Dipton.

Sept. 28. 1845.

My dear Kenealy. I am quite vexed that I have not been able to write to you for the last few days, but I have been knocking about the coast, and idling my time most atrociously.

I was in a tremendous huff at finding that mortimer had had the impudence to insert your "Captain Bobadil" in his last Number.
Upon my word, I think it the coarsest thing I ever knew done - and if it does not originate in Rodin's advice it is worthy of him. How were aware of the circumstances, I make no doubt you have written a strong letter. If not, I need not counsel you what to do. The article being inserted against your inclination I should insist upon the price for the best payment for it. - I have desired my advertising agent to send you Gartner's printed card of advertising in his paper. His charge is £3-3. per page - and I believe you had only the 1 page. Proceed against him, and you will recover; but do not delay, for he is a his last year - Badly as he has used most of us, he has supported himself more independently toward you than toward any one.

Yours

My dear Kenealy -

I am quite vexed that I have not been able to write to you for the last few days, but I have been knocking about the coast, and idling my time most atrociously.

I was in a tremendous rage at finding that Mortimer had had the impudence to insert your "Captain Bobadil" in his last number. Upon my word, I think it the coolest thing I ever knew done and if it does not originate in Rodin's advice it is worthy of him. If you were aware of the circumstance, I make no doubt you have written a strong letter. If not, I need but counsel you what to do. The article being inserted against your inclination I should insist upon Ten Guineas per sheet payment for it. I have desired my advertising agent to send you Mortimer's printed card of advertising in his magazine. His charge is £3.3. per page and I believe you had only 1 page. Proceed against him and you will recover; but do not delay, for he is on his last legs - Badly as he has used most of us, he has comported himself more impudently towards you than towards any one.

Ever Yours
