Sorority System Unfair?

FRESHMEN women at Leland Stanford University are revolting against the sorority system now existing on the campus, terming it "unfair" in that it permits only one-third of first year students to accept bids to the nine social sororities.

The frosh cause of the pledging system causes many bitter disappointments, produces a feeling of inferiority among those girls rejected, and breaks up desirable freshman friendships.

As a result of their asking freshmen women to refuse all sorority bids, the insurgents have reduced pledging at the University by twenty-two percent.

The rebellious women may be right; doubtless there is justification for their stand. However, on the other hand, an average sorority girl would, in all probability, retaliate with an argument similar to the one following.

A revolt of this type is childish, as well as foolish, as in the case on most campuses, sororities are limited in their pledging by the extent of their housing accommodations. Whenever so priorities exist, it is inevitable that a certain percentage of girls will experience disappointments and injured feelings. It is a recognized fact that sororities, or almost any other organized group, for that matter, can not accept everyone who seeks admittance to their ranks.

Either the girls who are promoting the revolt are not sorority material, or there is a need for another sorority on the campus. They would accomplish much more by restraining their petty feelings and uniting their efforts for the establishment of new organizations.

Honoraries On A New Basis

IN ORDER to provide a uniform method of bookkeeping and a business basis for campus organizations, the University senate has adopted a plan whereby all student organizations except social fraternities and sororities must deposit their funds with the University business agent.

Sound in purpose and logical in plan, the plan, which has been approved by the Men's Student Council and A. W. S., offers an effective solution of the financial tangles in which honoraries often find themselves. It will end the frequent inefficiency which has in the past characterized bookkeeping within these organizations.

Although it provides supervision of the recording and keeping of funds, the system does not in any way attempt to govern their expenditures within the separate student groups. Thus, it does not infringe on the independence of the honorary fraternities. Because it does not impair freedom, but tends to improve the financial outlook of organizations, the method is one which by all means should be put into immediate effect, with the full cooperation of the groups concerned.

ON THE LAM

By GEORGE LAMASON

THE LATEST slaughter of the King's English defies classification. You stress the wrong word and change the meaning of the sentence. Like: Where do you think it'll get to in the end? What have you got on tomorrow? How do you feel—useless? What do you do in this dump—truck? What do you hear from the mob? How are we going to get this drunk-home? Who do you think you are—anybody?

What is all this stuff?

One night at the Cottage a couple were in the heated argument. The girl claimed that boys chased girls more than girls chased boys. The boy said that she had it backward. So they planned an experiment to find out.

They moved to opposite ends of the bar with a half-dozen stools between them. If the first man that came in sat next to the girl, that should signify that the masculine sex was the aggressor. If, on the other hand, the first girl sat next to the man, that would prove the female of the species was the pursuer.

A man entered and sat next to the boy. Another entered and stood alone at the bar. In the next half-hour four more men seated themselves as far as possible from the girl.

Finally a woman entered, sized up the situation at the bar, walked over to a table, and sat by herself.

The boy and girl decided that it was a noble experiment, but people just don't act as they are supposed to.

The columnist business is flourishing. President Roosevelt is the latest addition to the ranks. It is interesting to speculate on the title of his forthcoming column. Maybe it will be called "Supreme Courting," "Brain Bustin'," "Alphabet Soup," "Plowing It Under," "I Rule as I Please," or "On the Trier Side."

Dr. Funkhouser defines a potato as something that stays a minute in your mouth, an hour in your stomach, a lifetime on your hips.

SEDESHE

COLORFUL, spectacular, pleasing in every respect, the Military Ball remains a pleasant memory three days after. It was a handsome affair. Mingled with evening clothes were uniforms, lending a sort of gallantry to the general tone, and the majority of people were in high good humor. The ceremonies themselves were satisfactorily swift and were performed with appropriate military precision. Search though one might, there is little fault to be found with the Caissons' cotillion.

Billed as the star of the occasion was Miss Paula Stone, a vivacious, slightly painted, young lady who appeared as delighted with the collegians as they were with her. She received autographs abundantly at the right of the bandstand. Perched on a platform, she wore tasseled pajamas, she signed literally hundreds of ticket books, many programs, shirt fronts, and cuffs. Despite the exuberant enthusiasm of her admirers, she appeared unflustered; she laughed and joked with charming simplicity.

Mr. James Groselove, Kingsport, Tenn., and Mr. Ben DeHaven, Lexington, Ky., and their level best, monopolize Miss Stone's attentions without much success. Mr. Groselove had "the very first dance" with her, a fact which he suggests with a flourish. Ben DeHaven, at right, James, there it is Ben DeHaven did a rumba with her. Let's see, did he or not? The young lady triumphantly across the floor to a secluded corner, where Ben DeHaven held her. The failure of their plan was evident from the fact that Groselove and DeHaven immediately danced with her.

During all this frolic, Miss Stone found time to answer one or two questions. When asked if she would like to be a signature-seeker, very young, and not yet a business lady, she seemed to be anxious to please, and please she did. The interrupted dialogue ran thus:

"How do you like it here, Miss Stone?"

"This is the first time I've ever done anything like this—I mean at college dance. I'm having a lot of fun!"

"Where are you going from here?"

"I'm going back to New York to do a musical piece for Universal."

"How would you like to come to college here?"

"I think it would be grand."

Miss Stone put a very special autograph on our cuff which, although the shirt has gone to the laundry, shall warm our heart for weeks to come.

Trained as the dancers from cardboard turtles, several machine guns added a faintly geyser touch to the air. The music consisted with a macabre symbolism. Their "vicious green snouts pointed forward" as they crawled like the young of any named at the young of '57 country. Incomprehensible though it be, those same dancers might some day soon stand before a microphone and sing. They are not silent. It is not a pretty possibility, but it is very real one.

Two major wars and a minor one even while Miss Stone sang her songs. Far removed from these realistic states, they should not be. Indeed, they should not, for they are wars on the campus, and as such should concern this nation in any way. Except in defense of the 48 states themselves, Americans should never live to die. Save in that continuity of the youth disease he killed. Let us hope that the sanity of the people will counterbalance the "Bolshevik" which is laid in the DuPonts might exert to throw them into a foreign war. For remember, college wars have been bought and sold before. It can happen again.

When the University of Kentucky radio staff orchestra made its trip to Owensboro to participate in the dedication ceremony we tagged along merely for the sake of having something to do and the good time which always accompanies such trips. After stopping in Louisville to present the "Four Mrs. and a Girl" program for the U. K. network from the key-station, WHAS, we headed for Owensboro, arriving about 6 p. m. The station was signed on the air by remote control from the ballroom of the Hotel Owensboro and featured the staff orchestra under the direction of E. C. Sulzer with WLW's sport commentator, Allen Franklin, acting as master of ceremonies. Included in the roster of well-known come acts present were "Betty and the Bunch," NRG artists; Angelo Rizzuto, golden-voiced Italian singer of WM, and the "Vagabonds" from WM, and the "Clay Sisters" representing WLAP. Our vote for the best act was given to the "Clay Sisters."

Gay-zing At Sports

By MARVIN GAY

KENTUCKY'S all-conquering Wildcats, unscathed in conference warfare, enter the Southeastern tournament as favorites to retain their net diadem.

No one, despite the Rupp's getting off on the right foot with a first round bye, expects the Cats to romp through with an easy triumph.

The lot of a favorite is always an unhappy one. No one realizes it better than does Adolph Rupp. Many times the canny Kansan has taken a "sure-thing" Kentucky five to the event only to be upset by some poorly regarded outsider.

Every team in the tournament will be gunning for Kentucky. Every team will be hoping and praying for an upset victory over the "Northwesterns." Yes, the deep South, we fear, regards the "Cats" as hated Yankee invaders.

When considering all these factors, this column fails to see why the Rupp should trek to E. S. U. expecting the crown to be handed them on a silver platter. Still, it is impossible to comprehend the workings of an athlete's mind. Ask any basketball, football, or what-have-you mentor, if you doubt this statement.

Tech Tough

In their first test, Kentucky must scrap with the victor of the Tulane-Georgia encounter. From this corner it appears that the "Cats," if they win their initial test, will face the five they eliminated last season—Tech's Yellow outfit remembers the licking handed them. This defeat was even more ominous as the Georgians had passed through a rocky conference card unmarred.

Cats Pulling For Tulane

Undoubtedly, the "Cats" will be pulling for Tulane's Green Wave to sweep to a win over the Bulldogs.

Why?

While the "Cats" were in New Orleans, after having disposed of Pittsburgh, they had a chance to practice session with the Wave. It

HIGH SCHOOL NET TOURNAMENT OPENS THURSDAY

Featuring the defending state champion, Midway, the 43rd annual district basketball tournament will be held in Alumni gym Thursday through Saturday.

Ten teams, Wilmore, Athens, St. Catherine, Nicholasville, Midway, Bryan Station, Versailles, University high, Henry Clay and Piccadome, will be battling to stay in the running for the state crown.

Thursday night's schedule calls for three contests: Versailles vs. University high (7 o'clock), Henry Clay vs. Piccadome (8 o'clock), and Wilmore vs. Athens (9 o'clock).

The tournament, which is being directed by J. S. Mitchell, University training school, marks the eighth consecutive time the Purples have played host. Officials for the four seasons are Bernie Shively, University athletic director, Frankie DeMosey, former Wildcat basketball star.

Bryan Station is the defending district title holder, as it managed to hand Midway's Bluejays their only defeat of last season.

Two teams, University high and Midway, rank as pre-tournament favorites.

Coach Kemper's Purples, having their best season in several years, are a tough outfit to defeat. In outpointing several of the top-notch Central Kentucky conference fires.

Midway, on the other hand, has supporters who believe the Bluejays will win in a walk. This despite the fact that Coach Burns has the best team in the district. Two Midway coverers, Portwood and Murphy, performed on last season's championship team. Murphy, one of the highest scoring players in the history of the state, has averaged 29 points a game.

In their last few games, Henry Clay's Blue Devils have shown remarkable improvement. Coach Huber always can be depended on to place a smooth-working quintet on the floor at tournament time.

Bryan Station, despite a poor season, cannot be counted out of the running. Piccadome, victor over University high early in the season, also must be considered a threat.

SHIVELY SAYS UK WILL REVIVE BASEBALL

By AL WHALEN

Declaring that intercollegiate baseball is necessary in a well-rounded college sports program, Athletic Director Bernie Shively in a short interview yesterday said that the national pastime would be revived as a major University sport.

Shively declared that the first thing to be considered was whether the money would be obtainable from the athletic budget to equip and support a baseball team and to build a diamond.

One of the main incentives for adding baseball as an intercollegiate sport is the abundance of seasoned material that is available, Shively added.

The new director pointed out that the team may have trouble arranging a satisfactory schedule for this spring because of the nearness of the opening of the season. The erection of a diamond may cause added delay, he said.

Nothing definite has been done toward arranging a schedule but Shively said that as soon as it is ascertained that baseball will fit into the athletic budget immediate action will be taken.

"By the spring of 1939," Shively declared, "the baseball team should be well organized. And we will have a good diamond to play on."

CATS TAKE VOLTS 29-26 TO END CONFERENCE PLAY WITHOUT LOSS

Having their final game of the regular season, the Wildcat basketball team finished with a perfect record in the Southeastern conference record, by outlasting the Tennessee Volunteers 29 to 26.

The winning of this season's championship makes a total of six conference championships for Kentucky quints within the past eight years.

The "Cats" were leading 18 to 13 at halftime but ran into difficulties in the closing minutes of the game as the Vols came back with a brilliant offensive drive to nearly overtake the leaders.

Coach Gullion of Tennessee held secret practice sessions in preparation for the Kentucky tilt and completely reorganized his team in an effort to avenge the 32 to 37 defeat experienced earlier in the season.

The Ruppmen however, after falling behind three to nothing in the first few minutes of play, overtook the Vols and held a lead throughout the remainder of the game. Kentucky was not up to its usual efficient standard of play and missed many scoring opportunities and frequently lost the ball on wild passes.

Roop Hagan, playing his last collegiate game of the regular season, climaxed his professional basketball career by leading the scoring with five field goals and four free throws, 14 points.

Bernie Opper, although handicapped by having three fouls called on him in the first few minutes of play, turned in a brilliant game with his defensive ball hawking and skilful offensive passing.

McMILLIN

(Continued from Page One) McMillin, now president of the national football coaches' association and a member of its rules committee, was an All-American back with the Centre, "wonder team" of the early twenties. He is one of the country's outstanding football technicians and has been head football coach at Indiana University since 1924.

FROSH WIN, LOSE IN 2 GAME SERIES

The University freshmen, after losing an overtime game Thursday, came back to avenge themselves, by defeating the Cumberland College basketball team 47 to 37, Friday night, and annexed the three game series between the two schools.

The Kentucky lads, after humbling the Cumberland quintet on the University floor in an overtime game two weeks ago, were overtaken by their opponents in another overtime tilt at the Cumberland gym, Thursday night.

Orme starred for Kentucky with a total of 20 points and tied with Stiner of Cumberland for high scoring honors. The winners led 28 to 10 at halftime. The losers, however, came back and outscored the Klitters 27 to 19 in the second half but were unable to overcome the big lead hung up by Kentucky in the initial frame.
