

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

Wednesday Evening, March 26, 1969

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY, LEXINGTON

Vol. LX, No. 117

Eye 'Affiliation'

UK, U Of L Trustees Set April 15 Date For Progress Report

Special to the Kernel

LOUISVILLE—Meeting for the first time in joint session, the UK trustees and the trustees of the University of Louisville charged their negotiating teams Tuesday to work on appropriate ways to implement "closer affiliation" between the universities through the sister-school approach of Plan Five of the Baker Report.

After Tuesday's noon meeting, UK Acting President A. D. Kirwan and U of L President Woodrow M. Strickler said that the universities' negotiating committees are to issue a progress report April 15.

The committees are to report back to their respective presidents.

The joint trustees reportedly expressed reservations at the Tuesday meeting on whether the state could afford to support U of L as a state university in the near future. Apparently, equal financing for the schools is seen as a problem in any future affiliation.

UK and U of L were ordered to explore a "closer affiliation" by the 1968 legislature in House Bill 91. The legislature called for the Louisville semi-private municipal university to become a state school by 1970, for a curriculum compatible with the state system, and for closer ties with UK.

The state commissioned a citizens committee in 1966 headed by Lisle Baker, Jr. to study the feasibility of "closer affiliation" between the universities. Ultimately six alternate plans were considered. The fifth plan, recommending a sister-school merger, was approved by the committee.

Officials at both schools have since expressed mutual approval "in principle" of the Plan Five merger proposal.

The proposal called for the formation of a single university with both UK and U of L co-equal parts. The merged university under the proposal, would have a new name and would be governed by a single president and board of trustees.

According to the proposal, each university would have a separate chancellor, with each responsible to the single president and trustees.

Members of the UK negotiating committee are Dr. Harry Denham, chairman; William R. Black, B. Hudson Milner and Professor Paul Oberst.

Members of the U of L committee are Edwin C. Middleton, chairman; Eli H. Brown III, Baylor Landrum, Samuel H. Klein and Archibald P. Cochran, an ex officio member.

The universities' presidents are to report on the status of negotiation between the schools at an April 7 meeting of the state Council on Public Higher Education.

Political High Jinks

'Tis the season for ye olde political tricks with the approach of the spring Student Government elections. With the filing date just passed, candidates here have gone to great lengths—or is it heights—to get their message across.

Panel Cites Police, Blacks As Minorities

By JEANNIE LEEDOM
Kernel Staff Writer

A consideration of policemen as human beings and as members of a minority group was the apparent outcome of the Non-violence Seminar's panel discussion whose theme was "Controlling Violence in the Community."

Participating in the discussion Tuesday night were Dr. Eugene B. Gallagher, associate professor of sociology; Jim Sleet, Lexington community organizer; Cal Wallace, leader in Community Action Lexington-Fayette (CALF); Sgt. Robert Duncan and Maj. Morris Carter of the Lexington Police Department; and Dr. Bradley Canon, assistant professor of political science and chairman for the discussion.

According to Wallace, in trying to avoid violence and decide what initiates violence, "We are concerned about how people behave and how we want people to behave."

He said, "If we are going to control violence in our streets, we are going to have to search for understanding. We have to know the guy in the streets and must have a reciprocal understanding and communication with him."

In defending policemen and their participation in violence, Maj. Carter said policemen are "human beings too."

"The only difference in us and many other groups is that we have a responsibility to take an action or a counteraction. We have an obligation to everyone. If there is confrontation or violence, we are expected to take action in some way."

Dr. Gallagher, in explaining

Continued on Page 7, Col. 1

Platforms Eye Student Services

SAR Varies Appeals, To Change Dorms

By SUE ANNE SALMON
Kernel Staff Writer

Students for Action and Responsibility (SAR) Tuesday night formally presented its list of candidates for Student Government president, vice president and representatives along with their platform.

Thom Pat Juul and Joe Maguire, SAR candidates for SG president and vice president, said they wrote the platform with suggestions from SAR's 14 representative candidates.

The 14 SAR candidates for SG representative are Robert Duncan, Elsie Parsons, James Kohman, Barbra Ries, Douglas Motley, Ellen Essig, Molly Clark, Tim Guilfoile, Keith James Brubaker, Bob Bailey, Paul Johnson, Jim Embry, Dan Fisher and Bucky Pennington.

Juul said the SAR list of candidates includes a variety of student interests—"from the extremely conservative to the extremely nonconservative." But, he added, all the candidates agree "student services and problems must be met."

In the area of University housing the SAR platform "pledges to continue to work for the end to compulsory housing" and "to work for the establishment of different life-style dorms for all students, thereby eliminating compulsory hours for women."

The platform urges University development of Child Care Centers for the children of married students attending UK.

SAR plans to extend bus service to Shawneetown and to work for more parking space in Cooperstown.

The platform "pledges to increase University police security around all University housing units to protect against car theft and vandalism."

Continued on Page 7, Col. 1

Carver, Bright Seek Expanded Pass-Fail

By LARRY DALE KEELING
Assistant Managing Editor

Bruce Carver and Steve Bright, candidates for Student Government president and vice president respectively, released their platform during spring vacation.

On the housing issue, the platform called for as near a landlord-tenant relationship as possible between the University and the student.

It called on the University to provide positive incentives to encourage students to live in dormitories so that the policy which could force students to live in University housing would never be used.

In addition, the platform asked that the student be presented with a choice of life styles in the dormitories so that those students wishing to live under any certain set of regulations could be housed together in the same dorm.

The platform said that a student should not be subject to search and seizure in the dorms except in cases of danger, emergency or disruption.

In addition the platform called for freedom to distribute "valid student information" in residence halls, a lunch-dinner two-meal plan, private telephone lines, more vending machines and a residence hall government representative in Student Government.

The platform also said that the quadrangle should not be reopened for residence halls for undergraduates.

In the area of academics, the platform endorsed the Student Bill of Rights with the exception of two clauses.

Continued on Page 8, Col. 1

Kernel Photo by Dick Ware

Faraway Fashions

Little Samie Okazaki has faraway thoughts as she models a traditional Japanese outfit in the International Fashion Show in the Student Center Tuesday night.

Signs, Shouts Greet Prince

Socialist Speaker, Cuban Exiles Clash On Cuba Today

By DAN GOSSETT
Kernel Staff Writer

Inside the Student Center Theatre the podium was draped with a red flag bearing a likeness of Che Guevara. Outside, signs saying "My country right or wrong" and "America: love it or leave it" were hung on the walls.

The displays were an indication of the conflict and disruption that were to mark a lecture by David Prince, a member of the Young Socialist Alliance invited by the Cuban government to take part in the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Castro Revolution.

The lecture, jointly sponsored by CARSA, the Political Science Department and the Sociology Club, was held Thursday, March 13.

Prince opened the lecture by showing slides of industrial and housing developments he had seen during his two-month visit in Cuba. As soon as he had begun to narrate the slides, anti-Castro Cuban exiles in the audience began shouting, "Liar! Liar! Kick him out!"

Twice during the lecture, moderator Leonard Jordan of the sociology department asked the audience to allow Prince to continue. He informed the crowd that a question and answer period was scheduled after the lecture.

When the disturbances continued, Kenneth Brandenburg, dean of students, took the microphone and cautioned that anyone disrupting the lecture would be removed from the theatre.

Pandemonium broke out during the discussion period. Several of the anti-Castro refugees had compiled long lists of objections to points made by Prince and presented them at great length and with considerable emotion.

When Prince started to take issue with some of the objections of one particularly vehement speaker, the man stood up and screamed at Prince, "We fought for the revolution with Castro, now we're being sold out. You, Mr. Prince, are a fool, a clown and an ignoramus. You should be kicked out of here."

Throughout the disturbances, Prince seemed to remain calm. He had been physically attacked several months before while giving a similar lecture at Ohio State University.

The Cuban exiles were joined in quizzing Prince by others. One man, an ex-marine, spoke after several attempts to interrupt Prince and members of the audience.

He said, "During the Bay of Pigs fiasco, I was stationed at Guantanamo Bay, and I saw several hundred 'prosperous revolutionaries' trying to get over the fence into American territory."

Members of CARSA and other campus groups shouted at the exiles to let Prince continue with his lecture.

Bill Rauch, former CARSA chairman, said Tuesday:

"I doubt that any member of CARSA agreed with Mr. Prince or believed much of what he said. But after all, he was invited here and should have been allowed to speak without interruption."

FAMILY DRIVE-IN THEATRE phone 2-4896

NOW! Starts 7:30 Adm. $1.50

The Undergraduates vs. The Over-Thirties!

MGM PRESENTS DAVID NIVEN in "THE IMPOSSIBLE YEARS"

CO-STARRING LOLA ALBRIGHT - CHAD EVERETT
AND OSZIE NELSON - CRISTINA FERRARE
PANAVISION and METROCOLOR

Plus Sophia Loren in "GHOST - ITALIAN STYLE"

Saturday Review Editor To Speak On Thursday

Peter Schrag, executive editor of Saturday Review, will speak on "What's Wrong with the University—and What Isn't" at 8 p.m. Thursday in Guignol Theatre.

The author of "Voices in the Classroom" and other works, Schrag was previously associate education editor for Saturday Review.

A graduate of Amherst College and the University of Massachusetts, he was an instructor at Amherst and has been a reporter. He has written articles and reviews for The New Republic, The Nation, Commonweal and other publications.

Schrag is the second lecturer in the Blazer lecture series "The Student and the Campus."

CLASSIFIED

Classified advertising will be accepted on a pre-paid basis only. Ads may be placed in person Monday through Friday or by mail, payment enclosed, to THE KENTUCKY KERNEL, Room 111, Journalism Bldg. Rates are $1.25 for 20 words, $3.00 for three consecutive insertions of the same ad of 20 words, and $5.75 per week, 20 words.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—1955 Buick Roadmaster. Full power, 1.6v mikes, New tires. $300. Phone 233-0018, 1840 Dunkirk Drive. 25M5t

FOR SALE—1966 Honda 300 cc.; windshield; luggage rack included. Call 25-3691. 25M10t

FOR SALE—1965 GTO, real clean; runs good. $1,500. Ext. 8-1247. 26M5t

FOR RENT

CHEVY CHASE TERRACE, 863 E. High—Large efficiency, central air-conditioned. Convenient to shopping, restaurants, on 2 bus lines. Call 266-3654. 11M5t

FOR RENT—Perfect summer apartment, 1 block from campus; air-conditioned; ultra modern. This place really swings during summer session. Act now. 255-5959. 25M5t

TWO ROOMS and bath in restored home, well furnished; private entrance; patio; tile mikes; walk to Univ. or downtown. $125 includes utilities. Phone 269-1859. 26M5t

REWARD

PEARL RING LOST; ladies' restroom, 1st floor C-P Bldg. Initials K.J.S. inside band. Sentimental value; engagement ring. Mail to Kathy Justin, Chemistry Dept. or call ext. 5-9076. Reward offered. 26M5t

MISCELLANEOUS

CELEBRATE the downfall of Barad-Dur and the passing of Sauron. Guild or Anglorien, Box 68, Boyd Hall. 11M6t

DEAR DAD—No need to send me money. Sold my mikes at WALLACE'S BOOK STORE and that top cash balanced the bank. —Susan 26M5t

PERSONAL

ATTRACTIVE, intelligent, petite female student, 29, finds it difficult to meet unattached young men ages 28-35. If interested, write P. O. Box 7213, Duke Rd., Lexington, Ky. 11M5t

CLASS RINGS
WALLACE'S BOOK STORE

Paxton Quigley's crime was passion...and his punishment fits exactly!
He's the exhausted captive of three young ladies, with a unique idea of revenge.

IT ALL HAPPENS ON CAMPUS!

AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL STARRS
YVETTE MIMIEUX
CHRISTOPHER JONES
3 IN THE ATTIC
COLDWATER PICTURES
CO-STARRING JUDY PACE · MAGGIE THRETT · NAN MARTIN

starts Tonite! Southland 68 Auto Theatre
Theatre 23 E. 7th and Harrodsburg Rd. 2-7906 271-2640

TURFLAND MALL Cinema 277-0100 ON THE MALL HARRODSBURG ROAD & LANE ALLEN

SHOW TIMES: 2:00, 4:00, 6:00, 8:00, 10:00

Warm eyes-cold knife. Sweet body-bitter revenge.

CARROLL BAKER · JEAN SOREL
THE SWEET BODY OF DEBORAH

TECHNICOLOR® CINEMASCOPE® From THEATRE MANAGER · SEVEN ARTS INC.

BARGAIN HOUR! 1:30 to 2:30 Mon. thru Fri. All seats—75c

PUSHBACK SEATS ★ ART GALLERY ★ GIANT SCREEN ★ ACRES OF FREE PARKING

GENERAL CINEMA CORPORATION

The Campus-Country Look For U.K. Men!

Choose the finest in Spring-Summer fashion for young men from among such famous brand names as . . .

FARAH - ARROW
PURITAN
ROBERT BRUCE - BOTANY
CRICKETEER

FREE MONOGRAM WITH UK I.D. (SHIRTS OR JACKETS ONLY)

CHARGE IT! SHOPPERS CHARGE, BANK AMERICARD, PERSONAL CHARGE

WALK OVER! WE'RE ONLY 3 BLOCKS AWAY

Imperial Mens Shop

FURNISHINGS FOR MEN AND BOYS

IMPERIAL PLAZA SHOPPING CENTER and SOUTHLAND SHOPPING CENTER

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

The Kentucky Kernel, University Station, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky 40506. Second class postage paid at Lexington, Kentucky. Mailed five times weekly during the school year except holidays and exam periods, and once during the summer session.

Published by the Board of Student Publications, UK Post Office Box 4866. Begun as the Cadet in 1894 and published continuously as the Kernel since 1915.

Advertising published herein is intended to help the reader buy. Any false or misleading advertising should be reported to The Editors.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES Yearly, by mail $2.75 Per copy, from files — $1.10

KERNEL TELEPHONES Editor, Managing Editor 2321 Editorial Page Editor, Associate Editors, Sports 2320 News Desk 2447 Advertising, Business, Circulation 2319

St. John's Students Group To Advocate All Volunteer Army

NEW YORK (CPS)—Four undergraduates at New York City's St. John's University have formed what they believe is the nation's first student organization aimed exclusively at replacing the present system of military draft with a totally volunteer armed force.

The students, calling themselves the National Committee for a Volunteer Army, said they plan to organize a petition and letter writing campaign urging support for a bill introduced early in January by eight U.S. senators, including "hawks" like Barry Goldwater and "doves" like George McGovern.

"And when you can get people like Goldwater and McGovern to agree on something," observes committee national chairman John Vecchione, "there must be something good about the idea."

So far, the organizers, all members of the conservative Young Americans for Freedom, claim about 50 supporters, and already the idea has spread to two other campuses: New York's Queens College and the University of Buffalo—mainly because Vecchione has a few friends at both schools.

Committee members are anxious to point out that they are not to be confused with "draft dodgers," and to underline the point, they said they would be willing to accept the support of any organization—except Students for a Democratic Society or any of its "socialist supporters."

The committee's quarrel with the present draft system, its members explain, is that they disagree with its coercive character, contending that an army based on capital benefits and not conscription would increase efficiency and return a sense of "patriotic duty" to military service.

What, if anything, the committee is able to accomplish is, at this point, a very open question (there are plans for a national organization and a million signatures by this summer), but its formation gives some indication of the pressure that is now beginning to build for some kind of draft reform. The idea of a volunteer army is gaining increasing support.

Most Leave

There seems to be sound basis for that support. Under the volunteer system, the army's ranks would be filled with men who sign up because they want to, and thus they would remain in the service considerably longer.

Under the present system, 93 percent of the draftees leave after two years of service taking the skills the army taught him with him. Soldiers who sign up to longer periods, therefore could be better trained and, presumably, they would work with greater efficiency.

At another level, a voluntary army would completely free the controversial question of military service from critics who claim the present system constitutes involuntary servitude and others who say that under the present deferment set-up, the draft operates unfavorably toward the poor, the Blacks and the drop-outs.

Under the present day scale, which gives an enlisted man $2,900 a year, about two-thirds of the army's ranks are filled by volunteers. The additional manpower added by the draft, which has run to about 300,000 men lately, is expected to decrease by 240,000 this year.

"If support for a change in the draft system can be started at St. John's," one student says with enthusiasm, "it can get support anywhere."

Kernel Photo by Howard Mason

Smiling faces of the Kentucky Babes drill team tell the story of a second place win in the Illinois Invitational Drill Meet in Champaign, Ill., March 15: Competing in the largest drill meet in the nation, the Kentucky coeds placed second only to the Praetorians of Capital University of Ohio in the 19-team field.

Winning Babes

STANDARD TYPEWRITER CO.
SMITH-CORONA DEALERS
SALES—SERVICE—RENTALS
393 WALLER AVE. 255-6326
Imperial Plaza Shopping Center

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE EACH SUNDAY

B.S. CANDIDATES IN CIVIL ENGINEERING

Join the Rapidly Expanding Field of NAVAL OCEANOGRAPHY

The Naval Oceanographic Office seeks June-August grads for surveying positions aboard hydrographic research vessels. Positions of this nature involve as much as 50% sea duty with short stops at various foreign ports of call. Our engineers use scientific equipment ranging from the most modern electronic and optical devices to the old fashioned sextant to establish geodetic control nets and survey coastal waters of the world. Opportunities for advancement are excellent. Trainee positions begin at GS-5 ($7456 per year) and GS-7 ($9078 per year) depending upon qualifications. For consideration, send resume directly to:

MR. RICHARD M. REQUA Code 1810
Naval Oceanographic Office Washington, D.C. 20390
An equal employment opportunity employer

APPLY NOW!

The University of Kentucky is now accepting applications for appointment to the STUDENT PUBLICATIONS BOARD

Pick up your application at the Office of the President in the Administration Building.

Applications must be returned by APRIL 21, 1969 to be considered.

FIRST AREA SHOWING!
CIRCLE 23 US ST. PASS at Winchester, KY PH. 252-4493 NOW!
AUTO THEATRE

A lethal game of hide and seek...

Marlon Brando
Richard Boone
in a JERRY GERSHWIN-ELLIOTT KASTNER Production
The Night of the Following Day
RITA MORENO-PAMELA FRANKLIN-JESS HAHN
Music by STANLEY MYERS - Screenplay by ROBERT CORNFELD and ROBERT PROFFER - Based on the novel 'The Strangers' by LIONEL WHITE
Produced and Directed by ROBERT CORNFELD - A Golan Production / Universal Pictures, Ltd. A UNIVERSAL RELEASE. TECHNICOLOR

Plus GREGORY PECK SOPHIA LOREN
"ARABESQUE" Technicolor

"Nominated for Academy Award"
BEST PICTURE! BEST DIRECTOR!

PARAMOUNT PICTURES presents
A B&W FILM
The FRANCO ZEFFIRELLI
Production of
ROMEO & JULIET
No ordinary love story...

THE FRANCO ZEFFIRELLI PRODUCTION OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE'S 'ROMEO & JULIET' / OLIVIA HUSSEY / LEONARD WHITING / MILO O'SHEA / MICHAEL YORK / JOHN McNEERY / PAI HAYWOOD / NATASHA PARRY / ROBERT STEPHENS

FINAL WEEK!
Cherry Chase Cinema

BIG WEEK
at the Fireplace
825 Euclid

TUESDAY—
FOLKNIGHT
with
THE RUBBERBAND

WEDNESDAY
THE WAR TOY
No cover charge!

THURSDAY—
LOUISVILLE MAG 7
Music 6 Nights a Week!

'There's Nothing Else Here— I Guess That Wraps It Up.'

Pass-Fail Time

Students preregistering this week and next would be well advised to seriously consider taking a course or two under the pass-fail system. Few students signed up for the program this semester, chiefly because the procedures for enrolling could not be well publicized.

This excuse does not exist any longer. All one has to do in order to preregister for pass-fail courses is to place a "P-F" on his IBM cards in the lab column next to the course name. Those wishing to avail themselves of this system should discuss their plans with their advisers, however, to ensure that the courses they wish to take pass-fail are free electives.

Students presently are allowed to take four such courses during their undergraduate years. Perhaps next semester would be a good time to start taking advantage of pass-fail.

More Discipline

One of the two new disciplinary offenses added to the Student Code by the Board of Trustees last week poses some questions. The offense adopted by the board is: "Interference with any registered organization or any individual on property owned or operated by the University, or interference with the activities of the University, including but not limited to disruption of classes or meetings, or prevention of ingress and egress from buildings."

No one can deny that such activities should be made liable to disciplinary action, even should they be justifiable in terms of tactics and goals. And the new offense does clarify to some extent the previously existing provision under which such activities were dealt with.

However, like most of the provisions in the code, it is vague enough to be twisted to suit the whims of administrators using it. This possibility must be kept in mind and must be scrutinized in the provision's application to prevent its being abused.

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY
ESTABLISHED 1894 WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 1969
Editorials represent the opinions of the Editors, not of the University.

Lee B. Becker, Editor-in-Chief
Guy M. Mendes III, Managing Editor
Tom Derr, Business Manager
Howard Mason, Photography Editor
Jack Lyne and Larry Kelley, Arts Editors
Frank Coots, Terry Dunham, Dana Ewell, Larry Dale Keeling, Janice Barber
Assistant Managing Editors
Darrell Rice, Editorial Page Editor
Jim Miller, Associate Editor
Chip Hutcheson, Sports Editor

Midterm Grades

The Undergraduate Council, going beyond the proposal of the University Student Advisory Committee, has submitted a proposal to the University Senate recommending the abolishment of all midterm grades. The council feels that the grades are basically of little use to students and time consuming for both faculty and administrators.

USAC's proposal called for the abolishment of midterms for all upper-class students regardless of the class in which they were enrolled. The Undergrad Council felt that there was no real need to make this distinction between the two classifications. We agree.

Students who are honestly concerned about the progress they are making in a class can easily obtain that information directly from the Professor, rather than from the midterm grade slip. Communication between student and professor, at present in a very poor state, may even be aided by the absence of the midterm slip.

It has been suggested that the Undergrad plan be implemented on a trial basis during the 1969-70 school year, thus allowing that the old plan can easily be reactivated if necessary. The Faculty Senate would do well to follow this suggestion.

Kernel Forum: the readers write

The Real Bard

To the Editor of the Kernel:

What a shame that most Romeo and Juliet fans should be unaware of two of the greatest pieces of literary detection of our age that solve the pseudonym—"Shake-speare." In 1920 there was the brilliant Britisher, J. Thomas Looney, and then in 1952 the American, Charlton Ogburns, who have given us tremendous books on the greatest of mysteries—the "Shake-speare" authorship.

The man Shaksper of Stratford was only a mask, not for Bacon or Marlowe or others first suggested, but for 17th Earl of Oxford, Edward de Vere, patron of the arts and letters, and highest noble of the land after Elizabeth. His fascinating life story in reconstruction is stranger than fiction. The problem today is the failure to spread the message by our literary professionals who, with heads obstinately in sand, seem by and large "past hope, past cure, past help."

Lord Oxford's claim as "Shake-speare" has never been methodically disproved in the past 50 years since Looney's discovery, as conversely the claim of the Stratford Shaksper has never been sensibly demonstrated in over 300! Such a silence three centuries ago can only be explained on the grounds that the utmost care was taken to keep the true author out of public sight, and for some rather obvious reasons, such as his very high position at the seat of power. However, a current is slowly forcing from obscurity the name and figure of one largely unknown to the English-speaking World.

If it is said it makes no difference who did what, then all biographies are without significance and the parentage of man meaningless. So the minds of young learners (and old) would be immeasurably stimulated and thrilled by an appreciation and discussion of the true author of the timeless lyrics and dramas of "Shake-speare," as revealed by modern research into those unusual times of the English Renaissance. For each emphatically enhances the other. Thus at last we have the answer to his Sonnet's line—"Every word doth almost tell my name."
Russell des Cognets Jr.
Lexington, Ky.

Yellow Heart

So Hooper deserves the "Muddle of Honor" for his actions near Hue, on Feb. 21, 1968, (Kernel editorial, March 11)? You write as if the three bunkers and three buildings Hooper destroyed were being used by the enemy as gambling casinos and brothels. Sure, my face would be terror-stricken also if some nut threw a grenade in my fun house.

But actually, whether they were forced into war or not, these enemy soldiers were armed with weapons for killing, not for pleasure. It is true that war is the most inhumane, barbaric and obscene form of activity a human being can participate in. Yet, you have trespassed on a man's conscience by alluding to his dreams to come. Have you considered Hooper's alternative? To sit back and watch his men, men who also were forced to fight, be destroyed by the enemy?

You agree that the other two men deserved the medal because they saved lives. So how can you deny that Hooper saved the lives of his squad members by killing the enemy before the enemy killed them? If you think Hooper deserves the "Muddle of Honor," then as long as you're in a laudatory mood, give yourself the "Yellow Heart."

Bill Zell
A&S Sophomore

Saving Lives

The "One Man Army of Destruction," as the subject of Tuesday's Kernel editorial, was a commie-killing, indoctrinated arm of the establishment.

If Hooper was, in fact, indoctrinated or brainwashed, then the question here is a very broad one, dealing with the morality of this war or any war. The issue, in this broad sense, is far above my poor power to add or detract, (if I may retreat on the words of that great man). If the issue were of this nature, I'd leave it to you, the brilliant young champions of "right" (as opposed to "wrong").

But my point is that this man, in my opinion, was not indoctrinated in the sense you imply. How could a man, blessed with the superior intelligence and over-powering sense of morality so obviously inherent in his youthful generation, be stripped of his convictions by the unintelligent, short-sighted, less-than-moral, profit-crazed, imperialist pigs?

The "honor" recognized in this individual by our Fearless Leader was not that of being a killer, but the very same honor praised in the other two soldiers, that of saving the lives of his comrades (OOPS!).

Hooper was indoctrinated only in the sense that he probably didn't have any choice in his involvement in this war, and assuming he wasn't a volunteer, (no one volunteers to be indoctrinated), I have another premise on which to continue.

Taken that Hooper was in the dangerous and deadly position of being a soldier, I defend and praise him for "taking necessary measures" to insure his own safety, and the safety and protection of those he knows as his buddies, one of whom, incidentally, may be your best friend. Hooper could have thrown down his weapons and raised his hands in the air, but how many of his buddies and our friends would have cost?

Hooper's medal shouldn't remind him of those he killed; it should remind you of those he saved.

Barry D. Roberts
Economics Senior

CAB Hears Arguments

Fate Of Youth Fare Remains 'Up In Air'

College Press Service

The fate of airline Youth Fare — for the moment anyway — is in the hands of the five-man Civil Aeronautics Board. The CAB members are currently weighing the pros and cons argued recently by friends and foes of the special discount fares.

Since other matters may take priority, and potential implications of the decision will be pursued, it is not certain when a decision will be made. Meanwhile, Youth Fare lives.

Perspective

During litigation the discounts would continue.

The courts, or Congress, will probably have the final say. Unless the CAB comes up with a compromise acceptable to all parties, its decision will probably be appealed. Several Congressmen are trying to amend the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 so that Youth Fare is specifically permitted.

But for now, the controversy is in the CAB's lap. Its hearing provided a microcosm of Big Government's bureaucracy at work, spiced with some of the forces at play in society at large: the legislative branch vs. the judicial, the old vs. the young, profiteers vs. profiteers, and "good" discrimination vs. evil discrimination.

Courts vs. Legislators

The CAB, created by an act of Congress, is concerned about how its decision will hold up in court. The current hassle over Youth Fare began when Trailways Bus Company, 45 smaller carriers, and a national trade association of bus operators (also representing Greyhound) filed suit to make CAB listen to its arguments that the discounts are illegal. The Fifth Circuit Court in New Orleans agreed with some of the arguments, and ordered CAB to investigate.

CAB Examiner Arthur S. Present ruled on Jan. 21 that the fares are "unjustly discriminatory," and therefore in violation of the 1958 Act. He ordered them abolished, but the order was stayed by petitions from several airlines, from the U.S. National Student Association, and Campus Americans for Democratic Action.

While the CAB is considering whether to uphold Present's ruling, looming in the shadows is the expectation of what the courts will do if its action is challenged. The CAB feels it has to interpret the Aviation Act by legal, not popular, standards, ignoring a deluge of mail from students and parents.

Old vs. Young

The generational conflict arises at least in the charge of "unjust discrimination." The bias is hanning people over 22, who must pay full fare for essentially the same service people 12 to 22 get for half (or two-thirds) fare and must bear the burden of discounts to others, it is argued.

The bus companies refuse to bow to tradition, which grants young people discounts because of the recognized value of travel and of their lesser ability to pay.

Discount arguments say that parents, already pressed by the rising cost of putting children through college, also benefit. As one of the thousands of students who wrote the CAB protested, social security is discriminatory too — against those under 65.

Profiteers At Odds

It's clear that the real concern of the bus companies is not justice, but money. While railways counsel Howard S. Boros said bus operators thought that it was time someone spoke up for "the little man," he conceded that the first consideration was out-of-pocket loss. The kids were no longer taking the bus and leaving the profits to us, the bus companies said in effect.

Today

Income tax forms and information will be available between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays in the Student Center until April 15 at the tax booth sponsored by Beta Alpha Psi.

The English Department is offering The Dentzier-Parquhar Awards to the student or students with the best published works in creative writing. There is a $50 prize for the best poem and a $20 prize for the best story. It is necessary that each entry should have been published, but the medium of publication is not important. All entries should be typed, double-spaced, with an original and a carbon. A statement as to the place of publication should also be included. Please submit all entries to Professor Robert D. Jacobs, McVey Hall, English Department, prior to April 15.

Focus 69 will feature a Focus on Social Morality March 28 and 29 in Memorial Coliseum.

Members of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-medical and pre-dental honorary, in cooperation with Dr. Piscano, will be advising pre-med and pre-dental students throughout pre-registration in Room 8, Epsilon Hall, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

"The Colloquium on Biomedical History and Philosophy" lecture is cancelled for the month of March.

The Student Government Presidential candidates will speak Wednesday, March 26 at the meeting of the Young Americans for Freedom. The topic of discussion will be "The Executive Branch of Student Government: Its Role and Power."

The Graduate Students Association will meet Wednesday, March 26, 7:30 p.m., in Room 206 of the Student Center.

Pre-applications for student parking permits for the 1969-70 academic year are being accepted now through April 4 by the Safety and Security Division. Applications may be picked up at the Student Center Information desk, in the residence halls and the Safety and Security Division, 109 Kinkead Hall.

Tomorrow

Professor A. William Salomone of the University of Rochester will speak on Italian History at 4 p.m. Thursday, March 27, in Room 206 of the Student Center. The public is invited.

Tryouts for majorettes, flag-bearers, and twirlers, to meet with the UK Band, will be held Saturday, March 29, at 1 p.m. Applications must be returned by Thursday, March 27 to Room 33 of the Fine Arts Building. For further information contact Harry Clark at 2611.

UK Placement Service

Register Thursday for an appointment Monday with: Atlanta Public Schools, Georgia — Teachers in all fields. Oneida City Schools, New York — Teachers in all fields. Warren City Schools, Ohio — Teachers in all fields.

A KENNEDY LANDSLIDE

That's what we need in 1972.

By then Senator Kennedy will have served ten years in the United States Senate. His growth has been phenomenal — growth in knowledge, in stature, in his search for excellence as his brothers searched before him. He would bring to the Presidency youth, vitality, a forward look, and the important ability to attract unusually capable men to his administration.

Richard Nixon began his campaign immediately after Johnson was elected. We have no desire to undermine the new Administration, but like President Nixon, we believe in the principle of loyal opposition.

We hope Ted will become a candidate. We believe that there is no finer leadership in the country. If you agree and want your opinion heard, help to win a great mandate for Ted.

Start now by displaying an unusual 1 3/4" x 2 3/4" oblong KENNEDY-IN-'72 button or an attractive KENNEDY-IN-'72 bumper sticker (great for taping on walls, doors, windows). Send $1 for any 2 items of your choice to:

LEADERSHIP 1972, BOX 421, BROOKLINE VILLAGE, MASS. 02147. State which college you attend. (Also, if you want to work early toward his possible candidacy, please indicate this).

The Bee Hive Open 10-5
Closed Wednesdays
Phone 252-7500

121 Walton Avenue Lexington, Ky.
Beatrice E. Barnes

A YARN SHOP LEXINGTON'S OLDEST, LARGEST and BEST YARN SHOP

New Shipment of
CREWEL EMBROIDERY KITS
Just In!

Your Psychology professor lives with his mother?

Think it over, over coffee.
The Think Drink.

For your own Think Drink Mug, send 75¢ and your name and address to: Think Drink Mug, Dept. N, P.O. Box 559, New York, N.Y. 10046. The International Coffee Organization.

APPLICATION FOR POSITIONS IN CAMUS YMCA

Name Phone

Class Age

Address

Program Preference (see below)

YMCA Programs: Freshman Camp
United Nations Seminar
Appalachia Seminars
International Work Camp
Tutorial Programs
Tavern Talks
Urban Conferences

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Attend general meeting of YMCA on Thursday, March 27, 7:30 p.m., in Room 117 of the Student Center. Information also available on summer jobs, study, and travel Return Application to . . .

YMCA OFFICE — 102 STUDENT CENTER
or bring to meeting

OFFICIAL RING DAY

THURSDAY, MARCH 27
10 a.m. - 4 p.m.

in the
University Book Store

MIKE HOLSEY
a Trained College Specialist from JOHN ROBERTS
wants to meet you

He will assist you in selecting the ring that is right for you . . . with the proper stone, weight and style, for the most lasting and beautiful symbol of your educational achievement.

FOUR WEEK SHIPMENT

Joe Hall Tells How To Recruit—UK Style

By GREG BOECK
Kernel Staff Writer

Joe Hall, like many men, is happily married and enjoys a good family life.

But unlike most men, Joe Hall can get away with a bit of "courting" on the side.

"Let me explain," the UK freshman basketball coach and head recruiter said. "My courting is with basketball prospects.

"In a way," he continued, "it's like trying to win a girl you're courting. Once I find a kid who's a real prospect and we'd like to have, I try to find what influences him and concentrate on that area. There's always a key that will determine what school he will choose."

Just as a courting male can go about wooing his beloved unwisely, likewise, "you can easily by accident unshell a boy" on the University, Hall said.

"There's a fine line that you're dealing with. You try to keep the boy interested, but without putting a lot of pressure on him. But with each boy it's a different problem. Some like to be hounded and with others that's the fastest way of losing them," Hall said.

Hall, who is now in his fourth year at UK, recruits roughly five to six high schoolers each year to shoot basketballs for the Baron of Basketball, Adolph Rupp.

Currently, the Southeastern Conference limits the number of grants-in-aid each school may award to eight a season. Altogether, the SEC allows each member school to have 26 boys on scholarship during one year.

Hard Problem In Choosing

But Hall's problem is not always concerned with staying within the maximum of eight. It's "choosing the five or six who can get the job done playing our brand of ball," he said.

Beginning in the summer months, Hall starts contacting some 300 high school ballplayers he feels might possibly have the potential to play at UK.

Under NCAA rules, however, only after his junior year can a boy be contacted and the oftentimes fierce competition begins for his talents.

Who are these boys? How do you find out about them?

Alumni Best Sources

"I've got hundreds of sources," Hall said. "Newspapers, magazines provide much of the information, but tips from alumni are the biggest sources, I would say."

Hall likes to get out and see as many prospects as he can in the summer, although long, wearisome hours are often spent driving from state to state, because "there's not so much pressure on the boy then and he's more receptive."

By the first of the following year, the list is cut down to a "meager" 50 and then in March to about 20.

"Around spring, a boy narrows it down to four to 10 schools, and if you're still interested in him and you're still on his list, it merely becomes a problem of selling him on your school," Hall said.

'See-It-As-It-Is' Visits

"We feel our program of recruiting is the kind that, if presented truthfully, will sell itself. Our basic method is to show it as it is, with as few frills as possible. We like the boys who visit UK to see for themselves where they'll live, eat and sleep and we also like them to see the intangible things such as the community support and the school spirit," Hall said.

A prospect can't be signed until one week after the college's regular season has ended, but if a boy is signed then he is not bound to his contract.

Not until the third week in May can the inter-conference letter of intent be signed which officially is binding to a boy.

UK Offers $10,000 Grant

In return for his signature,

UK offers the individual a grant-in-aid worth $10,000. Included are tuition expenses, free room and board and free textbooks.

In addition, each signee receives $15 a month "laundry expenses."

Hall said, however, this is no real expense for the University "considering the investment."

If the boys recruited turn out as expected, they'll surely pay the University back amply by bringing winning basketball to the school and drawing crowds into the Coliseum.

Hall came to UK after coaching one year at Central Missouri where he compiled a 19-6 record. Hall, who gained CMS's first NIAA Conference championship since 1951, also held the reins at Regis College in Denver, Colo. from 1957-64.

Following graduation from UK in 1954 where he was a guard on the 1949 Wildcat team, Hall spent two years at Shepherdsville High, achieving Coach of the Year honors in the Mid-Kentucky Conference in 1957 and 1958.

Although Hall's prime reason for coming to UK was to head recruiting, the 39-year-old Kentuckian from Cynthiana spent more time this year in coaching togs.

After freshman coach Harry Lancaster donned the hat of athletic director, Hall was named the yearling's coach.

Recruiting Burden On Coaching

"I enjoy coaching first of all," said Hall. "Recruiting is a burden on coaching. It's a distraction and a job most coaches would not like to have because it involves so much time and attention."

"But I still enjoy recruiting. You get to meet so many people and it's competitive. It really keeps you on your toes."

Hall, who believes honesty and consideration for people are the basic fundamentals for successful recruiting, has made a habit of turning in the finest recruiting job in UK history.

He landed Kentucky's Mr. Basketball three years ago, Mike Casey. And he snatched one of the best big men ever to come out of Illinois, Dan Issel, and recently signed sur-fire All-Stater Larry Stamper.

It's a pretty good bet Hall's wife, Katherine Dennis and his three children don't mind his "courting."

Levi's
Restaurants
PRIVATE BANQUET ROOM
Reservation — 252-9344
119 South Limestone

STEAKS

DELICIOUS, TENDER, JUICY

Steak
Baked Potato
Salad and Bread

$1.59

all for

NOTE OUR NEW HOURS:
Sunday-Thursday — 11 a.m.-12 p.m.
Friday - Saturday — 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

Mania's

347 S. Lime 252-1722

YOUR COMPONENT SYSTEMS HEADQUARTERS

Components by Magnovox
Wollensak
Garrard
Fisher
Sony
Dual
KLH

IF IT'S SOUND
YOU LIKE . . .
TAPE IT OR PLAY IT!

Barney Miller's

232 E. Main St., Open Mon. & Fri. Nights 'til 9 p.m.

CONSIDER A CAREER

in

AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS

Make an appointment today to visit with Mr. Otten in the Placement Office on APRIL 2

GEIGY AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS

ADD A Vivid

NEW DIMENSION TO

your CAREER

Apply for:

A SUMMER EXPERIENCE IN SOCIAL WORK

contact:
James F. Thompson
Director of Personnel & Training
Department of Economic Security
Frankfort, Kentucky 40601

Blow Yourself UP TO POSTER SIZE

2 ft. x 3 ft.

Send any Black and White or Color Photo, also any newspaper or magazine photo. We will send you a 2 ft. x 3 ft. BLO-UP...perfect POP ART poster.

A $25 value for $3.50

3 ft. x 4 ft. Blo-Up $7.50

Photo Jigsaw Puzzle $3.50
1 ft. x 1 1/2 ft.
Send any B & W or color photo. Mailed in 40 easy to assemble pieces.

Your original photo returned undamaged. Add 50¢ postage and handling for EACH item ordered. Send check or M.O. (No C.O.D.) to:

PHOTO POSTER, INC Dept. C 295
210 E. 23rd St., New York, N.Y. 10010

For A Happier New Year

PREVENT BIRTH DEFECTS

GIVE TO THE MARCH OF DIMES

Panel Explores Race In Street Violence

Continued from Page One
 the proper role of the police from a nonviolent perspective, said, "Policemen are the gatekeepers of a system. They operate under the idea of uniform law. They have authority in whom they will arrest and under what circumstances."
 Sleet, who was primarily concerned with the frustrations of the black community and its involvement with the Lexington police and violence, said black people are asking the white community to recognize them as human beings.
 "Law and order for the black man means the white man pushing him out and putting him in a concentration camp," he said.

Sleet said that although the Lexington police are "fairly decent to Blacks," black people have no faith in the power structure. During the open discussion period an ironic comparison was made between policemen and Blacks. Since both are minority groups, both appear to be "hated" and both are often associated with violence in the community, the panel suggested. According to Wallace, the only working solution to violence in the streets and to differences among Blacks and Whites is trust. "We must trust each other; we must learn to respect the rights of others and we must learn to practice honesty with each other."

Kernel Photo by Dick Ware

Maj. Morris Carter of the Lexington Police Department tells a non-violence panel that police are "human beings too" and must play a special role in handling community violence. To his right, is panel chairman Bradley Cannon of the political science department. Panel members from left are Dr. Eugene Gallagher, sociology; Jim Sleet, a free lance organizer; (second row) Sgt. Robert Duncan of the Lexington Police Department; and Cal Wallace, of CALF.

Nunn Tells Educators To Remember Finances

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Gov. Louie B. Nunn strongly implied Tuesday night that educators should go easy in asking for more money from the 1970 legislature. The financial ability of Kentucky taxpayers should be kept in mind along with the primary consideration of education for children, Nunn said in the prepared text of a speech to the Kentucky School Boards Association.

"Always, in our planning, in our implementation, in our requests for support from the taxpayers," Nunn said, "the children of Kentucky must be foremost in our thoughts."

"To this primary consideration," he asserted, "we must then add a second factor in the formula which hopefully will produce the quality of education our children need to keep pace with their contemporaries in other states."

"The second factor is the financial ability of our people," he declared.

Grad Job Prospects Look Good; Draft Status Poses Problems

NEW YORK (AP)—Surveys and interviews show that job prospects in business for this year's bachelor degree candidate: are more numerous and often more financially rewarding than ever before—if the draft doesn't come first.
 The biggest salaries seem to be going to chemical engineering grads, followed closely by four other engineering groups: electrical, mechanical, metallurgical and aeronautical.
 Salaries for accountants are rising fast.
 The number of job offers for master's and doctoral candidates may be somewhat lower this year, although it also may be too early to detect a trend.
 Some master's candidates in business report $12,000-a-year-of-fers.

Rapid Advancement

Not only are initial prospects good, but chances for relatively early promotion into managerial jobs is almost assured by some companies badly in need of young executives. Thirty-year-old vice presidents are common now.

The College Placement Council, Inc., of Bethlehem, Pa., notes a sharp increase in offers to bachelor degree candidates through mid-February, from 10,824 in 1968 to 12,248 this year.

For those seeking or holding

SAR Pledges End To 'Compulsory Housing'

Continued from Page One

Concerning the campus police, SAR plans "to review whether or not it is necessary for the campus police to carry guns and mace" and "to review the selection and training of the University police."

Juul said SAR during its campaign will emphasize SG concern with academic affairs rather than social affairs.

The platform "pledges to work for the elimination of compulsory class attendance and to require professors to distribute a complete syllabus for each course."

It calls for reduction of the "required General Study hours" and an increased use of independent study courses.

SAR "pledges to develop a series of programs for student review and criticism of the academic life of the University."

It plans to "publish a free, effective, easy-to-understand teacher evaluation survey."
 A non-structured Free University is included in the SAR platform.
 The platform calls for an SC newsletter to be published bi-weekly.

Juul said the work on the SC bill concerning the Reorganization of Student Activities has been postponed by SAR until next year and a "nonpolitical atmosphere."

According to the platform, "SAR will revise the present SG constitution to eliminate confusion and to achieve more equal representation."

The platform "promises to fulfill the original purpose of the student seat on the Board of Trustees, by expressing various student opinions to the board."

To Control Violence

In the area of student affairs, SAR plans "to create a salaried staff composed of law students to handle cases and appeals brought before the University Judicial Board."

SAR "pledges to coordinate and cooperate with the Graduate Student Association on all programs and policy statements of mutual interest and to recognize the GSA as the official representative body of graduate students."

In the area of student services, SAR calls for extending the hours the Student Center stays open and plans "to increase the cultural awareness of the students through film festivals and more relevant movies."

The platform "pledges to bring a commercial bank to a convenient campus location to facilitate student financial matters."

 The platform calls for increasing student funds by "charging outside groups for using the Student Center."

It plans "to work with the Board of Trustees, the administration and the Athletic Association to establish a desirable location on the main campus for the new stadium."

SAR plans "to promote the construction of bicycle paths and the utilization of bicycle racks now in University storage."

The platform calls for an end to the "biannual swampy conditions which exist in several locations around campus by the construction of properly built sidewalks."

ROYAL

GIVES YOU

greater values in Diamonds
 by Carat Weight

OUR FAMOUS SOLITAIRE "100"

FINE BRILLIANT 3/8 CARAT DIAMOND SET IN 14K YELLOW OR WHITE GOLD $100.

• WEIGHT • VALUE • QUALITY

you will find that your money buys more at Royal

1/5 Carat $ 60 to $ 95	1/2 Carat $135 to $350
1/4 Carat $ 75 to $125	5/8 Carat $165 to $450
1/3 Carat $ 99 to $175	3/4 Carat $195 to $375
3/8 Carat $125 to $250	1 Carat $250 to $895

Other sizes in all shapes to 5 carats from 17 facets to the new 144 facets.

CHARGE PLANS AVAILABLE

ROYAL

fine jewelers

139 East Main (across from Stewart's)

Select from a wide assortment of mountings

273 E. MAIN

$6 per 24-hour day

6c per mile

255-7766

Ask about our Special Week-end Rates!

Sorry, we cannot rent to those under 21 years of age.

To Avert Campus Violence

Carver, Bright Say SG Must Be Responsive

Continued from Page One

The platform asked that the Ombudsman, rather than the Dean of Students, designate officials to authorize investigations of violations of residence halls regulations. It also asked for a standard policy on makeup examinations so that students with legitimate excuses for missing an exam should not be subject to a more difficult exam than the original one.

In other academic matters, the platform advocated expansion of the pass-fail system to include all electives, additional study facilities on campus, the Free University project, a central advising agency, a stronger student voice in choice of curricula, an effective and useful faculty evaluation guide, more internships and the University joining the National Student Association.

The platform also advocated more student involvement in service projects such as the tutorial program, big brothers for children at Kentucky Village, work with the Child Welfare Department and a poverty-area project in which graduating high school students would be brought to the University for special courses to allow them to adjust to the University and compete on a more equal level with more privileged students.

In the area of athletics, the platform said that more entrances to Memorial Coliseum should be provided for use by students. It said, "Several experimental ticket distribution methods should be used with a student referendum being the final determination as to which will be adopted."

The platform also called for more recreational facilities for students, for Alumni Gym being available to students more often, better concession facilities at athletic events and more student support for athletic teams.

The platform also said that by making SG responsive to students, a major step will be taken to prevent any violence at the University.

EKU Student Trustee Surrenders Pamphlets

Special To The Kernel

RICHMOND—Some 2800 copies of the controversial essay "The Student As Nigger" have been turned over to Eastern Kentucky University President Robert R. Martin by W. Steven Wilborn, president of the student organization.

Wilborn told student government members Tuesday night that he yielded to an order by the Eastern regents demanding a halt to distribution of the pamphlet.

The regents had declared the essay was "extremely obscene." The work by a California State College Professor depicts the role of students and faculty on American campuses as subservient.

Wilborn had passed out 50 copies of the essay to SG members one week ago, and another 150 were picked up by students in the SG office, before Wilborn was ordered to surrender them.

Last Thursday night, the student government voted to pass out the remaining 2800 copies of the essay. Following the vote, approximately 600 students marched across the Eastern campus to President Martin's home.

Wilborn was threatened by "appropriate action" by the regents if the essay copies were not surrendered.

The essay has already appeared on the UK, University of Louisville, Bellarmine-Union and Catherine Spalding Colleges without official administrative actions.

Dry Cleaning Special!

University Students and Faculty Only!

THURSDAY of Each Week

- MEN'S & LADIES' 2-piece Suits 89c each
- LADIES' PLAIN DRESSES 89c each
- SKIRTS and SWEATERS 49c each
- TROUSERS & SPORT COATS 49c each

4 LOCATIONS TO SERVE YOU

- Chevy Chase (Across from Begley's)
- Northland Shopping Center
- Southland (Across from Post Office)
- Winchester Road (Across from LaFlame)

— BIG 'B' —
One Hour Cleaners, Inc.

FOCUS '69

University of Kentucky

Friday, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, 1 p.m.

A Contemporary Issues Forum

Entitled

"Focus On Social Morality"

Featured Speakers Include . . .

T. GEORGE HARRIS

Managing Editor, Careers Today Magazine

JOHN SEIGENTHALER

Editor of The Nashville Tennessean

WILLIAM M. KUNSTLER

Noted Defense Attorney-Author

ANSON MOUNT

Public Affairs Manager for Playboy Magazine

Tickets for the entire Forum — $1.00

ON SALE AT THE CENTRAL INFORMATION DESK, STUDENT CENTER

March 28, 29

Memorial Coliseum