TO THE SENIORS OF 1952 --
My sincere congratulations to the class of 1952 for a job well done. You have been cooperative to a degree that is exceptional, you have shown leadership in a way that has been gratifying, you have achieved scholastically, contributed in service and have been loyal in a pleasing way. Such a fine class deserves the best. This I hope you continue to achieve.

Good luck and remember U-High.

Cordially,

FEATURES

HISTORY

One happy day in September 1939 many new and shining faces appeared in University School for the first time; Carey, Mary, Nancy, Sissy, Frank and Marshall were among those present. That year was very exciting; the dressing in Halloween costumes and parading in all the other rooms, the wonder of our first Xmas program, the weeks and weeks of work learning "Away in the Manger," and the presents we made for our mothers (a plaster cast of our hands), these all went to make up a most wonderful year. First grade found the arrival of Lyn to our class and many activities in store for us; the trip we took to the campus to gather nuts and then back to school to make candy; and then that memorable day when we sold lemonade and made $2.19 for some long forgotten project. Carolyn joined us in second grade and Miss Adams gave us a real thrill when she took us to the fire station and the Southern R R and we came back and went to work most enthusiastically on our own train. Also under her tutelage we gave the "Three Billy Goats Gruff," and who could forget the 'tromping' as we went over the bridge.

Who of us could fail to remember the day in third grade when Miss Willson, in her zeal to catch Lyn and administer just punishment, fell flat - and great was the fall thereof as well as the merriment. Barbara, Betty Jo, Jean Elaine and Kay joined us the next year as did our own Mr. Ginger and here in Miss Molloy's room saw the giving of the play "Rumplestiltskin" (how we must have loved plays) and the election of cheerleaders, Barbara, Carey, Sissy, Betty Jo and Kay with size 42 sweaters coming to our knees. Barbara left us for Kenwick in the fifth grade and this year, under Miss Belser, we saw the lull before the storm.

The next year Barbara rejoined us and Grandison became one of us for the first time. The activities hit with all fury what with the Skywriter and the glorious Xmas program, (remember Barbara, Carey and Jean Elaine as angels and Jimmy Shippey, Lyn and Johnny B. as the three wise men?), and the piece de resistance, "Peter Pan," (shades of the immortal Barriel). Who does not remember the drowsy spring day when, during the reading of "Lassie" aloud, Boswell succumbed to sleep and fell out of his seat into the aisle.

The feel of importance when we went to the High School side for the first time and the thrill of the entire class for the blossoming love affair of Barbara and Willie highlighted our seventh grade. It was this year that three of our own girls, Barbara, Sissy and Helen Vance were chosen by real judges as Junior High cheerleaders. In this year, Helen Vance, Susan, Garland and Catherine entered U-Hi and it was in the next that Patsy, Virginia and Sammy sought and received admittance into our grade. This term will long be remembered for the convocation program which was a take off on a faculty meeting. Surely the teachers realized it was all in fun? The ninth grade saw the addition of Glenn to our group and the taking of the overnight trip to Cincinnati with the basketball team where Carey gave a party at the T.P. for the team and U Hians. It was also this year that we gave our Pep Club banquet with the Toyland theme.

Our second year in high school gave us our Sophomore Dance--what hours we spent in anticipation and work for it and who could forget the candy and apple sales that made the dance possible. Barbara Ashbrook, Leila and Jack came to us this year while Toss, David and Neale joined the happy throng the next year. This junior year saw more activity than any other year except possibly the sixth. Here we had our magazine sales to make money for our Junior Prom when we made more than any other class had ever made (we always knew there was something extraspecial about us). Then our overnight trip to E town, our own Junior Prom with some of 'us' in the court and, thrill of thrills, a basketball team that went to the quarter finals in the state tournament. Almost too much for any class to take.

And now our senior year is over--our dance a thing of the past, our play behind us, the Baccalaureate Sermon, Senior Breakfast and Graduation a memory. It is with a feeling of regret that we, who have become so much richer through our association with the students and teachers at U High, must take leave of our school, knowing that we have profited by our years of work and hoping that we have made and will continue to make our school as proud of us as we are of it.

CLASS WILL

Carey Adams leaves her open houses after the games to anyone who will venture to have the noisy crew.

Barbara Ashbrook leaves her I.Q. to the first Junior who reads the World Almanac from cover to cover.

Jack Congleton leaves in utter amazement over his diploma.

Patsy Coons leaves her quiet, ladylike ways to Barbara Richardson.

Glenn Dorroh leaves his eye for the basket to John Hardwick.

Jimmy Dunavent leaves his ability to work chemistry problems to Bobby Davis.

Lucie Cross Dunlap leaves her understanding of texture to anyone who can catch on.

Mary Gess leaves her friendliness to Pat Gilson.

Helen Vance Gilb leaves her muscles to be distributed among the Junior boys.

Neale Hall leaves his Pikeville accent to Herbie Feedback.

Barbara Hardwick leaves her long, tapering fingernails to Sara Procter.

Leila Heinz leaves her K.K. (knitting knowledge) to Cobie Blackerby.

Kay Keyes leaves her novel on Chapter 46 to someone who will complete it for her.

Sammy Kinkead leaves his popularity to Robert Lawrence.

Betty Jo Martin leaves her leadership to Clara Es-Stel Yates.

Jean Elaine Martin leaves her annual excursions to Florida to Pat Gilson, Reba Lewis, and Barbara Sublett.

Virginia McFadden leaves her success with the men to Barbara Sublett.

Grandison McLean leaves her nosedrops to Miss Anderson.

Frank McVey leaves his height to 'Itchy' Miller.

David Piper leaves his generous dips of ice cream to the school.

Susan Rannells leaves her individuality to Buddy Willis.

Jimmy Sedbrook leaves his athletic ability to Chip Rice.

Garland Sims leaves . . . for Monticello.

Edith Tinder leaves her different shades of hair to anyone who wants to try it.

Marshall White leaves his sense of humor to Bill Sims.

Charline Whitehouse leaves her ability to solve any problem to Mae Martin Bryant.

Lyn Wilder leaves his tales of Woodberry Forest to anyone who will listen to them.

Nancy Wilder leaves her musical ability to Peggy Cowgill.

Sissy Wile leaves her ability to laugh at her own jokes to Ann Cornell.

Carolyn Williams leaves her naturally curly hair to Miss Peck.

Catherine Wilson leaves her ability to go quietly from class to class to Jane Cole.

CLASS PROPHECY

Here it is 1972 and many years have passed since we last trod the hallowed halls of University High School, now a modernistic work of art. The tennis courts in back have been converted into a landing field for the students helicopters. From there, you can step upon an escalator that will carry you into the marble halls, carpeted from wall to wall, which provide such a pleasant atmosphere for present U-Hians. The television sets in each class room seem to be a bigger thrill than our Senior privileges were. After twenty years, at our class reunion, we find that we have changed just as much as our Alma Mater.

Most everyone arrived promptly at eight o'clock by the way of the Whitehouse "Jolly Jingle Cab Service." Charline has devoted the last two years of her life to seeing that the townspeople have transportation at anytime to anyplace.

The party became lively immediately as we began to refresh our memories of old school days. We are mostly interested tonight, though, in finding how all our former classmates have spent the last few years of their lives. We feel that our class has been very successful in the business world. Why, only yesterday, Lyn made the front page in connection with the raid made on his establishment on East Main.

It seems that Sammy and Jean Elaine have made a practice of outdoing their fathers. Jean is operating a new and modern ten-cent store in Nicholasville which led to Mr. Martin's retirement, and Sammy is managing one of the largest automobile firms in the United States, the Crosley Corporation.

Sissy has become a very well known and rare type of comedian. You see, she tells jokes every Friday and Saturday night in Vaudeville and, since the audience never cracks a smile, she is the only one who laughs. Of course, Leila helps some because she attends Sissy's performances regularly and she will laugh at anything. Sissy has probably just told what she considers one of her funniest.

We can look back now and remember when Marshall started raising chickens as a hobby and now he is running one of the largest chicken farms in the country. Maybe that is why you can see chickens perched on the top of every house in the south end of town.

Neale definitely stood out tonight as a man of distinction when he entered wearing tux and flashy sparkling rings on both hands. His night club is a favorite spot in Lexington and is especially well known for its famous dance team, Jack Congleton and Catherine Wilson. Nancy Wilder has also been employed by Neale and she can be heard crooning torch songs until three o'clock every morning.

Our reunion night might have been a very calm affair had it not been for Patsy who tried to attract attention by doing strange dances around the room and giving forth with war whoops at ten minute intervals all night. Poor Glenn was so humiliated and did everything he possibly could to keep his wife under control, but his attempts were in vain.

It was strange to see all the girls scatter quickly at nine o'clock to locate their men, simply because Barbara Hardwick had arrived. This girl, at one time an upstanding citizen, has recently made herself known as "the other woman in every man's life."

(Class Prophecy Continued)

The ladies cringe, too, as they spot Kay on the other side of the room and remember that, regardless of her happy marriage, she is notorious for her kisses which have been spread far and wide.

Over in the corner, Dr. Rannells, the famous specialist, (so special that no one knows what she specializes in), has cornered Edith, and they are involved in a deep intellectual conversation. Edith has won so many scholastic honors that we cannot keep up with them.

Our small town boys have gone big time on us, we discover, when David informs us that he and Mr. Dunavent have moved from Midway to the metropolis of Versailles. We heard that their necks were sore for weeks from staring up at those big ol' high three story buildings.

We must now take time to put in a plug for Toss' big Business. I am sure that you have noticed the large new neon sign at Lime and Main advertising the famous Dunlap False Eye-lash Company. Lucy Cross is very proud of this achievement even though they are the most false eye-lashes you have ever seen.

Carey and Betty Jo have been constantly surrounded by ardent admirers seeking autographs ever since they arrived tonight. They have combined their efforts in writing a book and, as a result of their many years of schooling and experience in journalism, they have completed their masterpiece, "The Muchness of Much." Our congratulations to the celebrated authors.

We miss Mary tonight but no one knew exactly where to get in touch with her. She was last seen speeding out the Versailles Pike at 190 miles an hour and, unfortunately, reached the outskirts of Nashville before she was able to slow down enough to turn around and head back to the Parkers Mill Road.

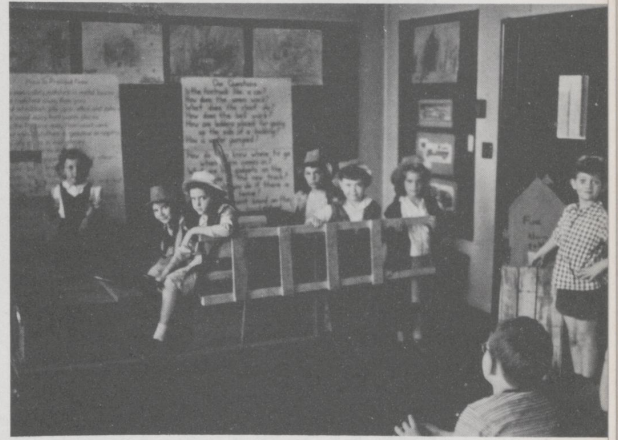

Frank has gone into the entertaining field, and we could not believe what he was doing until we heard it with our own ears. You, too, can hear him reading sentimental poems over "Moon River" if you will tune in any night on station W O A Y (worst on air yet). Grandison also has become famed in the world of speech. She is now Professor of Dramatics at Gulf Park.

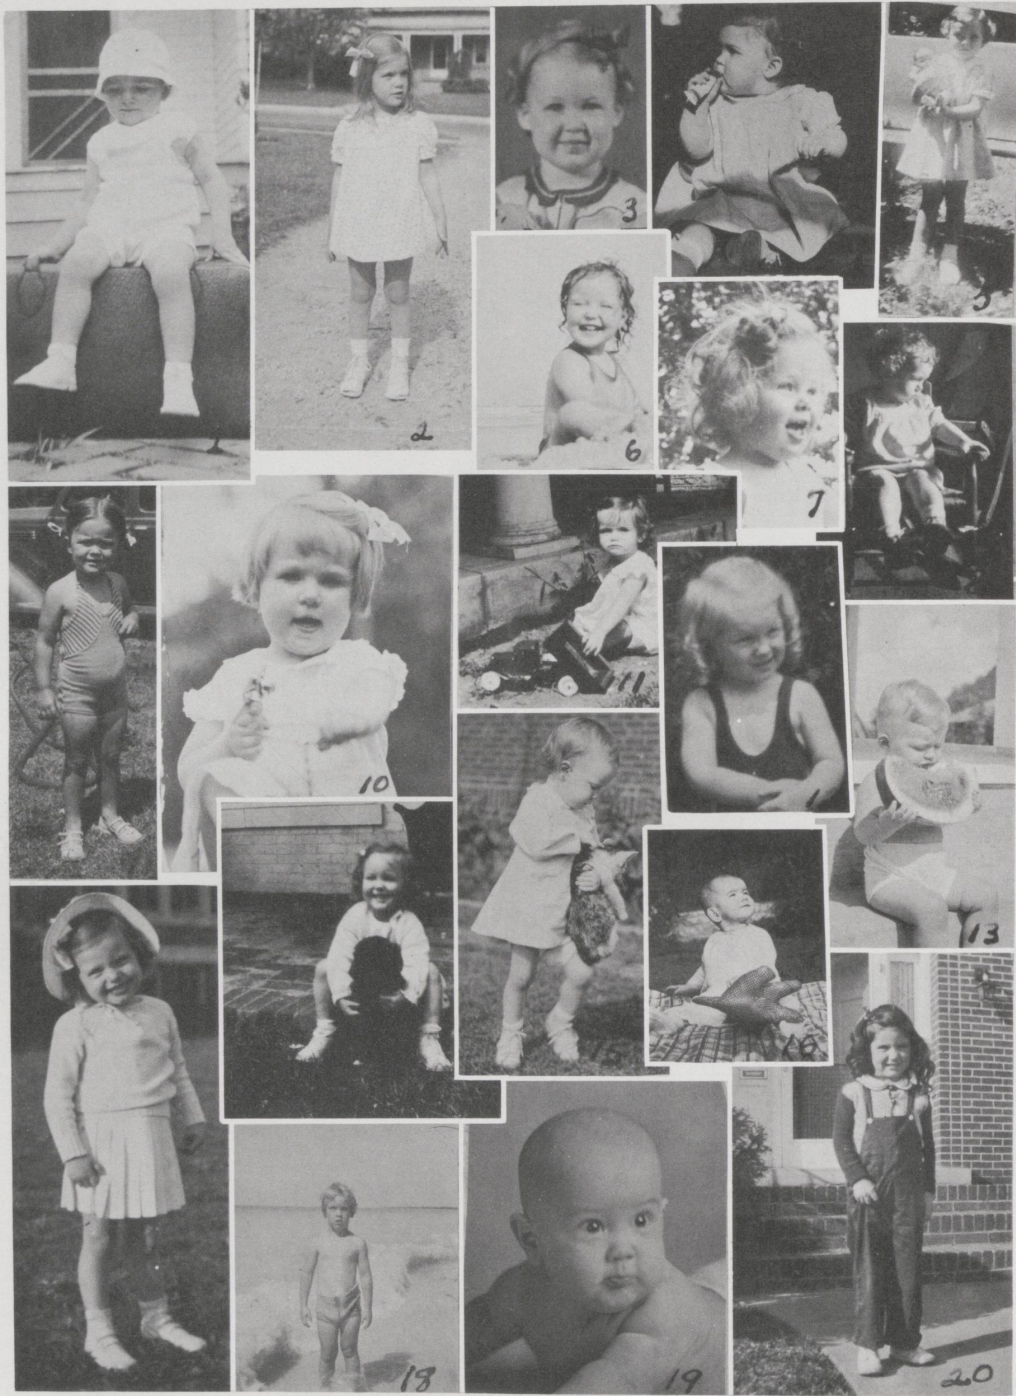

We are honored to have Garland and Barbara Ashbrook in our midst tonight, for they have won world-wide fame as law partners and F.B.I. agents. They have recently broken up, single handed, the largest and most vicious criminal ring in the United States.

We have just received a telegram from Carolyn Williams saying that she is sorry that she will not be with us, but that the Wacs are keeping her pretty busy. She joined about a year ago and has already met Don once in the jungles of Africa.

Jimmy Sedbrook has made one of our greatest dreams come true. After graduation from U.K. he returned to U-Hi to organize a football team and, in the last five years, the Kitty-Kats have been undefeated.

As a last reminder, don't forget to see Helen "Frances," the famous woman wrestler, at Woodland on Thursday nights. And, if you get the chance, try to visit Virginia in the hospital where she is recovering from a broken arm, face lacerations, dislocated hip, compound fracture of the leg, and internal injuries. She was Miss Gilb's last opponent.
