, that you had sent, as <sup>was</sup> the case I might have arranged what you required, though, I have been most strenuous in recommending to our Proprietor to try Easter Week without adopting the orderly system. No general rule without an exception, and that one in the instance alluded to, would have been, (which I should have done with great pleasure,) placing you and your fair friend under an arm, and having you as my friends into the hands. -

The opportunity had escaped, and I have only to request that you will present our united respects to Miss Pearson, and add that Miss W. and your humble servant shall be much gratified if <sup>she</sup> ~~she~~ <sup>she</sup> will will join you any evening which may be most convenient and take your book in Thankful Sheet, when I shall with the <sup>best</sup> vicar witness and much <sup>satisfaction</sup> gratification do as I have stated: - Conditionally only, that you take your son with us. I beg that you will arrange an early evening, and believe me ever with Yours, &c.

Dulwich.
April 6-1831.

L. Woodfall.

I have mentioned a distillation of the rose & lavender & protea and Poucheang, because in the lab + scene of the French Spy, — the explosion of a mine — you will have plenty if you please for any war that of gunpowder !!!
I may be at hand.

Kind remembrance to Mr.
Cherry and Harriet.

++ Our business is unprosperous, but I am firmly convinced, that the neighbourhood never will encourage beyond a trifling expenditure — a town, my friend had yet to learn.

Miss Cherry.
