

The College Home for Young Women on Limestone Street is approaching completion and will be ready for occupancy when the January term begins. It is a well constructed building. W. K. Patterson, representing at his request, the chairman of the Building Committee has given it unremitting attention. He has been on the premises every day and has scrutinized closely all the work that has been done and all the material which has been used.

I think it would be well to dedicate the building sometime in January and to invite the Governor, State officials and members of the General Assembly to be present on the occasion. A suitable entertainment should be provided in the dining-room of the building for the guests and such arrangements made for their comfort as would make their visit pleasant for them.

The time has come when we cannot any longer go on under existing conditions. We require more space for class room and laboratory work and additional equipment. This is especially true of Mining Engineering which may be said to have as yet neither space nor equipment. The Mechanical, Electrical and Civil Engineering courses are also crowded beyond comfort and efficiency. The department of Physics is in similar condition and the necessity for enlarged accommodations for Normal School work is urgent.
