

PERFECT GRADES ACHIEVED BY 13 A. & S. STUDENTS

Number in College Who Made "A's" in All Studies Last Semester Is Unusually Large

NINE ON LIST ARE GIRLS

Seniors Lead in Representatives With Five; Freshmen Second With Four

Thirteen students in the Arts and Sciences college made a grade of "A" in all their studies the first semester of 1925-1926 according to a list recently given out by the Registrar's office. Of this number nine were girls and four were boys.

Seniors Lead in Numbers

Seniors lead in the number of class members with a standing of "3," five of them turning in a perfect average. They were closely followed by the freshmen of whom four had all "A's," while the sophomores had three and the juniors one student whose names will be posted on the bulletin board outside of Dean Boyd's office.

An unusually large number of students made all "A's" last semester. It seems there are always fewer "3's," the first semester than the second. For the first semester of last year there were but five students to make the honor roll in the Arts and Sciences college, and there were but nine the year before.

Those Making All A's

The students who made all "A's" the past semester are: Norman Henfresman (special), of Haysville; William Arch Bennett, sophomore, of Henderson; Udell Brandenburg, senior, of Lexington; John Rice Bullock.

PLEDGING HELD BY KEYS AND 13

23 MEN WEAR ARMBANDS

Keys and 13, sophomore and junior honorary class fraternities of the university, held their annual pledging services at a dance given by the two organizations Wednesday night, March 31, in the men's gymnasium. At that time the junior fraternity pledged the 13 men in the sophomore class whom they considered the most outstanding and Keys pledged the 10 most outstanding freshmen.

The dance was well attended and proclaimed one of the most enjoyable of the year. Many funsters amused themselves from 12 o'clock until the playing of "Home, Sweet Home" by indulging in various April Fool jokes. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Kentuckian orchestra.

Founded Long Ago

Mystic 13 was founded at the University in 1898 and Keys two years later. Since that time the two fraternities have had a continuous existence on the campus. Keys has established chapters also at the University of Louisville and Berea and Centre colleges.

Pledging exercises for Keys took place just before the fourth no-break.

First Annual Kernel Banquet Will Be Held at Lafayette Next Friday; Unique Program Planned for Affair

(By KYLE WHITEHEAD)

With the end of another year's work just appearing on the horizon, comes the feeling of satisfaction that comes to all journalists at one time or another, the staff of the Kentucky Kernel will garnish the tables at the Lafayette hotel next Friday night, at 6:30 o'clock, in instituting the first annual Kernel banquet. This affair will officially mark the close of the old administration, and start the new officials on the problem of keeping the university's weekly in the rating it now has among the college papers of the South.

Unique Program Arranged

A varied and unique program was been concocted in an effort to please the critical ear and eye of the most essential member of the profession. Little thought has been given to formality, which appears to be another unique part of the program. The university journalists will gather with the spirit of fraternity that has bound them in a distinct organization and made possible the growth of the Kentucky Kernel.

Few of the dried and cut, age old, after dinner speeches will make the success of the banquet, which will be financed by the business department of the paper. No assessment will be made to replenish the treasury, and the Kernel will refrain from the sale of any wares to help promote the dinner. All guests, the members of the active staff, have been asked to bring no monetary representatives, and to refrain from breaking fasts before the night of the banquet.

Honor Guest Invited

The Kernel will have three honor guests at the dinner, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Miss Irene McNamara, and Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the journalism department. The original plans called for invitations to Arthur Brisbane and Dorothy Dix, but it was finally decided that the greater part of the evening's success depended on a careful election of honor guests.

So Kentucky's incipient and rudimentary journalists will forget to ink the paper and the press, and turn thoughts to the way of the stomach for one evening.

Reporters Wanted

Kernel Will Have Vacancies on Staff Next Week

There will be a number of openings for reporters on the Kernel staff soon and all those who desire to be reporters are requested to come to the Kernel offices by Saturday morning and sign their names to a list posted under the assignment board. Instructions will be posted together with a style sheet. Positions will be assigned early next week and new members of the staff will begin work with the newly elected staff Saturday, April 17. The positions are open to all who show ability.

Changes in Exemption Rules Will Be Made

Students Excused from Military Science and Gym To Be Recalled for Examination

The Department of Hygiene and Public Health of the university is planning a more drastic method as regards the exempting of students from this work in accordance with his physical condition and to decide if possible what their status relative to these subjects will be next fall.

It has been the opinion of some students that if they have been assigned to the walking squad or excused from military science or from physical education that these excuses are permanent; but this is not to be the case as each student will be reviewed each semester and assigned to, or excused from, this work in accordance with his physical condition at that time.

Students who fail to report to the Department of Hygiene and Public Health for review of their cases will automatically be assigned to military science and physical education next September.

Jack Warren Accepts Position in Norton, Va.

Business Manager of Kernel Will Edit the Coal Field Progress After Graduation

Jack Warren, business manager of the Kernel, has accepted a position with the Norton Press, Inc., of Norton, Va., and after his graduation from the university in June will take complete charge of the Coal Field Progress, a weekly newspaper of Norton, it was learned yesterday. The paper of which Jack will be in charge is owned by P. T. Atkins, former U. K. student and later city and managing editor of the Lexington Herald.

Since his connection with the Kernel in the capacities first of advertising and then of business manager, Jack Warren has aided materially in putting this paper on its present sound financial basis and has aided in the purchase of new equipment for the mechanical department. It is due to his splendid work in this connection that he was recommended to the Norton paper by Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the journalism department.

In his three and a half years on the campus, Warren has taken an active part in many student activities and won many honors for himself. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity; Omnicron Delta Kappa, national honorary campus leaders' fraternity; Alpha Delta Sigma, Seaboard and Blade, and the Su-Ky circle. He has twice been president of the Su-Ky circle and is at present vice-president of Seaboard and Blade. On the drill field he is known as Captain

Michigan Has Won Nine Out of Ten Games Played With Kentucky; Bluegrass Years for Revenge

IS BIGGEST TILT OF YEAR

Visiting Team Includes Three Football Men; Two Have All-American Berths

(By WARREN A. PRICE)

Tomorrow will be a Mardi Gras day for University of Kentucky baseball followers, so great is the importance attached to the annual clash between the Michigan and the Wildcat ball teams to be played tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Wolverines have come to the Blue Grass ten times to play Kentucky, and have gone back to Michigan nine times with the scalp of their victim hanging on their belt. Once, in 1923, the Wildcats have been able to repulse the invaders with a decisive defeat. In that game two years ago Kentucky probably showed the greatest playing ability that has ever been exhibited by a Wildcat baseball team. Captain Rife, playing at that time his first year on the varsity, drove in practically all of the runs, got three hits out of three times up, and made some spectacular catches in the outfield, accomplishments that were potent factors in winning the game for Kentucky, 9 to 8. Last year, Michigan received little opposition and won a lopsided contest, 18 to 5.

LAW COLLEGE TO MOVE BY FALL

Cost of Improvements on Old Chemistry Building Total $10,000; Equipment Modern in Every Respect

STRUCTURE BUILT IN 1389

According to a statement made by Mr. Morris Crutcher, superintendent of buildings and grounds, the old chemistry building which is being remodeled to afford an attractive home for the College of Pharmacy, will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall term. The cost of the improvements will total approximately $10,000.

The building when completed will be modern in every respect. All of the partitions and floors are being torn out and new ones put in, leaving only the walls to remain as they were. The plans provide for administrative offices, classrooms, a practice courtroom, restroom, lockers and a storage room for special books. The library will be especially attractive, with its paneled walls and large open fire place.

The structure, when erected in 1389, served as an agriculture experiment station. A fire in 1890 damaged the building considerably and necessitated extensive repairs. From that time on the building, although still used as an experiment station, was also occupied by the chemistry department, which took entire possession in 1905.

The edifice overlooks one of the most beautiful parts of the campus, and it is hoped that after the surrounding grounds are replanted, this will be a very picturesque spot.

CLEAN SPORTSMANSHIP

The action taken by the State Racing Commission of Kentucky, on March 20, when it ruled from the turf for life four jockeys and three owners and trainers for participating in the unorthodox method of "fixed" racing, will stand as a monument to clean sportsmanship in the eyes of all racing fans and true lovers of the sport for years to come. This action taken by the commission not only proves that "underhand" racing will not be tolerated but it urged, in its decision, that "all breeders, owners, trainers or anyone interested in good, clean sport to give at any time information to the commission for investigation that will aid them to catch and punish offenders to the end that racing in Kentucky may be kept on the same high plane that it has enjoyed in years past."

The one thing that has ever remained as a detriment to the progress of professional sports since its beginning has been the criticism by unfortunate losers in the game, or by persons who do not participate in the sport and know nothing of its workings, that the commissions which run them are made up of men who work only toward the end of cheating the public; to obtain money by the easiest methods possible, but at the same time, through such a source that the public will not be able to come out openly and call them "crooks."

The action recently taken by the Kentucky Racing Commission should be enough to prove that this sentiment is false and unjust. Kentucky has been sponsoring horse racing for exactly one hundred years and each succeeding year has seen an improvement over its predecessor in the cleanliness of the sport. This is not only true of the turf but may be seen in all other professional sports: baseball, football, polo, tennis, field meets and most of all in the colleges and universities of the country. The whole world of sportsmanship is striving for a higher, better standard and they are climbing nearer to its peak every year.

This inclination toward cleaner sports should be especially practiced in the colleges and universities of the country because it is the college athlete who, in most cases, becomes the professional and if he detests crooked dealings in this line during his school career, he will also hold himself aloof from it after he enters the world of professional sports.

The sport fanciers of the University of Kentucky wish to commend the State Racing Commission of Kentucky for its action taken on March 20, and hopes that this decision will remain as an inspiration to all professional and amateur sports and athletic circles throughout the country.

J. FRANK BATTAILE

Death again grimly took its toll from the ranks of the University of Kentucky Alumni in the person of J. Frank Battaile, 39 years old, clubman and proprietor of the University Book Store, when the car which he was driving left the road nine miles from Lexington on the Richmond pike, and crashed into a fence about 10:30 o'clock on the morning of Friday, March 26. Mr. Battaile did not meet death immediately but a few minutes after the crash he leaned back into his seat at the wheel and died while persons were attempting to lift him from the car.

Mr. Battaile left Lexington, about an hour before the accident, for Richmond, where he was going on business. He never returned. The cold hand of death reached out and snatched him into the Great Beyond, that world of mystery from which no one has ever returned, without so much as a moment's notice.

This young man, an alumnus of the university in the class of 1907, at one time a fellow here, was one of Lexington's most prominent citizens and one of the university's most ardent supporters. In community circles he held offices in both the Rotary club and the Ashland Golf club; was a member of the executive committee of the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky; was superintendent of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church; was operator of the University Book Store at 233 West Short street and also operated a branch of his business on the campus of the University of Kentucky. During his college career, Mr. Battaile was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity and during the war was attached to the intelligence department.

ROBERT W. SPICER

"Life has its compensations,
For everything we lose, something is gained."

Most of us in this large world of ours spend half of our time railing against our Fate, and few there are who have learned the secret of accepting life as it is and making the best of the defects, but such a one is Robert W. Spicer, son of Mrs. J. J. Spicer of 569 Woodland avenue, this city. One never realizes how little the physical counts for in life until one knows Robert Spicer. Though physically a cripple, mentally and spiritually he is the equal of any able bodied young man, and far the superior of some.

Mr. Spicer is a junior in the College of Engineering at the University of Kentucky and is specializing in the the electrical department. He was recently pledged to Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, the requirements for which are a standing of 1.8, outstanding ability in both scholarship and student activity, and leadership in the junior class. In his particular line of work a pledge must have been one of the highest three in scholarship and ability during his junior year. Needless to say Mr. Spicer more than fulfilled these requirements. It is a distinction for any man to make Tau Beta Pi, but for a man who is laboring under circumstances which would make most of us dependents, to attain this honor is a lesson which makes us pause and meditate, "Are we giving our best?"

One never sees Robert Spicer unless he is smiling and happy. His cheerful disposition and his determination to make the best of things have made him very popular with his fellow engineers; not the light, airy popularity of university life but that deeper fellowship and love "which passeth all understanding."

It is said that Robert Spicer has never missed a football or basketball game since he has been in the university. No matter how cold and raw the day, his wheel chair can be seen beside the substitute's bench; no matter how rainy and severe the night, Robert Spicer occupies the place of vantage in the basketball building and he is rooting with the crowd, "Yes, Team! Yes, Team!"

It is such a character as Robert Spicer's which spreads sunshine. In coming in contact with him we have no desire to shirk our duty; he imparts strength and cheer to us and makes us believe "God's in His Heaven and all's right with His world."

It can truly be said of him: "His is a good influence among us; he has a fresh laugh; it does you good to see him; and whatever his worries he always bears a bold and cheerful countenance and takes fortune's worst as if it were the showers of spring."

Well, as the train chugged into Jellico, I sees the band out, and all the folks diked up, and the mayor reading a scrap of paper which undoubtedly was his "welcome home" speech to me. STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE
HAMMETT CHILES "COURT" EBERWOOD

As I stood on the last step of the platform, preparatory to alighting once more on the soil of my childhood I feared I wasn't being noticed as I should, considering all the bunting and the banners. 'Bout that time I sees my family, and they nodded careless like and motioned for me to join them. As I steps into the midst of the crowd, I caught sight of the read-in' matter on the banners, and it seems as if they wuz celebratin' the arrival of some big feller who was to speak on "The Seamy Side of Life Which Needs Sewing;" and it seems further that I was about as welcome as a ring from an alarm clock.

After that blow, I felt as stunned popularity. Well, the next morning, though I hadn't attended the lecture, Mrs. Purifky, who is the biggest gossip and busy-body in town (we wuz in the general store) asks me, "Ak-kie, weuns have a great respect for as a siren with tonsillitis, so I determined to spoil some of that feller's your opinion beings you go to that there university what used to always get in trouble over revolution. What did you think of the speech last night?"

"Mrs. Purifky," I replies, "through diligent study, I have acquired quite a knowledge of the English language, of the delivery and acoustics of speeches, and also of intellects, and I would say that though his head is full of vacant nooks, his brain children are orphans. He really is in dire need of a mental crutch."

After that oration I sweeps by Mrs. Purifky only to encounter Hezlie Barnhouser who graduated in my class at high school. She says, "Ak-kie, I'm in love with that man who gave the address last night. He is all the world to me. What would you advise me to do?"

"See a little more of the world," I says in my most collegiate voice.

THE CRAB SESSION

Edited by THE CRAB P. O. Box 2193

I am a Crab—a Human Crab. The only difference between you and me is that I come out and crab about the things that don't suit me. You don't. You sit around and fret and get all hot under the collar, and don't put it down in black and white. It gives me a great deal of satisfaction to get things off my chest. When things don't go to suit me, I just go ahead and crab to anyone who will listen. When I hear anyone crabbing, I take note of it on my cuff and write it here. Some few write out their complaints and send them to me. One promising young man who is well known in the social world, has written to me, crabbing because his name was not in the RED LETTER just before vacation. It seems that he thinks he deserves a little free advertising as to styles and action, which he didn't get.

You know, when these contributions come in, I gaze solemnly up at the stars with a fervent prayer of thanks, for it saves a deal of wear and tear on my own dome. I don't like to exercise it any more than I am obliged to. And there is another thing I want to crab about. Vacation time is supposed to be a time of rest and pleasure, and here one prof. has to go and spoil my whole vacation by telling us that we will have a quiz on Tuesday after vacation, and another has to rub it in by announcing another for Thursday. They sure are getting ready to beat down on us.

One contributor has sent in the following: I think I quite agree with him in his spirit:

"It was Friday, last week, in a 10 o'clock class, and a 1 o'clock class was my last. I was tired of the work, and I longed for the rest from the drudgery of a week almost past. And I longed to be home, a-sleeping in bed, but I knew such a thing could not be, for I had work to be done that same afternoon, which would keep me some rushed. Golly, Gee! And a date, too, that night, and I knew very well that 't'would not be so good if I'd miss. So I'd rest not that day, nor till sometime that night, for the date was one I WOULD NOT miss. Gosh! Ain't it fierce?"

That isn't so bad for a starter, is it? I hope he will keep the good work going. He has promised to send in another in a few days.

Now here's the idea of this column. You all have some sort of crabbing you would like to do. And I am a regular crab myself. You write out your troubles, and send them to me. Just address them to The Crab, P.O. Box 2193, University Station. I'll get them, and as many as that bird who runs this paper will give me room for, I'll print in this column. Let us have some serious crabbing, and some humorous. I might even permit a little poetry to get in here, even if it isn't crabbing about something. If it isn't good, I'll do the crabbing myself. So jar loose. I need help. There are lots of things which aren't right in the world. Maybe your crabbing won't be about the university or campus life at all. It may be about the city, or legislature, or prohibition. (Page Mr. Eversole.) Evolution should come in for its share, too. I can stand it if you can. So write it instead of thinking it, or of saying it where it won't do any good. This is for your edification. Get it off of your chest.

The Ox Woman

On an East Indian farm, where the crop is tea, a wooden plow turns up the rich black soil. A woman drives, another woman pulls—and a black ox pulls beside her.

Six hours under a tropical sun, a bowl of cold rice—and six hours more. Then the woman goes to her bed of rushes, and the beast to his mud stall. Tomorrow will be the same.

The electric light, the electric iron, the vacuum cleaner—the use of electricity on the farm for pumping water, for milking, and for the cream separator—are helping to make life happier. General Electric research and engineering have aided in making these conveniences possible.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-18.

The American home has many conveniences. But many American women often work as hard as their Oriental sisters. They toil at the wash tub, they carry water, they churn by hand—all tasks which electricity can do for them at small cost, in half the time.

The labor-saving possibilities of electricity are constantly becoming more widely recognized. And the social significance of the release of the American woman from physical drudgery, through the increasing use of electricity in and about the home, will appear instantly to every college man and woman.

University Rifle Team Wins Fifth Corps Area Championship

WILL SHOOT IN NATIONAL MATCH

Wildcats Emerge on Top of Heap With 3,726 Score; Cincinnati Second, Depaw University Third

HOME SQUAD WINS, LOSES

The university E.O.T.C. rifle team literally blazed their way to glory when they won the corps area rifle championship last week. A report from the headquarters of the Fifth National Corps Area Tuesday placed Kentucky at the head of the contenders for high score in this district.

Kentucky's able cadets landed on top with a mark of 3,726 out of a possible 4,000 seven points ahead of Cincinnati, who took second place with 3,719. Depaw University captured third place.

About 15 colleges took part in the match, which was fired by telegraph. The first third of these are to compete in a national meet to be held later. Kentucky's fine score in this match entitles her to entrance in the national meet as one of the strongest contenders for the championship. The winning team was coached by Lieut. J. L. Keasler, assistant professor of military science. This is his first year at the university. Cadet Captain E. T. Bullock is captain of the team.

The Kentucky riflemen had an even break on their matches this year, winning six and losing six. Tennessee, Washington, Missouri, V. P. L. Illinois, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology outshot the Wildcats by small scores. In return the khaki-clad warriors of the Bluegrass sent Denison, Michigan, West Virginia, Northwestern, Depaw and Nebraska down in decided defeat.

Members of the team who will probably shoot in the national meet are: Captain E. T. Bullock, R. F. Adams, C. D. Fife, J. H. Griffith, J. R. Hester, W. L. Maschmeyer, E. C. May, W. T. Pryse, J. J. Richardson, O. W. Travis, Virgil Proctor, W. E. Weems, and R. N. White.

Co-eds of the University of Missouri are said to strongly disapprove disorderly serenades among both men and women. It is reported that they have determined that the police shall be called to break up disorderly serenades and that any co-ed who does not order out a male caller who has been drinking will lose her social privilege.

A recent edition of The Thresher of the Rice Institute, of Houston, Texas, was entirely edited by the co-eds. The paper was printed throughout in red ink which the co-eds declared was not ink but tears of blood that women have shed in years past in the cause of downtrodden womanhood.

CLASS MEET MONDAY, TUESDAY

And now comes the annual inter-class and inter-fraternity track meet which is usually looked forward to with a great deal of interest by the spectators and much regret by those who intend to participate.

Coach Eklund passes the word along that the actual dates for the event are April 12 and 13, Monday and Tuesday, and that all who wish to enter the events should not fail to place his name under his "distance" on the placards which have been placed at various vantage points on the campus. Cups will be awarded the winners in each division of the meet, one to the class and one to the fraternity.

All those who can run or think they can are urged to be present when the event is called on Monday or Tuesday.

U. K. IN SPOTLIGHT

It is indeed gratifying to learn that the University of Kentucky won the Fifth Corps Area shooting championship. The local team has been trying for the past few years to attain such distinction and it has finally succeeded. Such integrity and work on the part of the boys on the team is commendable and especially is Lieutenant Keasler to be congratulated for forming a championship team in his initial try with the U. K. candidates.

OPENING GAME TOMORROW

The opening baseball game of the present season is on card for tomorrow afternoon and students should not fail to attend. Although the Wildcats are not in the best of condition, they hope to hold the score down or even defeat the Michigan nine, which has a habit of whipping Kentucky handily on the first game every season. Time about is fair play, it seems and it's about time for the Cats to come through with one of their rallying victories.

QUITE TRUE

It seems a certain professor has taught some certain girls not to powder their noses in his class and another prof has let it be known that his underlings will have to wait for him to "get there" or do triple work for cutting.

SCANDAL?

A lot of us were mightily disappointed that we didn't get razzed more in "The Red Letter" than we did, although it does seem that we should be satisfied with a front page black cap. But at that we don't see any connection between Sigma Alpha Mu and some of its pledges.

And if I was LeRoy Smith, I'd leave town.
'Pears to me as if my rambling about spring was a bit premature. Anyway, how could I help it?

KITTENS AT WORK

The Kittens are going through their basketball antics at Woodland park. Some of the best material in years is being groomed by Bill Hansen and a team equal to or better than last year's is expected to be put on the field for the first game. It is indeed unfortunate that the university does not have a field close to the campus on which the freshmen could workout.

Guess congratulations are in order. Yes, thank you!

"ALL I KNOW, ETC."

"All I know is what I read in the papers" has been named publicity director for the athletic department of the university. Guess you'll have to change your tune and nose around a little now, Kyle.

OFFSIE IS NAMED CENTRE MENTOR

Former All-American Player Will Try to Lead Colonels to Place They Held in Golden Days of Old

ASSISTANT COACH IN 1924

Hal B. "Hod" Offsie will attempt to lead the Centre College Colonels to their former position of importance on the gridiron next fall when he, assisted by "Red" Maher, will take charge of the Centre football team. His acceptance of the contract offered by the athletic authorities Saturday, March 27, filled the student body and many other people interested in the Praying Colonels' gridiron success, with renewed hope for next year.

Offsie was line coach at Centre in 1924 when the Colonels won a clear title to the Southern football championship, Chief Meyers being head coach. This year Meyers indicated that he did not wish to return as coach. The Centre authorities searched everywhere for a worthy successor. Finally, Offsie accepted and "Red" Maher, fresh coach of last year and a Notre Dame product, was made his assistant. Both coaches will be in charge of spring football, practice being begun on the date of their arrival.

"Hod" Offsie was chosen all-American can end in 1911, 1912 and 1913 while playing at Wisconsin. He did not coach last year, but engaged in real estate business at Calumet, Illinois.

Annual Inter-Class Meet Will Be Held Monday and Tuesday

Annual Tournament

Track, Oratory, Declamations, Debate, to Be Features

The thirteenth annual interscholastic tournament will be held at the University of Kentucky on May 5, 6, 7, and 8. Contests in oratory, debate, and music will be the features of this year's tournament, but there will be no track meet as Georgetown College will hold a state meet at about the same date.

Another distressing result of the automobile craze was revealed at the University of Rochester when the freshmen were given their physical examinations. More than one-sixth of the class had deformed shoulders from the habit of holding the left arm from the window ledge of a car. We wonder about the right arms.

OUTCOME TO BE IMPORTANT ONE

Results of Competition Expected To Go Long Way Toward Selecting Varsity; Letter Men to Defend Laurels

TO MEET VANDY APRIL 17

(By C. M. DOWDEN)

The annual inter-class track and field meet will be staged on Stoll Field Monday and Tuesday afternoons, and the relative showing of the participants in the various events will go a long way toward determining who will form "Who's Who" of the varsity.

Although many of the cinder stars are far from real form and condition, due largely to a late spring and the Easter holidays, which held training down to a minimum, there is a wealth of promising material, and everything points to the most successful interclass meet in the annals of local track history.

It would be difficult, if not impossible, to pick the probable class which colors will wave in triumph over its three competitors after the last race has been run and the scores have been tabulated Tuesday afternoon. It is safe to predict, however, that each class has enough candidates to give some hair-raising competition, and on the present basis of comparison it appears that the winner is a toss-up.

Among the letter-men who are out to defend their positions on the team are Captain Brady, supreme always in the broad jump, hurdles, and pole vault; Coons, high jumper; Tracy, dash man; Anglin, weights; Brown, 880; and Brane and Dowden, distance. However, there is an abundance of new men out who will make strong bids for varsity berths, outstanding among whom are Root, hurler and dash man; Kirkendall, Akin, and DeWitt, quarter milers Gess and Creech, half milers, and Dean, Cochran, Hoover, Woodard and Moss, distance men.

The first dual meet will be held April 17, when the Cats journey to Nashville and attempt to atone for their disastrous defeat last year at the hands of Vanderbilt. The Commodores are always powerful in track, and as this year will prove no exception to the rule, victory over them will mean much to Kentucky's cause.

W. A. A. NOTES

(By MARTHA REED)

Installation service of the new officers and cabinets of the Y.W.C.A. of the University of Kentucky took place Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Patterson hall.

This service, which was under the direction of Miss Frances Lee, retiring president, was one of the most impressive ones that has ever been seen here. All who took part were in white, and the old officers with lighted torches, and the new officers with their unlighted ones, all gathered around the towering blue torch of the Y. W. in such a way as to form the Y.W.C.A. triangle, made quite a charming scene.

The retiring officers are: President—Frances Lee. Vice-president—Gatherine Kinche-loe. Secretary—Virginia Heizer. Treasurer—Elizabeth Hefferman. Undergraduate representative—Lydia Roberts.

Cabinets: Membership—Margie Lee Smith. Bible Study—Georgie Rouse. Publicity—Virginia Boyd. Chairman of town girls—Emily Gregory. Social—Irene Morgan. Sub-cabinet—Dorothy Smith. Assistant secretary—Mary Stuart Newman.

The new officers are: President—Virginia Heizer. Vice-president—Irene Morgan. Treasurer—Marjory Smith. Secretary—Chenault Kelley. Undergraduate representative—Lydia Roberts.

Cabinets: Membership—Louise Jefferson. Chairman of town girls—Virginia Boyd. Programme—Janet Metcalf. Social—Mary Ade. Sub-cabinet—Mary Kate Bledsoe. Assistant secretary—Margaret Gooch. Publicity—Mildred Kidd.

The annual state Student Council of the Y.W.C.A. will meet at Kentucky Wesleyan College, at Winchester, Ky., on April 9.

The following girls will be sent from the chapter of the University of Kentucky with one half of their expenses paid:

Virginia Heizer—president. Irene Morgan—vice-president. Marjory Lee Smith—treasurer. Janet Metcalf—programme chairman. Dorothy Smith—world fellowship chairman. Lydia Roberts—undergraduate representative.

It is hoped that as many of the Y.W.C.A. members as possibly can, will also go to this conference as the program is going to be a very interesting one.

With the weekly meeting next Sunday evening at Boyd hall, the Y.W.C.A. of the University of Kentucky will start a new year. The old officers will then be retired and in their hearts they will all have that blissful feeling of "a work well done." These retiring officers have worked hard during the past year, but their efforts have not been in vain for they have carried the Y.W.C.A. banner through one of the most successful years that it has ever known. Indeed, too much praise cannot be given them and we wish to take this opportunity to let them know just how much the student

KITTENS START BASEBALL WORK

Coach Bill Hansen Has 40 Yearlings Under His Care; Woodland Park To Be Scene of Training Activities

STRONG TEAM EXPECTED

(By KENNETH GREGORY)

After all is said and done, everything should be in the right road to lead the U. K. frosh to another stellar baseball season, and with Bill Hansen at the stern, what more could be desired by supporters of the Kitten nine?

Coach Hansen issued a call last Tuesday for all prospects to assemble in the gymnasium and none less than 40 responded to his initial summons.

Every afternoon this week has found him and his gang of youngsters at it at Woodland park, where they are going to cavort around until they get going and then they will return home and furnish the Wildcats daily scrimmages.

As soon as the Kitten nine gets into trim and thinks that it is of varsity calibre, Coach Fred J. Murphy says that he will be ready to let the yearlings do battle with his ferocious Wildcats and will guarantee them that they will get the worst end of the going. But on the other hand Bill says he is going to trim up the frosh and send a hard fighting Green and White aggregation against the Blue and White and give them a lot more than they are expecting.

No schedule has been arranged for the Kittens but S. A. "Daddy" Bales, says that the first termers will meet such teams as Wesleyan's Frosh, Centre's Lieutenants, Georgetown's Cubs, Cumberland, Union and probably Eastern State Normal.

According to all reports and gossip, there are several who will carry way positions on the Kittens nine this year and if this be the case surely old U. K. will have another stellar

Green and White season, with some probably advancing to the varsity rank.

When you and spring are thrilling to the opening game of the year—and your favorite player drives out a homer—as the stands rock with cheering—have a Camel!

WHEN the first ball game is here. And the heavy hitter cracks the ball shrieking into deep center for a home run—have a Camel!

For Camel adds the magic of its own fragrance to life's most festive days. Camels are of such choice tobaccos that they never tire the taste or leave a cigarettey after-taste. You'll get more contentment, more pleasure out of Camels than any other cigarette.

So this fair spring day as a redoubtable batter lofts out one that it seems will never stop flying—oh, then, taste the smoke that means completed enchantment.

Have a Camel!

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. The most skillful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price. K. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.
