Dear Agnes

I shall be very glad to dine on the 17th & I beg many pardons for the delay, I was very poorly for two days, & thought to keep my bed, but I have, on the contrary, putted up again: and missing what are called the "gaieties" go on:— where every body must feel like

the poor mice who are experimentalized upon
in an "exhausted receiver".

I have never yet
got to the play, but hear great praise
of Black Sheep; I hope
it fulfills the nursery song, and
brings much wool;

"3 bags full" as I
recollect was the quantity proclaimed
in my childhood.

I will try my chance
to see you again
before your day
of card invitation.

You affect

My dear Yates

I tried to see you but hear that you are not in town. I only wished to give you a good hand-shake in token of sympathy and friendship. You have been most harshly and unjustly treated, and I only wish your friends could "rally round you" to some purpose. We can only say that we are your friends.

Yours, my dear Yates

Faithfully Yours
