WILDCATS WIN TWO BUT LOSE TO UNIV. OF TENN.

Chattanooga and Cumberland College Fall Victim to Wildcat Basketball Five

VANDERBILT FRIDAY

Two out of three games were won by the Wildcat basketball five on their trip thru Southern Kentucky and Tennessee last week. Chattanooga University fell victim to Kentucky aggressiveness by a score of 28 to 25. The University of Tennessee won from the Cats, scoring 40 points, while Kentucky had to be content with 22. Cumberland College lost in a 21 to 20 game.

The Wildcats were troubled thruout their journey by the inability of various men, one of whom was deaf and dumb and blind, according to one of the Kentucky basketball artists, to referee basketball games.

Chattanooga is Defeated
Chattanooga was the first game played on the trip. It was staged Thursday night in Chattanooga. Everett, who is working at center now was the particular star in the Wildcats' first try. He counted 12 points and was responsible for winning the game, according to Coach Gill. He looped two in from the center of the floor with one hand, standing his opponents on their heads for the time being.

Tennessee Wins.
The game with the University of Tennessee was played on Friday night. The Wildcats held the upper hand for a short time, but the Tennesseans began to climb and never stopped until they had shut up the Wildcat quintet in an ice box. Tennessee will play

ZERFOSS VS. ZERFOSS IN FRIDAY'S SCRAP

A fight from whistle to whistle, is the promise of the Wildcat team from the Vanderbilt game Friday night.

It is charitable not to mention the Wildcat successes thus far in their schedule, but there are many indications that they will do the old comeback stunt when Vanderbilt gets within reach of their claws. Dope on the visitors is scarce with one exception. Is it well known that a former Wildcat, and a good one, is playing forward on the Commodore team. Tom Zerfoss, the "best of the three" as some of his admirers call him, has played basketball and football on Wildcat teams. He has been five months in the firing of the Western front and has returned with his floor ability untouched. "Little Brother" George, will be on the floor on the Wildcat team and Coach Gill relies upon George's knowledge of the family traits to help in making Tom behave. Mr. Zerfoss, the father of the boys will attend the game and fans are wondering for whom he will root.

Miss Smith, in the College of Arts & Science, is one of the most popular of the freshmen girls. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority. She, too, is from Mayeville.

Elizabeth Kimbrough, who was elected secretary, is a student in the Arts & Science College also. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

TICKETS FOR MILITARY BALL TO GO ON SALE

Tickets for the military ball to be given in the armory by the University battalion on the night of February 21, may be obtained in the Commandant's office either Wednesday afternoon or Thursday. Those desiring lunch, which will be served during intermission, must purchase their tickets Thursday.

AG. CANDIDATE WINS WITH HELP OF A. & S.

Everett Wins Freshman Presidency in Closely Contested Election; Margaret Smith Vice President

ENGINEERS LOSE OUT

John C. Everett, Jr., was elected president of the Freshman class at a meeting held Wednesday of last week. Other officers elected were: Margaret Smith, vice-president; Elizabeth Kimbrough, secretary, and Donald Dinning, treasurer.

The meeting of the Freshman class was called by Dean Melcher for the purpose of holding the long delayed election of class officers. A great deal of rivalry was demonstrated between the two "tickets" in the field. The students in the College of Engineering nominated George Oldham as their candidate, and were confident of success, because of their superiority of numbers as compared with any other college at the University. The students of the College of Agriculture nominated one of their number, John C. Everett, Jr., and received the support of the Arts and Science students, which elected Everett by about twenty votes. Nearly as much rivalry was shown between the two factions in the election of a vice-president as of a president, but the Ag.-A. B. candidate, Miss Margaret Smith was elected.

Everett is a student in the College of Agriculture, and is one of the stars on the "varsity" basketball squad this winter. He covered himself with glory in the Centre game, and has contributed much toward the success of the 1919 Wildcats. During the S. A. T. C. he was sergeant in Company C, and since the R. O. T. C. has been re-organized, he has been first sergeant in that company. He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. His home is Mayeville.

Miss Smith, in the College of Arts & Science, is one of the most popular of the freshmen girls. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority. She, too, is from Mayeville.

Elizabeth Kimbrough, who was elected secretary, is a student in the Arts & Science College also. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

TRANSYLVANIA LIBRARY OWNS RARE VOLUMES

Widely Known Men of Science and Medicine Have Presented Old Editions to the Collectors

WILLIAM IV. A DONOR

Few Kentucky students are aware that the world's rarest medical library, containing some of the oldest and most prized books in the United States is available to them in the library of Transylvania College. It is impossible to estimate the pecuniary value of the collection, but prominent scholars from all over the country have heard of the library with pleasure and taken advantage of its store of knowledge.

Transylvania's library was begun with the college in 1783, when the Rev. John Todd, of Virginia, became the first donor of books. There are still many books in the library with his name on the flyleaf. The list of the men who have presented volumes to the library is made up of names widely known in science and medicine and contains the name of one king, William IV, of England, whose gift arrived in August 1834. The majority of the eighty-one volumes composing his gift are Latin works and all are in the folio form. In the front of each one is bound a small page with the inscription: "To be perpetually preserved in the library of Transylvania College." Some one has suggested that this is the gift mentioned in one of Macauley's essays in which he recounts the conversation of the King and Walpole. Walpole was twitting the King about the gift of such books to such an obscure western college. The exact essay was not recalled.

One of the most valuable gifts was made by Edward Everett, secretary of state under President Fillmore. This gift was made in 1850 and consists of 12 volumes, eight of which were published in the sixteenth century, three in the seventeenth and one in the eighteenth. Each volume is folio size and bound in elegant vellum.

Three books given by the naturalist, Andre Michaux are valued at $300. They are books about trees and contain the most accurate and remarkable plates of the various trees of Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio. Another gift by Michaux is a Chinese dictionary published in French in 1724.

A book of remarkable plates is by Alexander Humboldt and contains the sketches he made in South America. Humboldt is still regarded as an authority on South American history and remains, and the work is doubly valuable because of his reputation.

The library abounds in peculiar diction and quaintly humorous writings. One gazeteer in a work published in 1783 bounds Virginia in this way: "Virginia is bounded on the north by Penn-

KENTUCKIAN BEAUTIES CHOSEN LAST FRIDAY

Eight Prettiest Girls of the University Selected For Annual Beauty Section

Editors of the 1919 Kentuckian have congratulated themselves already upon the Beauty Section that is to adorn this year's book, for last Friday, the following girls were selected as subjects for the eight pictures to appear there: Isabel Dickey, Dorothy Middleton, Loraine West, Elizabeth Kimbrough, Helen Taylor, Ella Brown, Margaret Smith and Dorothy Walker.

Competition in the voting was as keen this year as it has been any year before, and the number of candidates ranking in the first dozen was large. Disappointment is sure to be the lot of some who much desired the election of their own candidate, but these disappointed persons can reap solace from the statement of the beauty editor, that the "whole bunch is so pretty that it is absurd to select eight."

Now what shall we write about the girls? If we mention Isabel's eyes we will have to mention Dot's nose; if we refer to Helen's smile, we'll have to remember Ella's hair; a line about Loraine's mouth, will demand a description of Elizabeth's eyelashes. So what is a poor male scribe to do but mention the surpassing beauty of them all and trust to luck to preserve him from the wrath of any one that might be offended? One avenue of safety is opened and is hereby used:

"O, our girls are as sweet as the breath of the morn,
When the grass is bespangled with dew;

And their eyes are as bright as the stars of the dawn,

While their cheeks are the loveliest hue."

BOLES AND FREEMAN LEAVE FOR S. I. A. A.

Director of Athletics S. A. Boles, and Professor E. E. Freeman, left Wednesday morning for New Orleans to attend the meeting of the S. I. A. A. Kentucky's representatives expect a discussion of the after-war arrangements of all schedules with a discussion of the status of athletes returning to school. The conference is to be held on Friday and Saturday, February 14th and 15th, and the delegates will return Monday.

PLANS OUTLINED FOR UNIVERSITY EXPANSION

Several Big Buildings to be Erected Under Idea; Will Meet Requirements for 50 Years.

McVEY INTERVIEWED

Plans for the expansion of this University have been outlined by President McVey. If they materialize, they will meet the requirements of the University for fifty years. Several big buildings will be erected under the new development idea which promises to make this University outstanding in Southern educational circles.

The proposed plans have been outlined by Olmstead Brothers, of Brookline, Mass., and landscape perspectives by Coolidge and Shattuck, of Boston.

The idea, as thus far advanced, was outlined Tuesday by President Frank L. McVey.

The Olmstead plan includes plans for the improvement of the low grounds at the corner of Limestone and Winslow streets. On that corner is contemplated the erection of a building to be known as the "Commons," where the student body will be boarded with pleasant surroundings, and large enough to care for the student body.

Behind the contemplated building on Dent increase for years.

Winslow street is to be erected a large library building for students' use, and adjoining will be built a gymnasium.

On Limestone street, the plans call for a law school building, and behind that on the left is to be a building devoted to physical science.

At the lower end of the quadrangle is to be a library building, and to the right of the quadrangle a great engineering structure to be used as College of Engineering.

Further on toward Limestone street in the quadrangle will be a building in the quadrangle will be a building for agricultural purposes.

The scheme of expansion and improvement will be added to from time to time as the needs of the institution require, as the probable increase in the student body is likely to be one thousand a year, Dr. McVey believes, and it is necessary to have a large equipment in order to keep pace with institutions of a like nature in other States.

As President McVey sees it, the University of Kentucky is bound to have a much larger student enrollment. The history of other State universities show that with the growth of the universities, grow the development of the State.

"The time," says President McVey, "will come in the next few years when the University of Kentucky will have a student body of three thousand, and the State is bound to make provisions for the future and prepare for the things bound to come to the University.

"In working out the foregoing plans," Dr. McVey continued, "the University can not adequately do this without the co-operation of the city of Lexington and the State.

"When the present plans materialize, Lexington and the State of Kentucky may have reasons to boast of an institution second to none, the fruition of democracy will not avail unless the people are educated to the fundamentals of the liberties they enjoy."

PRESIDENT EMPHASIZES REGISTRATION DETAILS

The Kernel is requested to publish the following important notice: To the Editor of the Kernel:

Some misunderstanding has arisen relative to matters of registration, and I am taking this opportunity of presenting a brief statement regarding it. The registration takes place on Monday, February 24. Students, who can arrange in advance of these dates, may do so during the afternoons of the following days:

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, February 19, 20 and 21, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

University fees are for College of Arts and Science, $12.50 per semester. The same fee is payable in the College of Agriculture; $15.00 in the College of Engineering and $20.00 in the College of Law. The Student Activity fee is $9.00 a year or $4.50 per semester. This is payable in addition to the regular University semester fees. Student Activity fee was voted by the students of the University two or three years ago, so as to make it possible for organizations like the Athletic Association, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., The Kernel, debating and oratorical associations to receive funds for their support. As a matter of convenience, this fee is collected at the time the University fees are collected.

If the students have any questions about the details of registration, they should consult the Registrar.

 President.

WAR DEPARTMENT WILL PERFECT UNIV. R. O. T. C.

Each Student Who Takes Course Will be Commissioned, is Newest Plan For Army Corps

FURNISH ARTILERY

It was learned that the War Department has developed complete plans for the organization of a "department of military science and tactics," at each of the following Kentucky educational institutions: University of Kentucky; Bethel College, Russellville; Kentucky Military Institute, Lyndon; Kentucky Wesleyan, Winchester; Western Kentucky Normal, Bowling Green.

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps was started in 1916 as a peace measure. More than 100 units had been authorized, but the work was not yet fairly organized when the war came on and the Reserve Officers' Training Corps was sidetracked to make way for the Students' Army Training Corps. With the signing of the armistice the latter organization was abandoned, and it is proposed to renew the Reserve Officers' Training Corps on a more ambitious and very greatly perfected plan.

To Commission All Students
 One of the interesting features of the new plan is that it proposes to make officers of all who take the course. Heretofore only a small per cent of those who took instructions ever received commissions as reserve officers. To make the new plan attractive and furnish an incentive to efforts it is intended that those students who take the two years' advance course shall receive commissions as second lieutenants.

Never was the War Department as well prepared as it is now to establish these college departments of military science and tactics on a satisfactory footing. The close of the war with Germany has left available an abundance of officers and material. Institutions which before the war were allowed only one officer as instructor, or at best one officer and an assistant, will be able under the new regime to get all the officers they need and they will be officers who have been well trained in the school of experience.

Will Furnish Artillery.
 As for equipment, there is no limit to it. In addition to the ordinary equipment the War Department expects to be able to furnish to the institutions field artillery of all sizes from the 155-millimetre gun down the list, guns not only of American make, but also British and French guns. In every way the equipment is to be as thoro as it is possible to make it.

Much more emphasis is to be laid on physical training than heretofore. This includes not merely military training, such as attendance at drills, etc., but physical exercises of all sorts and to make this branch as attractive as possible, summer camps will be provided.

TRASY LIBRARY

sylvania and Maryland; on the east by the Atlantic ocean; on the south by North Carolina and on the west it extends as far as you please." The same writer says that Tennessee is bounded on the west by the Appalachian Indians.

In a book by Harvey on the "Generation of Animals," the following name and inscription is written: "Sum Johannis Adolphus Reinboth. Comparavit me sibi, Lugduni 1676." The book was published in Amsterdam in 1651. Another book has a name written on the flyleaf under the date of 1666.

The oldest book in the library was published in 1529. It is a volume of Cicero's orations and is bound in a piece of old manuscript. The backs are sewed on with pigskin thongs. There are several drawings of "modern" printing presses in this book.

A curious and timely item about the library is that there are only two pieces of German in the whole collection. One of these is printed on old paper which was used to build up the back of a book, and which has been exposed by the wearing away of part of the back, and the other is a volume of Pope's Essay on Man.

A book of the Abbeys of England contains a sheet of cuts of the "Seales of Armes of all the Mitred Abbeys of England," with the following inscription or notice: "Know reader the cutter in wood being sick and the Press not staling his recovery; the armes of my patrons omitted in ye body of ye books are supplied in these quarters."

During the Civil war, President Emeritus James K. Paterson was a professor at Transylvania College, and when the college buildings were taken over by the Union forces to be used as hospitals and prisons, the books in the library were brot to his home for safekeeping. On the fly leaf of one of these books is the following: "Robt. Barlop 165th. July 26 '62. Taken prisoner of war 2nd. Sept. '62, by Captain Nelson's cavalry."

Dr. Albert H. Buck, retired professor from Columbia University, is now engaged in writing a book on medicine at the beginning of the nineteenth century and is using the library for reference. Just before the beginning of the European war, Dr. Buck came to America from Montpellier, France, where he was studying and writing, and his return was prevented by the opening of hostilities. Hearing of the books to be had here, he came to Lexington and continued his work. He dispaired of getting some pictures of physicians which he thot could be had only in France, but he has found the pictures in the books of the medical library at Transylvania. A local photographer has transferred these pictures to plates and they form a valuable addition to the book the doctor is writing.

Doctor Buck is only one of the many scholars who have found books of intense interest in the library and it is to be regretted that the students of Kentucky, and especially the students of Lexington have not recognized the treasure laid before them and taken advantage of it.

PRES. PATTERSON GIVES LIBRARY $100

The appreciation of the University is expressed in the following letter from President McVey to President Emeritus Patterson for the latter's gift of $100 to be used for the purchase of books for the University library:

Dr. James K. Patterson,
University of Kentucky.

My dear Dr. Patterson:
Let me acknowledge with many thanks the receipt of your check for $100 to be used for the purchase of books for the University Library. This addition to the funds of the Library will be much welcomed, and I take the opportunity of extending to you the thanks of the University for your gracious gift of the Library.

Very truly yours,

President.

CROIX DE GUERRE WON BY A FORMER STUDENT

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Foster, of Flemingsburg, have received news of the safety of their son, Captain Raleigh Foster, who had not been heard from since October 13. Captain Foster was trained at Quantico, went overseas as a first lieutenant, became a captain after bravery in battle, and now gets the Croix de Guerre.

The University has cause to be very proud of Captain Foster, who is well remembered here as a Kappa Alpha, chairman of the Pan-Hellenic Council and honor man of the University. In one letter written December 27, of the eight which his parents received at one time Captain Foster says, "The French commander-in-chief has awarded me a Croix de Guerre. Don't know what for, decided not to argue with him, but to take it and make up my own story of bravery. It will be nothing less than capturing a German colonel or a general and his staff."

PRESIDENT McVEY SPEAKS TO ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

President Frank L. McVey spoke before the annual meeting of the Associated Charities on Tuesday afternoon in the ballroom of the Phoenix Hotel.

President McVey said that charity organizations are business propositions and necessary to the financial and social interests of the community. He urged the association to look to the future and to adopt constructive work in eliminating the problems now confronting it, as well as being merely a relief agency.

"BUCK UP" AND PLAY FAIRLY

Examination week is here again. Its coming this year is marked by emphatic improvement in the classroom on the part of the laggard student who wishes to leave his professor with a good impression, by an "it's-up-to-you" air on the part of the professor and by the burning of midnight oil. "Vodvill," silent drama, the pool room and the drug store have been forgotten until the crisis shall have past.

This will be the seventh time that some of us have walked up to the home plate, but we go next week with an air of confidence, for a little bird has told us that doctors and professors will be more lenient this time than they have hitherto been in correcting examination papers. They will consider, it is said, that the influenza ban and the war did not improve the student's class standing to any great extent. The message is comforting. It seems to say: Professor X is not going to spoil the beauty of Johnny's examination paper by marking on it with a blue pencil, for he realizes that Johnny came back from war as soon as he could, back to his experiments and his classes; that he was a little rusty and that he was given much work to do. But Johnny has done his best since January 6. Professor X, the little bird said, will take all these facts into consideration.

On the other hand, this comforting report may be unfounded. It sounds reassuring, but it is hard to believe. Therefore, it behooves each student of the University to give his best efforts to his examinations; to eat 'em up alive, as the saying goes.

For many of us sacrifices were made at home that we might attend the University and avail ourselves of opportunities which our fathers did not enjoy. For some of us a few acres were sold from the back end of the old farm; for others, mother went without this and father went without that. What will be our feeling if that report card goes back home marred by evidence of failure? We came here to do our best. Perhaps we haven't done it all ways, but whether we have or haven't let's make up for it during examination week. But remember that it is better to fail than to pass by cheating. If you go 'square,' relying on what you have learned, the professor will treat your paper the same way when he corrects it. If you 'crib,' he'll know it. So 'buck up' and play the game. If you do, you will probably get thru.

A PLEA FOR CO-OPERATION.

Three days are left for pictures of all campus organizations to be turned in to the photo editor of the annual. Two weeks are left for the overworked staff to get all copy to the publisher. In the meantime examinations intervene. But time and contracts wait for no man. The work must be done if a Kentuckian is to be published this year. Moreover the work must be done on time.

The work of the annual is managed and largely financed by the senior class. But the book does not belong exclusively to the seniors. The Kentuckian is for the University and represents as no other publication, every department of the college and all college activities. A university is often judged by students outside the State by the excellence of its annual. Therefore it behooves the entire school, faculty, seniors, juniors, sophomores, yea, even the freshmen, to get together to make the publication a success.

Co-operation will bring out the Kentuckian on time, and bring out a better book than the University has ever had. The 1919 management has labored under difficulties, it's true. But 'c'est la guerre,' and anyway no alibi need be offered—yet. Instead the staff pledges itself to untiring efforts in return for the full co-operation of the whole University; and full co-operation for each person means returning proofs to the photographer immediately, giving kodak pictures to the snapshot editor, turning in copy for organizations at once, submitting poems, jokes and cartoons for the feature section, in fact helping in any way possible that the annual may be made a publication of the University, by the University, and for the University.

Zimmie Zane, the Kentucky wise owl, says: "Some people work harder to get out of work than its actual doing would entail."

We are inclined to believe that after January, 1920, the corkscrew will cease to be the most important part of some gentlemen's wardrobes.

After careful consideration, we have concluded that the prize fighter is the man whose business most profitably allows him to practice the motto: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

LANGUAGE OF UMBRELLAS.

As there is a language of flowers, so there is a language of umbrellas, according to the Louisville Herald:

"For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate a change of ownership. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it, that a hat or two is going to be knocked off.

"An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the dripping, signifies courtship. When the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings, it indicates marriage.

"To put a cotton umbrella by the side of a silk one, signifies "exchange is no robbery." To purchase an umbrella means 'I am not smart, but honest.' To lend an umbrella indicates 'I am a fool.' To carry your umbrella in a case signifies it is a shabby one. To carry an umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies, 'I am a woman.' To press an umbrella on a friend, saying 'Oh do take it, I'd much rather you did than not,' signifies departure from the truth."

KENTUCKY TO ENTER ORATORICAL UNION

Professor E. C. Mabie, head of the oratorical and forensic work at the University, spoke to the Union Literary Society last Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Professor Mabie said that the University of Kentucky is now a nationally known school which must take its place in the world of American universities, in athletics, debates, and all other contests. The debates that we have been having with the smaller Kentucky colleges will doubtlessly be continued for the purpose of stimulating interest in the two literary societies of the University, but plans have already been completed for Kentucky

WESLEYAN OUTCLASSED BY OUR WILD KITTENS

The Female of the Basketball Species Proves More Deadly Than the Male

The Kittens beat the Wesleyan five last Saturday at Winchester by a score of 18-16 in the first game of the season. Both teams were as full of ginger, pep., and it might be added, temper, as the Marines at Chateau Thierry. The game was one of the fastest ever conducted by girls, and never seemed to lag for a moment. Two minutes after the whistle was blown, Kentucky threw a goal, and continued the good work until the final whistle, when the Blue and White led the score by one goal.

The Wesleyan team was good, but Kentucky's was better. The teamwork of the Wesleyanites was especially good, but their shots were wild. Elwanger, formerly a Kitten forward, and Spencer were the bright lights for the Winchester five, making all of the sixteen points.

No one star, alone, shone in the sky for U. K., but five gloriously bright stars, who, together, surpassed the "would-be" State champions. Much credit is due the girls' coach, Miss Nancy Innis, who has developed a surprising amount of team-work for the short time the girls have been playing together. Good basketball material is out this year, and Miss Innis is training a winning team.

Lillie Cromwell, center, displayed much coolness thruout the game, getting out of each tight place in a most successful way. She has the "makings" all right, and with a little more polishing, will be one of the best players who ever starred with the Kittens.

Lucy Dean played all of her signals well, and played for the team at all times. Miss Dean didn't get the individual score, but she kept her forward from getting hers, so 'nuf sed.

Bill Hayden is the same old Bill. She played a clean, steady game all the way, and got three of the prettiest goals of the game.

Dot Walker played all over the floor, and generally took the ball with her. When it came to speed and fighting, she was there.

Minnie Jameson did some clever playing, and brought up the score two more points by making a sensational goal.

Following is the line-up:
Kentucky Wesleyan
Hayden (6).....F.....Spencer (3)
Jameson (2).....F.....Smith
Cromwell (10).....C.....Elwanger (13)
Dean.....G.....Harris
Walker.....G.....Johnson

to enter the large Southern Oratorical Union composed of West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Johns Hopkins and Florida. The system of dual debates that we now have with the Law College of the University of Cincinnati, has also been enlarged to a triangle, with the Law College of Vanderbilt as the other member.

A debate on the City Manager Plan of municipal government was held. The affirmative was supported by A. Llanby, and H. W. Blakey; the negative by Raymond Rodgers, and Robt. J. Raible, substituting for S. H. Rice. The Judges, S. W. Smith, R. L. Porter and Leon Wise, gave the decision to the affirmative.

George Zerfoss was the outstanding player in the Cumberland College scrap. He threw five field goals for a total of ten points. Adkins, star player for Cumberland, told Coach Gill that he was coming to Kentucky next semester.

Vandy Comes Again.

Vanderbilt is making a sweeping tour thru Kentucky this week. They will play the Wildcats in the University gymnasium on Friday night. They have the Y. M. H. A. of Louisville scheduled for Thursday night, while they will play the star Centre five in Danville on Saturday night.

Tom Zerfoss will be seen in Kentucky again when the Vanderbilt-Kentucky game is called. He is eldest brother of the athletic Zerfoss trio, of which George, now in school, and Karl are the other members. Two years ago Tom was playing forward for Vanderbilt, while George was playing guard for Kentucky. Zerfoss met Zerfoss and fur flew. This combination will not be seen again Friday, but it will be quite a treat to see Tom Zerfoss, who starred for the Wildcats several years ago, on the local floor again.

EXTENSION DIVISION APPROVED BY SENATE

Correspondence Courses and Information and Lecture
Work Will Be Given by University.

BEGINS IN SEPTEMBER

The proposed Extension Division for the University of Kentucky has become a certainty. Meeting Monday, the Senate of the University adopted the report of the committee on extension in full.

The work will be done with the cooperation of the Department of the Interior, which is aiding state universities to establish educational systems for persons unable to attend established institutions, and give every person opportunities to obtain a higher education at the smallest practical expense.

The Extension Division will offer instruction and assistance in a wide field of educational activities thru bureaus of correspondence study, lectures and public discussion courses, and a general information and welfare bureau.

The Bureau of correspondence study, includes university studies and preparatory or secondary studies in practically every subject offered by educational institutions.

The Bureau of Debating and Public Discussion offers assistance and material to individuals or organizations, such as clubs, debating societies, business organizations interested in social, political or educational problems. The Bureau of Lectures offers lectures for single engagements or for series, speakers for teachers institutes or any occasion.

The Bureau of General Information and Welfare is intended as a clearing house for inquiries of all kinds, especially reports on special subjects and assistance in community dramatics, festivals, pageants, or any form of self-expression of community life.

The committee on extension is composed of Professors T. T. Jones, McHenry Rhoades, J. T. C. Noe, W. D. Funkhouser and Enoch Grehan, and James Speed, editor of the publications of the College of Agriculture. An outline of the report of the committee follows:

The University of Kentucky offers extension courses in two separate fields (1) The Extension Division of the College of Agriculture, supported by funds from the Federal Government under the Smith-Lever Act and appropriations from the State and University and (2) The Department of University Extension which offers thru its various bureaus, instruction and assistance to the citizens of the State in a wide field of educational activities.

The object of this department is to provide, at the smallest possible expense and in the most practical manner, the highest type of education possible to the citizens of the commonwealth who are unable to attend educational institutions. It is believed that the University of Kentucky should be in close relationship with the homes of the State to the end that any citizen might feel free to call upon the University for any assistance which the institution can render.

The Department of University operates thru four bureaus as follows:

1. Bureau of Correspondence Study.
2. Bureau of Lectures.
3. Bureau of Debating and Public Discussion.
4. Bureau of General Information and Welfare.

The Bureau of Correspondence Study offers special forms of home study courses for those who are unable to do residence work at a regular educational institution. These courses are conducted by correspondence and may be outlined under the following divisions:

1. Certain regular university studies which may be taken for credit toward a degree.

2. Preparatory and secondary school studies which may be offered for entrance to the university but are not open to students in attendance at regular educational institutions.

3. Study outlines for clubs or other organizations which desire to devote their attention to special fields.

The fee for one course in any subject is $15.00 and is not returnable if the student drops the subject after registration. Many courses will be offered for 1919-20:

The Bureau of Lectures offers:

1. Single lectures or series of such lectures.
2. Speakers for teachers' institutes.
3. Commencement addresses.
4. Special occasion lectures, such as speakers for memorial or dedication exercises, convocations, civic and women's clubs, etc.

The charges will in each case be arranged thru this bureau and will vary according to the lecturer and subject, the locality, the time required for the engagement and other conditions.

The Bureau of Debating and Public Discussion offers assistance to any individual or organization interested in important social, political or educational problems and fosters forum activities in study and discussion. Clubs, debating societies, school organizations, and similar organizations will be supplied with any material which the University is able to provide. The principal activities of the bureau are conducted under the following heads:

1. Subjects for debates with bibliographies.
2. Facts and arguments on special subjects.
3. Guides, reports and bulletins.

The Bureau of General Information and Welfare is intended as a clearing house thru which all reasonable inquiries of the people of the State on general matters may receive consideration. In general the activities of the bureau fall along the following lines:

1. Clearing house for inquiries.
2. Reports on special subjects—foods, sanitation, disease, etc.
3. Information on economic, political, social and ethical topics—social conditions, child labor, municipal problems, etc.
4. Assistance in Community Dramatics.

Detailed information regarding any of the above topics will be supplied on request. It may be stated in regard to the last item, that in order to enable the citizens of Kentucky to

VERBAL CRITICISM CLASS OPENS FEB. 24.

The Department of Journalism announces that a class in Verbal Criticism will be opened the beginning of the second semester for students not majority in journalism, who may desire to take the work—a custom this department has adhered to for the last three years.

It is desirable that students who apply for entrance shall have had at least two years' training in Latin or work equivalent to one year in either German or French. The class will not be open to freshmen. The hour assigned is the first on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

ENGLISH CLUB HEARS PROF. E. C. MABIE

Professor E. C. Mabie was the speaker at the meeting of the English Club held Monday night, February 10, at the home of Miss Margaret McClure, on North Upper street.

Professor Mabie, in his discussion presented to the club his ideas for the organization of a Drama League in the University. The membership in this club would be of two kinds, active and honorary, and would consist of faculty members, students, especially those who are members of the Strollers, Philosopherian or other organizations interested in the drama, and citizens of Lexington.

Among the business matters transacted at the meeting, a motion was made and carried to invite President and Mrs. F. L. McVey, Mrs. L. L. Dantzer, Mrs. C. F. Farquhar, and Mrs. E. C. Mabie to become honorary members of the club.

LEXINGTON OPERA HOUSE

Friday and Saturday Evenings, Saturday Matinee, "The Kiss Burglar." Crowded With Fascinating Music and Pretty Girls

Unlike any musical comedy produced in years, with all its mirth-provoking humor, tuneful melodies, scenic splendor and elegant costuming comes "The Kiss Burglar" direct from a six months' engagement at the George M. Cohan Theatre, New York City, and is scheduled to appear at the Lexington Opera House.

Aside from the magnificent stage pictures, resplendent raiment and a wide variety of ensembles, there are more than a dozen song hits, anyone of which would stand out singly as a classic. Dreamy waltzes, lively one-steps, whirling, syncopated modern tunes, blend in a melange of melody, the memory of which will linger for many a day. The book and lyrics are from the pen of Glen MacDonough, while the music was written by Raymond Hubbell. The company is an enormous one, including the famous Peacock Alley chorus, and the original Cohan Theatre production. Sale of seats for all performances for this engagement will go on sale Wednesday, February 12th at the box office, Ben All Theatre. Adv.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY STARTS YEARS' WORK

The Agricultural Society started its year's work with a membership of over fifty members. Things started full of "pep" and they decided to put out the publication of the society as in years gone by. The "Rural Kentuckian" will make its appearance on the campus by the first of March.

The program for February 24th will be an illustrated lecture on cement and its uses. This lecture by Prof. Mark Havenhill should interest everyone, as he will not restrict his talk to the farm use.

The outline for future programs has not been completed, but will be announced thru this column from time to time. It includes the plans for lectures on various subjects by members of the faculty and society on subjects of general interest to the student.

All students and members are invited to come to any of these meetings. They are held in the Agricultural building on Monday nights at 7 p. m. There will be no regular meeting during examination week.

MILITARY BALL FEBRUARY 21.

The annual military ball will be held Friday night, February 21, in the armory from 9 till 2.

Since military matters have recently been much in the public eye, the promoters of the ball are optimistic, believing that this year's dance will be the best in years. Williams' quintette will provide the music. The ball will be preceded by a grand march which will be led by Lieutenant Headley Shouse and Miss Mary Turner. Officers of the battalion will follow according to their rank.

Cleric hasn't discovered the girl yet, but he is already worrying about how he is going to propose to her when he does. War and matrimony, says he, require preparedness. He has written a dozen tentative sentences wherewith to introduce the subject. We cull a few of them as mere suggestions. He imagines himself starting the conversation with one of the following phrases:

- "You look very nice across a table."
- "I think cooking like yours would keep me in good humor forever."
- "Do you object to smoking about the house I don't smoke."
- "The high cost of living isn't so high, after all, is it?"
- "Would you mind beginning to look like me?"
- "I suppose like all girls, you intend to remain an old maid?"
- "Do your clothes hook up the back?"
- "Yes, I know I dance like a camel, but that is because life was a desert to me until this evening."—Chicago News.

WATCH THE FACULTY
PASS IN REVIEW

Among the new men who have come to our University and whom we are proud to name as members of our faculty, are two whom the Kernel wishes to introduce to the students and to welcome.

Dr. Charles Albert Shull, professor of Plant Physiology and Head of the Department of Botany, is one of them. Dr. Shull was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1913, with a B. S. degree and in 1915 with a Ph. D.

For six years he was professor of Biology and Geology at Transylvania College. For three years he was assistant professor of Botany at the University of Kansas, and professor of plant physiology and Genetics there for three years.

The Botanical Gazette has published a number of Dr. Shull's articles. Among them are: "The Oxygen Minimum and the Germination of Xanthium Seeds," "The Role of Oxygen in Germination," "The Supermeability of Seed Coats."

Dr. Shull is affiliated with a number of leading scientific and professional societies. The Botanical Society of America, The American Genetic Association, and the Botanists of the Central States, are a few of them. At the last meeting in Baltimore, of the Physiological Society of the Botanical Society of America, Dr. Shaw was elected chairman.

His name appears in American Men of Science and "Who's Who in America."

Dr. George Russell Bancroft is the other professor whom we wish to make known to the student body. He is a member of the faculty of the Department of Chemistry as professor of organic chemistry.

Dr. Bancroft received an A. B. degree from Acadia University, at Wolfville, Nova Scotia, in 1906, an A. B. from Yale College in 1914, and a Ph. D. from Yale Graduate School in 1917.

For five years he was principal of Freeport Schools, at Freeport, Nova Scotia, and was science master at Halifax Academy for six years. Last year he was professor of chemistry and physics at Transylvania College.

Dr. Bancroft has made a number of contributions to the American Journal of Science, The Preparation and Hydrolysis of Esters derived from the Alpha and Beta substituted Ethyl Alcohols, is one article published. He is a member of the American Chemical Society.

Miss Mary Turner entertained the guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma with lunch at the University cafeteria Thursday.

Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, Kappa Kappa Gamma had as their guests, the women of the University, at a reception and tea at the home of Elizabeth Smith on Aylesford Place. CHOOSE DEBATING SUBJECT

At a meeting of the Kentucky Inter-collegiate Oratorical Union held at the Phoenix Hotel last Monday afternoon, in which the University of Kentucky was represented by Professor Mabie, Ed S. Dabney, of the Union Literary Society, and E. S. Dummit, of the Patterson Literary Society, it was decided that the question for debate this year will be: Resolved—That the American system of trial by jury should be abolished; constitutionality conceded. Our affirmative team will debate Transylvania here, and the negative team will debate Centre at Danville.
