

Lafferty Hall Dedicated As Law Students Resume Studies In New Building

Completely Modern Edifice Is Named In Honor Of Law School Founder... EQUIPMENT MOVED DURING HOLIDAYS... Building Is Latest Addition In Uky Construction Program

By ANDREW ECKDAHL... Nestling northwest of the library the new law building, latest completed structure in the University's billion dollar construction program, began housing the College of Law when classes were resumed Monday.

Costing approximately $100,000, the building has been named Lafferty hall in honor of the late W. T. Lafferty, founder and first dean of the University's law college.

The library and other equipment were moved from the old law building to Lafferty hall during the Christmas holidays. At that time, the building was ready for occupancy Monday.

As an example of modern architecture, the law building is "L" shaped and is made up of one story and a basement.

The main or south doorway of the building leads into a high foyer finished in red brick that gives it a decidedly masculine appearance.

To the north along the first story of the building is a hallway finished in pleated brick. Offices of dean and faculty of the college open into the east side of this hallway.

The offices are finished in white and are well lighted. Green venetian blinds are used to give them an attractive appearance.

Two of the three classrooms of the building open to the west side of the hallway. The third year classroom is at the northwest end of the building. Next to it is the third year classroom.

The library, probably the most impressive room in the building, opens into the west side of the hallway. With glass brick along parts of the south and west sides, and a sunlit interior, the library presents a well but lightly lighted appearance.

Large rows of law books line the walls on three sides of the room giving the library a staid appearance of quiet dignity.

Housing at U. of K.

It is indeed unfortunate that at a University boasting a registration of more than 3,500 students, it is necessary for more than 1,000 of these undergraduates to reside off the campus of the school. It is even more deplorable when one attempts to compare the local condition with that of other educational institutions in this state.

Not of slight importance, and of considerable interest prove figures showing male and female housing conditions of this University. Women's dormitories, Patterson and Boyd, this combined, can accommodate a maximum of but 220 women.

In the men's dormitories conditions were similar in September. The University's three male dorms house a total of 260 men. According to Dean of Men T. T. Jones about 60 men were on the waiting list as registration began, and possibly 100 more were turned away.

Boarding House Managers Asked To Meet Tuesday

An Informal Discussion Will Be Held At 3 P. M. In Memorial Hall

In an effort to cooperate with the managers of rooming houses in Lexington who have university students in their care, the dean of men and the dean of women at the University are inviting the managers of these rooming houses to meet with them at 3 p. m. Tuesday, January 11, in Memorial Hall.

There are approximately 1,000 students living in private rooming houses in the city and the University wishes to bring the landladies of these students in closer contact with the University authorities.

From time to time problems arise concerning the housing problems of students, and the dean of men and dean of women feel that with the University and the landladies who are operating many of these problems can be ironed out.

Every student living in a private rooming house is requested to notify his landlady of this meeting and to give her an invitation to attend. Those not receiving personal notices are urged to come of their own volition. The meetings will be informal and the discussion will be open to all.

Former Student Killed In Wreck

Marion Even Atkinson, 24, a resident of Charleston, W. Va., and former student at this University, was fatally injured December 27, 1937, when his automobile was driven plunged from the Mt. Sterling pike and overturned five miles east of the city.

Atkinson, who had been visiting his mother in Lexington for the Christmas holidays, died at the Clark county hospital in Winchester, Va., where he was a patient. Both of his legs were broken and his skull was fractured.

Carl Earle, 24, who was riding with Atkinson, received multiple cuts and bruises. At the time of the accident, Atkinson was on his way back to Charleston, where he was employed by the Commercial Acceptance Corporation. While attending the University, he was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

HOLMES ATTENDS MEETING

Prof. H. B. Holmes, of the romance languages department, attended the Modern Language Association meeting held in Chicago December 28, 29, and 30. Dr. H. L. Ryland, head of the department, was in Boston and New York over the holidays.

UK "Y" Delegation Attends National Meeting In Ohio

Thirteen students and four faculty members, the largest delegation from any school in the South, returned to the University, Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. at the national assembly of student Christian associations held at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, December 27 to January 1.

Tranzy Tackle Sweeney Elbow Honored Similarly For Maroon Playing

Sherman Hinkeblen, Wildcat football center, was awarded the Lexington Lions' club Most Valuable Player trophy last night by Attorney General Parks at a banquet dedicated to recognizing the outstanding athletes at Kentucky and Transylvania college.

This plaque is the first of an annual series to be presented by the Lions, who intend to foster the display of fine character qualities on the gridirons at Kentucky and Tranzy.

Introduced as a star football player, wrestling champ, heavy weight boxer, captain and coach of the varsity basketball team, Hinkeblen became the first winner of the handsome trophy.

Inscribed on the shield are the four requirements an athlete must conform with to win the prize. The trophy includes scholarship, football ability, training and spirit, and leadership.

Sweeney, Elliott, Transylvania tackle, received a similar award for his performance under the Maroon banner.

Summer Session Dates Announced

University Elementary And High Schools Will Be Open

That the University summer session will open June 13 has been announced by Dr. Jesse E. Adams, director during the summer. The first term will begin July 16 and the second term will begin July 28 and close August 20.

During the first term both the University and the high school will be open for teachers desiring the modern, directed, training method. The opening of the elementary school will be announced by the University.

Information concerning courses and classes may be obtained by addressing the director of the summer session, the dean of men or the dean of women should be consulted as to living accommodations.

Funeral Services Held For Watkins

Funeral services for Isaac G. Watkins, 47, assistant in the University electrical laboratories for 27 years and known to hundreds of engineering students as "Ike," were held December 22 at the C. A. Baker funeral home, 1214 West Lexington, by the Rev. E. H. Riddell, pastor of the Maxwell Street Christian church. Burial was in Hillcrest cemetery.

In congratulating Judge Stoll on his service Dr. Frank L. McVey said: "Judge Stoll has served the University effectively and sympathetically. On many occasions he has given his services as a lawyer without cost. Judge Stoll has been a member of the board longer than any other person, which is a tribute in itself as well as a record."

As a youthful Lexington resident, Judge Stoll was appointed to the University's administrative board in 1888 by Gov. W. O. Bradley. During his years as a trustee Judge Stoll has served with many of the most prominent citizens of the state, including Judges James Marcum, George Buell, and others.

LOCALS PULLED UPSET BY BURYING PANTHERS

Holly Days Bring Triumphs Over Cincinnati And Centenary

By MARYBY GAY... A contented Wildcat squad, still basking in the brilliant glow of its Sugar Bowl triumph, journeys to East Lansing to encounter another highly-reputed five-Michigan State Spartans. And if the Rupp men hope to add further laurels to their crown, they must perform on the same high plane which they established at New Orleans.

Michigan State's aggregation, always a tough foe, appears to have climbed to new heights. The Spartans have been vanquished. But by whom? The Panthers ruled 23 to 14. The Rupp men, favored with Minnesota to cop Big 10 honors, eased out a 43 to 10 victory. Which fact points to a titanic struggle Saturday night.

Real? There is no rest for Kentucky's boys. They hop over to Detroit to battle with the University of Detroit's famous quintet Monday evening.

Cats Shook Pitt... Coach Rupp's magic touch again showed itself against Pittsburgh, journeyed from the Bluegrass region to take its place in the national basketball spotlight during the Yuletide holiday.

Kentucky ascended the nation by its manner in which it routed Pitt's supposedly invincible five, 28-28. The Panthers ruled 23 to 14. The Rupp men, favored with Minnesota to cop Big 10 honors, eased out a 43 to 10 victory. Which fact points to a titanic struggle Saturday night.

Pather Thirst Stopped... The veteran Panthers were again routed by the Cats. The Panthers, second half to cut the Rupp lead to 31 to 29. Scanning that there was danger of victory being handed from their grasp, the Cats proceeded to play their finest ball of the season. They held Pitt in check, while racking up 9 points.

MURRAY NAMED TO COUNCIL POST

President McVey Designates Law Professor To Occupy Vancney Left On Athletic Council

Dr. Frank Murray, professor in the College of Law, was recently appointed a member of the University Athletic Council by Pres. Frank L. McVey to succeed the late Prof. Enoch Grehan, head of the department of journalism.

Professor Grehan had been a member of the council for 20 years, serving as its chairman in 1922 when Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the Graduate School, was on a year's leave of absence.

In 1922, with Professor Grehan representing the university at the annual Southern Conference meeting, Kentucky and 12 other members of that conference withdrew from the organization and formed the Southern Athletic Council.

Dr. Murray, first member of the Council of Law faculty to serve on the athletic council, joined the university faculty in 1920, coming here from Missouri. Mr. Murray is a graduate of the University of Montana and holds an S. J. D. degree from Harvard.

Other faculty members of the council in addition to Pres. McVey are Prof. E. A. Bureau, Prof. M. E. Ligon, and Dr. Paul P. Boyd. All members are Louis Hillenmeyer, Wallace Muir and William "Deer" Pettus. Student members are David Pettus, Stanford, and Walter Fippen, Somerset.

DR. PALMER ATTENDS NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Dr. Edgar Z. Palmer, professor of economics in the College of Commerce, attended the American Economic and American Statistics Association Conference in Atlantic City from December 22 to 30.

Also present at the conference was Dr. C. C. Ross, head of the educational psychology department and Prof. L. E. Meace, assistant in the bureau of school service in charge of arrangements.

NEW TRUSTEE APPOINTED... Marshall Barnes, of Beaver Dam, was recently appointed a member of the University Board of Trustees by Governor Knott. He succeeds Dr. George Wilson of Lexington.

College Night Is Resumed With Double Feature Bill... With "West of Shanghai" starring Tommie Hunter and "Love O' My Life" starring Kieffer Arliger and John Payne making up a double feature bill at the Capitol Theatre, college night will be resumed at 8 o'clock tonight at the Strand Theatre.

Also included on tonight's program will be number four of the serial "American Heroism," a silent film melodrama, news reels, cartoons, and hand songs.

The coupon, which will appear elsewhere in today's Kernel, enables all students to gain admission to College Night for the matinee performance of 16 cents.

COMPLETE CAMPUS COVERAGE

Housing at U. of K.

STUDYING these figures we have a simple picture of the dormitory situation. A total of 480 students may be accommodated and just about as many annually must be denied this housing under orderly administration control.

These remaining students, a great number of whom would undoubtedly welcome shelter provided by the University, must reside in private rooming houses located in various parts of the town.

With the intention of effecting this closer alliance between the University, students, and managers or rooming houses, and through the initiative of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women, a meeting of these managers has been called for Tuesday afternoon, January 11, at Memorial Hall.

It is gratifying to note that a move of a sociological nature is being made on this campus to unite more closely the student body. At the same time, it must be remembered that much of a student's education consists in learning how to manage himself, and an organization of rooming house managers can prove beneficial if this body acts in a specifically advisory capacity.

For many years it has been the policy of THE KERNEL to recognize maturity in students. It comprehends that on a number of occasions in the past this trust has not always been shared by the administration. And possibly, rightly so—for in the past certain events have hinted at a lack of this maturity.

An organization of amiable advisors should be appreciated, but a group of sentinels reporting the slightest irregularity on the part of their charges will create only antipathy toward this group and a certain disrespect for the officials sponsoring the organization.

The KERNEL sincerely hopes that this group will serve in a friendly, helpful capacity and that it will be successful in bringing about the necessary closer alliance of off-campus lodgers and other students of the University. It will be within the power of this body to be of material assistance. THE KERNEL trusts that its hope is not unfounded.

Scrap Irony

By HARRY WILLIAMS

THERE is nothing really important about an electric razor. That is to say, nothing that would impress the casual observer. But when a fellow has been selling electric razors for months and has been going with one particular girl for years and this girl knows that the boy is selling electric razors, that he is making his living by selling electric razors, and that he thinks electric razors are a boon to mankind, then we fail to understand why the girl would give the boy an old-fashioned shaving set for Christmas. It simply doesn't follow.

Not that there is anything wrong with shaving sets. As a matter of fact, we are of the opinion that shaving sets are pretty good, as shaving sets go, but you don't use a shaving set when you have an electric razor. You don't even want to see a shaving set again after you have purchased an electric razor. Shaving sets are absolutely taboo in electric razor circles. It would be just like giving Shirley Temple a pneumatic drill, to give anyone who uses an electric razor a shaving set. And what could Shirley Temple do with a pneumatic drill? She might use it to clean her teeth, but it would be awkward. She couldn't do anything constructive with it.

SMILE OF THE WEEK

As indifferent as a mirror.

A friend of ours who goes to Randolph-Macon had an interesting story this Christmas. It seems that things had been going along rather smoothly at Randolph-Macon for years, and then last year one of the professors casually remarked that he didn't seem to be getting in as much work as he used to. His statement started things and a few of the other professors said that they had noticed the same thing, but weren't going to mention it, because they felt that it must be their fault. The authorities began investigating and found that a week had been lost in the school somewhere. They finally found where the error had been made in the school calendar and everything is all right again now. But the incident is pretty profound. Think of losing a week! Bad enough to lose a day when you cross the International date line, but a week, horrors!

It's really too bad that we couldn't save the Panay because a Panay saved is a Panay earned. We can't keep putting our Panays into the Japanese sinking fund!

This one must have been a Roman holiday. We've never seen so many people on crutches and with patches on their faces. The most interesting case, however, is that of John Strother. During the ice which we experienced before the holidays, John wore track shoes and didn't even so much as lose his balance for the three days, but when he got home he fell down a flight of stairs and sprained his ankle. Almost killed him. He was so proud of himself.

Since this seems to be an era of college slang, we bring you the latest in language from the eastern universities. Some of them we've heard and some of them we haven't, but here they are: Fruit Fly—One who studies in a campus candy shop. Hardware—Jewelry. Orange Peeling—Necking. Wheel a sled—Drive a car. Zipper your pan—Shut up. Absquatire—Get out. Bee Gee O See—Big girl on Campus. Nubs with yumph—Girls with personality.

SIDESHOW

By DON IRVINE

HAVING been informed by past masters that a controversy is equivalent to a jigger of cod liver oil to a column, and sensing a loss of weight, this one is plunging headlong into an argument. It is an old argument, to be sure, but since campus elections have been spruced up, it is the only one available. Of course, one could lambast the examination system at any other time of year, but just now that is a little dangerous. So, we'll take up this matter of Lexington during the Christmas holidays, which put silver threads in a previous columnist's otherwise black hair last spring.

During the Yuletide respite which was just slammed shut behind us, the collegians of Lexington received invitations of various kinds numbering between fifteen and twenty. These opened up a vista of tea dances, dinners, formal, and egg-cake parties which were to keep va-cationists exhaustively busy. By the time New Year's morning arrived, looking a little blarney, people were wishing that there had never been a holiday, that they were unconscious, or dead; any thing to keep from facing the let-down of the immediate future. Looking back on the orgy, they might recall as outstanding entertainment the following events:

Most interesting of the afternoon functions was an open house thrown by Mildred Yount at her magnificent St. Andrew's Hall. It was because a pleasant group of people attended, because champagne was served, because it satisfied the flamed local curiosity as to the interior of the glass residence, and because, despite the presence of countless desirables, one was made to feel at home. The house itself was amazing, with its spacious billiard room, private bar, soundproof billiard room, stateroom, library, immense living-room, countless lounge, electric organ, and so on, and with the orchestra, champagne, and personnel, it made a very nearly perfect afternoon.

Laurels for staging the best night affair go to Emory Haggin for his not-to-be-forgotten dance of the twenty-third. It could not have been better. A grand orchestra did honor to the swingtation end with admirable polish. The crowd, not too large for comfort, was genial and in fine spirits. Drinks were on hand, and a capacity breakfast was served to keep the

Before vacation we happened to be in the Ball Room of the Lafayette Hotel. A radio program featuring Governor Chandler and Mayor Schott of Louisville, and heard that Foret Boone, the auctioneer of "Hill Parade" fame was in the stand. Immediately we rushed up to talk with this world-famous personality and found that the handsome netter had installed a full set of equipment in his hotel room and he was performing broadcasts directly from the hotel. Each weekday morning at 11:15, Edwin C. Hill delivers his news programs from Columbia's key station at 485 Madison avenue in New York. The auctioneer is in New York and introduces the tobacco auctioneer from there, then a rapid switch to Lexington and Foret Boone starts his interesting chatter which lasts exactly 23 seconds. Following his "spell" a reverse switch is made back to New York for Edwin C. Hill to present the days news in resumption. If you have time to pay a visit to room 1103 at the Lafayette, don't fail to do so, because it is a liberal education to watch the manipulations between New York and Lexington.

If you have noted an improvement in our dramatic productions during the last few weeks, the credit goes to a woman. Yes, the new dramatic producer of the University radio studios is Lucille Thornton, and she handles them like a vet. The finished product as it comes out on the air reflects the tedious hours of rehearsal.

How does the orchestra leader and the night-club owner feel about sustaining business from the place of broadcasts? Recently a survey was conducted by the National Broadcasting Company in an effort to gather the true consensus of opinion on this matter. In 98 per cent of the cases it was found that both the orchestra and the night-club manager were for the idea. Abe Lyman went so far as to say that all orchestras that were trying to make a place for themselves in the music world should attempt to secure a sustaining "spot" on a network in order to keep their name as well as the orchestra in the public eye. The public would soon forget Goodman if he did not make some effort to remain in the line, light dispensing his particular brand of intoxicating "swing."

OVER THE DIAL—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. starred in a splendid performance on the "Silver Theater" program Sunday. Wonder if Don Wilson remembers that he was on air Sunday night when some of his previous remarks came through on Jack Benny's program. Pete Grant, chief announcer at WLW, is editorializing each Thursday evening. He features the editorials of nationally known newspapers and tries to present both sides of the question. We have promised Cliff Shaw "plug" on our news commentary program Friday night for his gracious assistance in "Snootshots" last issue. What worries us is, what has Cliff done that would deserve mention on the air? Anybody listen and maybe it will come out. Cliff.

Carman Bode ringed Wanda Fraser, his Arizona flame.

SAE Jim Doyle walked into a car during the holidays, and as a result is hobbling around on crutches. But he has so much affection for the Alpha Gams that he continues to wait their tables on his wooden legs.

Dot Forstreich received a hope chest for Xmas, but there was no card attached to it. Five to one it was from suitor "Jo-Jo" Kruse, now playing professional football in Cincinnati.

Joe Wilson and Nancy Ann Jackson did the unexpected and called off their month-old pining.

Kay Dee pledge Aris Norman and "Sonny" Parrish also chose the Yuletide season as the time of the year to "wash the dishes." In other words they have reached the parting of the ways, by mutual agreement.

While home for the holidays, Dave Rogan took in a dance and was immediately taken by a Miss Floyd from Richmond. Dave thought so much about her that he immediately returned to Lexington and took the bus to Richmond, just to share her company.

While Claude Terrell was in Florida enjoying the company of horses and dogs, Betty Balkans seemed to be enjoying herself in a blue 1938 Convertible Buick "Crusta" claim that his initials and that in 1938 this winter were the races but we doubt it very much.

Ruth Johnston has become seasick for the Henry Clay Hi basketball team. She was very busy Monday at the "Kay Dee" house sewing supper on the netter's trunks.

The Alpha Gam eye rime No. 1, Mildred Kesh, is now wearing Pi Kappa Beta's symbol of security. This leaves many a thoughtful young man sitting alone at night with his hands clasped behind his head, softly grumbling. We believed Mildred to have had the pin for the dance in Cynthiana, but she never wore it (in sight) until she attended the dance in the town of Morganfield, which is somewhere in Western Kentucky.

At Glue Club Practice Monday night, Tinker Dean seemed to show quite a bit of authority over pianist Miss Gotschewer when he shouted loudly in front of the whole club for her to go on home and he would be over in a few minutes.

Kay Dee pledge Alie Kendall made quite a serious mistake just before the holidays and hasn't heard the last of it yet. She wrote a very tender letter to her one and only back home in Cynthiana, and to her mother at the same time. The mistake was made by putting the love letter in a mother's envelope.

Jimmy Groseclose was wearing one of the most depressing looks ever seen, this week. We hear that the very lovely romance between Jimmy and "Blonde Goddess" Edna Hill is definitely and emphatically over. Tried as hard as we could to learn the source of the trouble but to no avail. It seems as if Jimmy's heart is broken. Better think it over Edna, you are losing a fine boy.

According to reports Jean Abel, now attending Southwestern, seemed to be leading one of our UK students a merry chase during Christmas. Why so glum, Mount-Judy Slipp?

While at the Alpha Gam house Tuesday night we encountered Mary Ellen Perry and Red Simpson, the boy with the pretty hair. When asked to tell something on themselves, Mary Ellen said that there was nothing to tell. But quickly she said, "Red, we could do a job between now and press day." (Ed. Note: Let's go to press.)

There is nothing you can do but cram for the exams. As for the bargains—this new year has ushered in countless numbers of them—all you have to do is go down town and buy.

All shoes previously mentioned in this column, comprise a portion of the sale stock at Baynham's. You can get that extra pair now.

Announced & Ringo have included in their sale, Arrow shirts at a very good saving. They are all winter patterns and in the lot are demi-boys and detachable collar styles, in addition to the regular long point and tab collar shirts.

Getting back to the formals and other numerous dances on the campus—do you need a hat or tails? Paris Men's Shop is just the place for a good fit. Mr. Paritz personally attends to the fittings.

The new Hickok braces are being featured at Thorpe's. These suspenders are not ordinary elastic webbing, but fine materials made stretchable by a secret, exclusive Hickok process.

The collar of the Week—

The Walton Arrow starched collar is the Walton, which somewhat resembles the Kent. The points, however, are a bit rounder. These different styled collars, appearing in every issue of this column, are to be chosen to flatter your face.

A little tip to the university girl, as well as the university man — Fraternity and sorority jewelry may be had at Joe Kosenberg's.

New Ukly Art Club To Be Open To All

Organized to interest laymen in art education and the development of hobbies and to aid teachers of art, a new Art club at the University is open to all, the only cost being the purchase of needed materials.

The club is at present busy with two projects, the opening of a hobby club for children and the organization of a puppet class under the direction of Patterson, University student and professional puppeteer, which will begin the first Thursday in January.

Club meetings will be held at 7:30 o'clock every Thursday night in Room 170 of the Training school. Chairman of the group is Mrs. Ruth Haines, teacher of elementary education at the University school.

A sociologist of Indiana University hired "a well known expert" to "help" by the week to tell him about the "trade." Then he compiled a lexicon of terms in underworld jargon for the several branches of thievery.

BULL PEN

By GEORGE H. KERLER

WHILE the campus peasantry toddled through the Yule yawn, Mr. Adolph Rupp's schoolboys, displaying the tops and bottoms of basketball, happily demolished three court opponents, Cincinnati, Centenary and Pittsburgh. If, by chance, you remained in Lexington to watch the Wildcats fight (not an understatement) Cincinnati, you saw what looked like Friday night in Madison Square Garden. A few of us walked in late and after one glance hurried out with the belief that a Golden Gloves tournament was in full swing.

The Reds added to their score while the Cats were sleeping and mimed the breath of confidence. But a few body blows and crib shots sent the Rups into safety and Christmas began happily.

Against Centenary the Blue rifles put on an inferior exhibition. We won the contest, 35-25, and some people referred to the game as the bombardment of Boyd Hall. Judging from the way the Blue rifles plied the pellet around, one might think they had taken to imitate Van Lige Mingo on an off day.

Based on the Centenary show little hope was nursed for the Wild-cats down in New Orleans. Pitt had eight games worth of experience in her hands and the Rups had but three jittery sessions. But whatever mystic strength Adolph commands, he put it into the Blue rifles. Kentucky came out Sugar Bowl champs. Bernie Opper and Red Hagan sported the Wildcat to victory. Right off the bat, Opper, who seldom shoots for points, stood in the Panther outfit and threw three strikes down the basket's throat.

This started the Blues off like the hare against the tortoise. Pittsburgh came back in the second semester and edged within three points of the Cats' lead. Hagan called for a temporary surrender and demanded some scoring. So Smokey obliged his request by personally leaving Kentucky beyond the Panther clasp. Pitt tried desperately to regain its earlier momentum but Opper suddenly came to life and wrecked their offense. Bernie played his high school basketball in New York where they concentrate on offensive play. Down here coaches require that a player be competent also on the defense. Bernie suffered awhile during his freshman and soph years while learning the art of blocking and guarding. But against the eastern champs Opper blossomed out and killed the Panther threats with a joyous demonstration of how to hold the lead.

Another Refugee? From all evidence the theme song over in the coaches' office recently was "Out of the Trenches by Christmas." First Porter Grant locks his luggage and pushes off for Auburn. Then a week later Tom Gorman, in a barber's chair, announces that he also has thrown in the towel. Wonder if Chet Wynne is lone-son.

Rupp Solves Cluggish's Pullman Problem

Despite the seriousness of the journey to the Sugar Bowl, Wildcat coach Adolph Rupp never lost his sense of humor. Somewhere between Birmingham and New Orleans, the Ruppman kept in Pullmans. When yawns became abundant, Adolph announced, "Let's go to bed, boys." And evring Marion Cluggish six feet eight inches center Rupp advised, "Clug, you take the aisle."

BOXING VAS BEGIN FOR CAMPUSLUGGERS

Frank Moseley's punch corps opens the boxing season against the University of West Virginia at Morgantown January 18. When school resumed 14 candid dates threw their gloves in the ring and started battling for positions on the squad.

Because Moseley has been confined to the hospital, recovering from an appendicitis operation, Gene Myers has been substituting as the ringmaster. Fighting for one of the eight places on the club are Gregg, B. Baker, Durbin, Chambers, Posey, Edwards, Shields, Shanklin, Ralph and Frank Winchester. R. B. Baker, Whitcomb, Moore, Lutz, and Thomas. Most of these men are still in fair shape from the intramural slugging tournament.

X-Ray Pix Eclipses Hodge's Net Career

X-ray pictures put a photo finish on Walter Hodge's 1938 basketball career. Regarded as one of the game's natural stars, Hodge did turn out for net practice this season because of an ailing shoulder received during the football campaign. When rest failed to heal the injury, Paul McBrayer, assistant coach took Hodge to the hospital for some candid shots of disorder. Radiographs showed that White's second and third left ribs have been yanked away from the breast bone. Now doctors have the Paris flash wired together. Said Coach Rupp, "Hodge is exactly what we need against Notre Dame. In fact, taking a long range look, he represents the difference, possibly between our retaining the loop championship and losing it."

Tom Gorman, Line Coach, Joins Football Abdicators

Tom "Kitty" Gorman line coach, has joined the ranks of refugees from Kentucky football. He is the second Blue grid pundit to resign his position within the last three weeks. Porter Grant, assistant varsity mentor, preceded Gorman out of the Blue Grass.

A favorite son of Notre Dame, Gorman came to Kentucky in 1935 succeeding Ted Toomey, another South Bender who left the locals to coach at the University of Texas. "Kitty" was a typical Irish player. He centered at Notre Dame in 1931-32-33 and became one of the outstanding pivots in the nation. During his sophomore year, he worked under the late Knute Rockne as a member of Rock's "Shock Troops." Irish critics will tell you that on the field Gorman was a fighting savage, a terror to opposing backfields.

After he graduated, Gorman studied law at South Bend and tutored Rambler freshmen. In 1935 he received his law label and came to Kentucky to assist Coach Wynne with line problems. Admired by all the Wildcats as a friend and a coach, Gorman's departure upset the 'Cat camp considerably.

He left for Chicago where he will pursue bar examinations and then assume a position in the district attorney's office. Frequently, Gorman referred to politics as his hobby but few predicted that he would desert football for government. Tom gave a minimum of reasons for leaving Kentucky. It is understood that he objected to the insecurity offered by one year contracts. Any other reason was not disclosed by the athletic department.

The outstanding piece of work turned in by Gorman during the past campaign was his scoring of the Manhattan Jaspers, who Kentucky trampled, 19-0 in one of the season's most sensational upsets. If you recall that game nothing that Manhattan did surprised the Wildcats. Gorman's espionage report was a masterpiece of accurate detail.

SUGAR BALL AWARDED TO "SMOKEY" HAGAN

Happiest contestant of the Kentucky-Pittsburgh Sugar Bowl basketball game is Red Hagan, Wildcat forward, who was awarded the ball used during the battle. It was with this pellet that Red threw the Ruppman out of danger in the second half when Pittsburgh was creeping up on the Kentucky.

Sugar Bowl officials presented the sphere to Hagan after the outstanding player of the nation's outstanding net game.

W.A.A. News

It was announced at the W. A. A. council meeting this week that Frances Laval was the winner of the archery tournament that was held this fall. Irene Wilmot had the next best score.

Frances Howe, volley ball manager announced that the volley ball games will begin Monday and Tuesday. A make-up practice will be held Wednesday. Plans were made for two volley ball games to be held with the intramural team in the gym annex. The first one will be at 7:30 o'clock Friday night; the second will be held Wednesday night, January 12th, at the same time. The teams will be mixed.

Plans were made for a picture show benefit to be held February 25th at the Kentucky theater. Rutelle Palmer will be in charge of the ticket sale.

A discussion was held on the topic that the W. A. A. will present at the Southeastern conference this spring. Wm. S. Snodden was chosen to be leader of this discussion at the conference. The topic to be presented will be "Way's and Means that Women Athletic Associations can Raise Money."

Ten Indian Masks Given To Museum

Information Obtained From Survey By Webb, Funksouwer

Modeled from measurements of skeletons now in the Museum of Anthropology and Archaeology and native Indians of New Mexico a set of ten Indian masks have been made and presented to the museum by Dr. J. D. Figgins of the Bernheim Institute. The masks will be used for comparisons of Indian types.

Information concerning native Indians of Kentucky was obtained from surveys made by Prof. W. S. Webb and Dr. W. D. Funksouwer, of the department of Archaeology and Anthropology. The typical Indian was found at Tates, New Mexico, and the masks were modeled after him and members of his tribe. Fifty masks were completed by Dr. Figgins and his assistant, Joseph Spears, a student at the University.

EQUIPMENT DISPLAYED AT ZOOLOGY SEMINAR

Inspection of the scientific equipment in the zoology department was made at the weekly zoological meeting Tuesday. The instruments brought here by the Spencer Lens Co. and the Bausch Lomb Optical Co. were on exhibition.

Prof. Alfred Brauer, assistant professor of zoology, gave a brief talk on some of the papers presented at the recent scientific meeting in Indianapolis and Paul Simpson spoke on "The Habits and Importance of the Owl Family."
