Missing Coed Returns Home

No Comment Made On Re-Admission

"No comment," was the verdict of Dean of Women Sarah B. Holmes' office at press time yesterday when she attempted to identify a Rachel Johnson, University freshman who disappeared from the campus last week to have been re-admitted to UK.

When called by a reporter, Dean Holmes said she could not recall the name of the woman who had returned to campus after a two-hour disappearance. She said she had given no information as to the case which had been reported to her several days ago.

Miss Johnson, who disappeared from Patterson hall Sunday night, is believed to have returned to Lexington late Tuesday night. The 17-year-old girl arrived in a condition described by her mother, Mrs. Samuel Johnson, as "near collapse," according to reports in Lexington.

She was brought home by Ray Lee, 21, Vanceburg, with whom she is believed to have been living.

Her parents said that they intended to have their daughter marry to Lee, kept a secret since October 28, when she was reported missing, and announced as soon as possible.

Frank P. Boone, county clerk of Fleming county, said that the coed came to his home after office hours on October 28 and that she had been in his office and issued them a marriage license. Lee gave his age as 25 and Miss Johnson gave her age as 21, Boone said.

The county clerk then took the couple to the home of the Rev. T. H. Alderson, Christian minister in Flemingsburg, and they were married at 11 p. m., Boone said.

As a part of its contribution to the program which Lee today identified as Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Boone, brother-in-law and sister from Cincinnati.

Boone said that Lee indicated on the 28th that he had been married and divorced.

Lexington police said that Rachel Johnson was in the city at Lexington (Continued on Page Four)

Student Researcher Unearths Campus Res, Regulations

Three weeks from today the University will observe its Founders Day with a convocation in Memorial Hall at which Dr. John Trinkle, president of the University of Florida, will be the speaker.

As a part of its contribution to the observation of Founders Day, The Kentucky Kernal will present a number of features portraying various phases of the life and growth of the University.

Reporter Sam Brien, in his investigations, has come across some of the early regulations for students. Here are some of those rules of particular interest to today's students.

Students were required to work, they were arranged into two classes, they were to wear hats and other uncompensated, according to a report of Regent J. B. Bowman in the Memorial Hall report of December 28, 1868. Those who elected to receive pay were required to work not less than one hour a day for six days a week for each year of their study. Their ten hours a week. This labor was performed either on the farm or in the city.

In the uncompensated division all other students were compelled to work in the University grounds and grounds. Each student was to be free to select whichever division he preferred. "In this respect the system was entirely voluntary," the report stated, "and precludes all cases of discrimination."

The purpose of this compulsory labor system was two-fold: First, it afforded students an opportunity to finance their education, in whole or in part; and secondly, it sought to dignify labor in the minds of the students. Even if a student did have the means to defray his expenses, Regent Bowman believed that he should work "in order that he may learn to respect and honor the divine law of Labor."

As to what the students themselves thought of the system, the report admitted that "there has been some dissatisfaction among the students," adding that "there will always be some young men who do not love work, however light or pleasant you may make it."

It was claimed in the report that the system was not profitable both to the students and the college; but this was not the opinion of President Patterson, who reported to the Board of Visitors in 1879.

"The experience of this college," he wrote, "is that of all Agricultural Colleges of the University, that compensated labor is profitable only to the student. The student who works for his compensation are never used for farm labor; many of them never had a plough or a hoe in their hands. In other phases of college life, likewise, the student who works for his compensation are never used for manual labor. The student who works for his compensation are never used for manual labor. The student who works for his compensation are never used for manual labor."

Engineering Experiment Station Bulletin Issued

Announcement of the UK Engineering Experiment Station Bulletin Number 1 was made this week by Dean D. V. Terrell of the College of Engineering.

E. Everett Eley, editor of the bulletin, enlarged on the purpose and background of the publication. He was not implemented until July 1, 1946, when an act of the Board of Trustees established the central directing authority. Previous to this date each department had initiated and carried out research alone. Under the new plan the research and development efforts of the individual departments will be a part of a co-ordinated program directed by a committee made up of the heads of the departments of electrical, civil, mechanical, and mining and metallurgy of the Aeronautical Research Laboratory, and the director of the Kentucky State College of Agriculture.

Mr. Eley said that the first bulletin will be sent to all of the industries of Kentucky who may have research or development problems. This issue, a comprehensive examination of the complete facilities at hand, is designed to show the industrial usefulness of Kentucky what UK is set up to do, and the possibilities of usefulness to each. Today the industries of the nation have begun what promises to be a continuous program of technological research. Mr. Eley said UK's Engineering Experiment Station will be a link in this national effort, he added. The engineering station bulletin in the future will be the official report of the results of the projects under study, with comment on how each may benefit Kentucky as a whole. Eley said that publication is planned every three months.

In a recent report to the Engineering Experiment Station Record, a nationwide magazine reviewing the research projects of the country, edited by Dean J. H. Lampe of North Carolina State College in Raleigh, UK reported twenty-one active projects in progress.

Student Programs On Local Station

World Student Service Fund Drive Begins

The World Student Service Fund drive on the campus will start March 2 after a two weeks publicity drive which will be launched February 16. Davis Lowery, chairman of the all-campus committee for WSSF has announced. The purpose of the drive is to give students an opportunity to invest in rebuilding education facilities in the devastated areas overseas, she stated. Funds are also used to give aid to the displaced students and those who are in need of medical help.

At the meeting of the all-campus committee Charles Boggs announced that all outlets to inform the students about the drive will be used. Several leading campus organizations are giving active support to the drive and more are expected to enlist their aid soon, it was reported.

The next meeting of the committee will be February 13 at 7 p.m. in the Union building.

The results of the relief and rehabilitation projects launched in the first year of liberation, 1945-46, are being felt around the world, however its funds are not nearly sufficient to do the needed amount of reconstruction, the committee was told.

WSSF Report

A recent WSSF report included the following information about service done in various countries:

It has taken time, because of war's dislocation, ruptured means of communication and transportation, and the general dearth of supplies in Europe, to actively establishing all the services essential to meet the needs of students in Europe. In the face of great obstacles, however, many projects have been launched in the first short year of liberation. Illustrative of these are the following:

DENMARK—Danish students entertained for rest and recuperation

33 Dutch and 6 Czechoslovak students for 3 months to March 31st.

Food parcels sent to Belgian and Finnish students, April 1 to June 30, entertaining 57 students of 6 nationalities at International People's College at Helsinki. Hospitalization of Dutch tubercular students.

Inviting fifty Czechoslovak agricultural students for 1 1/2 years and 50 Czechoslovak and 10 Yugoslav medical students in chemistry, physics, and anatomy.

Yon Too Can Live On $65. A Month - It Says Here

Reprinted from the Collegian, S. S. Dakota State College.

The next time you see a distressed, poverty-stricken student wearing a why-did-I-have-to-happen-to-me expression on his face because he just spent his 65th dollar two weeks in his face and say, "You, too, can live before pay day, point your finger in on $65 a month and have money left over."

Then proceed to tell him how George Bunney, a freshman engineer from Sioux City, Iowa, budgets his $65 a month to include dates, meals, cleaning, cigarettes, postage, insurance and everything else that a student buys.

He not only manages to cover all of his expenses, BUT he comes out with extra dollars in the air besides.

It all started when George, ably assisted by Bernice "Bunny" Nelson, home ec from Pipeston, Minn., set out to disprove the common theory that a man cannot lead a normal college existence on $65 a month without an additional income. He gave Bunny the $65 check and from then on he was as her merry. Since they are engaged, George doesn't seem to mind a bit.

The first thing to be eliminated was excessive eating. In order to make one meal ticket last six days, George eats a 20c breakfast, a 27c lunch which consists of a sandwich and milk, and a hearty 50c dinner in the evening.

Lunches between meals are also taboo because he must make his daily dollar for food stretch from morning until night. Money spent for recreation was slashed considerably. They are limited to two shows a week and an occasional dance, but may go to as many basketball games as they like, "because they're free," said Bunny.

"No reflection on our school spirit, though," George said reassuringly. Bunny and George found that bus-fare was taxing his billfold too heavily so from then on it was "we'll walk." George also cuts down his expenses by lowering Sunday church contribution to 25c and his smoking to less than one package of cigars a day.

After all the bills are paid, George finds he saves as much as $4 to $5 a month which is immediately deposited in the piggy bank. This money provides for the project of the month which is currently a new formal for Bunny, "and money for the tailor to take in my clothes," George adds as an afterthought.

They find that keeping such budget is fun and they plan to continue it indefinitely. Both agreed that it hasn't affected their dispositions but has succeeded in decreasing George's usual monthly output of $75 to $65.

When asked to have a cup of coffee, they smiled and shook their heads no. "We can't afford it," they said.

verly about 6 p.m. Tuesday. The couple was in Richmond at that time, returning from an auto trip to North Carolina, officers reported.

Miss Johnson returned to Vanceburg when they learned of the concern caused by her disappearance from the University, the police stated.

Mrs. Johnson stated that Rachel did not call her, but that when she appeared at the house in Vanceburg she said, "I'm not harmed, I'm all right."

Cats Rout Xavier, Spartans; Win Streak Is Eight Games

by Tom Diskin

Brilliant victories over Xavier and Michigan State have added to the Wildcats' latest winning streak, which has now reached eight straight games and an over-all record of 19 wins and one loss.

With the regular season now two-thirds over, the Wildcats have scored exactly 1400 points, for an average of 70 tallies per contest. Opponents have a total of 729 markers, which is about 37 points per game. Last year the champion Kentucky basketballers scored 1321 tallies for the 38 games played, for a 62 point average per game; opponents of the Cats in the 1946-47 season hit for 1193 markers and a 40 point average per game.

Caliber, Depth Shown
The outstanding caliber and depth in the recent two games against Xavier of Cincinnati and the Spartans from East Lansing, Mich. Both of these teams were given their worst beating of the 1946-47 season by the smooth-playing Blue Grass quintet.

For the Cats, Beard, the cat-like sophomore, is the leading scorer with 227 points and a 11.5 points per game average; Alex Groma, sophomore center, follows with 216 markers and a 10.8 average. Next in scoring are: Rollins (147), Tingle (125), Line (121), and Holland (115).

Kentucky 71, Xavier 34
The little-known Xavier team from Cincinnati, Ohio, scored first on a field goal by Bob McQuade, but after two minutes, the Kentucky Wildcats gradually warmed up and took over completely. Jack Tingle hit for two field goals, and that started the fireworks. The little Xavier team fought hard and surprised many by the smooth handling of the ball. After 12 minutes of playing time had elapsed, the score stood at 23 to 10. Kentucky, from there, it went to 37-16 and 38-18 as the half ended. At the half-way mark, Groma had hit for six goals in 11 attempts for 12 points. Beard had three goals. Rollins and Holland each two.

Leading scorers in the game were Groma (20), Line (11), Jordan (8), Tingle (6) and Davis (6). The loss for Xavier was its 11th of the season against five wins. For Kentucky, the team won No. 18.

Kentucky 86, Michigan State 26
The Wildcats played one of their best games of the season in tonight's Nichols, president of the federation, Lexington; 11:30 a. m., recognition of new counties and presentation of gavels and pins; 11:45 a. m., "High Adventure," Mrs. Myrtle Labadie, chairman CLKW, Detroit; Michigan; 12:30 p. m., adjournment. The exhibits of farm and home equipment at the Agricultural Engineering building will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

It is hard to pick out the outstanding star in this game, for all sixteen Wildcats capers played brilliantly. High point-makers were: Brannum (14), Beard (12), Jones and Groma (11), Line (8), and Muff Davis (6). Brannum hit his peak, sinking 7 field goals in the second half. Jones played one of his best games this season, scoring five baskets and one free throw in the early part of the contest. Davis, Barnstable and Jordan continued to show improvement, while the starting five of Groma, Holland, Tingle, Rollins and Beard never looked better. The sixteen cage Cats showed the Michiganders how the court game should be played, in making very few mistakes during the 40 minute slaughter.

MUSING with Melton

By Baxter Melton, Kernel Sports Editor

The beauties of Kentucky's Bluegrass region and other sections are sometimes overshadowed by tales of "Tucky's hill country and its legendary as well as true foudin' and moonshining. Though the subject be sports and the principal a college, something of a parallel may be drawn in Notre Dame and its athletic program.

Football teams from the South Bend school have dominated the nation's pigskin picture for so many years the Irish basketball squads have remained in the background, though outstanding in their own right. Since 1898 Notre Dame quintets have won 545 games while losing 220, a winning percentage of .712. In that period the Irish have tallied 26,981 points against 21,332 for the opposition.

Now in its forty-second year the school has produced several All-Americans on the court as well as on the gridiron. To mention only a few of the net greats, John Nyikos, Ed Krause, Johnny Moir, Paul Nowak, the late Noble Klier, and Leo Klier have realized greatest honor among collegiate players. Probably better known to campus fans are Klier, later grid coach at Purdue, and Klier, now starting in professional court play. Krause coaches the current edition of Irish hoopers.

Other Names Several other names which still rank high in national sport circles have been associated with Notre Dame netball. Walter Hales, mentor from 1920 until 1923, owns the Chicago Bears, pro football champions. Two captains under his tenure, Harry Mehre and Frank McDermott, later carved niches in the better brackets of sports competition. Mehre tutored Mississippi football elites until recently. McDermott is still rated as one of the top "play" for "pay" guys in basketball.

"Grand old guy" of Notre Dame basketball is George Keogan, who reached Irish ascendancy in 1911 until his death in 1943. With the exception of his first and third years the Irish always enjoyed good seasons, won many more than they lost. In 1925-26 and 1926-27 Keogan's quintets won 18 out of 20 tries. His 1935-36 progress lost only twice in 24 attempts. Two other instances of similar results for two straight years are 1927-28 and 1927-28, when Notre Dame took twenty decisions while dropping only three. In 1938-39 and 1939-40 when they topped 15 times, were beaten six. Highest scoring of all his teams was the last one, in 1942-43, which outpointed 20 opponents, 1071-887, defeating 15 of these. This squad, by the way, lost to Kentucky, 60-58, in a double overtime, and what Coach Adolph Rupp called the greatest thrill of his coaching career up to that time. We will never forget the sad, disappointed look which Mr. Keogan wore right after that game.

No Losing Season Since '25 Not since that 1925 schedule have the Irish known a losing team in the sense of overall record. Only eight times in its 41-year history of court competition have Notre Dame followers supported a team which lost more games than it won. The first representative in 1898 won only one of three outings but the really lean years were from 1917 until 1923. Through the now-lost record lists Notre Dame in the red, the totals in points indicate very close games. For instance, that 19-12 summary in 1923 when the Irish scored 20 to the opposition's 59, or better still, 1925, when Keogan's side copied 10 and dropped 11, though they topped their foes, 333-494, in tally totals.

The moniker tacked on to the Notre Dame football team, "Fighting Irish" is equally applicable to the institution's basketball boys, for they never give up, literally "keep plugging." Traits like this have made the Notre Dame-Kentucky hardwood rivalry the annual attraction it is since Baron Rupp's boys in Blue are likewise noted for the "college try."

In any event Irish basketball analogs, like those of its better-known football archives, need of an excuse. They speak for themselves.

SX-SN Cage Scrap Heads I-M Card; Tourney Time Near

By O. C. Halvord

Basketball round-robin play has just one week left, and before the elimination tournament gets under way Tuesday, February 11, there are some rough and tough contests due to pass over the court.

Highlighting the games of the coming week is the Sigma Nu-Sigma Chi scrap. The two teams will be battling for top honors in the second division. Game time is 7 o'clock, February 4, in the Men's Gym.

Other tilts that show signs of promise are: Feb. 3, Men's Gym, 8 p. m.—Letchford vs. Collins N. Kyans, who are leading Division six in the Independent League.

Feb. 5, U-High gym, 7 p. m.—Eight Balls vs. Turbines.

Feb. 6, Men's gym, 9 p. m.—Cuckolds vs. Briar Jumpers, in a contest that may determine the winner and runner up of Division four.

The SAE's are leading Division one in the first league, while the Kentucky agies are well on top of the pack in Division three. The fifth division seems to be dominated by Dorm I, a pre-tourney favorite.

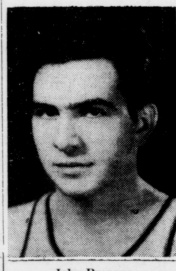

Ping Pong registration closed this week with 32 participants listed in the singles, and 23 teams signed for the doubles. Play begins February 3, in the basement of the Men's gym. Tables and all equipment will be furnished. Coach McCubbins asks that players consult the brackets on the Intramural bulletin board, and make arrangements with opponents about playing matches.

Deadline date on registration for badminton is February 11, and for bowling is February 18. There will be a 25 cent registration fee charged for badminton, and a $2.00 fee per team in the bowling. There can be only one team from each fraternity in the bowling with seven men making up a team.

Games to date. Nine of these have been over SEC foes, but not by the top-heavy margins Kentucky achieved over the same teams. Bama's last attempt was a 41-39 decision over Tulane, which Kentucky routed 64-35, in its second start of the season. The Crimson bested Georgia Tech, 62-28 while the Wildcats welcomed the Engineers 70-47. Vandy fell, 49-36, and 38-23 to the Tide but Rupp's Raiders rumped over the Commodores, 82-30. On the basis of these, Kentucky should not experience too much trouble with the "Bama's, but with the league lead at stake, anything could happen.

Alabama Undefeated The Tidemen, paced by big Jim Homer, are undefeated, have won 12

Inter-Sorority Meet Shows Sloppy Play

The first round of the inter-sorority basketball tournament has been completed with the Kappas, KDS, Thetas and Tri-Delta paying the way over the Alpha Gams, ADP's, Zetas, Alpha Z's and Chi O's. The sloppily played games marked the first week's play. The KDP's, pre-tourney favorites, were held to a 13-15 tie by a scrappy Kappa five led by Pat Storey and "Woo" McCauley. The Thetas fought the Tri-Delta to a 14-14 deadlock in their churlish-raiser. Previously the KDS' had little trouble in dealing with the Alpha Gams, 43-16, and ADP's, 33-22.
