Perspectives on Contemporary Life, a departure from the usual summer school routine, is being offered this year for the first time by the College of Arts and Sciences. The object is to increase understanding, to broaden viewpoints, and to show the interrelationship of various aspects of the modern world, according to Dr. Carl B. Cone, director of the program.

Nine courses, under the general topic have been chosen for the Perspectives program. They are: History 120, Sociology 127, Philosophy 120, Art 143, Political Science 170, Political Science 165, Journalism 106, Psychology 104, and Education 176. ### Educational Program Best Weapon Of West In Struggle For Freedom, Dean White Says

One of western man's most potent weapons in his struggle to maintain political freedom is an educational program providing a judicious balance of training in technology, spiritual values, and liberal arts, Dean M. White of the College of Arts and Sciences said Wednesday.

Speaking at the University of Georgia in Athens, Dean White called that "a tripartite education, the culture of the western world." He said no person should be regarded as educated unless he has an understanding of them.

"We have two world wars in the lifetime of many of us," the Dean declared, "but twice have lost the peace. Technology does not make the weapons of war; it is man who makes only the weapons. The question of whether a bulldozer shall be used in covering up enemy soldiers or in terracing farms is not answered by technology. For the answer is that and similar questions we must turn to spiritual values and the liberal arts."

So We Were Wrong

BARBARA BALDWIN, a freshman from Louisville, was chosen to be hand sponsor for 1951-52. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Donovan To Sign More Diplomas In June Than Patterson Signed In 42 Years

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, has spent a good many hours affixing his signature to diplomas of UK's Class of '51.

At the close of the University's 84th annual commencement exercises in Memorial Coliseum, June 1, approximately 120 persons will hold diplomas signed by him during the past few weeks.

The number takes on added significance when it is recalled that Dr. James K. Patterson, during his 42-year tenure as president of UK, signed only 1945 diplomas.

Tickets Available For Commencement

Graduating seniors may pick up their reservations for the commencement exercises in the Dean of Women's Office. Each senior will have three reserved tickets for relatives and friends wishing to attend the commencement exercises on June 1.

Tickets not claimed by 9 a.m. on June 1 may be picked up by seniors who want more reserved tickets.

Those family members and friends who do not have reserved seats on the Coliseum's west side may sit in the student section on the east side.

On Behalf Of The Seniors

Just what logic, the seniors are wondering, is behind the rule compelling June graduates to attend classes after their grades are in? We wonder, too.

It's just an educator's rosy illusion that students are so thirsty for knowledge as to give their undivided attention to lectures delivered after its all over for them. The excitement and the demands of graduation are too great. This is not frivolity or light-mindedness, it is just human nature.

After all, they've fulfilled the requirements. They've handed in their work and taken the exam, if the instructor thought it necessary. Their grades are in, and as far as they're concerned, the course is over. For the first time in four years, they have nothing hanging over their heads except graduation. They could have a week of that unfulfilled dream - college without classes.

But no, they must get up at seven o'clock, hurry to a stuffy old classroom and sit there while the instructor tells the other students about the exam he's already taken, or reviews the material he's already covered. The time he spends gazing intently out the window could much better be spent doing the thing he's always wanted to do - with friends he'll soon have to leave.

We believe the futility of this rule far outweighs any advantage it might have in keeping the class under a unit. It is a unity only in fact, not in spirit, and even the undergraduates know it. And we hope the professors who would add this lower a recorded grade as the exception rather than the rule.

The last few days in his college career mean a lot in the life of any person. We're for letting him enjoy them to the fullest. After all, he's earned a little freedom.

Jest Knappin'

By Paul Knapp
Not that I'm pro or anti-Arch-thurist, but his speech has not only gone down for posterity but it has added a new expression to the college cat's vocabulary. Whenever you want to get rid of a pest from on just whisper in his ear - "Why don't you make like an old soldier, and slowly fade away!"
After last weekend I know the meaning of "horse sense." It's what keeps horses from betting on people.
A man went to the bar and ordered a martini, drank it, chewed up the bowl of the glass and threw the stem over his shoulder. He continued this for six martinis and noticed that the bartender was staring at him.
"I guess you think I'm crazy, don't you?" he asked.
"I sure do," the bartender replied, "the stems are the best part."
I wonder how many fig leaves Eve tried on before she said "I'll take this one."
Joe: "My girl is like an auto radiator."
Moe: "How's that?"
Joe: "She'll freeze up on you if you don't keep her filled with slow hol."
He: "Do you serve women at this bar?"

'Honored' Verses Complaint

Dear Editor:
Well, you see when the snowmen were dressing of spring
And the stores put their toys all away.
The vixen wags and the birds 'gan to sing
And to dream of a sun-shiny day,
I got a sweet letter from Mom and from Pop
Saying: "Oh, how we love you, my dear."
We've just heard about you and the wonderful news
Of how splendidly you've done this year.
Oh, being to think we could rear such a child
Who has followed her parents so true.
And now, dear, you see, you will send your reward—
"They're having a day just for you!"
Well, I found me some seniors 'bout now
I asked them or tried to, while trembling so
Just "what was this great Honors Day."
And they looked at me back in dismay.
Then I looked at the bulletins all
'round the school
Ninth the shade of the glorious trees
While the doves and the pigeons of white
Ad and gently in scent-laden breeze.
Up from the gardens with trees full in bloom
Where botany's taught night and day
Where songs of the sparrows to mates in their nests
And I read in my Kernel: "Honors Day—
Wear your ribbon of white and of blue."
We proud of our students with 3-point and such
And we're giving May 10th all to you!
And I said, "Hey! Hey!
"I found a wonderful, wonderful
"What of it, May?
"So I dressed on that morning in trembling joy
"I wore my blue and my white
"And wore it quite proudly to class
"Intending to wear it till night.
"So what did I see?
"Their clothes were as bare as could be."
And I asked:
"Where's your ribbon—
"I had nobody wears theirs—
"So my joy burst like a busted balloon.
"And I put it in my purse and I kept it there till noon.
"But when day was done and I drank-
"I there all across the sky.
"There really was a few that night
"—but up there kind of high."
"Like a child I waited 'till my wild anticipation
"Counting off the minutes—
"wonderous presentation—
"Well, we started.
"And I saw the eager faces
"Of the parents in their places
"Waiting to hear
"The name of the boy
"Who had done so remarkably well
"the past year.
"And their faces were full of their cheer.
"But what did they hear?
"Stand up in colleges;
"With all trying madly
"For all those concerned
"They might have said troops.
"Of all those students who had done just the same
"Or better.
"And then it was over.
"I remember, Honors Day was.
"The "prizes" of UK, my dearies.

Settled back for a Blazer series. The speaker of course, was really glad.
With "Democracy and the Garrison State"
I thought it was Honors Day, And they didn't make ME a color, I'm not against Honors Day, oh, no, I'm not!
I love honor as much as the rest. I'm quite egotistic and love to be told That of all I really the best. And I told those that give our UK a name
Outside of the field and the floor. And looks, are quite a neglected bunch
And need to be made much of more. Yes, I like appreciation. I'm not pleading against it. But rather for it—
For more of it, Not just as a passing prelude To a speech.
I think some of the joy of parents and who had come, many many times.
What's that night? Because of this. What I'm trying to say is: If we've got to have a convention Of presentation
All by itself.
If 700 "honored students" aren't worthy of that, I really aren't worthy of anything.
An "Honored" Student

Need Diamond Fans

Dear Editor:
My joints crack, my bones ache, and my blood pressure goes up 10 points every time I think of walking out to Legion Field — to watch our Wildcats play baseball.
Now I realize that the team did not win the Sugar Bowl this year, nor did they win the NCAA crown; but let's look at last year's record: They were runner-up in the NCAA Regional playoffs held at Raleigh, N. C. which, I add, is an achievement in any man's league.
Last summer the games were played at Stoll Field before large and enthusiastic Wildcat baseball crowds. We have Pazel, Hamilton, Zarnaka, Newton and Strunk back from last year's team — just to mention a few. As a matter of fact, we have almost the same team that advanced to the regional semi-finals last year, plus the addition of some very fine ballplayers in the Jones boys, Furell and McLeod. Why can't we win this year?
It's a little late to mention it here, but every team lists "homecoming," which in this case is a ballgame they can call their own, and where the students can come out and watch their play without walking miles to the nearest field. A team needs the moral support of the student body, and unless they can get it — they "ain't gonna win."
Let's keep Bear Bryant in his own backyard, and not have him muscling in on the baseball field which as the name suggests is to be used for the playing of that grand old American pastime, the game of baseball!
Sincerely yours,
"Disgruntled" Baseball Fan

Deltis, Phi Deltis In Fraternity Semis

Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Nu locked horns for two hours and ten minutes Wednesday evening before the Phi Deltis won the right to meet the finals of the loser's division of the intramural softball tournament. The Phi Deltis used an eight-run inning to fashion a 11-10 victory over Sigma Nu. The Sigma Nu's rallied for six runs in the last, with minor and nearly caught with the winners as they used wildness on the part of Phi Deltis pitchers to close the gap.

Delta Tau Delta, losers to Phi Kappa Alpha by 1-0 on Tuesday, will play the Phi Deltis either today or Monday for the right to meet the Phi Deltis in the fraternity final. Phi Delt requested a postponement to the latter date Wednesday night from the originally scheduled game of this afternoon.

Scott Street Barracks and Men's Dorms were slated to meet for the championship of the independent tournament yesterday afternoon, too late for the Kernel deadline. A Dorm win would decide the league, but should the Barracks have won, another game will be necessary between the two teams.

Scott Street dominated B.S.U. 11-1, Thursday afternoon to take the finals of the loser's division of the independent tournament. The Barracks posted a semi-final win over Farm House last Thursday.

Sigma Nu thumped Phi Sigma Kappa by 7-2 on Tuesday to earn the right to play the Phi Deltis. On Monday the Phi Deltis had beaten Triangles 5-4 in a thriller. The Sigma Nu's also had won on Monday, taking the ZDT's 14-2.

Zeta Beta Tau picked up some valuable I-M points to handball this week with finalists in both handball singles and doubles play. ## Kernel Sports Quiz

By Joe Soperchek

One cartoon of Championship cigarists will be awarded to the person who answers the greatest number of questions correctly. The first week's winner took 70 percent, and last week's winner 80 percent. Surely we have better sports experts than that. Let's all get into the fun.

We'll start off with an easy one.

1. What is "Bear" Bryant's given name?

2. An All-American baseball player of a recent U.K. mine. Who is he?

3. Bob Gain will play professional football with whom (this coming fall)?

Cat Netters Lose Two To Cincinnati

The UK tennis team lost two matches last week by identical scores of 7-6.

The second match, played on the University High courts, was delayed for more than an hour while Tony Traber, UC Captain and basketball star, was being elected president of his Junior class. Andy Paton, UK coach, was not present Wednesday as his team suffered its fifth straight defeat after winning in the first two games of the season.

The game rescheduled with Berea Saturday was cancelled because of wet grounds. Another date has not been set. The UK netters will wind up this season at home Tuesday when they take on Centre, beaten previously by UK, 5-4.

Wildcat Linkmen Out Of SEC Tourney

The entry of the University of Kentucky in the annual Southeastern Conference Tournament has been withdrawn according to Coach John Owens. Loss of two of the key members of the team was the reason for the decision handed down by the coach.

The tournament is to be played in Birmingham, Alabama next week. Plans were made for the Wildcat linkmen to participate but the last minute changes by the stars caused the team to be taken out competition.

Engineers To Give Senior-Faculty Dinner

The Engineering Senior-Faculty Chicken Dinner will be held at 6 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Union Ball Room. Coach Adolph Rupp will be the speaker.

This afternoon, the faculty, students, and guests of the Civil Engineers will hold their annual picnic at Boonboro Beach. At the picnic, students will present skits, portraying the faculty.

Fencers End Season With Win Over IU

A clean sweep was made by the UK fencers as both the varsity and freshmen downed teams from Indiana University.

Captain Alan Solomon went undefeated for the varsity to spar a 7-0 victory at the same time that Freshman Captain Bill Hancock was going undefeated to lead the IU team to a 4-4 victory. Hancock came down by 1-4, to win the deciding bout which broke a 4-4 tie.

In the varsity meet, the Cats had to come from behind four times before taking the Hoosier's measure. Solomon won three, Bob O'Nan and Paul Wright one each, and Bill Seltzer captured his second bout of the day with the score tied 6-6. The complete Kentucky's scoring: For Indiana, Moe Cleland and Francis Wolff won three each, and Bill Hancock won three and Tom Prather two as the Fresh took their third win of the year and an undefeated season in college competition. Hancock was high point man for the freshmen this year with eight wins and only one loss. Tom Prather with seven wins and two losses. Tom Owen was next with two wins and one loss.

The rest of the team, upon whom Coach Reinkindler will count heavily next year are: Charles Bassett, George Coleman, and Charles Krueger.

The varsity finished the season with a record of six wins and three losses, and with a ranking of fourth in the nation and first in the South. Their captain won 70 percent of his bouts and ranked 10th among the nation's fencers.

Last year's freshman captain, Bill Seltzer, was this year's high scorer with 27 wins.

Wildcat Footballers Face Tough 1951 Schedule

University Of Miami Homecoming Tilt Nov. 3 Seven Games Carded For Stoll Field

Coach Bear Bryant will be facing one of the toughest football schedules in his coaching career when he calls his charges back out for practice in September.

A glance at the 1951 schedule shows a lineup that would be regarded as one of the toughest a coach that has lost 17 letters from last year's Sugar Bowl championship squad.

Kentucky has carded 11 games this fall, the same number as last year. No less than three of these teams played in a Bowl game last year. Seven of these games are conference contests.

The Bowl teams are Texas, which was defeated by Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl game; the University of Miami, which lost to Clemson in the Orange Bowl; and the traditional rival, the Tennessee Volunteers, who met Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

In this schedule there are only two teams that could be defeated.

Wildcat Thinlies Leave For SEC Meet Saturday

By Fred Lawson
Assistant Sports Editor

The Wildcat track team, led by Coach Sexton, left last night to compete in the Southeastern Conference track meet in Birmingham, Alabama.

The SEC meet, which will run today and Saturday, is the last track meet of the season for the Cat thinlies. Their season mark stands at three wins and three losses. The season would be a success if the Wildcats can make a good showing in the conference meet.

Last Saturday the Wildcats made that last showing in a winning one to win their 72-59 over the University of Louisville on Stoll Field.

A great showing in the field events won the meet for the Cats. Outstanding in the track events, 41-29, the Wildcats piled up 30 points to Louisville's 18 in the field events of the most important fencing tournaments in the nation.

The tournament, which will be held at the Alumni Gym tomorrow and Sunday, will attract the best fencers from all the mid-Western states and many of the Southern states.

Olympic national champions will be fighting for medals in the field games as men have formerly fought for honors and life.

Women's and men's foil will be on the program, and the sabre on Sunday. The fencing will start at 10:00 tomorrow morning and 11:00 Sunday and will last until 6:00 p.m. each day.

Tickets for the entire tournament may be purchased for fifty cents at Graves-Cox or at Alumni Gym tomorrow.

Baseballers Lose Three On Road Trip

Volts Sweep Series, Cats Defeat Tech

By Don Armstrong

Kentucky wound up its baseball season Tuesday with a 9-5 win over Georgia Tech, an anticlimax to the first losing season posted by a Wildcat diamond team since 1947.

The win over Tech was the best victory of a four-game road trip with Tennessee on Friday and Saturday and the Jackets on Monday and Tuesday.

In the first two contests, the Vols chalked up a ten-inning 2-1 triumph and an 11-2 win. Georgia Tech won the first game with Kentucky, 16-11, in a slugfest.

During the tour, the Cats committed 19 errors in the field, probably the main factor in their losing record to Tennessee. Kentucky's record for 1951 will go into the books as eight wins and ten defeats.

Bob Terrell, playing shortstop in place of the injured Larry Jones, won the game with Tech when he poked a two-run double in the seventh inning. The last of Kentucky's scores in the contest, they proved to be the winning margin.

Terrell relieved Jones at shortstop when the little Louisville turned an ankle and was forced to the sidelines. Before leaving the game, Jones had helped the Cats cause along with a triple. Ramsey hit a double for Kentucky.

Dick Harvin was the big gun for Tech, collecting two homers, two doubles, and five runs batted in.

GA. TECH 16, KENTUCKY 11

Georgia Tech rallied for nine runs in the last two innings to take Monday's game by a score of 16-11. Each team had 15 hits and combined to commit 19 errors.

Seven pitchers paraded to the mound during the game. Four of which were Yellow Jackets. Al MacLeod started for Kentucky, but gave way to Terrell in the fourth frame when Tech narrowed the Cats' lead to 6-5. Strong relieved Terrell in the five-run seventh inning.

Home runs by Larry Jones and Allen Hamilton hoisted Kentucky's offense, but they were offset by a pair of four-baggers by Bob Lusk and Dick Harvin for Tech.

Larry added three hits to his homer in five trips to the plate for the Cats. Ramsey also had a trio of safeties. Tech's Champell Rhino collected four hits for the Jackets.

LINE SCORE:
Kentucky—105 003 020—11 5 4
Ga. Tech—004 102 543—16 13 4
MacLeod, Terrell (4), Strong (7), and Pucci; Hob, Marchetti (6),

Bradshaw (8), Rhino (8) and Orazum, Walton (6).

TENNESSEE 11, KENTUCKY 2

Setting a new win percentage mark for the SEC, Tennessee took its sixteenth straight conference win at the expense of the Wildcats in Nashville Saturday, 11-2.

Kentucky scored a run in the top of the first, but the Vols took advantage of three straight walks by Kentucky's Walt Hirsch for four runs in their half of the inning. Hirsch was lifted after the third base on balls in favor of Guy Strong, who pitched the rest of the way for the Cats.

The win for Tennessee was the fourth over Kentucky and raised its season mark to 341, besting Alabama's record of 322 in 1941. The Volunteers chalked their win streak after dropping their season opener.

Billy Joe Reekman went the rest for Tennessee and was matched in performance by Strong, who allowed the same number of hits over the nine-inning stretch and walked only one batter for the Cats.

The Vols exploded for six tallies in the seventh on three Kentucky errors which loaded the bases. The fourth man up singled and went to third on Frank Ramsey's two-base muff. Singles by Dale Powell and Hal Payne, and a double by Ace

Adams accounted for three more runs.

LINE SCORE:

Tennessee—400 010 008—11 9 1
Hirsch, Strong (1) and Pucci; O'Kain and Anderson.

TENNESSEE 2, KENTUCKY 1

Tennessee took a ten-inning heart-breaker from Kentucky on Friday there, shading C. M. Newton and the Cats, 2-1.

Newton lost a pitcher's duel that would have gone for a Wildcat victory on any other day. The Florida ace scattered eight hits and hurled six scoreless innings before the champion Vols could touch him for a run.

Hirsch helped Tennessee set their first run when he dropped a double-bagger throw from Harry Jones in the last of the seventh. The Cat first sacker made up for his mistake in the Kentucky eighth, however when he advanced to scoring position on a stolen base and an error.

Larry Jones' single pitched Hirsch.

Dale Powell's tenth inning single won the game for the Vols after two were out when he brought Bill Ashby home from second base.

College Of Pharmacy RX NOTES

By Eugene Miller

Many students, particularly pre-pharmacy students, have asked what the prescription symbol on prescriptions represents. From the literature available, I have obtained the following information on the Rx symbol: "The prescription symbol is considered an abbreviation of the Latin 'recipe' (take through). The inclined stroke making the symbol probably stems from the sign of the god Jupiter, which the ancient Romans used to place at the top of their prescriptions."

The Alpha Eta Omega Fraternity will hold their National Convention in Cincinnati. The dates have been set for July 25-27. The convention will not interfere with the State Board Examinations. More detailed explanations may be obtained by consulting Mr. Ben Kobay.

A CHECK FOR $3000 has been presented to the Kentucky Council on Pharmaceutical Education as a gift from the Student Council of the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy. Contributions also are being accepted from practicing pharmacists, college alumni, and friends of pharmacy in this area. The check was presented to Nathan Kaplan, president of the Kentucky Council, by John B. Peak, president of the student council and of the senior class. The Foundation was established as a memorial to Dr. Gordon L. Curry and Dr. Oscar C. Dilly.

BEVERLY DAVIS, who won second prize in the Kentucky and Southern Indiana Arts Exhibition, works on an eight foot carving which is to represent a sculptor seeking inspiration.

Beverly Sculptures, Paints When She Is Not Working

By Norman Corbitt
Beverly Davis works at the Kentucky Utilities office each evening, and then comes to the Fine Arts Building to study art - all because art is Beverly's food, drink, and dreams. And now her art is beginning to be recognized.
"Drowsy," one of Beverly's sculptures, is the Second Prize winner in the 24th Annual Kentucky and Southern Indiana Art Exhibition, now on display in the Art Gallery of the Fine Arts Building. Sculpturing is Beverly's chief type of art work, and another of her works, made of an eight-foot walnut log, may soon decorate a ledge on the exterior of the Fine Arts Building.
Art Professor Raymond Barnhart explained that seldom is student work given a prize, or even accepted, in the Kentucky and Southern Indiana Exhibition because all the professionals in the area also compete for the awards. Alfred Ritchie, director of painting and sculpture for the Museum of Modern Art, judged the entries.
Beverly began her art career with painting, as a little girl. She used to specialize in horses, and owned a horse of her own which she used for a model.
THE WALLS OF BEVERLY'S HOME, just across the Jessamine County line, near the Nicholasville Pike, are covered with her paintings. She has done some murals in her living room. Two of her paintings were accepted in recent Lexington and vicinity regional shows.
Beverly carries about 10 hours each semester. She alternates her schedule by working mornings and

Alumni News THEN and NOW

Byzone college days are recalled to mind in the University of Kentucky. Origins and Early Years, a book by James F. Hopkins, M.A., 28, which is being published by the University of Kentucky Press. The book will give insight into the meaning and the position of the University in the Commonwealth. Campuses and personalities of the past come to life in a dozen illustrations; operators at a football game, a classroom, the campus in 1910, the faculty in 1920, and so on.
Here are just a few of the many notable campus events described in the University of Kentucky. How many do you remember?
Remember when "Marse Henry" Waterson spoke at the dedication of the new campus? February 15, 1882?
Remember when oratorical contests became "overemphasized," and in 1891 members of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Association threatened to withdraw?
Remember when Willis Smith disappeared on September 22, 1908?
Remember when James K. Patterson, after heading the University for forty-one years, returned to resign as president of the University of Kentucky?
The University of Kentucky traces the development of the state institution from its beginning in 1780, when the Commonwealth was a county of Virginia, to the resignation of Patterson in 1910, when the state university finally was established on a sound basis. In particular, John B. Bowman, the founder of the University of Kentucky, and James K. Patterson, its father, are given the attention which is due to the two men most responsible for the existence of the state university in its present form. Student life comes in for its share in the book, as do more weighty matters, such as rivalries between members of the faculty and administrative jealousies, which frequently threatened to upset the routine of the University.
The binder has promised delivery by May 25, but, barring unusual delay, you may purchase the book only $4.00, with 10 percent discount for alumni and students at the ticket booth in the Student Union Building during Commencement Week.
