COUNTESS TOLSTOY

If you happened to be at the right time on Friday, Oct. 22, you might see a short, stocky, grey-haired woman get off a train.

You might not look at her twice. But if you didn't, you'd miss getting a good look at one of the most courageous women in America today, one who has had three attempts made on her life and who refuses to quit fighting Russian communists in this country. Others will be watching to make sure no attempt is made in Lexington.

She is Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, the youngest daughter of the famous author of "War and Peace" and "Anna Karenina". She will speak that night at the opening of the 1948-49 season of the Lexington Public Forum.

The forum is a nonprofit organization which each year brings from four to six prominent, well-informed speakers here to discuss matters of current interest and answer questions on their subjects from the audience. There is no restriction on membership; high school and college students are particularly welcome.

This year, besides Countess Tolstoy, there will be three other regular speakers and a forum "extra", a roundtable conference Oct. 29 at Memorial Hall under the sponsorship of the University of Kentucky.

The others are:
Nov. 23—McGeorge Bundy, author of the official Henry Stimson biography, Lowell lecturer at Harvard University this year, and recent consultant to the Economic Co-Operation Administration, on "Is Europe Recovering?"

Feb. 15—Hon. Wayne Morse, liberal Republican senator from Oregon, jurist and author, on "The Public's Responsibilities In Labor Disputes."

Mar. 22—Dr. Edmund Sinnott, president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and director of the Yale University Sheffield Scientific School, on "Science—Man's Expanding Frontier."

Tickets sell for $2.50 for the whole season and may be bought at Graves, Cox; at the University of Kentucky library; from Miss Harriet McDonald, 134 McDowell road, Phone 3459, or from any member of the board.

New Faculty Members
Named For School YearGinger Receives
Letter From Peck

Miss Ann B. Peck, who is on leave from University School, is in Munich, Germany, with the Education and Cultural Relations Division of the Office of Military Government for Bavaria.

According to a recent letter received from her she has been busy studying reports of the school program in Germany, and will advise social studies teachers there on the place of social studies in the secondary school curriculum.

An amusing bit of European custom far removed from our habits of faculty meetings is an account of a meeting she attended in Augsburg. "Generally opposed to having pictures made, I'll always regret I couldn't get a picture of that meeting which lasted from 5:30 to 8:40. Most of the teachers had a mug which the waitresses kept filled with beer. I was sorry I didn't keep account of the number of times the man directly across the table from me had his filled." Miss Peck continues, "Needless to say, I've thought of the Training School, many many times during the past weeks. I do hope we had the usual fine beginning. Please give everybody my regards and I'd surely enjoy some letters."

Miss Peck's address is OMBG, ECR Division, APO 407-A care of Postmaster, New York City, N. Y.

Masque & Gavel
To Reorganize

The Masque and Gavel is reorganizing, according to Mr. Kellam Prickett, head of the speech department. Emily Barron, Joyce McCarthy, June Riggs, Beverly Ritchie, Leila Sherman, and George Wombwell are the old members who will activate the chapter. Pins have been ordered for them.

Selections to memberships were made last year by Miss Nancy Trolinger, former speech teacher, on a basis of oral excellence in classroom recitations, club and class activities, assemblies, theatre productions, and public speaking and reading. Mr. Prickett also said that "they have shown more evidence of striving to effect a closer relationship between the high school and the community through cooperative activities with all recognized community groups. Furthermore, they have reaffirmed their allegiance to the United States of America, and have pledged themselves to uphold its democratic principles."

Additional members will be selected on this basis at the end of the semester. To become a member, students must be juniors or seniors, and must declare themselves candidates for possible membership. Masque and Gavel is a national organization "for the promotion of speech for use", and it is considered an honor to be one of its members.

Names of 14 new staff members at University High were announced by Lyman Ginger, principal.

Miss Annette Kelley, former principal of Cassidy school and a graduate of the University of Kentucky, will fill a temporary vacancy in the sixth grade. Miss Annie Laurie Rankin, Tupelo, Miss., who formerly taught kindergarten and first grade classes in schools in and near Washington, D.C., will take charge of kindergarten work at University School. She is a graduate of Hollins College in Virginia.

Other new teachers are:
Miss Helen M. Reed, teacher of psychology and director of guidance work. A former Army supervisor of educational reconditioning, Miss Reed received her master's degree at Peabody College, Nashville, and has taught in the Anamosa, Iowa, junior high school.

Kellam Prickett, speech and dramatics instructor, comes to University school from Marshall College Huntington, W. Va. He is a graduate of Furman University, Greenville, S. C., and received his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Robert Myers, social studies teacher, is a graduate of Washington and Lee University. He received his master's degree at the University of Kentucky. His home is in Paris.

Perry Adams, an instructor in the University of Kentucky Music Department, will have charge of band and instrumental instruction at University High. His home is in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Maurice Jackson, former athletic coach at Lafayette High School, will have charge of the basketball and baseball teams and will direct intramural athletics. King Richeson, director of athletics, comes to University High from Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Serving as assistant physical education director for girls and as instructor in health education will be Miss Lola Stokes. Other new staff members are Miss Helen Hutchcraft, assistant music director; Mrs. R. G. Lunde, reading consultant; Mrs. Virginia Cox, public relations; Kean Ashurst, safety education; and Mrs. O. H. Mauser, cafeteria director.

As you know, some of our favorite teachers are missing this year. Mrs. Clark, who taught the kindergarten last year, is now teaching in Parks Private School in Buffalo. Miss Trolinger, who had charge of speech, psychology, and journalism last year, is now teaching in a high school in Corpus Christi, Texas. Miss Peck, whom we all know and who taught history last year, is in Germany working with Dr. Wirth on a history and social studies committee. They are developing materials for writing a history book for part of Germany. Mr. Robinson, who had charge of safety education last year, is now director of Murray Training School at Murray State College. Joe Conforti, who coached the Junior High and Senior High basketball teams last year, is coach at Lindsey Wilson Junior College and is also physical education director.

Pictured above are Powell Taylor and John Nichols, president and vice-president of the student council. Betsy Nunn, secretary-treasurer was absent when the picture was taken.

THE U-HI LIGHTS

member K.H.S.P.A.

Published by the Journalism class at the University High School, Lexington, Kentucky to be announced in the next issue.

STAFF

We of the journalism class feel that the jobs of authority on the U-Hi Lights should be held by those most willing to work. Before the next issue is published we shall have elected a permanent staff for the year.

We have all worked hard on this, the first issue of your paper. We know there are some mistakes but we trust not too many. Your support and cooperation are what makes the U-Hi Lights a success. It is your paper, not ours. Please feel free at any time to turn in material for the paper. We will welcome your constructive criticisms and will strive in every way to make each issue of the paper a better one.

THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES

Another school year has rolled around and another group of new students are wondering if they will ever catch on to the floating period and how they will like it once they do. It's to these newcomers that we want to say that we're glad you came. In a school of this size, by the time you're upper classmen, you've known each other a long time. You get to be a pretty tightly knit group and it takes a little while to get to know a new person. Don't jump to conclusions about us, give us a little time and before long you'll realize that U-Hi is as close to your heart as it is to ours.

To us, going to U-Hi is a pretty wonderful experience and we hope you feel this way, too. Can you think of any other school with the parties, the dances, the friendly, informal get-togethers, and the many and varied extra-curricular activities that maintains such a high scholastic standard? Don't wait until you are about to graduate to suddenly think of how much you've had and taken for granted. Now, not later, is the time to appreciate it.

It's up to you to get something out of your school years. We have some of the very finest teachers in the state. You should apply yourselves seriously to getting the most out of what they have to offer to you.

To get the most out of your school years, you must put your most into it. At the end of your senior year, don't find yourself wishing that you had taken part in more activities and done more for your school. Anything you do for your school is a gain for yourself. Every errand you run, every case of cokes you ice, every hour you spend doing something that you don't have to do, gives you an opportunity for personal growth. In other words, you're doing yourself, as well as your school, a favor.

Think it over. If you put your best into everything you do, you can have the most profitable year of your school life ahead of you.

Elementary News

The school year has opened with a bang and if you don't believe it just peek in on the kindergarten. They have 29 students this year taught by Miss Annie Laurie Rankin. They are having a lot of fun getting to know each other and getting acquainted with the other elementary grades. They wrote letters to the first grade inviting them to visit their playground, and had a great surprise when they got to meet the mailman.

The first grade has 30 students, taught by Miss Elsie Stephens. All but two of the students had attended the University School kindergarten. The new first graders are Fay Hartley and Bill Randall.

The second grade, taught by Miss Estelle Adams, also has 30 pupils. Wilson, who transferred from Ashland school. Their first project has been learning the different types of cloth in the clothing they wear to school.

The third grade, numbering thirty, is taught by Miss Louise Wilson. Willie Ann Newberry is their only new pupil. They have been telling about their vacations and sharing pictures and souvenirs collected this summer.

The fourth grade has 27 students this year with three new ones: Jane Adams, Lewis Haggin and Julie Culbertson. Their teacher, Mrs. Carl Boone, has started them on an unusual project. They have a praying mantis, a harmful insect, in a closed glass container and are watching it and caring for it from day to day.

The fifth grade, taught by Miss Olive Barrett, has 28 students. Dudley Williams, Tommy Green, and James Blackerby joined the grade this year. The students have an aquarium of shells, plants, and one small animal. They have three cactus plants contributed by one of the boys. One of their interesting projects is a nature game. They pin a picture of something connected with nature on the bulletin board each day. The students write what they think it is at the end of each day, Miss Barrett reads the correct answers and tells the class who is right and who is wrong.

The sixth grade has a new teacher this year. Miss Kitty Conroy, who has taught at the University School since the school opened, was critically injured in an automobile accident on September 4. She has been temporarily replaced by Miss Annette Kelley. The sixth grade did not start work until September 13 because of Miss Conroy's illness. They number 31, with Louise Scott, Laura Weinman, Ann Vivmont, Betty Honaker, and Charles Behlen as new students.

Each room in the elementary school has had new fluorescent lighting installed this summer and the school has provided each grade with small victrolas. They are all looking forward to a happy and instructive year.

PERSONALITY PARADE

Taylor Wins Again

Powell Taylor

Powell Taylor, president of our senior class and president of this year's student council, has been unanimously chosen by the U-Hi Lights staff to lead off the Personality Parade of 1948-49.

Powell has been a student of University School since first grade, having entered from Cassidy kindergarten. Among his many hobbies are swimming, golf and tinkering with his car. His favorite song is "My Happiness" and he says his favorite color is red. We all know that his favorite sport is basketball and we are looking forward to seeing him in action on the court this winter. After graduation from U-Hi he plans to enter pre-law at the University of Kentucky.

When asked for a description of his ideal girl, he answered in accents so plain that it would be entirely unnecessary to print a picture of a certain sophomore. Or then again, he mentioned he liked a girl who was a good swimmer and diver, so maybe his interest has turned to a neighboring high school.

Powell is a member of the Pep Club and the Beta Club. He has always taken an active part in school activities. We salute Powell Taylor, a senior of whom we are proud.

Freshman: Please, Mother, let me go out tonight.

Sophomore: May I go out tonight? I promise to be back at ten.

Junior: I'm going out tonight, Dad.

Senior: Good night folks. I'll bring in the milk.

"How's your insomnia?"

"Worse. I can't even sleep now when it's time to get up."

Mr. Porter: It's impossible to teach a boy mathematics if there's a girl in the class.

Miss Reed: Oh, come, Mr. Porter, surely there might be an exception to that.

Mr. Porter: There might be, but he wouldn't be worth teaching.

Pep Clubs Entertain

The Pep Club entertained with a party September 30 in the recreation room in honor of the new students in the Senior High School.

The party began with a treasure hunt, after which a supper was served in the cafeteria. Dancing and games were enjoyed the rest of the evening.

On the evening of October 7 the Junior High Pep Club entertained in honor of the seventh grade and the new students. After a supper served in the cafeteria, a program was presented consisting of a dance number by Helen Vance Glib, Jane Cole and Katherine Keyes; and a group of percussion solos by Shirley Shafer, assisted by Bobby Davis, clarinetist. The evening concluded with dancing.

The Junior High Pep Club officers are Barbara Hardwick, president; Reba Lewis, vice-president; Louise Wile, secretary; and Robert Lawrence, treasurer.

Miss Conroy Improves

Miss Kitty Conroy, sixth grade teacher, was critically injured in an automobile accident near Rockwood, Tennessee, on September 4. Her condition, although still serious, is greatly improved.

Joyce McCarthy, a senior at University High, was also injured in the accident. Her condition is satisfactory and she plans to enter school in December. She is still at St. Joseph's Hospital. Elinor Massie, a former student of University High, has been removed from the hospital to her home where she is convalescing.

Miss Hazel Moores, the fourth occupant of Miss Conroy's car, remains in a serious condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Camera Club Forms

A camera club, under the sponsorship of Durbin C. Kemper, is being formed. The club will learn photographic techniques, including a knowledge of developing, enlarging, and printing. Mr. Kemper hopes that there will be enough interest shown in the organization to make it possible to establish a permanent photographic file for the use of the U-Hi LIGHTS and the annual.

At an eastern university, Sinclair Lewis was asked to talk to a group of students who had literary ambitions. He began by asking, "How many of you really want to be writers?"

Everyone in the room raised his hand.

"In that case," said Lewis, "there's no point in wasting your time here. Go home and write." And Lewis walked out of the room.

Editor: So you made up all these jokes yourself?

Jokes Editor: Yes—out of my head.

Editor: You must be.

DR. PLUMMER ADVISES JOURNALISTS

By Mary Lewis Patterson
"The values of a good journalism program are great," says Dr. Neil Plummer, head of the department of journalism at the University of Kentucky, in an article "Best is None too Good". This article which appears in the February, 1946, issue of the SCHOOL EXECUTIVE continues telling how various courses gain strength by incentive from the school paper. Students begin to realize the importance of clear and accurate English, after seeing their articles appear in the school paper, and an understanding of politics and people come from experience with the paper. Another value is that the paper teaches students responsibility and urges them into new writing fields.

Dr. Plummer gives some good advice on having a good and valuable journalism program, and some reasons why schools have poor ones. He says, "The main reason for the breakdown of a school's journalism program is failure to seek and encourage the better students to engage in journalistic activities, under an alert and inspired adviser. It is nearly always too much to expect a journalism advisor to mold inexperienced students into an eager, cooperative staff." It would be much easier, Dr. Plummer continues, to reward outstanding students in the lower classes and train them to be competent staff members later. Another example of "sabotage of the journalistic program" is the practice of dumping the advisorship on the least resisting member of the teaching staff. This person must carry the load through the year, while perhaps a better advisor may be found on the faculty.

A good journalism program may be directed through many channels. Some of them are: bulletin board activity, convocation programs, newscasts, and possibly a bureau for outside publications.

We should remember these suggestions in our journalism program at U-Hi. Dr. Plummer concludes his article with this advice. "In the better minds in the school are the raw materials. They are always present, eager to help, to participate, and to understand. Seek them out, encourage them, and plan effective student publications. A beginning now will pay dividends next fall."

Peek-A-Boo

Here we are again with more enchanting bits of slander and delicious gossip to be wondered at by the student body.

There seems to be a strain on a couple of seniors, the Deepwood Playboy and the Winchester Gadabout. That must be cleared up. Which one will you take Betsy????

Of course everyone knows by now that June's and Tommy's love affair is as pretty as a picture.

It has just come to the attention of the paper that Miss Peck might bring back a war "bride" from Europe.

Murphy Little went to Chicago this summer and found a barber, but he doesn't travel much these days.

Sue has been watching the Engineer Annex very closely lately. She's got all the dope on June's ex. Looks like Sue is doing pretty well with Dottie's boyfriend, too.

Even Jack Madden seems to have been bitten by all this stuff. What makes with these student teachers, Jack, are some of them too cute to learn anything you don't already know????

Beverly just loves to sit on the front steps at lunch time, but why did Carl have to go and get a Saturday class?

Looks like Margaret Prewitt likes the country "air" better than the city "air" these days. What say Margaret????

Jane Walker has been seen dancing with a certain Hep-cat quite a bit lately. Wonder what he does on Friday nights, Huh????

Hade is on the war path again, protecting all the girls from the wolves. "Protection" that is!!!!

What's this we hear about Joe Wile learning to lead cheers and another school's at that!!!

Nick ought to get back to work so that Jimmie Rose can keep banking hours once more.

We wonder at Jean Grant's sudden interest in the Clefman Cub. Could it be the president????

Jim Strauss is going to wear out his car going to Midway so often. Why not bring her down here so that we can see her too, Jimmy?

It looks like Tissie will be working for G.E. very shortly.

Poor Benny has lost some of that old gleam in his eyes. We wonder if Jane can do all her homework by herself now.

We wish someone would find out just for whom Potts is knitting those socks.

We are beginning to wonder what Mr. Prickett talks about in study halls to those blonds. Someone mentioned turtles, no less.

Looks like Jeanne Willis lost the buz in her bonnet . . . oh well! maybe the preacher is cuter.

Powell better watch out for that new blond . . . or else????

Now that the seniors have their rings, it will be fun to watch the girls take them away from the poor guys.

Looks like Buford only has eyes for Deon these days but as for Deon . . . well-l-l-l she likes the more "mature" type.

Margy Pogue plans to spend all the rest of her vacations in Indianapolis. Could it be the boys are cuter up there.??? Not cuter than Tom Moseley, are they Margy????

So until more blushes and secrets appear we would like to wish you all a new rag to chew on.

Helen Deiss Is Editor Of Kentucky Kernel

Alumni News

It's school time again and the doors of the colleges and universities of the country are beckoning to the high school seniors of last year. Let's take a look at the whereabouts of University High's last year seniors.

The University of Kentucky seems to be the preference of quite a few people, among them are Dorothy Ann Brown, Courtney Hall, Bill Knight, Cordie Lee Moody, Bill Muir, Bill Rice, Bill Rogers, Carl Russell, Molly Shannon, Suzanne Stanfiel, Conrad Steiner, Gardner Turner, Water Underwood, and Buddy Wilkie.

Hart Dunkman has entered the noted halls of Vassar and Andy Deiss has become a Princeton man. Allan Carpenter has taken his flute and gone to Illinois to college, while the arms of Finch Junior College have beckoned to Betty Simpson and Jane Ingels. June Flake has decided to stay in Lexington and attend Transylvania, while Joe Graves has his eye on William and Mary. Johnny Withrow has decided on St. James Prep school before entering Princeton and Cary Gratz is going to Barmore College in New York.

Well, this just about covers the seniors but we will probably be hearing more from and about them as time goes by.

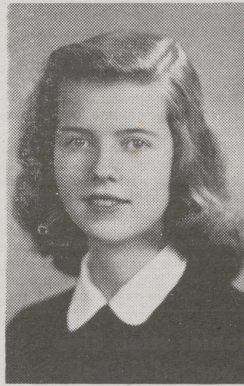

Miss Anderson was asking the ninth grade about lakes, rivers etc. in Kentucky.

Miss Anderson: Mary, can you give me a definition of a creek?
Mary: A creek -uh-uh-a creek is a river suffering from a low flood pressure.

Murphy: I took my girl to the airport and she wants to go flying.

Jim: If she's the one you were with Sunday, just give her a broom.

A man driving his car in a stream of traffic got caught between two Greyhound busses. Know anybody who wants to buy a tall thin Buick?

HELEN DEISS

Helen Deiss, University of Kentucky junior, was appointed editor of the Kentucky Kernel last week. Miss Deiss was moved up from news editor's job which she held through the summer. Helen, in her third year on the Kernel, was assistant news editor before being appointed news editor last spring.

Helen entered the seventh grade at University School in 1940 and started a six year academic record that is not often surpassed. Through the six years that Helen was a student she was prominent in student activities: the Girl Reserves, French Club, U-Hi Lights, student government and other organizations. After she was graduated from University High School in 1946, Helen entered the University of Kentucky where she has continued her outstanding record of scholarship and leadership.

Teacher: Who can name five things that contain milk?
Small boy: Butter, cheese, ice cream, and two cows.

Fred Luigart Wins National Contest

Fred Luigart, alumnus of University High School and junior at the University of Kentucky, recently won over $5,000 worth of prizes when he was awarded the national championship in Sammy Kaye's "So You Want to Lead a Band" contest in New York.

Luigart won the local contest at Joyland in March. Kaye later selected him as the representative of the South in the national contest.

Luigart defeated three other candidates from the North, East and West on the Chesterfield Supper Club, nation-wide radio program.

Among his prizes, Luigart won a television set, a honeymoon trip to a New York resort hotel, complete sterling silver set, and $1,000 in cash.

When asked by Sammy Kaye what he would do with the cash, Fred said that he intended to buy a ring for his girl.

Luigart led the band at Joyland recently during Skitch Henderson's engagement.

John: What's your cat's name, Jimmie Rose?

Jimmie Rose: Ben Hur.

John: How in the world did you ever happen to choose that name?

Jimmie Rose: Well, we just called him Ben until he had kittens.

Carpenter Joins Illinois Band

Allan Carpenter, who was graduated from University High last June, is a member of the reed section of the 175-piece football band at the University of Illinois. The football band is composed of men members of the university concert, first regimental band and selected students from the second regimental band. Carpenter, who entered the University of Illinois this fall, is a flute player.

The Illinois band will make its first marching appearance of the season in Memorial stadium atampaign when the Illini plays the Army.

Allan won a Superior rating in the Kentucky State Music Contest for four consecutive years. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, 253 Shady Lane.

Mr. Kemper: Willy, give me three ways by which a message may be transmitted.

Willy: Telephone, telegraph, and tell a woman.

Newspapers first used paper made from wood pulp in 1867.

Dwight Price Runs First In Olympic Race

DWIGHT PRICE

Dwight Price, member of the Cincinnati Regional Olympic team, won the National Junior Olympics mile run championship in 4:43.8, just two seconds off the national record. Dwight ran against the best mile runners from Toronto, Cleveland, Chicago, Washington, D. C., and other cities at the one day meet held at Baldwin Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, near Cleveland. The teams for which Dwight ran in Cincinnati, won the National Junior Olympic championship.

Price finished 20 yards ahead of his closest competitor. After running third in the first three laps, he moved to a big lead which he held to the finish. His time for the Lexington Junior Olympics championship race was 4:53. In the WKRC-Times Star Junior Olympics at Cincinnati he won in 4:46. Dwight was the only Lexington entry to participate in the National Junior Olympics this summer. Another Lexingtonian qualified in Cincinnati, but did not accompany the team to Cleveland as he

Jackson To Coach Purple Quintet

The athletes of University High School will be in the hands of a very capable new coach this year, Maurice Jackson. Mr. Jackson, a graduate of Henry Clay High School and the University of Kentucky, was a prominent basketball player in both schools.

After he was graduated from the University of Kentucky he coached at Bryan Station High School for three years. He then went to Lafayette High School as coach. His first year there, his team won the District Regional Tournament. During his second year at Lafayette, the Generals were invited to represent Kentucky in an invitational tournament at Duke University. They played all the way to the semi-finals where they were nosed out. The third year he coached at Lafayette ended with his team state champions.

In October 1942 he entered the United States Army as a private, being discharged in March 1946 as a Captain. Mr. Jackson is now working at the Veterans Administration in the mornings as a training officer for University veterans. He will be with University High in the afternoons and evenings striving toward what we hope will be a perfect season.

"THE INQUIRING REPORTER" Murphy Little III

"Should U-Hi have a six man football team?"

Jimmy Weneker—"I think a six man football team at U-Hi would not only be a fine major sport but also a fine conditioner for our basketball squad."

Leila Sherman—"It would be the beginning of a new era in the activities of U-Hi which I think would be highly beneficial to school spirit."

KEMPER FIDELIS HALTS EQUINE INVASION

By Bob Johnson

Let me ask you this question. Should our friends in the animal world be permitted to enter our school? This is a very ticklish subject here in Kentucky because we are a border state and the question is influenced by certain Yankees. (I would like to draw your attention to the fact that this writer is not prejudiced.) It seems that up North the people have lost their sense of values regarding the horse and his relatives among a maze of brainless machines.

The mule, for instance, has almost completely fallen out of the picture. He is a victim of that dire unconstitutional fault—species, prejudice. Many people in the South, however, respect the mule as a wonderful animal who should be allowed to go to the same school as other students if he desires an education. After all, haven't mules and men both helped to make our country safe for Democrats?

The subject of mules would not be such a timely subject, had not the question (mule) appeared right at our very door only a few weeks ago. It seems that one moon hour recently something like this was heard in the hall. "What's that? Who's that? A new student? A Dixie-crater?" Students and teachers were amused to see a gentlemanly, dignified mule plodding up and down the hall of our school. The mule entered the front door with, we'll admit, a little direction from person or persons unknown. We are informed that our boy, the mule, was guided up the steps about three times but each time when he approached the door his guides seemed to think he showed feelings of inferiority. Finally, upon seeing a certain senior, a soul-mate, he gained confidence, and permitted himself to be led into our sacred halls of learning. With guidance most of the time (and we do go in for guidance) Mr. Mule made his official tour of inspection of the school. He must have found everything in order for he made no comment. His tour ended abruptly when it was learned that he did not intend to enroll.

Mr. Kemper politely escorted him from the building, and as Mr. Mule left, there was a look of extreme approval in his eyes. Kentucky's steeds are accustomed to the finest environments.

Girls Get In The Swim

Two of Mrs. Gilb's ambitious student teachers are working up a girls swimming team. Miss Button and Miss Levy seem to think that the project has been lacking in U-Hi for a long time. There were try outs on Monday October 11 and Wednesday October 13. The girls will be divided into two teams, forming a club. From these teams the girls will be divided into a racing and aqua-ballet teams to compete with other schools.

Junior High Five Coached By Bell

The Junior High basketball team has a new coach this year, Tommy Bell. Mr. Bell was an outstanding athlete at Henry Clay High School. He is now attending the Law College of the University of Kentucky while coaching the Junior High team.

There seems to be plenty of prospects for the team. They should have speed and some height. The following boys have signed up for basketball: Buddy Willis, Jack Miller, Ronnie Atkins, Sonny Lindquist, Lawrence Crump, John Hardwick, Robert Lawrence, Bill Sims, Curtis Ballard, Johnny Bicknell, Stoney Dale, Jimmy Kaufman, Phil Johnson, Ben Storey, Jay Thomas, Bobby Milward, Morris Floyd, Jimmy Fortenbery, John Sprague, Keith Moore, Glen Dorroh, Bobby Jones, Frank McVey and Lyn Wilder.

Connie Young—"ECSTATIC !!!" Buford Price—"I believe that if we had a six man football team it would improve the athletic program greatly."

Jack Madden—"Six man football will be o.k. if the waterboy has hot and cold running bourbon."
