I would like to have three plumbers to work during the regular vacation period this year to make necessary repairs to the boiler in the miners' bathhouse at Wheelwright.

Two of the plumbers I have talked with would like to take their vacations starting June 4 to include June 13.

Would they be required to take two full weeks or could they start back to work after the ten-day period?

I have not, as yet, told them that they could have their vacations at this time.

Please advise.
