

Westminster Hotel, New York

Tuesday Night, Twenty-first April 1868

Dear Mr Salner.

I thank you most cordially for your elegant present, which I shall have a particular pleasure in preserving as a remembrance of you - as I hope I shall prove to you when you next come to England. In the meantime and until my last wishes are with you for your prosperity and happiness.

If it be lawful in our dear Angel's wings for my body to send his love to Mrs Palmer, I send her mine.

Yours affectionately
Marlowe