UK Dedicates New Keeneland Hall

Members of the Keeneland Foundation and other special guests took part in the formal dedication of Keeneland Hall, new University of Kentucky residence hall for women, held on Monday afternoon, Oct. 17, at the dormitory.

This affair served as the dedicatory program for the new $1,250,000 structure, but an open house was staged for all friends of the University on the following Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23.

President and Mrs. H. L. Donovan headed the reception line to receive the Keeneland Foundation members at the Monday dedication. Following brief remarks by President Donovan the guests were taken on guided tours of the building by the women residents.

Townpeople, alumni and friends who attended the open house on Sunday likewise were shown through the new building by the new occupants.

Keeneland Hall was named for the foundation which gave $200,000 toward its construction. The remainder of its cost came from federal funds and accumulated earnings.

'26 ALUMNA WRITES ABOUT HER FAMILY

A letter to the alumni secretary from the former Esther Gilbert, class of 1926, now Mrs. M. M. Pettyjohn, Sr., of Lynchburg, Va., should prove interesting to her former classmates.

Esther has five children, all of whom are converted Virginians. The oldest child, a son, Macon M. Pettyjohn, Jr., was graduated from V.M.I. last June with honors, having won three awards: the Association of the United States Army Medal for the outstanding graduate in the Armor branch of ROTC; the individual Rifle Tournament trophy, and the All-American Intercollegiate Rifle Team trophy.

Next June her daughter will graduate from college at the same time the second boy finishes high school. The third boy will graduate from high school in 1958 and the fourth boy is now in the fourth grade.

Esther sends regards to the class of '26, and says she enjoys reading the ALUMNUS, even though she "has to read it all by myself." Her home address is Box 407, Lynchburg, Va.

General Rentz Promoted To New Assignment In Washington

Brigadier General William E. Rentz, '26, of Newport, Ky., Chief of Staff at Technical Training Air Force headquarters at Biloxi, Miss., since its activation in July, 1951, has been reassigned to Air Force headquarters in Washington.

He became Director of Real Property in the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff for Installations on Oct. 15.

During the activation of TTAF, which conducts all non-flying training for the Air Force, General Rentz assisted in developing its early organization and has since guided basic military training at Lackland, Parks and Sampson Air Force Bases as well as the technical training conducted at Amarillo, Chanute, Lowry, Sheppard, Scott, Warren and Keesler Air Force Bases.

The son of Mrs. C. E. Rentz of Newport, General Rentz is a graduate of the University of Kentucky with a degree in business administration. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

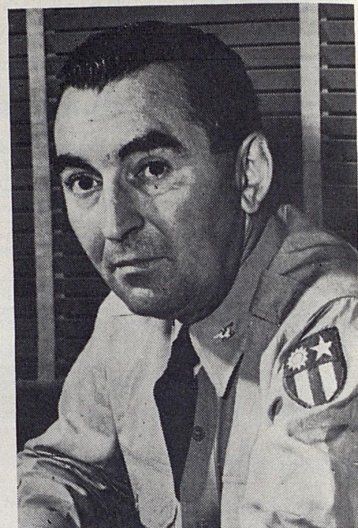

General Rentz is rated among the top Air Force leaders in technical training supervision. He has held a number of such positions, starting in 1941 when he was named secretary of the technical school at Chanute Air Force Base, Illinois.

He later was director of training at Gulfport Field, which since has become an Air National Guard training base.

After serving as Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations at the old Technical Training Command headquarters at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., General Rentz went to China in July 1946, where for three years he was in charge of a group of advisers who aided in establishing a technical training program for the Chinese Nationalist Air Force.

He returned to the United States in 1949 to become Chief of the Technical Training Division at Air Force headquarters in Washington until his assignment here.

With his wife, the former Carolyn Van Court of Cincinnati, Ohio, and their daughter, Barrie, General Rentz had made his home in nearby Biloxi,

Brig. Gen. W. E. Rentz

Miss. They left Biloxi early in October for Washington.

(My commission expires Sept. 15, 1959)

Cox, Denham, Stilz Are Named To UK Board Of Trustees

Cox Chosen Member Of Executive Comm.

Louis Cox, of Frankfort, attorney and former member of the executive committee of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association, has been named a member of the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees by Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, to fill the unexpired term of the late Alumnus-Trustee Guy A. Huguélet.

Two other appointees to fill positions on the board from the state-at-large were named by the Governor at the same time. They are: Dr. Harry Denham, of Maysville, UK graduate and former varsity basketball player, who succeeds Paul M. Basham, of Hardinsburg, whose term expires; and Robert C. Stilz, Lexington banker, to succeed the late John C. Everett, of Maysville. All three appointees are UK alumni.

Dr. Denham will serve until Dec. 31, 1957, and Mr. Cox and Mr. Stilz will serve until Dec. 31, 1958.

At the first quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees held last Sept. 20, following the appointments, Mr. Cox was chosen a member of the executive committee of the board.

C. B. Shoemaker, '15, Promoted By Corp.

C. B. Shoemaker has been promoted to staff assistant to the president, according to Gerald S. Tompkins, president of American Viscose Corporation. Mr. Shoemaker has been assistant manufacturing manager of rayon staple and tire yarn.

A native of Falmouth, Ky., Mr. Shoemaker was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1915 with a B.S. degree in industrial chemistry. He joined American Viscose in 1919 as control chemist at the Marcus Hook, Pa., rayon plant. He was transferred to the Parkersburg, West Va., plant in 1927 as head of the Viscose Department, later becoming assistant plant manager. From 1939 to 1942 he served as the manager of the Nitro, West Va., plant, leaving the post to take on administrative duties. He is a resident of Landsdowne, Pa.

The American Viscose Corp. is the largest manufacturer of rayon in this country, operating seven rayon manufacturing plants, one cellophane plant and employing 20,000 people.

General DeCoursey Is Medical School Commandant In Texas

Brig. Gen. Elbert DeCoursey, '24, became commandant of the Medical Field Service School at Brooke Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., last August.

General DeCoursey, who was given an honorary degree by his Alma Mater last May, has been serving as director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, D. C.

This is General DeCoursey's fifth assignment at Brooke. He began his Army career there as an intern in 1929.

An eminent pathologist, General DeCoursey was a member of the Joint Committee for the investigation of the atomic bombing of Japan in 1945 and director of the Army Group in Nagasaki. He also served in 1946 on Operations Crossroads, better known as the atom bomb test at Bikini, in the Naval Medical Research and Radiological Safety sections.

He was graduated from Johns Hopkins University Medical School in 1928 and has been a member of the National Board of Medical Examiners since 1948 and advisory editor of the American Journal of Clinical Pathology since 1951. In 1949-'53 he was a member of the Joint Panel on Atomic Warfare, and he served on the Committee of Medical Sciences, U. S. Research and Development Board, from 1950 to 1953.

General DeCoursey is a distinguished member of many scientific societies and is a consultant to the Division of Biology and Medicine of the Atomic Energy Commission, an alternate defense member of the National Advisory Cancer Council, and a diplomate of the American Board of Pathology.

He and his wife, the former Esther Fertig, '24, are both life members of the UK Alumni Association.

TOWNSEND BOOK IS BOOK CLUB CHOICE

"Lincoln and the Bluegrass: Slavery and Civil War in Kentucky," a book written by William H. Townsend of Lexington and scheduled for publication this month by the University of Kentucky Press, has been named the November selection of the Civil War Book Club.

The book is scheduled to come from the press on Nov. 15. A special limited Bluegrass edition autographed by the author will be available from local bookstores.

Townsend, Lexington attorney and well known Lincoln scholar, owns one of the largest private collections of Lincolniana in the United States today. He is the author of four other books and numerous articles on Lincoln.

Just Around The Corner ...

Around the corner of another year, next spring to be exact, your Alumni Association will be embarking on a new adventure. This is the time set by YOU, at your annual meeting last May, for the establishment of a new and more functional financial program for alumni giving.

There have been tremendous changes for the better at the University of Kentucky since many of us were undergraduates. There has been decided progress made in the physical plant and in teaching and research. However, through the years of constantly increasing enrollment, continuing progress in educational procedures and great physical growth, your Alumni Association has remained more or less static, growing in numbers, it is true, but not growing in breadth and scope and vision comparable to the development of Alma Mater.

For almost a year now we have been outlining, on the pages of the ALUMNUS, our need for development, for an enlarged program, for an aggressive, eager Alumni Association which will not continue to trail behind but which will run interference for the University.

We need to be independent; we need to be self-sustaining; we need to carry our share of the University's many burdens and to be in a position to supplement her needs with alumni dollars—yours and mine.

The opportunity to participate more fully in the University's future can be yours only through a well-organized, well-directed and well-financed alumni program. We are morally obligated to support that program not only because of our stake in Kentucky's future but because of her investment in our past.

It gives one a warm glow in the heart and an expansion of the chest muscles to read in the daily papers that UK students won Rhodes Scholarships two years running in competition against a group of Big Ten schools; the pulse beats faster and Kentucky eyes glisten when press and radio report the exploits of the "Big Blue"; but let's face it—what do many of us actually DO about it?

Sure, we write in for 50-yard line tickets to the big games and gripe when they aren't forthcoming, but, actually, beyond an occasional membership dues check what have we done to justify our heritage?

We read that the University of Rochester set an alumni goal in 1954 for $50,000 in scholarships; that little Occidental College alumni raised $45,212 in 1953-'54; that Yale raised $98,700; and St. Johns, $50,000, just to quote a few facts and figures.

And, how often do we, Kentucky alumni, say to ourselves, "someday I'm going to do something for the University?"

Well, friends, the time has come! Not in 1960, or 1965 or 1970 but NOW—JUST AROUND THE CORNER, in the spring of 1956 you will receive your challenge. Surely there are no more loyal alumni in the world than the men and women of Kentucky—so begin now to look around the corner and plan to let your heart's blood and your ink flow free for Alma Mater in 1956.

Col. Hamersley Is Secretary General Staff, Third Army

Colonel Dwight T. Hamersley has been named Secretary General Staff for Third Army, by Third Army Commander Lieutenant General A. R. Bolling.

Colonel Hamersley has been Third Army Public Information Officer for the past eight months. Prior to that he had served 17 months in the Adjutant General's Section of the Army Headquarters, as executive officer, and Deputy Adjutant General.

He succeeds Colonel T. S. Hatzfeld, who has been temporarily assigned Third Army Deputy Chief of Staff, prior to assuming command of the 351st Regimental Combat Team at Camp Rucker, Ala.

The new Secretary General Staff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hamersley of 263 Cochran Rd., Lexington, Ky. He received his university education in the college of mechanical and electrical engineering at the University of Kentucky.

Colonel Hamersley's assignments before joining Third Army included service in Europe, Hawaii, Eniwetok, Korea, and Japan, including two tours of duty with the Department of the Army in Washington, D. C.

The new position is not unfamiliar to the native Kentuckian. While serving in Korea he was assigned as Secretary General Staff of the United Nations delegation at the Korean Armistice Conferences.

Colonel Hamersley is a graduate of the Army's Adjutant General's School, and the Command and General Staff College. Among his decorations and awards are the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal, and the Army Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Georgia T. Rankin, '53, of Lancaster, who holds the M.S. degree in library science from the University, is teaching with Army independent schools overseas this year. The schools were established in 1946 to provide the children of American military and civilian personnel in foreign countries with an educational opportunity through the high school level, comparable to that in the U.S.

Gift Comes To UK From GE Employee

Young Alum Donates

A young graduate of the University of Kentucky, Kenneth L. Rightwood, B.S. in Commerce, '42, B.S.E.E. '49, of Dallas, Tex., district instrument specialist for the General Electric Co., has recently taken advantage of General Electric's newly established Corporate Alumnus Program, to make a generous contribution to his Alma Mater.

Under the terms of GE's program, any GE employee who is an alumnus of any accredited four-year college or university at which he has earned a degree may make a gift to his Alma Mater in any one year which will be matched, up to $1,000, by General Electric.

Mr. Rightwood has outlined the purpose of his contribution, as follows: "to create four one-year tuition scholarships (worth $130 each) for four different worthy students in the Department of Electrical Engineering, who are in need of financial aid."

The scholarships are to be granted to sophomores, according to Mr.

UK Men On Villa Madonna Board

Covington, Ky.—Edward S. Monohan, president of Schenley Distillers, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Robert H. Hillenmeyer, a member of the firm of Hillenmeyer Nurseries, Lexington, have been appointed to the advisory Board of Trustees of Covington's Villa Madonna College, it was announced by the Rev. John F. Murphy, college president.

Mr. Monohan, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky., has been with the Schenley firm since 1934 when he was appointed an assistant engineer. He was named president of the firm in 1953. He and his wife Mary and their four children reside on Lyndale Road, Kenton County, Kentucky.

Besides being a director of the Bernheim Distilling Co., Louisville, he also is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and the Engineering Society of Cincinnati.

Mr. Hillenmeyer is a member of the executive committee of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association and for a number of years has served as chairman of several of the sub-committees of the alumni board.

He is a veteran of World War II, serving in the European Theater of Operations, and is a native of Lexington. He and his wife, the former Eileen Sullivan, also a UK alumna, make their home with their two children in Meadowthorpe, Lexington.

Rightwood's request, since specialization in electrical engineering does not occur until the sophomore year.

Mr. Rightwood points out that young electrical engineers are seriously needed in order that the already enormous electrical industry will meet the predictions of experts and double in size by 1964, and says that "this may help in some small way to encourage students in their study of electrical engineering."

"I am delighted at this opportunity to be of some assistance to my Alma Mater whose scholastic nourishment prepared me for active combat in this modern, fast moving business world," stated Mr. Rightwood.

The young alumnus is a native of Lexington.

University Lists 11 Recipients Of First State-Wide Law Scholarships

Nine University of Kentucky law students and two other youths who entered the College of Law this fall are the first recipients of the Kentucky Law Scholarships, recently established by the lawyers of Kentucky.

Announcement of the selection of the scholarship winners was made by Law Dean Elvis J. Stahr Jr. The scholarships represent initial grants of $3,300 made available by Kentucky attorneys for the 1955-56 academic year, Dean Stahr said.

A small amount remains in the new fund for possible awards to late applicants, the dean reported.

Three of the scholarships have been designated by the contributing lawyers to have particular names, and they will be known through the years by these names.

One of these, the George K. Holbert Kentucky Law Scholarship, has been established in honor of the late judge of the Ninth Judicial District, composed of Breckinridge, Grayson, Hardin and Meade counties. Winner of this $300 grant is William E. Bivin, Paducah, graduate of Western Kentucky State College. He will be a second year law student this fall.

A $500 award to be known as the Jefferson County Kentucky Law Scholarship was received by Charles Lee Calk, Lexington, native of Louisville and graduate of UK. He also will be a second year law student this fall.

The third award to be named the $300 Kenton County Kentucky Law Scholarship, went to Arthur E. Abshire, McAndrews, a University of Kentucky graduate and a second year law student.

Recipients of the unnamed scholarships, listed by year in school, amount and hometown, follow:

Third year students — C. Gibson Downing Jr., Lexington, $400, graduate of UK; Denver Gay, Bowlingtown, $300, pre-law at Berea College; Harold K. Huddleston, Horse Cave, $200, pre-law at Lindsey Wilson College and Western State College; Eugene C. Roemele III, Frankfort, $200, graduate of UK.

Second year students — J. Leland Brewster, $300, graduate of UK; Henry R. Snyder, Springfield, Ohio, $300, graduate of Wittenberg College.

First-year students—Fauster Vittone, Masontown, Pa., $300, graduate of Morris-Harvey College; Jesse S. Hogg, Whitesburg, $200, graduate of Morehead State College.

The basic objective of the scholarships is to improve the quality of the future bar of Kentucky by providing help to a few well-qualified and deserving law students of strong moral character who face serious and difficult financial problems in obtaining a legal education.

A statewide committee of lawyers has been formed, with representatives in all judicial districts and in most counties, to assist in the administration of the scholarship program.

Selections of recipients are being made on the basis of character, need, and demonstrated ability, including the college record. The committee making the first selections included John L. Davis, Lexington, past president of the Kentucky State Bar Association; Glenn Denham, Middlesboro; Max B. Harlin, Bowling Green; Thomas J. Knight, Louisville, former judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, and Dr. William L. Matthews, member of the UK law faculty.

1952 GRADUATE IS METHODIST MINISTER

The Rev. Frank Gulley, Jr., '52, of Lexington, has been graduated from the Candler School of Theology at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Gulley is a graduate of Henry Clay High School and UK. In addition to his studies at Emory, he served as an assistant in the department of church history and as assistant pastor of Atlanta's Peachtree Road Methodist church.

This fall Mr. Gulley is undertaking a program at Vanderbilt University, leading toward a Ph.D. degree, where he has been awarded an assistantship in the School of Religion. He is a member of the Kentucky Annual Conference of the Methodist church.

Ky. Man Working On Polio Vaccine

John W. Knox

John W. Knox is a new associate bacteriologist in the biological control department of Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis. He will perform safety tests on poliomyelitis vaccine.

Knox is a native of Converse, Indiana, where he was graduated from high school in 1940. The following six years he spent in military service with the United States Marine Corps. He attended Ball State Teachers College and majored in bacteriology at the University of Kentucky, receiving a Bachelor of Science degree in medical technology from the latter in 1951.

A medical technologist registered by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, Knox spent almost three years as a bacteriologist with St. Vincent's Hospital in Jacksonville, Florida. He goes to Lilly from the Production Development Laboratories at Pine Bluff Arsenal, Arkansas.

Students and research workers at the University of Kentucky use a $20,000 electron-microscope in studying causes of diseases. This instrument is housed in the UK Biological Sciences Building.

J. V. Vittitow, Owensboro insurance man and UK alumnus, has been elected president of the Kentucky School Boards Association.

Alumni Mourn Guy Huguelet's Death

"The members of the Executive Committee of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association desire to express, though it be wholly inadequate, the sorrow which the death of Guy A. Huguelet has brought to each of them.

"He died at the St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington, Kentucky, on Saturday, July 23, 1955. Apparently in full enjoyment of vigorous health only a short while ago, participating enthusiastically and zestfully in all alumni affairs, both serious and social, his passing within such a brief time leaves us hardly capable of realizing that he is no longer among us.

"Mr. Huguelet was appointed an Alumni Trustee of the University of Kentucky on January 1, 1948, and served continuously in this capacity for the remainder of his life. On May 24, 1948, he became a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees and its Chairman and he was ex officio member of the Alumni Executive Committee. He also served as a Director of the Athletics Association of the University and it was under his able and courageous leadership that Kentucky's football fortunes began the precipitous but unfaltering ascent which led to fame and national recognition.

"A man of penetrating foresight, sound judgment and decisive action, Mr. Huguelet gave to the University and to this Committee and the Alumni unstintingly of his time and talents. He was never too busy in the midst of the discharge of manifold duties in business and civic affairs to assist in the solution of our problems or to render such other services as circumstances might require.

"Nature had largely endowed him with many commendable attributes. Affable, genial, generous, considerate, possessing a quiet but keen sense of humor, he had an unflinching capacity for making friends. We can not think of him as one who has actually and finally departed for his "good works" abidingly surround us. Tonight, as we bear simple, sincere testimony to his memory, we know how true it is that: "To live in hearts we leave behind Is not to die."

"THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the death of Guy A. Huguelet has

ADMINISTRATIVE JOB TO ALUMNA-TEACHER

Sarah Cole Atchison (Mrs. R. M.) A.B. in Education, formerly of Lexington and now of Dayton, Ohio, has been appointed assistant principal of Emerson School, Ohio's experimental elementary institution, according to a recent announcement.

Mrs. Atchison, former principal of Briar Hill and Wolf Run Schools in Fayette county, Ky., went to Dayton 11 years ago and served as a teacher at Emerson prior to her appointment as assistant principal.

Miss Nancy Duke Lewis, A.B. '32, M.A. '33, dean of Pembroke College, Providence, R. I., has been appointed one of 13 directors of the newly organized National Merit Scholarship Corporation, the largest independent college scholarship program in the history of American education.

Miss Lewis, a native of Lexington, has served successively since her graduation as a member of the dean's staff at Syracuse University, personnel counsellor on the staff of the dean of women at Woman's College, University of North Carolina; assistant to the dean at that college; assistant dean of Pembroke and more recently as dean of the College.

Creation of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation was announced last September in Evanston, Ill., by its president, John M. Stalnaker. The working funds came from grants by the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation.

Mr. Stalnaker said the corporation is expected to serve as an instrument by which business and industry may increase their support for higher education. Selection of scholarship winners will involve an annual nationwide competition in which students from about 25,000 public and private secondary schools may participate. The first scholarships will be awarded before next May 1 for college entrance in September. At least 200 may be granted for the first year, Mr. Stalnaker said.

Dean Lewis said that her participation in the corporation's plan as a director will be on the policy-making level.

Emerson, an ungraded school where students may proceed at their own speed of learning, has an enrollment of 1,800. The school was the subject of an article in the September issue of Better Homes and Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Atchison implemented the organization of the Dayton, Ohio UK Alumni Club a few years ago and Mr. Atchison served as its first president.

Eschborn Is Chief Engineer For Jack And Heintz, Inc.

Ralph J. Eschborn, B.S.M.E. '43, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., has been named chief engineer of Jack and Heintz, Inc., major national designer and manufacturer of electric systems and components for aircraft.

Prominent in aviation circles, the new J&H chief engineer has had more than 15 years experience in the research, design and production of aircraft engines and electric, pneumatic and hydraulic aircraft accessories.

He joined Jack and Heintz in 1951 as a staff engineer. A year later he was named engineering executive manager and in 1953 became assistant chief engineer, the position he held at the time of this new appointment.

Prior to joining Jack and Heintz Mr. Eschborn was serving as an aeronautical research scientist with the Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics and was the author of several important research papers. Earlier, he was assistant director of the Aeronautical Research Laboratory at the University of Kentucky. During World War II, as a captain in the Air Corps, he was chief of the Engine Unit in the electrical branch of the Equipment Laboratory at Wright Field. Simultaneous with these positions, Mr. Eschborn was active as a consultant to many companies connected with the aircraft industry.

An honor graduate from UK, Mr. Eschborn also holds the master's degree in aeronautical engineering from the Case Institute of Technology.

He holds an active commercial pilot's rating.

Mr. Eschborn and his family, which includes a son and a daughter, make their home at 188 Franklin Drive, Berea, Ohio.

Three Weeks Became 41 Years For Miss Bean Who Retired July 1 From UK Job

When Miss Carrie Bean joined the University of Kentucky staff in 1914 she accepted her position for only three weeks, but when she relinquished her post as superintendent of the UK post office last July 1 she had completed her 41st year on the campus.

Succeeding her as post office superintendent will be Miss Eloise Webb, who has been associated with the University 33 years.

Lighter Duties

Under University policy, a faculty or staff member on change of work is given lighter duties but remains an active member of the UK community. Miss Bean has been assigned to assist other members of the postal staff in organizing their system each semester.

After 41 years at one institution, what does one value most of all her experiences?

Miss Bean said that the friendships formed during this period are her most prized possessions. "I've traveled in all of the states except six, and in all of these 42 I've renewed friendships made here at the University in years past."

The postal superintendent, affectionately known as "Miss Carrie" by literally thousands of former students and staff members, explained that she has "never visited in a place where I failed to see some UK friends."

Various honors too numerous to mention have highlighted Miss Bean's years at the University. One special honor which the oldtimers at the University remember was her selection in 1941 as "Sweetheart of Omicron Delta Kappa."

In 1914 Miss Bean came to the campus to fill a vacancy in the business office. She recalls that the University's enrollment then was "between 700 and 800 students."

The post office was operated as a unit of the business office until 1925 when it became a government office. Since that time Miss Bean has been in charge of all postal activities as super-

'55 GRADUATE WINS VOGUE'S CONTEST

Georgene Duckworth, a 1955 graduate of UK from Lexington, has been named one of the 50 top-ranking contestants in Vogue Magazine's Priz de Paris contest.

Her winning feature article, "A Connecticut Yankee in the Blue Grass," is based on her own experiences and impressions of Kentucky. Miss Duckworth and her family moved to Kentucky from the east. She obtained her degree from UK's School of Journalism.

Miss Duckworth entered a preliminary contest based on assignments in the fields of fashion and feature writing, which qualified her to write the final thesis of 1,500 words.

Two seniors, Pat Hervey, Mt. Lakes, N.J. and Floyd Cammack, Lexington, have been awarded the Alfred Charles Zembrod prizes given each year at the University and provided under the will of the late Prof. Zembrod, to outstanding students in French and Spanish.

As all recent UK graduates know, the post office is now located in the basement of McVey Hall. However, Miss Bean said that she handled mail in the Administration Building and Alumni gymnasium before the office was moved to McVey Hall.

Two Floods

Older UK students will remember incidents which stand out in Miss Bean's memory while she operated the office in Alumni gymnasium basement. According to her, on two occasions the basement was flooded by the old "Maxwell Spring" which then ran near where the present Student Union Building stands.

Miss Bean recalls that she kept the campus mail service operating throughout the floods, although it did mean donning hip boots at times.

Adrian Bradshaw, who has been associated with the University for 27 years, is succeeding Miss Webb as assistant superintendent.

State Diverts Sum Of $400,000 For Pharmacy Building

The sum of $400,000 was diverted by the State last August for the construction of a new pharmacy building on the University campus. The amount originally had been earmarked for construction of a new science building at UK.

The State Property and Building Commission authorized employment of Brock and Johnson, Lexington architects, to draw up plans for the project.

Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby said the action was taken to expedite transfer of the State Pharmacy College from Louisville to the University campus at Lexington. He explained that the school was in danger of losing its accreditation under the present set-up.

The proposed pharmacy building will cost between $500,000 and $600,000, W. T. Judy, executive director of the commission said. He added that $50,000 was allotted previously to employ an architect and apply on construction costs. Money from other sources, such as grants and sale of the present Louisville site, should cover the remainder of the financing, according to Mr. Judy.

Kyle Whitehead Is Hazard, Ky. Editor

Kyle Whitehead, '26, formerly of Harlan, has been named editor and general manager of the Hazard, Ky., Herald, succeeding Fred B. Bullard, publisher, who has been appointed executive secretary of the Hazard Coal Operators Association.

Mr. Whitehead has been serving as the paper's editor since last November. Prior to that he was connected with the Davis Advertising Agency in Louisville and, with his family, was making his home in Lexington.

Mr. Whitehead has had a distinguished career in the newspaper and advertising field, having served successively as a member of the Lexington Herald staff and instructor in journalism at the University of Kentucky; publicity director and instructor at Murray Ky. State College; editor of the Lafollette Press at Lafollette, Tenn.; editor of the Harlan, Ky., Daily Enterprise and publicity director for

Art Nutting Named To Research Post

Arthur Nutting, '26, vice president and chief engineer of the American Air Filter Co., Louisville, has been nominated to the research committee of the American Society of Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning Engineers for a three-year term.

The committee administers a research program for the air-conditioning industry which includes work at the society's laboratory at Cleveland as well as projects at several universities.

Mr. Nutting is an engineering graduate from UK, and is secretary-treasurer of the Air Filter Institute, a trade association of air filter manufacturers.

He is a member of the Big Springs Golf Club and in 1951 won the Falls City Amateur Golf Championship. He has served as a member of the executive committee of the UK Alumni Association.

the Republican party in Kentucky.

He and his wife, the former Ava Cawood of Harlan, also a member of the 1926 class at UK, and their son, Kyle, Jr., are making their home in Hazard.

James Franklin Corn, '16, prominent Cleveland, Tenn., attorney and civic leader, has been elected mayor of that city to fill the unexpired term of the late Mayor Willard J. Parks.

Colonel Corn was named to the post by the city commission. His term has five and one-half years to run.

The UK graduate is a native of Harrodsburg, Ky., and has been a member of the law firm of Bell and Corn in Cleveland since the early 1920's. He practiced law in Bowling Green before going to Cleveland.

He has served as city judge and city attorney in Cleveland and is a past president of the Cleveland and Bradley County Bar Association. He served in both World Wars, leaving UK Law School in 1917 to enlist. During World War II he served as a lieutenant colonel of infantry, and was stationed in Ft. Jackson, S. C., in the Office of the Provost Marshal General in Washington and with the School of British Military Government at Oxford University, Oxford, England. Upon his return to this country in 1943 he served as special faculty adviser in military government at the University of Pittsburgh. He was discharged from the Army after World War II with the rank of colonel.

Colonel Corn is a life member of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association, and within the past year set up an insurance policy for his nephew, Charles Corn Renfro, of Lexington, whereby the boy, under terms of the policy, will be required to pursue his college education at the University of Kentucky.

He is a member of the Kentucky and Tennessee and the American Bar Associations. He has served as vice president of the East Tennessee Bar Association and is a member of the Elks, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and First Christian Church, among other affiliations. He is a member of the Kentucky Historical Society and the Filson Club, to which he has contributed as a speaker and writer.

Gil Kingsbury Known As Kentucky Ambassador To Queen City

By TOM DISKIN '50

Up around Cincinnati, Gilbert W. Kingsbury, '33, is considered "Kentucky's Ambassador to the Queen City."

Like many other Northern Kentuckians, the U.K. graduate is employed in Cincinnati, but continues his life-long residence in Kentucky.

Kingsbury, who lives in South Ft. Mitchell, is a member of a score or more organizations which tab him as perhaps the 'champion' Kentucky joiner.

The "Ambassador" is now vice president of public relations for the Crosley Broadcasting Corporation, which includes television stations in Cincinnati, Atlanta, Ga., Columbus, O., and Dayton, O., as well as WLW Radio, in Cincinnati.

Kingsbury, who majored in Journalism and Economics while at U. K., has been extremely active in getting support for the University of Kentucky Northern Extension Center, located in Covington. He is in fact the chairman of the U.K. Center committee.

Here are some of the other organizations to which Kingsbury is a member:

Mr. Kingsbury is a vice president of the Kentucky Medical Foundation; life member of the UK Alumni Association; a member of the board of the Greater Cincinnati UK Alumni Club, and in addition, he has also been a former member of the UK Alumni Club of Washington D.C.; Foreign Correspondent for Crosley Broadcasting (1948); WLW News Editor; former Administrative Assistant to Sen. E. C. Clements and to the late Sen. Garrett L. Withers; former Assistant Dean of the University of Cincinnati Evening College; American Newspaper Guild; and former copy editor for the Cincinnati Post newspaper.

He was also a radio and television representative for the 1948 and the 1952 Presidential campaigns, traveling on the campaign trains of President Eisenhower; Adlai Stevenson; Harry Truman; and Thomas E. Dewey.

Mr. Kingsbury is married to the former Sylvia Phillips, of Covington. They have one son, Gilbert, Jr., age 13, who is already looking forward to entering UK in a few years.

T. B. Nantz Heads Goodrich Plants

Thomas B. Nantz, '37, formerly of Daviess county, who has been manager of the B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co. plant near Calvert City, Ky., since completion of the vinyl plastic monomer plant three years ago, has been named general manager of all Goodrich chemical plants.

Mr. Nantz's wife is the former Mary Halley Kerr, a former UK student from Lexington.

He was graduated from the College of Engineering, and went to work for the Goodrich firm soon after graduation. His promotion was announced by the president of Goodrich.

Mr. Nantz formerly was production manager for the Louisville plant of the B. F. Goodrich Co. He and his family are making their home at Hudson, Ohio. Their mail address is P. O. Box 65, Hudson.

UK's First Carrier Scholar Is Chosen

The University of Kentucky College of Engineering, through a grant from the Carrier Corp. of Syracuse, N. Y., has awarded a four-year scholarship to Franklin P. Blair Jr. of Morehead.

The scholarship has been established by the air conditioning manufacturing firm in memory of J. Irvine Lyle, first president of Carrier and a graduate of the University of Kentucky.

Young Blair, a graduate of Breckinridge Training School, entered the University in the fall to study mechanical engineering.

Dean Daniel V. Terrell of the UK College of Engineering announced that the corporation will offer the four-year scholarship each year in honor of Lyle, who served as president of the Carrier firm from 1915 until his death in 1942.

Winners of the grants, known as Carrier Scholars, will receive $750 each year to be used for normal college expenses.

The winner of the first award is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. Blair. During his senior year at Breckinridge Training, he was a member of the basketball team, the Minstrel Club, chorus, president of the Beta Club, president of the Student Council and president of his class.

He was graduated with honors and received the Beta Club citizenship award at his school's commencement.

J. Irvine Lyle, in whose honor the scholarships are given, was graduated from UK in mechanical engineering in 1896. A native of Woodford County, he and five other young engineers established the Carrier Corp. in 1951.

Dean Terrell reported that the Carrier Scholarships will be made available to high school graduates:

Who have completed suitable courses to qualify for entrance to the mechanical engineering course;

Who have established good scholastic records and personal reputation;

Who have a sincere desire to secure a degree in mechanical engineering;

Who need financial assistance to make attendance at college possible or who possess exceptional ability and talent.

Don't Sell The 1955 Grid Wildcats Short

Season's Closing Will Tell Story

By KEN KUHN
UK Sports Publicity Editor

While the turbulent 1955 football campaign was still in the pre-season talking stage last fall, some over-zealous followers of the Kentucky Wildcats were taking ultimate success for granted by placing early orders for Sugar Bowl tickets and a couple of national magazines, making the usual advance forecasts which are usually forgotten if they never pan out, predicted a conference championship for the men of Coach Blanton Collier.

In a way, the confidence was excellent for morale purposes. But one voice in the wilderness of optimism cried out for caution which has since been justified. Coach Collier honestly evaluated his team's chances with the statement that "we will be extremely fortunate to post as good a record as the 7-3 mark forged by the surprising club of last year."

As the 1955 season reached the midway point for the Kentuckians, the full import of Collier's caution began to be realized. However, the club had risen to great heights to defeat defending champion Mississippi and tie powerful Auburn (probable '55 titlist) in justification of the early enthusiasm over their chances.

The team, despite morale-sapping obstacles such as an early upset and injuries to key personnel, had posted a respectable 2-2-1 record after the first five contests of the 10-game season—a mark that surpassed the 2-3 record possessed by the Wildcats at the identical point in last season's sensational campaign. And with a slightly better shake from Lady Luck in a couple of instances, the Colliermen might still be in the thick of the fight for the Southeastern flag and a bowl bid, instead of fighting to keep alive their chances for a first-division finish and a respectable over-all record.

Viewing the first half of the Kentucky season in retrospect, loyal supporters of the Wildcats are prone to wonder just how rosy the situation might be if the fired-up Bayou Bengals of Louisiana State had not sprung a rude, opening-game upset.

Some people blamed the surprise loss on the probability that the Kentucky boys were looking ahead to their tussle with Mississippi the next week-end, but Coach Collier insisted that was wrong and expressed the belief that LSU, tutored by ex-UK aide Paul Dietzel, just had the superior desire. Whatever it was, the Tigers triumphed 19-7 in a game highlighted by a 95-yard kickoff return by reserve halfback Joe May. It was evident from the start that LSU, which was picked by many to finish low in the second division, would have to be seriously reckoned with this season.

If the Wildcats were disappointing in their debut, they more than made up for it the next week-end. Back on the familiar bluegrass turf of Stoll Field in Lexington, they startled the football world by racing from behind to hand Mississippi a 21-14 licking. A near-sellout crowd got its money's worth as Kentucky's Bob Hardy bested rival Eagle Day of Ole Miss in directing aerials and ground thrusts that defeated the Rebels. Then there was the great showing of soph halfback Woody Herzog, who had given indications of promise in the LSU tilt. The Hamilton, Ohio, ace scampered all over the lot, evading tacklers with the ease of a veteran campaigner and picking up 56 vital yards to lead the ground gaining parade. Don Netoskie, demoted after the LSU game, slammed his way back into the limelight and the fullback situation (last season's biggest problem) seemed nearer to solution as both Bob Dougherty and Bobby Walker combined to give the Rebels a hard time by gaining 96 yards between them.

The win not only was an upset, but gave the Collier crew revenge for one of the three defeats inflicted by opponents during their coach's initial season in '54. And the performance served notice of the actual potential of this second edition of Collier Cats.

Some other Wildcats were on the opposition menu next—Villanova's Wildcats—and while they were not exactly awed into submission by Kentucky's showing of the previous week they might well have been. The final tally of 28-0 hardly reflects the ease with which Hardy and company disposed of the visitors from the City of Brotherly Love. Paced by the precise aerial play between Hardy and favorite receiver Howie Schnellenberger, who turned in a sparkling performance for the third straight week, Kentucky scored once in the first quarter, twice in the second, again in the third stanza and had a fourth-quarter TD called back by penalty. The shutout was the first by a Collier-coached Kentucky squad.

Undefeated Auburn, one of the real powerhouses of the conference, stood in the path of the high-flying Wildcats next. The obstacle seemed insur-

David and Jonathan Claiborne

Pictured above are the two Claiborne boys, David and Jonathan. They are the fine sons of Jerry and Anna Faye Hooks Claiborne, both of the class of 1950.

Jerry and Faye and their two handsome boys now are making their home at College Station, Tex., where Jerry is assistant football coach at Texas A&M, but there is a gleam in his eye when he talks about Kentucky, which might mean that someday there will be two more Claiborne boys wearing the Blue and White on the gridiron. Jerry and his brother George both played plenty of good football for Kentucky.

mountable, but the determined men from the Bluegrass were not to be denied an opportunity to prove their mettle. Stating their case with a vengeance on the turf of neutral Legion Field in Birmingham, Ala., Kentucky raced into an early lead and gave every indication of holding it until Auburn counted two quick TD's in the second quarter. The second half was almost a repetition of the first, but the Cats managed to hold off touchdown trouble while scoring the marker that proved to be the final outcome.

Both coaches admitted that their respective clubs and the opposition made mistakes in the thrilling 14-14 deadlock. Breaks, penalties and miscues—and one side or the other's inability to capitalize on them—accounted for the lack of a decision. Both teams had opportunities to end the affair in their favor in the closing stages. Late in the fourth quarter, Kentucky missed by a vital yard a first down on the Auburn eight that might easily have resulted in the game-winning touchdown. Three times the Plainsmen attempted field goals, only to have them go astray—the last one with less than a minute to go in the ball game. It was hard to get much of a morale boost out of the tie, especially when you felt you had such a good chance to win, but the Cats took consolation in the fact that they gained a moral victory over the heavily favored Auburn.

Still in the thick of the conference race, the Wildcats came up to the midway point in their season as they engaged the "darkhorse" Maroons of Mississippi State on Stoll Field Oct. 15. Crippled by injuries and suffering a let-down after a great emotional effort against Auburn, Kentucky lost to the Maroons 20-14. Although playing erratically, far from their peak form of the previous week, the Wildcats almost plucked the game out of the fire of defeat as they led 14-13 in the closing minutes. The never-say-die Mississippi State squad had other ideas, though. They forged into the final lead on a closing minutes, desperation heave from quarterback Bill Stanton to half-back Earl Morgan that covered 83 yards and left the Kentucky secondary defenders wondering what happened.

Ky. Utilities Gives Research Fund For Electrical Engineering Work

$12,000 Grant Made For Year

The Kentucky Utilities Company has established a fund at the University of Kentucky to assist in the expansion of the research and teaching programs of the College of Engineering.

Under provisions of the plan, the electric power company has made a gift of $12,000 for the year ending June 30, 1956, to be used for research and instructional purposes in the department of electrical engineering. The fund will be administered by the Kentucky Research Foundation of which Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, University vice president, is president.

Dr. H. Alex Romanowitz, head of the department of electrical engineering will coordinate all research and teaching to be carried on through the grant. Several research programs already are being developed by various members of the electrical engineering faculty.

"These funds will be used to strengthen the research program of the department. The research projects to be conducted will deal mainly with electric power engineering and basic electrical engineering," Dr. Romanowitz said.

R. M. Watt, president of Kentucky Utilities, Dr. Chamberlain, E. W. Brown, vice president of the utilities company and Dean D. V. Terrell of the College of Engineering jointly announced the gift. Officials of the power company said the grant has been made as part of the company's program to work for the advancement of education in Kentucky.

For their part, the Wildcats almost duplicated the play seconds later as Hardy uncorked a long one to half-back Bob Phillips who could not keep control of the pigskin after it hit his fingertips. It was one of those things that happen in football. In both instances, the defense was set up to protect against the expected long pass.

Knocked out of contention for the crown, Kentucky looked to the second half of its season with confidence that past mistakes will not be repeated and that they just might sneak up on some more good teams before the final gun is sounded. Don't sell these Wildcats short!

UK Botanist Chosen For African Study

Dr. Herbert P. Riley, head of the University of Kentucky's Department of Botany, left Lexington in July on a State Department educational tour which will take him to Africa for nine months of research and teaching.

The department head's study and teaching abroad has been arranged by the State Department through a grant under the Fulbright Act. While in Africa, Dr. Riley will be attached to the University of Pretoria, located in the city of Pretoria in the Union of South Africa.

Although he will engage in research on the chromosomes of various South African plants, he will be especially concerned with the succulants, which grow on the desert. Dr. Riley will conduct at least one class each term at the University of Pretoria and will offer public lectures and special seminars dealing chiefly with radiation and cytogenetics as arranged at other institutions in the area by the U. S. Educational Foundations.

In addition to the grant received under the Fulbright Act for the trip, he was recently awarded a $500 grant from the Joseph Henry Fund of the National Academy of Science. This amount will enable Dr. Riley to undertake several botanical field trips in Africa.

The University of Kentucky Bureau of School Service makes its facilities available to educational personnel throughout the state for the purpose of assisting them in the solution of their problems. Since its establishment in 1927, the Bureau has conducted a total of 69 research studies.

Ray Correll Stars On Service Team

A news release from Ft. Benning, Ga., reports that "Ray Correll, the 16-cylinder powerhouse from the University of Kentucky grid ranks, has been stealing the show from the national sporting panorama."

Lieutenant Correll, now serving as the Fourth Company's executive officer in the First Student Battalion, is reported to be making spectators at the service games forget other athletic affairs with his driving line play.

The former All-American is a native of Somerset, Ky., was co-captain of the Kentucky squad, a member of the All-SEC team and a participant in the East-West classic and the Senior Bowl game, all in his senior year with the Wildcats.

Maj. Henry C. Bailey, '40, St. Petersburg, Fla., has been presented the Bronze Star Medal with oak leaf cluster and the Purple Heart, for meritorious service in Korea in 1950.

C. F. Chappel, '48, Head Of Lilly Research Department

Charles F. Chappel

Charles F. Chappel, Ph.D., has been placed in charge of animal nutrition research in the agricultural research department at Eli Lilly and Company. The announcement is made by J. F. Downing, Ph.D., head of Lilly agricultural research.

A native of Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, Dr. Chappel was graduated from high school there in 1943. His college education was interrupted for two years of service in the United States Air Force. He then returned to the University of Kentucky, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in agriculture in 1948 and a Master of Science degree in animal nutrition in 1949.

In 1952 he was awarded a Doctor of Philosophy degree in animal nutrition by the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Before joining Eli Lilly and Company, Dr. Chappel was employed by the Beardstown Mills Company, Beardstown, Illinois, as director of research and nutrition. He was succeeded there by Dr. Charles Thompson, formerly an associate professor in the department of animal science at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Chappel is a member of Alpha Zeta, agriculture honor fraternity, and the Society of the Sigma Xi, scientific honor society. He is active in the American Society of Animal Production and has served on the Nutrition Council of the American Feed Manufacturers Association.

mittee, sponsor of the Kentucky Tree Farm program.

The appointment also gives Mr. Bringardner a chair on the national advisory committee of American Forest Products Industries, sponsor of the American Tree Farm System and national 4-H forestry scholarships.

Mr. Bringardner is vice president of the Appalachian Hardwood Manufacturers, an association promoting wider use of lumber from the Appalachian region.

He and his family make their home in Lexington.

'22 Man Working On Poultry Cancer

Berley Winton, '22, director of the Agricultural Research Laboratory at East Lansing, Mich., under whose direction the fight to curb visceral lymphomatosis (cancer in poultry), is being successfully waged, is coming in for a lot of praise these days from the scientists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Last spring Mr. Winton and his associates revealed that they had succeeded for the first time in immunizing chickens against the costly ravage. Resistance to lymphomatosis was passed from vaccinated hens to their chicks through the eggs.

"It shows . . ." reported The Poultryman, "how Winton's direction, guidance and interest in research have helped spark new hope for greater progress by Poultrymen everywhere."

"This success hasn't come easily," editorialized Agricultural Research. "It crowns a 16-year effort by Director Berley Winton and associates—16 seemingly fruitless years of patient search for clues, pursuit down blind alleys, driving toward a single end."

Researchers hope that this discovery may eventually bring the disease under control. Their findings, of course, must be verified under a variety of conditions, the vaccine technique greatly simplified, and vaccine production put on a practical basis. But there is no denying that the first battlement has been scaled.

Mr. Winton has held his present post since 1940. Prior to that he was connected with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. He is a native of Monroe, Tenn., and holds the B.S. degree in Agriculture from UK.

New Study Rates UK Library High On Qualitative Basis

The University of Kentucky's Margaret I. King Library not only ranks fourth in the south in number of volumes in its collection but actually is at the top of the south as to quality, according to a library publication just released last spring by the University of Illinois.

The publication, "Library Trends," a quarterly issued by the Illinois institution, explains a new and unique method of determining the quality of books held by the nation's libraries. The plan used follows in part:

Last year two librarians of the University of Pennsylvania sent a representative sample of scholarly books published in 1951 to a number of libraries, with the request that they check the list against their holdings.

Of those institutions in the southeast (including Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mis-issippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Tennessee and Kentucky) the University of Kentucky library reportedly held more of the titles than any other single library. UK's library had 85 of the 222 titles listed. Duke University and the University of North Carolina reported 127 titles together, but the report asserted that it was unlikely that either institution held more than 64 of the volumes alone.

At the present time the UK libraries have a total of nearly 700,000 volumes. This collection should be a source of great pride for UK alumni, and should be an incentive for future contributions to the library in the form of books which have been authored by alumni, new books of importance, and old books and family papers which should have a place in the University Library's historical collection.

M. P. Wallace, '30, Is Appointed Celina, Ohio, City Solicitor

Malcolm P. Wallace, LL.B. '30, of Celina, Ohio, has been appointed city solicitor of his home town by Mayor D. B. Spangler, effective last August.

Mr. Wallace is a native of Paducah, Ky., and has lived in Celina since 1946 where he holds a position in the legal department of the Celina Mutual Insurance Company. He will continue in that position, in addition to his new duties. He was the unopposed Democratic nominee for the position of city solicitor for the full term which will begin January 1, 1956.

Mr. Wallace holds an undergraduate degree from the University of Illinois. After he obtained his law degree from UK he practiced law in Paducah for several years where he was referee in bankruptcy. From 1940 to 1945 he was assistant U. S. Attorney in Louisville.

He is past president of the Paducah Lions Club, a Mason, a Shriner, a member of the official board of St. Paul's Methodist church in Celina, the Kentucky and Ohio Bar Associations and various other civic and social groups.

SOCIAL WELFARE GRANT TO ALUMNA

Mrs. Cynthia Hall Chambers, '52, formerly of Autryville, N. C., is enrolled in the Florida State University School of Social Welfare this year, on a graduate assistantship.

Mrs. Chambers is working toward her master's degree in Social Work at the Florida school, and according to Dr. Coyle E. Moore, dean of the school, is making an excellent record.

Dean Moore writes that "in the years ahead we hope that we may have other alumni from the University of Kentucky with as much potential for growth and development into skilled professional social workers."

C. Hart Miller Is Aircraft Executive

C. Hart Miller, '29, formerly of Millersburg, Ky., a 1929 graduate of UK with the A.B. degree in Journalism, has been named assistant to the president of Northrop Aircraft, Inc., at Hawthorne, Calif.

Former president of the Piasecki Helicopter Corp., at Morton, Pa., Mr. Miller has been in the aircraft field since his graduation from UK. He has served as executive vice president and director of Republic Aviation Corp., director and vice president of Charles D. Roach, Inc., of New York City, and assistant to the president of Seversky Corp., on Long Island.

His wife, the former Mary Susan Armstrong of Lexington, is a 1932 graduate of UK. Their current address is 466 N. Carmeline Ave., Los Angeles.

'49 MAN WITH STEEL CONSTRUCTION INST.

Charles R. Ham, '49, of Portsmouth, Va., recently was appointed director of market research with the American Institute of Steel Construction, Inc., with headquarters at 101 Park Avenue, New York City. The institute, founded in 1921, fosters the structural steel fabricating industry.

Mr. Ham has had approximately three years Association experience and several years with the American Bridge Division, United States Steel. He also has an Industrial Management degree from Carnegie Institute of Technology, which he received in 1952.

OBITUARIES

EDWARD CAMPBELL McDOWELL, SR., 81, an 1896 graduate of the College of Engineering, died last August 4 in New York City. A native of Cynthiana, Mr. McDowell retired as a consulting engineer in 1949 and was the author of numerous articles about engineering problems. He had served as assistant manager of the National Steel Car Co., in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, and was one of the founders of the Southern Car and Foundry Co. in Tennessee.

In 1928 Mr. McDowell went to New York as a consulting engineer for an investment-banking group headed by Bernard Baruch and continued in that work until his retirement.

Survivors include one brother, a daughter and a son. Burial services were held in the Maysville, Ky. cemetery.

DR. L. E. SMITH, 76, of Louisville, who was known as "Mr. Tuberculosis Control" in Kentucky, died last August 30 in Louisville.

Dr. Smith was fond of saying that when he was 20 he was given one year to live. The diagnosis was tuberculosis. He had suffered a slight stroke about a year ago but death was caused by heart disease.

Dr. Smith was known to thousands of Kentuckians for his vigorous battle against tuberculosis for 20 years as executive secretary of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association and continuing until his retirement four years ago.

Dr. Smith, who didn't become a doctor until he was 37, was born on a farm at Sacramento in McLean county. He was graduated from UK in 1911, having worked his way through college. He obtained his medical degree from Johns Hopkins in 1915. He served as a medical missionary in Puerto Rico for one year and in Africa for seven years for the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Before joining the Ky. Tuberculosis Association he was Breathitt County health officer. He has been an elder in the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church in Louisville for 19 years.

Survivors include his wife, three brothers and five sisters.

Funeral services were held at the church, and burial followed in Cave Hill cemetery.

WILLIAM C. "BUTSIE" BROWN, SR., 58, of Lexington, owner of the Allender-Brown Co., was killed instantly last September when his car hit the side of a New York Central freight train four miles west of Lynnville, Ind. Investigating officers said that Mr. Brown failed to see the oncoming train.

Mr. Brown was a native of Owensboro, and was educated there and at the University of Kentucky where he received the LL.B. degree in 1920. At the time of his death he owned the Allender-Brown Company, was a landowner engaged in cattle-raising in Florida, and had interests in the oil drilling and production business in Indiana.

He was a member of numerous civic organizations in Lexington, and of the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church. He had lived in Lexington for the past 36 years.

Survivors include his wife, a son, William C. Brown, Jr., also a UK graduate, and one sister.

Funeral services and burial were held in Lexington.

WILLIAM A. GILLIAM, 57, of Coral Gables, Fla., died at his home there last July. He had been ill since April of a heart ailment. A native of Paducah, Ky., Mr. Gilliam attended public schools there and was a student at UK in 1916 and 1917. Soon after leaving the University he entered the lumber business, then served two years in the Army in World War I, twelve months of it overseas with the Army of Occupation.

He went to Florida in 1919 settling in St. Augustine, later moving to Daytona Beach in 1925, where he rose rapidly with the lumber firm becoming plant manager of the company he had joined in 1919.

Active in civic affairs, Mr. Gilliam held many positions of importance, and was a trustee of the First Baptist church and vice president of the YMCA board.

Funeral services and burial were held at Daytona Beach.

CHARLES S. MAYER, 85, of Chicago, a graduate of the College of Pharmacy in 1892 and formerly representative of the Chicago Pharmaceutical Co., died last August in Chicago, according to information sent in by his wife.

Mr. Mayer was a member of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association's Half Century Club and an active member of the Alumni Association.

Funeral services and burial were held in Chicago.

ROBERT PRESLEY TOWNSEND, of Portsmouth, Ohio, a 1914 graduate of UK, died last July at a hospital in Columbus, Ohio, following an operation for cancer, according to information received from Cecil Harp, '14.

A graduate of UK in the College of Engineering, Mr. Townsend had followed his profession in Ohio since 1928. He was a native of Owensboro.

EDWARD T. BLAKER, of Evanston, Ill., died last June at his summer cottage near Chicago, following a heart attack.

A graduate of the class of 1914 with the B.S.M.E. degree, Mr. Blaker had been connected with the B. F. Sturtevant Co., in Chicago.

A native of Wooster, Ohio, Mr. Blaker had served in the Army in World War I. Information on his death was sent to the Alumni Office by his classmate, Cecil Harp.

JESSE L. EVERLY, 54, Hartford, Ky., druggist, died suddenly at his farm near Rochester, Ky., last July. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Mr. Everly had owned and operated his drugstore in Hartford for the past 11 years. A native of Ohio county, he was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1924. He was a member of the Hartford Methodist church and the Masonic Lodge and was active in many civic organizations.

Survivors include his wife; one daughter, one brother and two sisters.

Funeral services were held at the Hartford Methodist church, and burial followed in Beaver Dam, Ky.

PROF. J. R. "COLONEL DICK" JOHNSON, 86, retired University of Kentucky engineering professor, died at his home last September after a long illness.

A native of Louisa, Ky., Professor Johnson entered the old A&M College of Keatuky in 1888 and was graduated in 1893 with a degree in mechanical engineering.

He served from 1900 to 1905 as instructor in mechanical engineering and mathematics at UK, receiving his assistant professorship in 1905. That year he went to the Nevada State University as a member of the faculty, staying there until 1907 when he went to Eastern State College at Richmond, Ky., where he remained until 1917. In 1919 he returned to UK as professor of applied mechanics. He became professor emeritus in 1953. He had assumed a change-of-work status in 1938.

Professor Johnson was a member of Sigma Chi, Tau Beta Pi and Lamp and Cross. He served on the executive committee of the Alumni Association and was president of the association in 1903. He was a member of the varsity football team in 1892.

Prof. Johnson's wife and son preceded him in death.

Survivors include two grandchildren, a niece and a nephew.

Funeral services were held at Kerr Brothers Funeral Home and burial followed in the Cynthiana cemetery.

MRS. ELVA MAE S. PEGGS, of Maxwell Place, University of Kentucky, aunt of President Herman Lee Donovan, died last August in Winchester where she was visiting relatives.

Funeral services were conducted at the Edginton Funeral Home in Winchester, and burial was in the Winchester cemetery.

Besides President Donovan, survivors include her sister, Mrs. A. J. Donovan, also of Maxwell Place, and four brothers.

HARRY F. DAY, of Winston Salem, N. C., formerly of Lexington, died last August at the Winston Salem City Hospital, as the result of injuries received a few days earlier when he backed into an exhaust fan at the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., where he was employed as chief engineer.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky in 1932, Mr. Day had attended local grade and high school.

His wife was the former Miss Elizabeth Jones, of Lexington, also an alumna of UK. Besides his wife survivors include three sons, two brothers and one sister, Mrs. Halbert Leet, of Lexington, also a graduate of the University.

MRS. BESSIE S. SNEDEKER, of Lexington, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital last July after a brief illness.

A native of Fayette county, she had attended Sayre and Transylvania Colleges and was graduated from UK in 1935. She was a member of the First Baptist church where she had taught Sunday School for many years. She had been in charge of the church's vacation Bible school for the past five years.

Besides her husband, S. S. Snedeker, survivors include one daughter and two brothers. Funeral services were conducted at the W. R. Milward Mortuary, and burial followed in the Lexington cemetery.

MARTHA FRANCES KIMBROUGH, of Lexington, died last August at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington, following a long illness.

Miss Kimbrough was an associate professor of art and taught at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. At the time she became ill she was also associated with the art department at the University of Cincinnati and formerly had served as principal at Linlee School in Lexington.

She was a native of Cynthiana, attended schools there, Randolph Macon College, the University of Kentucky and Columbia University. She held the A.B. degree from UK, obtained in 1920 and a master's degree from Columbia.

She was a member of the Professional Artists Group in Cincinnati, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and the Cynthiana Methodist church.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel R. Kimbrough, of Lexington; one sister, Mrs. James Park; a niece, Miss Ridgely Park and a nephew, James Park, Jr., all of Lexington.

Funeral services were held from the W. R. Milward Mortuary and burial followed in the Lexington cemetery.

HOWARD (BABE) WELLS, of Fayette county, veteran trainer, breeder and owner of race horses, died last September in Cicero, Ill., after suffering a heart attack. He was stricken while attending a meeting of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association at the clubhouse at Hawthorne Park.

In 30 years of training, Mr. Wells' most famous thoroughbreds probably were his own Equifox and Walmac Farm's Billings. For many years he was associated in the breeding and racing business with his uncle, Howard Oots, who died last March.

Mr. Wells was a member of the Broadway Christian church.

Survivors include his wife and one son, both of Fayette county.

Funeral services were held from the W. R. Milward Mortuary, and burial followed in the Lexington cemetery.

A great many students at the University of Kentucky pay a portion of their expenses through part-time employment, either within the institution or elsewhere in Lexington. It is usually possible to secure employment for most students who are genuinely in need of financial assistance.

UK Fall Enrollment Is Placed At 7,195

The University of Kentucky's fall enrollment was placed at 7,195 students last September by University officials as the final deadline for registration passed. This figure represents an increase of approximately 13 per cent over the total registration for the fall semester of last year.

According to Registrar Robert L. Mills, the current enrollment is the largest at UK since the fall of 1949 when approximately 7,900 students registered for classes. This figure also surpasses the prediction of 7,000 which University officials made shortly before the opening of the semester.

A breakdown of this fall's enrollment shows a total of 6,101 students on the Lexington campus, 158 at the College of Pharmacy in Louisville, 704 enrolled for credit at the Northern Center in Covington, and 232 registered for college credit in evening classes at Lexington through the College of Adult and Extension Education.

The grand total of 7,195 does not include 373 persons taking non-credit evening work in Lexington through the College of Adult and Extension Education or 122 enrolled in non-credit courses at the Northern Center at Covington.

MINNESOTA-UK ARE PAIRED IN TOURNNEY

Kentucky was paired against Minnesota and Dayton against Utah as first-round drawings were announced last September for Kentucky's Invitational Basketball Tournament December 20-21.

First-night winners will clash for the championship and losers play for third place on December 21. Kentucky has won its two previous tournaments, each time beating LaSalle.

The lineup brings together four clubs rated among the first 11 in the Associated Press poll last season. Kentucky was second, Utah seventh, Dayton ninth and Minnesota 11th.

Emery Clark, Jr., '53, formerly of Carlisle, Ky., recently was promoted to first lieutenant at the Brooks Army Medical Center in Texas.

Lieutenant Clark and his wife make their home in San Antonio.
