HERE SHALL THE KERNEL ALL STUDENT RIGHTS MAINTAIN

A FINE PRECEDENT: The announcement by Omicron Delta Kappa that it intends to start a precedent among the dance-giving organizations on the campus by obtaining well-known dance orchestras, and at the same time, keeping down the admission fee, is a laudable one and it was heard on the campus with much rejoicing.

For many reasons, the music that University prom-goers have danced to in the past has not been up to the standard set by many and less noted institutions. With the signing of the campus leaders' contract to secure a nationally known band, a new era in the social life here may be dawning.

If the organizations which have commercial dance dates this fall will begin working now they may be able to get bands which will help to raise the social prestige of the University as well as that of their own group.

WORTHY REQUEST

The two organizations on the University campus known as the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are making a bid for financial support during the next few weeks, in their annual membership drive.

The majority of us are prone to assent and to praise their achievements in a rather lackadaisical manner, simply accepting them at their face value and giving little genuine thought to the territory covered by the various groups in each.

Both organizations are organized even to the most minute detail; most clubs of this type generally only believe themselves to be organized, but have serious flaws in their make-up.

The foregoing statements might be mere propaganda in the face of the ensuing membership drive were it not that they are quite true. President McVey says, "These organizations have done an effective and influential work. From my observations, I would say that they are doing more and better work than they have done in the past."

Hence, The Kernel joins the President in saying, "Any contribution that you can give in the way of a subscription would be greatly appreciated."

CAMPUSALUTATIONS HEARD

BETWEEN CLASSES: "Hyal!" "Hyal!" "Whaddaya doin'?" "Nuthin. Whaddaya know?" "Nuthin at all." "Ain't it awful?" "Simply oue-lay." "Goin to class?" "S'pose so."

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT—that guy over there shaking hands with himself is just a campus politician warming up!

UNIVERSITY TYPES:

The Campus Smoothie—Among his assets are a good line, a rattle-trap car, a book of addresses, and an eye for cute-looking coeds... His preference in wimmen is blondes, not because he's a gentleman, but because they have such admiring big blue eyes and because they're apt to say, "Oh, I think you're wonderful!"

THEO-rists:

- 1. Campusists for the gals who get campused for coming in late. 2. Campusneers for the gals who DON'T get campused for coming in late. 3. And phooey to the boys who bring the gals home late—and don't have to suffer for it like we do!

SPEAKING IN SUPERLATIVES:

The most typical newspaper man is Joe Quinn... most he-mannish looking is Dud Whaphy... the tiniest feet are attached to Dot Whalen's legs... the lad with the most contagious good humor is Edward (The Great) Recano... most bored-appearing coed is Sis Tate... the nicest grin is on Josephine Lee's face... the most pestiferous junior is "Mac"... the most nervous are the kids getting their Kentuckian pictures made... the most unconcerned guy is H. Courtlandt Bliss, the Jersey Skeeter.

THINGS WE COULD DO WITHOUT DEPARTMENT:

- 1. Campus politicians. 2. The Georgia Tech game. 3. Drovers in the Browning room. 4. Freshman caps.

Spectators stoned a matador at Puebla, Mexico, in protest against the type of bull he employed. A word to our campaigner spillbinders should be sufficient.—Tacoma Ledger.

The peasant women of Russia have been ordered to work six days a year on the roads. If they do well at it Stalin lets them have a few days every summer to rest up in a coal mine.—New York Sun.

A report on progress in the Dionne nursery says the girls are acquiring judgment of their own. Look out any day for a three-to-two decision.—Portland Oregonian.

This Campus and That World

By RALPH E. JOHNSON: Within me two voices speak their minds—one little voice speaks for my head, the other we small voice cries out in favor of my heart.

What consolation I can gain from my own private soliloquy! Therein I may obtain for myself balm for a wounded pride. Should the voice of my head dictate that I should do an unpleasant thing then my heart whispers softly so my head won't hear that there'll come another day and together we will show up Mr. Head. My day-dreams originate with those same soft spoken fellows. Castles in the air may be built by the heart. The same house may tumble down before the barrage of logic uncocked by Head.

Heart is a "good fellow," hale, hearty, well-met! Head is the meeker of the two, yet he voices stern commands that may be heard. Never does he bellow and bluster as does Heart. His is the soft spoken answer that turns the head away wrath. His is the logic of the ancient Greek philosophers, Lord Byron and Shelley.

When your Head flips a coin to see whether he will tell you to study or dance, Heart will take heart and talk, and only if it should stand on edge will he study.

"Work before pleasure" is the motto of Head. "Wine, women and song" is the slogan of Heart. Together they get their merry way reminding me of Mark Twain's famous story of the two headed twins who possessed but one set of legs between them. One of the heads was blond, the other brunette. The blond was sassy, the brunette, a rounder. Each possessed control of the legs for a week at a time. The arguments between the two heads is very like the soliloquy of your mind and mine.

Of course, Heart favors the pleasures and Head looks with favor on things better for you morally, physically, mentally. Head would keep you from enjoying yourself if his voice were dominant. But without pleasures life is pretty futile. Suicide would be ever so common. But Heart finds time to sow his oats. Head gets you up in the morning for eight o'clock classes, and then keeps you up late at night studying. It is the same Head that controls your feet as you walk to work. It is Heart who walks you out and to the tavern and bed.

What fun within you lies! Some may call it "conscience," others "free will," but I call it my "dictator." I have been under a dictatorship for all my days. I shall die under that same stern rule.

In your idle moments, have you ever noticed the little cherubs that gaze down from their places on the ceiling in the Pub hall entrance? They are ever in evidence, watchfulness, four of them looking down on all who enter—sort of symbolical, I suppose.

Then, have you ever noticed the upper stories of the business houses down town? Very few of them are up-to-date. Looking down on the roofs of the city one is given the impression of old shanty town—most of them are tar paper. Very few persons ever look at a building above the first story. For instance, everyday most everyone of you pass the Administration building. Have you ever noticed that the molding around the windows looks like the ruins of Carthage—the cement has almost completely disintegrated?

Since I have admitted I am from the North and since so many people ask me why I came "way down here to go to school," I have been wondering just why students from the North and East do come down here for their education.

The first cause, I suppose, is financial. A student can go through school here for as little as $30 per month and still have the necessary comforts. Tuition is reasonable. In the East tuition, for the year, often exceed the entire cost of one year down here, including transportation.

For a second reason you may take the relative ease with which a student may gain entrance into the southern universities. If one needs to go to school in the East one wants to go to Harvard or Yale or Princeton. Stiff entrance requirements.

At the moment, however, Louise Harris, the Huntington, W. Va., flash and Mary Lee Ramsey, the cute little North Carolina gal, appear to be leading the Recano parade.

A fine idea has originated in the minds of the Mortar Board girls this year. That is, the selling of chrysanthemums at all the home football games. So boys, loosen up and let's try to make the Kentucky side of the stadium look like one great big bouquet.

It looks like a year and a half would decide a love question one way or the other, but from just sitting here in the typing room and listening to KD Elizabeth Ligon lift all over our browbeaten Kyan editor, James Anderson, we are afraid that match is still in the making.

And who is the boy that is so interesting to Mary Elizabeth Hawk that she is changing from the howl to Dunt's for lunch? It can't be (Continued on Page Four)

Andy Anderson to Play For SuKy Dance In Gym Tomorrow Evening at 9

Delta Zeta to Celebrate for Founders' Day Tomorrow In Louisville

The annual SuKy dance will be held from 9 to 12 Saturday night in the Alumni gym. Andy Anderson and his orchestra will provide the music.

The chaperones will be President and Mrs. McVey, Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Brewer, Dean T. T. Jones, Dean Sarah Blanding, Dean Sarah Holmes, Dean and Mrs. Paul Boyd, Professor and Mrs. W. E. Freeman, and Coach and Mrs. Chet Wynne.

Delta Zeta Founders' Day
A Founders' day luncheon and initiation will be the features of the semi-annual meeting of the Delta Zeta society to be held Saturday at the Kentucky hotel, Louisville. Representatives from Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, and Ohio will be present.

Miss Edith Woodburn, president of the Alpha Theta chapter, University of Kentucky, will officiate at the initiation ceremony at 3 p. m.

Mrs. John M. Coleman, Loveland, Ohio, one of the four living founders of the society, and Miss Irene Boughton, national president, will be guests of honor at the luncheon.

The society was founded October 24, 1902, at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, with the assistance of Dr. Guy Potter Benton, a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Elizabeth Dietrich, Maysville, and Charlotte Percival, Covington, will be initiated into the Lexington chapter, and Marie Scazo, Cincinnati, and Norma Cox into the Louisville chapter.

After the initiation services, the members of the Lexington chapter will be guests of honor at a house dance given by the Louisville chapter.

Those from Lexington who are planning to attend are Dorothy Santen, Marian Mehler, Dixie Abram, Ruth Weatherford, Mary Neal Walden, Marie Snyder, Elizabeth Doyle, Susan Price, Ruth Hamersley and Marjorie Mays.

The local Alumni chapter will be represented by Misses Hollis Huddle, Sarah Thorn, and Mrs. E. P. Huston.

Sara Gentry spent the week-end at her home in Harrodsburg and attended the homecoming game at Centre Saturday.

Shop Sights

By BETTY EARLE

This week we're all interested in the opening of Keeneland, the most beautiful race track in the country, so how about keeping up with everyone else and decking yourself out to suit what's going on!

Baynham's has some good-looking Laird and Scherer shoes for the occasion and even has them all labeled for you. One is called the "Keeneland" — a pump of dark brown suede with a London tan trim just where you're most likely to "scuff" the toes—we still haven't grown up enough to avoid that!

Thin kid bows of the same shade relieve the plainness, and the heels are a high medium. Another model is called "Fast Time." The combination of colors and materials is similar to the "Keeneland." The strap is broad and fastens with a dull gold buckle. One of the newest numbers is the "Highland Monk," an oxford of the latest high cut, a little more conservative than that of the Alpine shoes shown by Harper's Bazaar. They are of Sneland hide, the rough, hairy type which is very smart as well as durable.

For the men Baynham's suggests heavy English brogues of Scotch grain Norwegian calf. The choice of colors is yours, fellows.

To go from one extreme to the other we took a look at hats next. Wolf-Wile's are making a feature of the "Knock-Knock" hat! It will fold so you may carry it anywhere with perfect ease and comfort, turns up or down, just as you please, is trimmed with a bright feather, and comes in brown, blue, gray, black or green. If you prefer a turban, there is a wide variety of them for you. One was a brown felt with a small bill, a sort of Alpine hat. Perched precariously on said bill was a small veil (it won't get in your eyes, caught there for decorative purposes only) with two little tails of fur to hold it in place. Perhaps you'd like better the velvet turban tucked up in the front to hold a long plesasant feather.

Believe it or not, it does get chilly these fall nights, and the time's comin' when you'll wish you had a good warm coat! Just travel down to Shipp's and pick out one of their fine Krashire's, exclusive at this one shop. Krashire's are noted for their warmth, their lengthy service, and last of all, their plaid backs—that means the linings are of Scotch plaid throughout. Many are surmounted by heavy quilted silk in the upper half. The coat material itself is of plaids, checks, or plain designs. One we particularly liked was of Oxford gray with four pockets cleverly fashioned into plaids and a two-buttoned loose belt in the back.

Whether you are fond of bridge or not (and most men aren't), gentlemen, you can't help liking the "New Trump" shirt manufactured by Arrow and sponsored by Graves-Cox! It's a completely new version of a very popular shirt, has a soft collar you'll feel comfortable in all day, not only because it is soft, but also because you'll know you look as fit as fitten' when you put it on. It

Phi Delta Theta

The following were out to town during the week-end: Jack Evans, Cincinnati; Harry Wilson, Irvine; Dossett Reid and Richard Chauvet, Burkesville.

John Creech attended the homecoming game Saturday at Centre. Evelyn Flowers was a dinner guest Sunday at the house.

Luncheon guests Monday were Margaret Greathouse, Emmy Haggin, and Pattie Field Van Meter.

Charlotte Briggs was entertained for lunch Tuesday.

Lambda Chi Alpha

won't flare up and it won't curl! The "New Trump" has Arrow's famous Mites form-fit design and is Sanforized-Shrunk. In addition, the patterns are the "last word" in the new fall stripes and checks.

Attention, girls—it's hot news we've stumbled on this week! How would you like to win free a year's supply (eight pairs) of Paris Fashion shoes? Just finish to the sentence, I like Paris Fashion Shoes because — because what? Miller's shoe department will give you an entry blank, and the easy rules. One hundred women throughout the country will win a year's supply of Paris Fashion shoes, who finish the above sentence in 25 words or less. Get your entry blank today or tomorrow, and submit it before December 15 at Miller's, Shoe Department, 216 West Main street!

Upon receiving verbal quizzing from Prof. Knapp in class Thursday, to her embarrassment and the enjoyment of the class, Stanley Elizabeth Clay admitted that she made a whole of a difference whether a boy took the girl to the Kentucky or the Opera House. Who was it said girls had refused to be mercenary?

Working out at Kenneland on the part-mutuels is not a money-making proposition if all of them are like Moose McLoney. After his first day (makes $6 a day) he had to pay for $8 worth of tickets he had punched out by mistake.

Although we promised to say nothing of the trip to Washington and Lee, one little incident is too good to keep a secret any longer. As the story goes, a boy, under the influence of intoxicating liquors, had been trying to pin Francis Woods the whole week-end. Finally, in desperation after receiving no encouragement, he slipped up behind her and pinned her on the back of her dress. Crying out to the world that he had succeeded in his life's mission, he keeled over and was out for twenty-four hours.

Model Co-Ed To Be Announced by Firm Next Week

Dear Co-ed: The first winners of the model contest sponsored by the Mitchell, Baker, Smith Co. will be announced next Friday, October 30. It is not too late to get in on this unique offer. Simply print your name and address, height, weight, waist measurement and the size shoe you wear on a card and deposit the card in box provided for this purpose in the post office. You can obtain these cards at the following places: Mitchell, Baker, Smith shoe department, Cedar Village, Patterson Hall, Boyd Hall, and the Woman's building.

Don't forget, the co-ed who's measurements are most like the model selected will receive first prize, a pair of $5.00 Conmie shoes absolutely free. The next prize will be a $3.00 bag and the third prize will be a $1.00 pair of chiffon hose. —Adv.

Students Hear Vassar Head

The second item in the students' bill of rights, said Doctor McCracken, is the right to know himself. Students do not know the laws of either physical or mental health, and have not enough knowledge of modern psychiatry and clinical psychology. "It is the obligation of every university to furnish this knowledge," he continued. "Students should be made to realize the resources of their schools in these matters."

The right of the student to support himself was the third right expounded by Doctor McCracken. He advocates an organization which will offer financial aid to those students who need it, such as the student banks in Denmark and Sweden, from which students may borrow on their word, and to which other students contribute. Information concerning scholarships and loans for students should be disseminated through the country so that students may avail themselves of such help.

The last item in the students' bill of rights, according to Doctor McCracken, is his right to govern himself. "Students," he said, "should have a share of government in the whole institution. They should have the use of the college as a model state, and should have an understanding of wages, sources of funds, and financial arrangements. The opinion of students should be taken seriously, they should have conferences with faculty and trustees, they should organize in groups to maintain their rights," Doctor McCracken said in conclusion.

KENTUCKY GRADUATE ACCEPTS NEW POST

Hugh Russell Jackson, executive secretary and director of research of the Governor's Commission on Unemployment Relief of New York State, who graduated from the University in 1931, assumed his duties as assistant secretary of the State Charities Aid association last July, an issue of the S. C. A. A. News stated.

Mr. Jackson also received his M. A. degree from the University in 1932 and holds an M. S. in public administration from Syracuse University.

ADAMS ATTENDS MEETING

Dr. Jesse E. Adams, director of the summer school, is attending the Association of Deans and Directors of Summer Sessions now being held in Chicago. Delegates representing thirty-two universities throughout the country are present at the two day meeting. The purpose is to discuss plans for summer school next year.

KEA GROUP TO HEAR PRESIDENT McVEY

Pres. Frank L. McVey will speak today at the fifth district meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association which is now being held at Madisonville. Mr. R. K. Sanders, deputy director of the National Youth Administration and secretary of the University Alumni association, will also attend the meeting Friday and speak to the group.

Doctor McVey will be in Louisville Saturday to speak before another district meeting of the K. E. A.

YARRO IN FRANCE

Jack D. Yarrow, Paducah, Ky., a graduate of the department of romance languages of the University of Kentucky in 1936, recently won a scholarship in France, and is now one of eleven exchange students from the United States.

Mr. Yarrow, a Phi Beta Kappa, is located in Rennes, France, at the Lycie Garcons. He started his teaching duties the middle of October.

MICHIGAN PROF VISITS U K

Dr. V. H. Jones, paleobotanist from the University of Michigan is visiting the University as guest of Dr. Funkhouser and Professor Webb to study textiles and fabrics which have been discovered by them in the rock strates of McCreary county. Dr. Jones is one of the world's authorities in his particular field.

YMCA ELECTS SPRAGENS

Tom Spragens, senior in the College of Commerce, was elected vice-president of the Senior YMCA Cabinet of the University Tuesday evening to replace Bill Leet, who recently resigned.

U-HIGH TO HONOR SENIORS

The sophomore class of the University High School will be hosts at an open house tonight from 9:00 to 12:00 p. m. in the school gymnasium in honor of the members of the senior class. The faculty of the school will be the chaperons.

FIRST VOTERS MEET

The "First Voters League" had a meeting Tuesday night in room 111, McVey hall, and the following officers were elected: E. W. Salisbury, president; Dewey Miller, vice-president; and Christine Bryson, secretary-treasurer. The purpose of the league is to foster and promote interest in the younger voters in current political and economic problems. The next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Monday, Oct. 26, at the same place and all University students are invited to attend.

PORTMANN TO CONVENTION

Prof. Victor R. Portmann of the department of Romance Languages will attend this afternoon for Louisville to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Kentucky Press Association to be held in the Brown hotel. The conference will last until Saturday noon.

More Ways Than One To Spend Your Money

By LESLIE LEE JONES
You may not know it, but those crisp dollar bills that you have just received from the folks back home, and the small, round, silver coins that jingle so merrily in your pocket or purse, have just about as good a chance of staying there, when you walk from the campus down South Limestone to town, as butter has n a hot knife.

How much sales resistance have you? One has to have will power to pass the fifteen different shops, stores, and establishments that lie in wait along the way to envelope the quarter, half dollar, or dollar from you. Of course, you probably start down town from the University with no intention at all of spending any money until you are well within the hustle of town. First of all, if you're a boy, the striped pole of the barber's shop swirls ever so menacingly to have you come in and get the latest in haircuts, guaranteed to make you look like a real-life version of Robert Taylor. If you aren't stopped there, only next door is a dandy place to have a ham-on-rye or coke. It may be that you prefer the durg store two doors down, but while you are on the way there, a dry cleaning establishment has hanging in its windows two or three signs to remind you of the lounging robe or dress that needs cleaning. After passing another dry cleaning shop, you have a breathing spell for a change. But there is more to come.

You cross the street and find yourself glancing into the fascinating window of an antique shop, which has everything on display from a wine pitcher and goblets of Bohemian glassware to oil paintings of American and English thoroughbreds. If you have $100 to invest in an antique just step inside and the proprietor will proudly show you a genuine Duncan Phyfe table.

A bakery, with cakes and rolls that simply ooze with goodness, a fruit stall with everything fruity from alfalfa pears to grapefruits, a shop shop, luggage store, a musical instrument and radio shop, which sells all the latest songs, a sports guild for co-eds, where the girls never fail to linger, and two jewelry stores with sparkling, exciting window displays conclude this array of shops that are out, first, last and always to get your money. So watch your step, and go another way to town, if you're easily tempted.

SEEING SPORT STUFF By JOE QUINN KERNEL SPORTS EDITOR

With half of their schedule behind them, Kentucky's footballers make ready to face Coach Josh Cody's Florida Gators tomorrow afternoon on Stoll Field. The last half, and the toughest portion, of the campaign remains with the Wildcats battling .800 in their first five trips to the plate.

Coach Wynne's eleven has defeated Maryville, Xaxier, V. M. I., and Washington and Lee. And as most of you are aware, our club was taken into camp by Georgia Tech. On the surface of it, the record is not an awe-inspiring one.

Three of the four vanquished foes were fairly good teams while Maryville provided as much opposition as could be expected from a team of its class. Yet when faced with an opponent of our own standing we "missed the boat." But it is not time to be calling the season a failure and a waste of time yet.

Alabama, Manhattan and Tennessee are yet to come. While none of these three teams are apt to win the national championship, a victory over all of them would go a long way toward regaining some of the lost Wildcat prestige. And it is not at all impossible.

Kentucky's team is always a threat. It's true that the Cats are a hard team to figure but the potentialities are there and they are ever-darting.

That Georgia Tech defeat may have kindled a new spirit in the boys and the game last week indicated that the shakeup in the lineup didn't hurt things at all, but rather improved the quality of play.

So, starting with the Gators tomorrow, Kentucky begins the second half trek. And they can yet make the season a success.

More Dotted Lines . . . When you take in the Florida game tomorrow, you'll have the opportunity of hearing a 85-piece musical unit rockin' through "The Organ-Grinder Swing" and don't scoff if someone tells you that it's "The Best Band in Dixie" . . . Professor Neil Plummer of the department of Journalism was slightly unhappy when we failed to give the local Wildcats credit for being the champions of Lexington, Va. . . after they had disposed of V. M. I. and Washington and Lee . . . Coach Rupp has only 18 candidates arriving for varsity basketball berths . . . but the number will be swelled when Jim Goforth, Duke Ellington, Red Hagan, Fred Curtis, Walter Hodge and Lawrence Garland report after the football season . . . C. W. Hackensmith has his tough football competition well underway and the intramural athletes seem to be going for it in a large fashion . . . there are plenty of reserved bleacher seats left for the Alabama game but the stands have been completely sold out already.

And now, here we are back down at the prognosticating department after acting sane for two years and keeping our choices out of the paper. These selections were arrived at without the help of Captain "Stosh" Nevers. And when we don't have his assistance there is a fine chance of our being right. Without any further ado, then, let's shove off into the schedule.

Carnegie Tech-Holy Cross . . . The Crusaders covered up after scoring two touchdowns on Manhattan and should be able to take Tech.

Columbia-Michigan . . . Lou Little's Lions appear stronger this year than they've been for a long while and will add to Kipke's Michigan woe.

Fordham-St. Mary's . . . The powerful Ram line should be able to hold Madigan's Mauraunders at bay this time.

Georgetown-N. Y. U. . . While neither team is a world-beater, Georgetown's Hoyas seem to have the edge.

Marquette-Michigan State . . . Two of the Mid-West's better squads tangle here, with the State team looking a little more powerful.

Minnesota-Purdue . . . Minnesota is bound to lose one sooner or later but probably not to Purdue.

Mississippi State-Texas Christian . . . The Christians, with Sammy

Kentucky has played the Florida Alligators four times and has won three of the four. Florida took their one game 27-6 in 1927. The largest score rolled up by either team is the 52-0 scored by Kentucky.

Knute Rockne, late coach of Notre Dame, started coaching in 1918 and from 1918-1930 Notre Dame won 103 games, lost 12 and tied 5.

Princeton's loss to Pennsylvania 7-0 last week was the first loss for them since 1934 when they lost to Yale by the same score.

Minnesota, by routing Michigan 26-0, gained its twentieth consecutive victory, being the old mark held by Notre Dame made in 1919-20-21.

"Red" Weaver, Centre College, in 1919-20 kicked 90 consecutive points after touchdowns.

Probably the longest run ever made was by "Snooks" Dowd who ran 210 yards for a touchdown in the Lehigh and Lafayette game. He became confused, ran in wrong

Baugh pitching, figure to outscore Ralph Sasse's smart Princeton team.

Navy-Princeton . . . Both clubs have met but Princeton will rebound this week to take it out on the Middies.

Notre Dame-Pittsburgh . . . Here's one we'd like to avoid. A toss-up and we'd call it a tie game.

Harvard-Dartmouth . . . Looks like the easiest pickings of the day to say Dartmouth . . . we hope so.

Stanford-Southern California . . . The Trojans to beat last year's Rose Bowlers.

Tennessee-Duke . . . Them Blue Devils are tough.

direction, circled around his own goal post and then ran the length of the field to score.

It is estimated that 40,000 people saw the Wildcats' four home games last year and that 40,000,000 people paid admission to see football games throughout the country. The average admission price was one dollar.

The highest rate of pay for fighters went to Jack Dempsey when he fought Firpo in 1923. Firpo lasted three minutes and fifty-eight seconds and Dempsey was paid about 120,000 dollars per fighting minute.

Louisiana State, one of the best teams in the Southeastern conference, has played Texas Christian on three occasions with fields goals playing an important part in each game. In 1931 Texas Christian won 3-0; they tied 2-3 in 1932; and in 1935 Texas Christian again won 3-2.

Gil Doble's football teams from 1905 to 1916 did not lose a game. He coached Minneapolis High (1905); North Dakota Aggies (1906-07) and University of Washington (1908-16).

First forward pass ever thrown by Yale scored a touchdown and beat Harvard 6-0 in 1906. The pass was legalized the same year.

He is not poor that has little, but he that desires much.—Daniel.

Enemy Camps

Hearts beat slower and breath comes easier to Wildcat followers, now that the University of Kentucky footballers have safely passed the first obstacle in their comeback path. Understanding comes easier to those who have experienced defeat and had to face the hard road back to prominence, but all of us know the difficulties the Big Blue team faces and we will be pulling for them in fair weather or foul.

Down in Florida, Josh Cody's charges overwhelmed Stetson, 32 to 0. The Gators, who will tangle with the Wildcats this Saturday on Stoll Field, flashed a brand new attack which completely dazzled their opponents. Although picked to be one of the weakest teams in the Southeastern Conference, the Floridians are on the up grade and will be gunning for Kentucky. Changing an adage about, somewhat: the Cats had better watch themselves because there is many a slip between the kick-off and the gun.

In one of the hardest fought games in the nation, the Tennessee Volunteers held the favored Alabama Crimson Tide to a scoreless tie. The game was chiefly a punting duel between Phil Dickens of Tennessee and Joe Riley, Alabama's stellar halfback, with Riley averaging 42 yards per try and Dickens averaging 41. Alabama threatened seriously in the last minute of the first half, when Riley came within a yard of crossing the double stripe. The whistle ended the period before another play could be run.

A dangerous opponent who threatens to land Kentucky its second defeat of the season, the Crimson Tide, will play a "breather" with Loyola this week-end so that the team can point for the tussle with the Big Blue.

Tennessee has another tough one to handle this Saturday. The Vols will meet Duke's undefeated Blue Devils, who just walloped Georgia Tech 19 to 6. The Volunteers are given little chance over the powerful Devils, but if they play the same inspired ball that they did against Alabama, they may knock off another of the South's leading contenders for national honors.

Manhattan was the victim of a vengeful Holy Cross outfit, who took the Mechan charges over the bumps to the tune of a 14 to 7 score. By knocking them from the underfeated ranks, the Crusaders took revenge on the jaspers for their last year's Holy Cross team and ruining an otherwise perfect season for it.

Clemson went down under the attack of a hard fighting Wake Forest eleven 6 to 6. Picked as one of the strongest contenders for the Southern Conference crown, the Tigers have shown little of the strength which was supposed to be theirs.

Building contracts in Florida for the first seven months of 1936 totaled $41,341,000.

Bob Davis Leads Nation's Scorers

Bob Davis is threatening to run away with national scoring honors for the 1936 football season. The Kentucky flash scored two more touchdowns against Washington and Lee to give him 66 points in his first five games. With the season only half over, Bob has already tied his scoring record of last season. Five of his eleven touchdowns have been scored on runs ranging from 45 to 83 yards.

Fullback Dick Weisgerber, of Williamette, is Bob's closest rival. Even so, he is 17 points behind with a total of 49 points. Cecil Isbell, of Purdue's Boiler-makers, is third in the scoring race with 44 points.

INTRAMURAL

By BILLY EVANS

For the first time since the inauguration of intramurals on the University of Kentucky campus, touch football has been adopted as a team sport.

In the games played to date the Phi Sigs defeated the K. A.'s, the Delta won over the Triangles and the Lambda Chis and Phi Deltis were victorious over the Kappa Sigs and Alpha Gamma Rho's, respectively.

Double Tourney It is the plan of the department to have a double elimination tourney, whereby each team although defeated enters the consolation bracket and competes with teams that have also been defeated once.

There have been too few games played to accurately determine the relative strength of the various contenders. Grouped together in the upper bracket are the usually strong S. A. E.'s, Sigma Chis, and Phi Taus with little to choose between them judging from the practice sessions of each group.

Reporter Gives Theory on Picking Football Winners

By LOUIS HAYNES

Do you want to know the surest way to pick the winner of any of Kentucky's football games? If you do all you have to do is to read the Thursday morning Herald or the afternoon Leader.

Practically always, if the Wildcats show up good on the Wednesday practice, which is the big practice of the week, they will usually look much worse in the coming game on Saturday.

Injuries hurt this system of picking the winner, thus we will forget the games that are played without many of the star players. Some games the team will win because many of the first team out, but the majority of games will find them on the losing side if they have very many injuries.

In the past two seasons and including the present one, there have been occasions on which they do the reverse of the Wednesday practice. There have been five occasions on which they do just as good or better than on Wednesday.

On five different Wednesdays the first team look fine, the backs ripped off touchdown runs on almost every play and the linemen never looked better. They were getting their man out of the way on every play, clearing the way for the fleet-footed backfield so that they could romp at will.

A starting example of this is the Wednesday practice before the Georgia Tech game of this year. On four plays the first team scored four touchdowns and the freshmen did not have a chance. We all know what happen in the game the following Saturday.

Against Maryville we looked bad in practice before the game but in three years, playing them the first game, we have beaten them 26-0, 60-0, and 54-0. This year we knew about the first team, but were uneasy as to the caliber of the second stringers.

Probably the outstanding example is the Ohio State tilt of last year. In practice the Cats looked terrible trying to block the freshmen's passes and the defense was not so good, yet the Cats played one of the best games of the season, losing by 19-6, but they were expected to lose by six touchdowns.

The last two years just before engaging Xavier they have looked fair, or the reserve stringers were not over-brilliant, but they have managed to win each time. There have been other occasions, but they are not so important.

Now when you get ready to pick the winner don't forget to read the paper on Thursday. This will tell the winner of the game-to-be three out of four times.

A matchless accurate statistician at West Virginia University claims that you can buy 67,200 safety matches for the amount that would cost you to buy a good cigarette lighter.

Fall registration at Minnesota U. reached 13,729 with about twice as many men enrolled as women. This is an increase of 770 students over last year.

'PIERRE,' OLD ADMINISTRATION BUILDING JANITOR, REMINISCES

By BILLY HOWELL

Since I am an amateur at interviewing, I hardly knew how to start out to get Pierre Whiting, the oldest janitor on the campus, "to talk," but the advice I had been given was always have several questions ready to pop to the person and then after the conversation, begin to do most of the listening, and with this in mind I began my errand.

I was directed to Pierre's small private room in the basement of the Administration building. Seated in his cushioned chair he gave me a warm and friendly greeting, making me feel right at home and our conversation was just like any other ordinary one.

Although many people know that Pierre is the oldest janitor on the campus, few know just how long he has been here, so my first question was, "How long have you been in service on the campus and how did you first get started?" This must have started the wheel rolling because he began and I interrupted him very little.

"I came here about 49 years ago," Pierre stated, "and carried water for the men who were building the Administration building and White Hall. Several years after the buildings were completed I was a janitor in White Hall which was then a boys' dormitory."

When I asked Pierre about the late President Patterson, he held up two fingers and said, "We grew up like that."

"One morning the president and I were going to town," Pierre remarked. "I had hitched the horse to the buggy and had gone back for Mr. Patterson. As we walked down to the buggy we saw a group of boys playing ball on a vacant lot near-by. All the upper classmen knew they were disobeying orders, but there was a freshman in the crowd who didn't know to run. The boy was told to report to the office the next morning at nine o'clock and was given a 'good' over." He was always strict on the boys but he gave them a chance to redeem their acts.

I asked how the present students suffer from the students at the time when he was a janitor in the boys' dormitory. He grinned and told me that there was much more "devilment" then than there is now. "They used to get a mule and take it upstairs where they held chapel in what is now the geology museum. One halloween night the boys went out in the country several miles and got a buggy. Taking it apart they carried it to the top of the Administration building and when morning came it was on the roof assembled. In Neville hall the boys used to take several coal boxes, stick them on top of each other, and tumble them down the steps, coal flying everywhere."

"Students were more friendly then than they are now," stated Pierre. "I was in closer contact with them and while I was caretaker in the dormitory I 'mothered' many of the boys who are now professors on the campus. Dean Jones was one of these boys. The student body seems to be more 'social' now and have a better time than they did several years ago."

The clock was moving on to the time for my next class and as I left Pierre in his room I recalled the poem, "To the Janitors," by Cotton Noe that is dedicated to "Charlie, Armstead, Tom, and Dear Pierre," in which he spoke of them as, "sons of toil grown gray, in honest service day by day. They knew this school in swaddling clothes, they've seen it flourish like a rose."
