Dear Miss White,

I should have answered you like sooner, but I have a way of neglecting correspondence. I am not in the least offended. I have consulted my family in this matter, and they will find out what the manuscript is thought to be worth. I have myself withdrawn from all business affairs for years, but I feel for certain seasons that my wife was the right to decide upon such matters.
I will write you again.

Sincerely yours

Amos Church
