The sheep shearing contest was of special interest, as was the greased pig chase and the mule race, while the engineering, dairy and economic exhibits attracted a great many visitors. The genetics and poultry exhibit of rare birds showed some of the research work done by those departments in crossing different breeds of fowls.

The nutrition laboratory was in charge of Miss Marietta Eichelberger, who gave short explanations of the effects of feeding insufficient vitamins and poor and proper foods. The seed grader, mixer and water testing devices and the seed exhibits of the agronomy department attracted many.

SCHNITZLER'S "MERRY GAME" GIVEN AS FOURTH ROMANY PRESENTATION

Marjory Warden Carries Stellar Female Role in Faultless Fashion

DAN MORSE UP TO FORM

Play Continues Throughout This Week at Playhouse on Winslow Street

By JOHN WALSH, JR.
"Leibel," as Arthur Schnitzler elected to call his "Merry Game" is translated, so we have been told, "Free Love." This was to us a distressing illusion. It wasn't at all wicked.

"Liliom," "Mr. Pim Passes By" and the "Intimate Strangers" seem to us to have run the gamut of humor and pathos; so when the "Merry Game" was announced we resignedly decided to go and sit callously through "another Romany play;" and we would not shed a tear even if they did the death scene from "Liliom" all over. But we did, almost, in the first and second acts and in the third—Oh, well of course—

About an hour after the last curtain when our throat had unknotted enough for thought we began to wonder just how Marjory Warden did it. Then remembering Julie, Olivia and the Little Flapper, smiled blandly and decided that it was "art." And that's that.

But after all you cannot evade the question or resort to the subterfuge of "that's art." Some emotions refuse to be expressed or translated by mere words. It seems impossible that any one can act seemingly inexpressible anguish as poignantly as Miss Warden did in the last act. She reached heights apparently beyond her histrionic ability. One can not just pretend such things.

But we did not cry; not a single drop. We couldn't. We were too miserable. At Liliom we sobbed enjoyably; in fact we think we sobbed

UNIVERSITY PLAYHOUSE TO PRESENT IBSEN PLAY

"A Doll's House" Announced as Dramatic Class Production

The University of Kentucky playhouse group will present Ibsen's "A Doll's House," at the Romany Theatre for five days beginning Tuesday, May 20.

"A Doll's House" was the first Ibsen play produced in this country, being first presented in Louisville, Ky., in 1883 by Madame Modjeska and at the Woodland Auditorium in Lexington in 1909, when a professional group of players offered the production.

"A Doll's House" has the greatest peripetia or break-down ever written and the last act is unquestionably the greatest last act that has ever been written since the time of Shakespeare or even before. Ibsen wrote "A Doll's House" to show a woman's soul in travail beset by obstacles of her own and other's making and he thoroughly accomplished his task for Nora Helmer, a lark-like creature in Act I, grows before our eyes from scene to scene until, at the fall of the curtain, she is another woman.

The University of Kentucky playhouse group is composed of students in the advanced class in dramatic production taught by Prof. W. R. Sutherland. The cast has been selected on a competitive basis and eighteen hours a week are being devoted to rehearsals. Scenery, all of which is being newly built especially for this play is under the supervision of Professor Sutherland and the costumes for the production are being designed by Oscar Hambleton.

The cast is as follows:
Nora..... Regina Stanfield Helmer.....
.....Henry Harper and Robert Clem

The above charts shows the relative standing of the 32 alumni clubs of the Alumni Association, giving the number of members each, the number and per cent who contributed, the total amount contributed by each club, and the number and per cent of each who have paid their dues for this year.

It should be a source of pride to the clubs to note how much higher the percentage of those who contributed to the Greater Kentucky Fund is than the percentage of those who have paid their dues. No doubt many of the members with dues out at the present time will send them in soon. The large per cent of contributors to the Greater Kentucky Fund is evidence of the interest the clubs created among the alumni and former students.

If the officers of each of the clubs and members too will study this chart they will find how their club compares with the others. The Birmingham Club wins the prize for the best paid up membership, with the Buffalo Club not far behind and LaGrange, Ky., and the Huntington, W. Va., clubs a close third with 88 per cent.

The Evansville Club leads with a percentage of 80 in contributions to the Greater Kentucky Fund, while the Huntington and Buffalo Clubs are almost tied for second place with a percentage of 77.

BIRMINGHAM ALUMNI CLUB HOST TO JUNIOR ENGINEERS

Twenty-five members of the Junior class of the College of Engineering, under the guidance of Professors C. S. Crouse and M. W. Barbee, concluded a week's trip by inspecting the mining and steel industries in and around Birmingham. Arriving Friday morning, May 2, four hours late, which did not dampen the ardor of the party, according to a communication from the Birmingham Club, the visitors were met at the station and taken charge of by the Birmingham alumni, who conveyed them by automobile to the

During the two days the party was at Birmingham the students visited the Fairfield Steel Works and Car Shop, the Edgewater Coal Mines, the Central Waters Works and the Ensley Steel plant. A number of the alumni are employed by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company. At the majority of the places visited the students were entertained to lunch or supper by the courtesy of the Birmingham Club or the managers of the companies.

A letter from the Birmingham Club says: "On Friday night the Birmingham Alumni entertained with a dinner at the Southern Club which proved to be the largest and probably the most enjoyable affair given by the local club since its organization. Thirty-eight ardent supporters of the University were seated at the table. J. M. Sprague, class of '07, president of the local club welcomed the guests with a fitting address and responses were given by all present. College yells, recitations and songs concluded a most pleasant evening.

"A surprise in the nature of an engineering chart on a white print, showing graphically the itinerary of the inspection trip through the Birmingham district was presented each guest. A set of notes describing the metallurgical advantages of the Birmingham district and giving a brief outline of the operations at the various plants visited was also presented each visitor.

The party returned to Lexington Sunday, May 4.

- And Others

In 1891 the first electric motor was put to work in a steel mill. In 1905 the first large rolling mill motor, and in 1906, the first reversing mill motor were also installed in steel mills. These motors—all Westinghouse Motors—were history-makers in the steel industry.

Other industries too have profited by Westinghouse engineering pioneering.

—In the textile industry, individual motor drive became a reality in 1902, in the Sauguoit Silk Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

—In the rubber industry, Westinghouse ideas as originally applied in 1900, are today the standard method of application in plants throughout the world.

—In the handling of materials at the world's great shipping centers, in the manufacturing of paper, in the motion picture industry, in coal mining, in meat packing, railroading, ship building—in fact, in every branch of human activity can be found progress and profits traceable directly to the pioneering of Westinghouse Engineers.

LET'S CO-OPERATE

"Ag Day" was observed on the University campus last Friday afternoon. Recently it has become a custom for each of the colleges to have their day. The Kernel advocates these days which each of the colleges hold. They serve to enlighten the members of one college as to what is being done in the others.

We all want to see the University of Kentucky the largest and best in the country. Yet there has never been the spirit of co-operation which we feel to be necessary to our ultimate success. We feel that when the different colleges see what is being done in each of the others there will be a more sympathetic understanding among the students.

Using as an illustration the lesson of the sticks, we wish to call your attention to the ease with which the University could be disrupted standing divided.

May 23 is Engineers' Day. Let us all visit the Engineers on that day and see just what equipment they have and what is being done in their college. Let us help the Engineers to make their day a successful one. Co-operation in this University is the key with which we can unlock the doors to our final achievements; therefore, let us all strive to have a spirit of co-operation here that will eclipse that in any other institution in the country.

SCHNITZLER'S "MERRY GAME" GIVEN AS FOURTH ROMANY PRESENTATION

better than any one in the house and left wiping away the tears quite frankly, or one might say ostentatiously. But somehow the "Merry Game" was different. We did not care whether anyone saw how we felt or not. We were hurt. Christine was not the only one who had suffered. Anyhow she had the lake as surcease. We will not say anything more concerning Miss Warden if we can help it. It is needless to try to gild the lily.

About Dan Morse we can say many things that we have always wanted to say. It seems as if he is forever getting himself into disagreeable messes requiring chivalrous though discomfiting extraction. We remember that in "The Thirteenth Chair" he was all mixed up in a murder in which he staunchly and steadfastly stood by his sweetheart, and again in "Lady Windemere's Fan" he was the harried young husband seeking to protect his wife, though with a great deal of distress to himself. However in each incident he emerged with his self respect intact and the approbation of the audience, through having pursued the manly course.

As Mr. Fritz, Mr. Morse does the best work of any of his stellar roles. He portrays the confusions and indecisions of youth as remarkably as does Miss Warden. Morse is denied her opportunity of rising to any great emotional heights but his delineation of a bewildered and utterly dejected young man is a fitting corollary to Christine's predicament.

We are not sure whether Mr. Morse has been purposely selected to play roles of young men who always make the best of adverse circumstances or not, but he makes heroism through adversity so attractive we are rather inclined to think that he has.

We are undecided about Ida Kenney Risque as Toni. She was undoubtedly good but at times we confused her with Violet Young. Of course the part may have required serpentine movements but we are inclined to believe that the voice and diction were particularly Miss Young's. However, it goes without saying that if Miss Risque could be as good as she was imitatively she would be excellent in her own interpretation.

We think we are undecided also about James Davidson, he was good at times and at others he was not. At first he seemed eager to rush through the act, but of course many faults may be attributed to the initial night. Nevertheless Mr. Davidson contributed charms and good looks to the play.

There is no indecision about Lucille Stillwell. She was excellent as Catherine Binder. We regret that she did not have a more important part enabling her to show her mastery of comedy as she did in "Lady Windemere's Fan."

Doctor Marion Miller's paternal recitations were metrically admirable. The iambic foot was used to advantage. As Hans Vyring, Christine's father, he looked as one might have expected Hans Vyring, Christine's father to look. If he always spoke in those oscillating tones we cannot blame Christine for drowning herself.

The minute "A Gentleman," played by Mr. William A. Sutherland, stepped on the stage we knew he was the "deadliest swordsman in all Paris." Later it developed he was a crack pistol shot but nevertheless our first glance told us it was all over with Fritz. Evidently "a Gentleman" couldn't bother to send a second to deliver his challenge and besides there was a matter of some letters. He was courteous enough, however, to be nearly as ill at ease as Fritz.

CLIFTON WESELMAN WILL GO WITH MOTION PICTURE CO.

Clifton Wesselman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude S. Wesselman, of 367 Walnut Street, a special student in the Art Department of the University of Kentucky, has taken a position with the Jesse L. Lasky Motion Picture Company, of Hollywood, Cal., and will leave for the coast the middle of June in company with Carl Goetz, of Romany Theatre fame, who has signed a contract with the same concern as assistant director.

Mr. Wesselman has shown unusual promise as an artist and will take up his work in the technical department of the moving picture company.

Winchester Girls Suffer 3-1 Defeat by U. K. Team in First Match

The girls' tennis team of the University of Kentucky defeated Kentucky Wesleyan College 3 to 1 Tuesday afternoon at Winchester in the first match of the season. The meet was called on account of rain, and the score accepted at that point.

Elizabeth Wilson and Eugenia O'Hara won the first set 10-8, and the rain prevented further play.

Wesleyan will meet the Kentucky girls on the University of campus courts Tuesday, May 20.

Dates for matches are being arranged with the University of Cincinnati, Berea, University of Louisville, and K. C. W., which will be announced later.

EXAMINATIONS FOR SENIORS WILL BE HELD MAY 19 TO 20

WILDCATS SECOND IN S. I. C. MEET

HALL BREAKS RECORD IN 2 MILE RUN, HUGHES AND BRADY ALSO WIN EVENTS

Mississippi A. & M. Takes First Place Among Southern Colleges

TRACY AND MILLER SCORE

Champion Aggregation Sets Five of Eight New Marks Made

The University of Kentucky track team returned Sunday from Montgomery, Ala., where they took second place in the annual S. I. C. meet held there last week.

To the surprise of spectators, who expected the strong Louisiana State University to furnish the second place team in the meet, the Wildcats with only six men entered, came second to Mississippi A. & M., who won the meet by an overwhelming score, taking all of the trophies offered in various events. The score of the winning aggregation was 64 3/4 points while that of Kentucky was 26 3/4.

Ray Hall, the Kentucky entry in the one and two mile run, took first place in the two mile event and broke the Southern Intercollegiate record for it when he negotiated the distance in the remarkable time of 9 minutes 58.5 seconds, completely outclassing the field. Hall finished his race 200 yards in front of his nearest competitor and came down the stretch in a sprint.

Eight other records fell during the Saturday afternoon events, five of them going to Mississippi A. & M. aggregation. The Mississippi team took the trophy for winning the meet, that offered for high point man, and the Crampton mile relay trophy.

Two other first places went to the Wildcats when Brady came within three inches of the S. I. C. record for the pole vault, jumping 11 feet nine inches. Hughes took the third first place for Kentucky when he jumped 21 feet three inches in the broad jump. Other scorers for the University of Kentucky were: Tracy second place in the 440-yard dash; Brady second place in the broad jump, being beaten by Hughes for first place, and Hughes tied for third place in the high jump.

Summary of events in which the Wildcats scored:

440-yard dash—Roy, of Clemson, first; Miller, of Kentucky, second; Warner, of L. S. U., third; Veal, of Georgia, fourth. Time, 51.5 seconds.

100-yard dash—Pepper, of Mississippi A. & M., first; Tracy, of Kentucky, second; Minor, of Sewanee, third; Cleckler, of Georgia, fourth. Time, 10 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Brunson, of Mississippi A. & M., first; Kay, of Tennessee, second; Moreland, of L. S. U., third; Nash, of Sewanee, fourth. Time, 15.6 seconds.

Two-miles—Hall of Kentucky, first; Deatherage, of Tennessee, second; Smith, of Mississippi A. & M., third; Boyd, of Auburn, fourth. Time, 9 minutes, 58.5 seconds.

Broad jump—Hughes, of Kentucky, first, 21 feet, 3 inches; Brady, of Kentucky, 20 feet 11 3/4 inches; Hall, of Clemson, third, 20 feet 11 inches; Dorman, of L. S. U., fourth, 20 feet 5 inches.

Pole vault—Brady, of Kentucky, first; Williams, of Georgia Tech, and Locke, of Auburn, tied for second; Jones, of Mississippi A. & M., fourth. Height, 11 feet 9 inches.

220-yard dash—Pepper, of Mississippi A. & M., first; Cleckle, of Georgia, second; Tracy, of Kentucky, third; Minner, of Sewanee, fourth. Time, 22.7 seconds.

WILDCAT BASEBALL NINE IS ON TENNESSEE TOUR

Lose First Contest to Volunteers; Win Second Game by Score of 5 to 1

Thirteen members of the University of Kentucky baseball team left Lexington Sunday night for Tennessee where they were to play the University of Tennessee, Maryville and Vanderbilt two games each, returning to Lexington Sunday, May 18. Hughes joined the team at Knoxville.

The first game on the trip was captured by the University of Tennessee by the score of 5 to 1. Gregg pitched an excellent game and allowed the opponents but five hits, but they were five too many as the score shows. Tolley, who was on the mound for the Volunteers held the Wildcat sluggers to three hits and managed to pole out one of the five allowed the Vols. He also scored one of their five runs. The University of Kentucky aggregation secured its first double plays of the season when the King to Rouse to Miller combination functioned properly on two different occasions. Hughes secured a three-bagger.

The second game of the series went to the University of Kentucky nine by the same score that they had been defeated by the day before, 5 to 1. Hughes pitched effective ball and held the southerners to seven hits.

Paul Rouse, captain of the Cats, hit one of Cantwell's offerings for three bases and Hughes aided in the victory by slugging the ball for a double. King is under indictment in Knoxville for pilfering one of the University of Tennessee nine's bases.

HOW TO TIE A BOW TIE ON A TUXEDO COLLAR

Hold the tie in your right hand and the collar in your right. Slip your neck in the collar and run the left-hand end of the tie over the right with the left hand, steadying the right end with the other hand. Then drop both ends, catching the left end with the right hand and the right end with the left hand. Reverse hands and pick up the loose end with the nearest hand. Pull this end through the loop with the unengaged hand and squeeze. This ties the bow. As a finishing touch, disengage the hands.—Flamingo.

NO USE FOR THEM

A family moved into Arkansas, and as they had been accustomed to keeping everything under lock and key, they brought their locks with them. Having a substantial looking tool house, the head of the family put a big lock on the door.

The neighbors for miles around dropped in to look them over, but seemed to be in a hostile frame of mind after one visit. Finally a delegation of the leading farmers called on the man of the house.

"Why did you move among us if you thought we were as bad as you try to make out?" they asked.

"Bad? Why, I have the best kind of an opinion of you people."

"Well, then, why do you lock your toolhouse? Don't you know that nobody in Arkansas ever stole anything to work with?"—Judge.

"They are not idlers," explained his friend soothingly. "Here's a doctor who wants to look you over, a lawyer ready to bring suit for you and a producer of comic films who would like to sign you up."—Seacoast News.
