

America's 'Mr. Sam' Loses Fight For Life

BONHAM, Texas (AP)—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, a small man of great national stature, died from cancer yesterday in this little Texas town he loved.

Rayburn, 79, held one of the most powerful offices in government and was second in succession to the presidency.

In Bonham, every flying flag was lowered to half staff. The townspeople grieved for their most distinguished citizen.

In Washington, the chair on the rostrum of the House of Representatives where Rayburn held gavel in hand more than twice as long as any speaker in history, was draped in black.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. (CST) Saturday.

Members of his closely-knit family, Rayburn's staff and medical personnel were at the speaker's side.

For almost two days and nights they had kept watch in relays or all together. Rayburn was unconscious for 36 hours.

His breathing stopped at 6:16 a.m. (CST). His heart stopped four minutes later.

"It was a very easy death for a very great man," Dr. Risser, his personal physician, told reporters. Paralysis of the lungs was the immediate cause of death.

Rayburn achieved one wish concerning his death but failed in another.

"I want to die with my boots on and with my gavel in my hand," he told friends when he left Washington at the end of August for what was to be his final departure.

"They're going to have to carry me out of here, God willing. I love this House," he said.

Later, when illness ravaged his body, his associates quoted him as saying he wanted to return to his hometown to end his days among "those friends and neighbors who for so long have given me a love and loyalty unsurpassed in any annals."

A diagnosis of cancer was made shortly after he entered Baylor Hospital Oct. 2 for a series of tests to determine the cause of a chronic back ailment.

The ailment, originally described by Rayburn as lumbago, forced him to abandon his post as boss of the House almost a month before the last session of Congress adjourned.

It was an unprecedented thing for "Mr. Sam" to do, and friends immediately suspected that Rayburn himself feared the worst.

At one point, when he had wasted away from 176 pounds to 130, he told a great-nephew, "This is the damndest thing that ever got a hold of me."

The day after doctors reported cancer, his longtime personal friend and political protege, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, flew to his bedside. After that, Johnson visited Rayburn as often as his national duties permitted.

President Kennedy flew 3,000 miles round-trip for a 14-minute visit with Rayburn on Oct. 9.

House Democratic Leader John McCormack is the most likely successor to Rayburn as House Speaker.

The White House was the first to be notified that the Speaker had died. McCormack was next.

President Kennedy was to break into a four-day western trip which he began this morning in order to attend the funeral.

Rayburn will be buried in the family plot alongside the grave of his favorite sister, Lucinda.

Just A Foil

A large sculptured bronze standing figure by the contemporary sculptor Etienne Hadjdu will serve as a contrasting background for the graphic art exhibition which opens Sunday in the Art Gallery of the Fine Arts Building.

Edward W. Rannels, professor of art, said the annual "Graphics" has put Kentucky on the art map. Artists in the "graphics" field rave come to take the exhibition quite seriously. Several of them have sent "artists proofs" which are their best works.

Approximately 65 prints and drawings representing some of the leading American artists in the graphics field today, will be featured in this fourth exhibition.

Prof. Rannels said the show has an impact which demonstrates the wide range and vitality of American print-making today.

Some of the more impressive pieces are color lithographs by Antreasin and Sam Francis; woodcuts by Casarella, Seong Moy, and Vincent Longo; engravings and aquatints by Arthur Deshaies and Misch Kohn.

The exhibition, "Graphics '61," opens at 3 p.m. Sunday, and closes Dec. 15. Gallery hours are 12-4 p.m. on weekdays, 10-5 p.m. Saturdays, and 3-5 p.m. Sundays.

Mid-Term Grades

All students may pick up mid-term grades from their faculty advisers Monday, Dr. Charles F. Elton, dean of admissions and registrar, announced.

Preadvising To Remain Same As Last Semester

There will be no change in the preadvisory system of registration for the spring semester, Dr. Charles F. Elton, dean of admissions and registrar, explained yesterday.

Students will first preadvise with their faculty adviser sometime this fall and then register with the University at Memorial Coliseum Feb. 2, 3, and 5.

Dean Elton said preadvising will open according to the wishes of each college dean.

As in the past four semesters, under this preadvisory system, each student must know in advance of going to the Coliseum which courses he wishes to take.

When the student has filled out his schedule card at his dean's office on registration day, he then takes them to the Coliseum where he will be given a map of the stations which he must cover for registration.

Upon completion of registration, fees may then be paid in the SUB.

Registration will be alphabetical: I-Rz will register Friday, Feb. 2; Sa-Z Saturday the third; and the A-Hz Monday the fifth, said Dean Elton.

The registrar also stated this will be the permanent system. This system has been evolved from the experimental programs set up during the past two years.

The main reason for this new system of registration is that the old system of registration was too complicated, Dean Elton commented.

Under the old system of pre-registration students were able to select their courses, register, pay their fees, and complete registration in the middle of the semester.

Whereas, the present preadvisory system allows students to get an idea from their advisers what courses they are going to take the next semester.

Police Still Sifting Clues As Killer Remains Free

After 21 days of sifting facts from speculations, Lexington police yesterday reported no new breakthroughs in their search for the slayer of Miss Betty Gail Brown.

Hundreds of persons have been questioned in connection with the case. More than 250 persons have undergone fingerprinting as police sought any speck of information which might lead them to the person who tightened the brassiere around the 19-year-old coed's neck.

About 10 persons have been subjected to lie detector tests, including the girl's mother and father. The parents volunteered for the tests in order to dispel what Mrs. Brown called "vicious rumors" which connected them with the killing. The tests proved that Mr. and Mrs. Brown knew nothing about the death of their daughter other than what they had already told police.

An escapee from a mental hospital is being held by police for questioning in connection with the case, but police said they had not connected him with the crime.

Kyian Queen To Be Chosen Tonight From 37 Candidates

The annual Kentuckian Queen will be chosen at 7 o'clock tonight in Memorial Coliseum from 37 candidates.

This is the largest number of candidates ever entered in the contest. The winner will represent the University in the Mountain Laurel Festival in Pineville in late May.

The 1962 queen will be chosen on the basis of face, figure, poise, and personality. She will be crowned by Miss Ann Rogers Martin, last year's queen.

The candidates will appear on the stage simultaneously, and the judges will cut the number to 18. The girls will then appear one at a time for an elimination to 10 and then finally to five.

The five finalists selected will return backstage to meet and talk with the judges to determine the selection of a queen. During this time the girls will be rated on ease in conversation, grooming, and appropriateness in dress, grace, and competence in manners.

Each sorority, fraternity, and residence hall has nominated a candidate.

The candidates are the following: Judy Buisson, Lambda Chi; Stanya Burlew, Kappa Alpha Theta; Linda Coffman, Phi Tau; Maxine Conover, Delta Zeta; Debby Daniel, Alpha Tau Omega; Ann Evans, Tri Deltas.

Betty Evans, Phi Deltas; Betsy Fishback, Chi Omega; Cora Freeman, Zeta Tau Alpha; Barbara Gale, Zeta Beta Tau; Jeannie Haines, Haggin Hall; Laurel Hampton, Hamilton House.

Martha Heizer, Kappa Delta; Susan Holden, Delta Gamma;

Susan Hoover, Alpha Xi; Betty Jo Horne, Holmes Hall; Joan Jameson, Triangle; Suzanne Keeling, Quadrangle; Janet Lloyd, Alpha Gamma Rho.

Judy O'Dell, Pi Kappa Alpha; Judy Osterman, Delta Tau Delta; Nancy Percival, Pi Beta Phi; Gerri Ranch, Sigma Nu; Carolyn Reid, Phi Delta Theta; Nancy Smith, Keeneland Hall.

Sonja Smith, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Kathie Songster, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Marie Stephenson, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Barbara Thompson, Alpha Delta Pi; Myra Tobin, Phi Sigma; Marthanne Warren, Bowman Hall.

Swimming In The Winter?

Nancy Jo Jones, this week's Kernel Sweetheart, doesn't mind the winter temperature since she is swimming under a plastic bubble. Nancy Jo, who is a Kappa Delta pledge, took her mid-winter "dip" at the Pi Kappa Alpha swimming party Saturday. She is an Arts and Sciences major from Cincinnati.

Social Activities Fill Weekend

By JEAN SCHWARTZ

It looks like everyone is preparing to get into the holiday spirit by the number of parties scheduled for this weekend.

Besides going on turkey hunts and preparing large feasts, there are more formal events planned such as the Kentuckian Queen Contest to be held at 7 p.m. today in Memorial Hall. The Alpha Tau and their dates are going en masse to give support to their candidate.

The Zeta Beta Taus will be madly splashing around in the Campbell House pool at their swimming party tonight.

A group of Lambda Chi Alphas are planning a small get-together tonight at the home of one of their alums.

Out at Joyland the Delta Delta Deltas, Kappa Kappa Gammass and the Kappa Alphas will be swinging to the music of the Temptations.

The Wildcat will be the scene of a new weekly dance staged by Joe Mills. This weekend the music will be provided by the Torques.

Saturday afternoon Stoll Field will be filled with a bunch of sloppy-looking stags dressed in their very best finery. Campus organizations are going to the game en masse without dates.

Before the game, a Sadie Hawkins race is being held, and the winners will be crowned Sadie Hawkins king and queen.

After the game, the Kappa Alphas are providing trucks to transport the men back to the chapter house for a buffet supper. Their dates will also be picked up in trucks and taken back to the house for a party. Music will be provided by the Pacesetters.

At the Phi Delta Theta house the Nightcrawler will be creating the sounds for a calypso party.

A Midnight Imps party will be the theme of the Alpha Tau Omega's party at the chapter house tomorrow night.

The Sigma Nus will be romping in the hay with their dates at their barn party at Brambel Farm.

The men of Farm House are planning a Las Vegas party tomorrow night. On a similar note, the Phi Sigma Kappas are holding a Monte Carlo party at the chapter house.

At the Lambda Chi Alpha house

the members and their dates will be dressed in sweatshirts and crazy hats while they swing to the sounds of the Kenny Martin combo.

The Kappa Sigmas are importing the Capris from Nashville for their last beach party of the season.

Holmes Hall will host this week's Dance Party tomorrow night, Joe Mills and the Eldorados will provide the music.

The Alpha Gamma Rhos and their dates will be playing cowboys and Indians at their Western party to be held at the chapter house.

Out at the Campbell House the Phi Gamma Deltas will be cooling off at their swimming party.

Tomorrow night the Delta Tau Deltas and the Sigma Alpha Epsilons are holding house parties at their chapter houses.

University Coed Cops

The Associated Women Students recently authorized a traffic committee to deal with parking problems in sorority parking lots. Unauthorized persons parking in the area have created overcrowded conditions, and to alleviate the situation, tickets are now being issued.

A warning is given upon first violation, and fines are imposed for subsequent violations. There is a fine of $5 for the second violation, $10 for the third, $15 for the fourth, and $25 for the fifth.

A new twist has been added to the system of issuing tickets. Sorority members act as traffic officials and pass out tickets. Jane Squifflet, a member of the traffic committee, remarked, "Each sorority member is to act as a traffic cop, and the fines will be enforced just as any other University parking violation is."

The traffic policeman is rejected and forgotten. Therefore, we assume this sorority parking area will be off-limits to campus and Lexington police since coeds will be policing it.

It seems, then, the traffic committee is overstepping its bounds by imposing these restrictions and depending upon coeds to issue tickets for illegal parking. In addition, the fines imposed are excessive. They are not even in line with fines imposed for traffic violations in the downtown area.

Just how far does AWS intend to go with this foolhardy plan? It is possible this facetious plan could develop into a more grotesque situation.

'Journey' To Indonesia

The University of Kentucky has become a "melting pot" for various cultures. Through the student exchange program, we have become the hosts of 159 students who represent 34 foreign countries. Very few UK students and faculty members are familiar with the different cultures represented in our community. This is not as it should be; how can we be good hosts if we do not have some knowledge of the cultural background of the guests with whom we are associated every day?

So you may become more familiar with one of the foreign cultures represented at UK, we urge you to visit the exhibit of Indonesian crafts and arts in the Social Room of the Student Union Building. The exhibit will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today. Then, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. the Indonesians will present a program in the Taylor Education Building Auditorium, featuring a fashion show of Indonesian costumes, along with Indonesian songs and dances.

The University community is being given an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with Indonesian culture and the Indonesian students here; we hope everyone takes this free "journey" to Indonesia.

Tactless Behavior

Although the Ray Charles show last Saturday night was meant to be a concert, it could easily have been mistaken for an audience participation show.

Throughout the entire program there was the constant drone of conversation in the background, broken only by occasional yells and clever little comments offered to the audience and band by some of the more tactless of the spectators.

Although part of the restlessness of the audience can probably be blamed on Charles himself for being almost an hour late, most of it was plain, unmitigated rudeness.

This was especially true during the first part of the concert in which the Ray Charles orchestra, minus Charles, performed for approximately 35 minutes.

If that part of the audience which was so hungry for the sight and sound of Ray Charles were as impatient as they sounded they should have left the Coliseum until "the genius" arrived on stage, or else suffered the untold miseries of boredom by nervously biting their fingernails or in any other noiseless manner that they might have deemed worthy of their misery.

Contrary to popular belief that night there were some present who were enjoying the band, minus Ray Charles. Their enjoyment, however, could have been multiplied many times if others in the audience had not disgraced themselves and others there with their incessant rudeness to the orchestra.

If certain people feel the urge to become entertainers then we suggest that they hire a manager and go on the road—any road that leads away from concerts and performances that most people pay good money to see and hear because they can appreciate what is to be presented.

A Permanent Trophy

Although our University's fame rests chiefly on athletic achievement, excellence has been attained in other fields which should be recognized by the University community.

The debate team recently won the varsity division of the Dixie Debate Tournament for the third time and will now keep the trophy permanently. It has captured many other trophies and honors under Dr. Gifford Blyton, debate coach, and has brought credit to the University.

We want to congratulate Dr. Blyton and the members of the debate team for their many achievements. They have brought honor to UK in this field, and a university needs to excel in many fields to be well balanced.

New Ills, Old Pills

In this lengthening period of chronic unemployment in certain fields and certain regions, one hears recurrent suggestions that the nation resort to measures of a past decade. We refer to the proposals for standby public works projects to take up, where and when needed, the slack in employment.

Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., who was a young Philadelphia attorney when Harold Ickes and Harry Hopkins were directing such make-work projects back in the 30s, has been agitating for a return to this New Deal philosophy; and just the other day, President Kennedy sent a personal letter to Sen. Clark promising something along that line if unemployment does not fall off sharply.

Thus does the New Deal heritage, so dear to many of those who now find themselves on the New Frontier, work to sidetrack solutions to the problems of the 1960's. For the economic difficulties of this decade are markedly different from those of the 1930's. And the solutions that recommend themselves are just as different.

Unemployment today, whether in the West Virginia coal field or in the agricultural West and Midwest, stems in large part from the vagaries and speed of technology. Men cannot find jobs because they are no longer needed in the work they know how to do, and they do not know how to do the things for which men are wanted. We have the confusing spectacle of the unemployed reading in vain the full men-wanted sections in the classified advertising pages—full of appeals for skilled workers, skilled not in the skills of the 1930's but in the skills of today and tomorrow.

In such circumstances, it must be clear to almost everyone that public works are not the answer to unemployment. If such works require skills, as in the building trades, the unemployed are not qualified. If they require no skills, as in Harry Hopkins' WPA projects, they would postpone or prolong the agony.

The greatest economic need of the country—and of its unemployed—is a practical, diverse and decentralized program of education and retraining, the goal of which would be the fitting of ex-coal miners, ex-agricultural workers, ex-ditch diggers for the jobs of the new age. That is a big program, worthy of all the national effort that went into the Public Works Administration's projects in the 1930's. But it won't get that effort if the nation's energies are siphoned off into another PWA or WPA. —PORTLAND OREGONIAN.

Autumn
Leaves

That Autumn Sound

Autumn leaves bring on a new feeling
As the cold comes on,
They brighten up the coming winter
As the sun warms the morbid dawn.

Leaves, Leaves, Leaves—all around,
Hanging from the trees
And scattered on the ground.

As Joseph's coat of many colors,
They shine so bright,
Some red, yellow, orange,
And others still green in spite.

The leaves turn many shades—it's true,
As they begin to die.
No—don't say die,
Never will that be,
They only live and change colors
As they drift slowly from the trees.

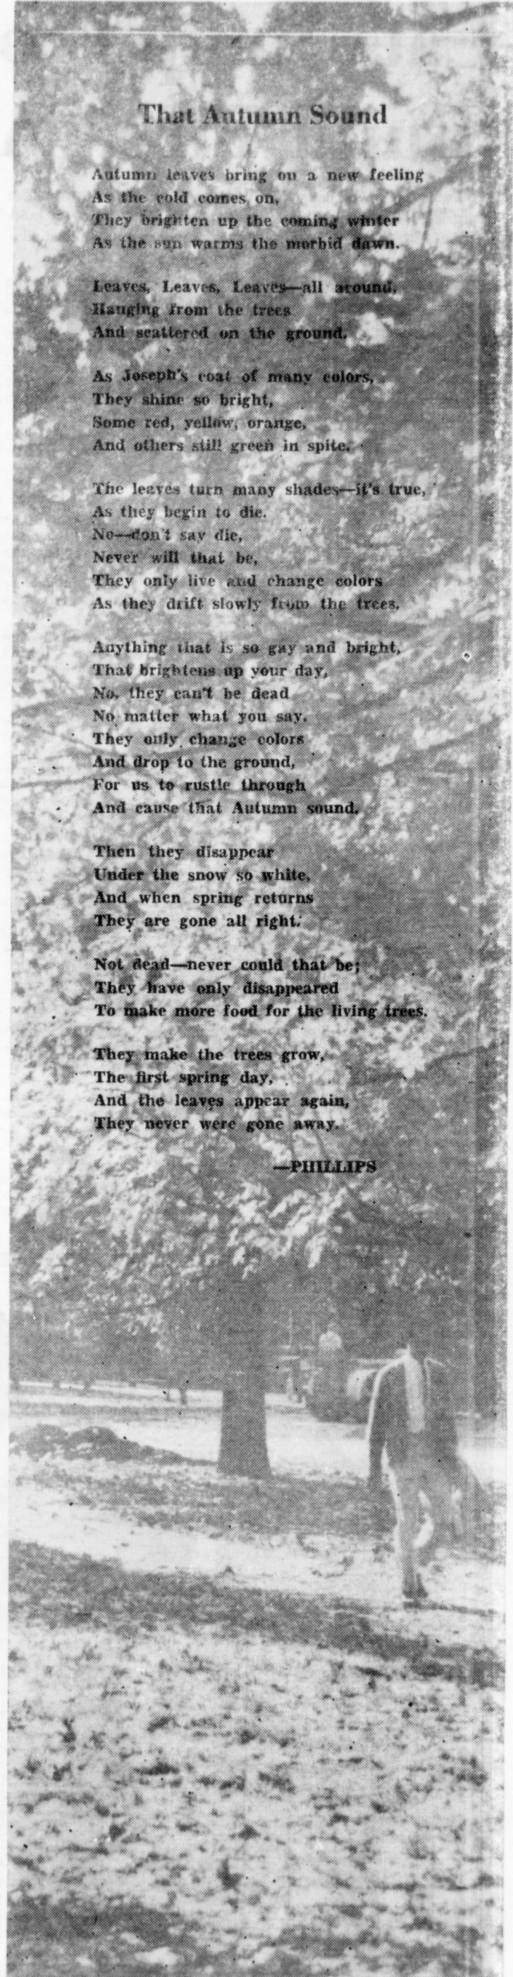

Anything that is so gay and bright,
That brightens up your day,
No, they can't be dead,
No matter what you say,
They only change colors
And drop to the ground,
For us to rustle through
And cause that Autumn sound.

Then they disappear
Under the snow so white,
And when spring returns
They are gone all right.

Not dead—never could that be;
They have only disappeared
To make more food for the living trees.

They make the trees grow,
The first spring day,
And the leaves appear again,
They never were gone away.

Kentucky's Wildcats jump outside of the Southeastern Conference frying pan this week against Xavier to try and build a fire for next week's Homecoming game against the Tennessee Volunteers. Game time is 2 p.m. at Stoll Field.

Coach Blanton Collier's Wildcats are all even on the season with four wins and four defeats, but hope to wind up with a 6-4 slate by recording wins over the Musketeers and finishing the year with a decision over the Volunteers next Saturday.

Xavier coach Ed Doherty has guided his charges to a respectable 6-3 mark thus far and would like nothing better than to finish his coaching career with an upset win over the favored Wildcats. He has resigned effective the season's end to enter private business.

This upset appears unlikely, however, as the Cats go after a second straight win and try to get above the 500 mark for the first time this year. With the Muskies being lightly regarded, the biggest thing the Wildcats apparently have to fear is an emotional let-down.

"I know we are supposed to win," Collier told the squad earlier this week, "but I'm realistic enough to consider the strong possibility that Xavier is fully capable of giving us a hard time. This is the type of club that can easily give you trouble if they taste early success and get ahead of you."

The two teams have gotten together on the gridiron on 17 different occasions with the Wildcats winning in all but one contest (1938).

The rivalry was renewed in 1956 after a five-year lapse and in those five contests Collier's team has come out the victor on all occasions.

Tomorrow's game will give junior John Rampulla his second opportunity at the Wildcat controls as he replaces regular quarterback Jerry Woolum. Rampulla was successful in guiding the Wildcats to a 16-3 verdict over Vanderbilt last week but he had been used rarely until Woolum suffered a broken leg against Florida State.

In the backfield along with Rampulla will be halfbacks Bill Ransdell and Gary Steward. Leading ground gainer Howard Dunnebacke will be at his fullback post.

Dunnebacke has carried the ball on 59 occasions, gaining 250 yards, for a 4.2 average. Ransdell (4.0) and Steward (3.4) are second and third respectively in ground gained in the latest statistics.

In the line will be ends Tom Hutchinson and Dave Gash, tackles Bob Butler and Junior Hawthorne, guards Mel Chandler and Jerry Dickerson, and center, Irv Goode.

Hutchinson is being pegged as Kentucky's next All-American due to his offensive efforts but the New Albany, Ind. junior was the one who led Kentucky's defense against the Commodores a week ago.

He caught two passes while on offense but recovered a Vandy fumble and later tackled quarterback Hank Lesesne in the end zone for Kentucky's safety.

Coach Ed Doherty will counter with little Irv Etlar, a 5-7, 181 pound quarterback from Erlanger. The former Marine and team captain has thrown 37 strikes in 88 attempts for 440 yards. His main receiver is end Bob Daumeyer, who has caught 13 for 175 yards.

Another Kentuckian the Muskies will be depending on in their battle with the Cats will be senior fullback Tom Clark. Clark is from Owensboro.

Other Xavier starters are end

Jim O'Donnell, tackles Dick Buechler and Pete O'Brien, guards John Nelson and Joe Mollman, and center Dick Kohls. Larry Cox and Don Stupica are the halfbacks.

TENNESSEE, the Wildcats' next opponent travels to Memphis, Tenn., to play the Ole Miss Rebels.

CAT-a-log

By Bill Martin

When the Kentucky-Xavier game is completed tomorrow and the two coaches shake hands at mid-field, one of the most colorful coaching careers in the history of the nation will end.

Xavier's head mentor, Ed Doherty, has resigned to enter private business and when he walks off Stoll Field he will leave behind one of the most colorful and interesting careers. In 21 years, Doherty has made his way through the high school, college, and professional ranks from Massachusetts to Arizona.

Ironically, if the Wildcats defeat the Musketeers as expected, he will leave with a balanced won-loss record at the Cincinnati school of 15 wins against 15 losses, and an overall career finish of better than a 60 percent win mark.

In his third year as boss of the Xavier grid fortunes, Doherty is saluted by many as a coach with more new ideas in regard to offense than anyone in the coaching profession.

A 42-year-old father of nine children, Doherty's football education began in the late 1930s at Andover Puncture High in Andover, Mass. From there he went to Boston College where he started as a quarterback for the Eagles under Frank Leahy, later coach at Notre Dame.

When he was named head coach at Xavier in 1959, inheriting the post from Harry 'Mick' Connolly, an old teammate at Boston College in 1943 and '44, he became the seventh head coach there since 1917.

After graduating from Boston in 1944, Doherty served as the skipper of a PT boat in the Pacific Theater. His first coaching assignment came when Leahy brought him to Notre Dame to tutor the backs in 1946.

The following season Doherty served in the same capacity at his Alma Mater under Coach Denny Meyers, and in 1947 took his initial head coaching post at Arizona State.

It was at Arizona State, located in Tempe, that Doherty established himself as one of the foremost offensive coaches in the nation's college ranks. In three seasons the Sun Devils counted 27 wins in 41 outings under Doherty and in both '49 and '50 his squad led the nation in ground gaining. With All-America Whizzer White on the '49 team, the Sun Devils topped the nation in total offense and Doherty was named Border Conference Coach of the Year.

His 1950 team set a national record that still stands, 220 first downs in ten games and twice Arizona State played in the Salad Bowl, facing Xavier in 1950 and Miami of Ohio in 1951.

Doherty then resigned to take the head coaching post at Rhode Island University for one year and followed that with stints in the high school ranks. In two years of high school coaching he hung up a record of 18-8-1.

In 1955 Doherty came to Xavier as backfield coach under Connolly and the following season served in the same capacity with the Philadelphia Eagles under head coach Hugh Devore. He went back to Arizona for two years, this time at the University of Arizona, before returning to Xavier in 1959.

Hockey Team To Play Final Games

By JUDY LAMPTON

The women's hockey team will wind up its season this weekend by playing three games in four days.

First on the schedule is a game with Centre College today, followed by a Sunday tilt with Ursuline. Both are at home, with today's game beginning at 4 p.m. and Sunday's tilt at 3 p.m. Both will be playing on the old baseball diamond.

Thus far the Kittenettes have lost to Eastern 2-1 and tied Berea, 1-1.

Hopes for three straight wins and a successful season are centered around Mary Jane Hyde, the offensive star who has scored all points this season.

Rupp Names Gray New Kitten Coach

Jerry Gray has been appointed assistant in basketball on the staff of Coach Adolph Rupp. He will replace Ted Lenhardt at the post. Lenhardt has replaced Doug Hines as freshman coach.

Mr. Gray attended Hanover College in Indiana and has since spent 11 years in high school coaching ranks. In those 11 seasons Gray-coached squads won 198 while losing 76, a .680 percentage.

While scouting and helping with the freshmen, Gray will work toward his M.A. degree in education.

UK Radio Station Begins Reevaluation Of Service

WBKY, the student-operated radio station, is in the process of re-evaluating its programming.

Leonard Press, head of the Department of Radio, TV, and Films, said the purpose of the station is to provide service not available on other stations.

He said the best service is in the field of educational programs. The station wants to offer the community an opportunity for culture, Press added.

However, Press said the evaluation did not include any consideration on increasing the power of the station in the foreseeable future.

Press said the student station helped WVLE, the new FM station in Lexington, get started by loaning them records and tapes, and by contributing to its music library.

"We want competition," Press said concerning the new station. "The more FM sets that are bought, the more listeners we may get.

"We felt that now was the time to re-evaluate our program because we want an audience as much as any other station, and we are going to have to live with it," Press concluded.

2 Weekend Tournaments Keep Debate Team Moving

The UK debate team, which has won eight first places this year, will engage in two tournaments this weekend.

Lafayette, Ind., is the site for the Purdue Invitational and Western State College will host the Western Kentucky Debate Tournament at Bowling Green.

Dr. Blyton, debate coach, feels the team's chances are "quite good" in the Purdue Invitational.

"However, a debate team can be like a basketball team—hot as a firecracker one minute and cold the next," the coach said.

The same four debaters who won first place in the South Carolina Forensics will participate in the Purdue Invitational.

On the affirmative side will be Bettye Choate and Warren Scoville. Ben Wright and Deno Curtis will debate the negative.

Several teams other than Kentucky and Purdue will be competing. They include the University of Arkansas, Harvard University, Boston University, the University of Illinois, Indiana University, the University of Iowa, Notre Dame University, Princeton University, and the University of Wisconsin.

Both a varsity and novice team will enter the Western Kentucky Debate Tournament. Members of the varsity squad will be Kathy Cannon and Phil Grogan for the affirmative. Paul Chelgren and Earl Oremus will debate the negative. Last week, these debaters took first place in the Tau Kappa Alpha Regional at Cincinnati.
