George Robins was yesterday walked out of both the General & Sub Committee of Drury Lane
- he will call it resigning, but they call it - kicked.

My Dear Fred.

With taste & judgment, "stung both against the deed", I have resolved on coming down to the blackguard level tomorrow, & the wonders of old Dury Lane, the glories of its pageants, the splendour of its decorations, aristocracy, dancers, Foreigners, de, de, all "going, going" for the small sum of 4/ to the Boxes, 2/ to the Pit, 1/ to the Gallery.

I send you this hint, in case it may in any respect alter your plans, knowing that 24 hours notice is sometimes valuable.

To Mr. Garrick, Mr. Sheridan, Mr. John Kemble, Mr. Kean, et hoc genus omne. I reply
"Thou canst not say I did it."

Ever thine

Alfred Bunnys A. B. M. M.

Dury Lane
Sunday.
