

"Now I Tin Whistle"

We refer back to your poem on the "wooden whistle," and it appears that perhaps a "zinc whistle" should also be included along with that of the copper. This poem now could be made to read —

"I bought a wooden whistle, but it wooden whistle.

"I bought a lead whistle, but they wooden lead me whistle.

"I bought a copper whistle, but the copper wooden lead me whistle.

"I bought a steel whistle, but steel the copper wooden lead me whistle.

"I bought a zinc whistle, but while I zinc it wood whistle

"Steel the copper wooden lead me whistle.

"So I bought a tin whistle, and now I tin whistle."—From a purchasing agent in Pittsburgh, Pa. A New York doctor had also written, adding a "zinc whistle" to the former versions.
