WILDCATS OPEN TENNIS SEASON AGAINST INDIANA

Downingmen, Hampered By Lack Of Practice, Meet Hoosiers On Campus Courts Thursday

KENTUCKY T-MEN BEAT INDIANS LAST YEAR

Apprentices Operation Puts Captain Dave Randall Out For Season

The University tennis team will open their 1937 schedule Thursday afternoon with Indiana University as their opponents on the local court.

The team's chances were crippled considerably when Dave Randall, captain of the team, suffered an attack of appendicitis and had to be operated on Friday night. This means that he will be out of action the rest of the campaign and that Francis Montgomery will take over the duties of captain.

Due to the rain that has been falling for the past three weeks, the team has not been able to get outside for practice as much as they would like. The tournament that is usually played among the men to determine the best six players has not been run off and Coach H. E. Downing will select the men that he thinks are the best.

The six who will probably be picked are Warfield Donohue, who has not had as much practice as some of the others, but who shows such ability that he will be either No. 1 or No. 2 man, Captain Montgomery, Bob Evans, Oscar Wanser, Phil Englehardt and either Walter Botts or R. Foster.

Kampus Kernels

Lances will hold its official initiation at 5:30 p. m. Sunday, April 25, at the Patio.

Suky will meet at 5 p. m. today in the basement of the Alumni gymnasium. It is important that all be present.

The Y. M. C. A. Freshman cabinet will meet at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the "Y" rooms.

The Y. W. C. A. social service group will meet at 3 p. m. in the Woman's building to hear a discussion on the "Education of the Negro," by Miss Viola Johnson of the Constitutional school.

Initiation for Theta Sigma Phi will be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in the Woman's building.

Theta Sigma Phi will hold their initiation at 7:30 o'clock Friday in the Woman's building.

Major Thomas Murphy, army medical examiner, will be at the Army beginning at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to examine R. O. T. O. graduates applying for 1 year's active service under the Thomason act.

Tumbling under the auspices of the W. A. A. is being held at 4 p. m. each day in the Woman's gymnasium. All members should be present.

There will be a meeting of the A. W. S. at 5 p. m. Wednesday in the Woman's building.

There will be a Stroller meeting 4 o'clock Wednesday in room 203 of the Administration building.

Convocation At 10 a. m. Thursday To Climax Peace Week Activities

UNDERSTANDING PEACE, NOT PEACE AND UNDERSTANDING

THE PRESERVATION OF INTERNATIONAL peace is a vital problem at the present time. The desire for peace is widespread, but the ability of the nations of the world to keep out of war is being generally questioned. Experience has taught us that peace cannot be maintained by a vague desire. The forces that draw nations to war become too strong in times of international stress to be resisted effectively by an unwilling but uninformed people. The war hysteria is far too potent.

It is the duty of every intelligent student to give time and thought to the study of the causes of war and to reach a definite position of understanding the underlying factors and attendant circumstances of war.

The convocation Thursday morning and the forums to be held tonight and Thursday night at Patterson hall are planned as a part of the national student movement to face the war question candidly and intelligently. Thinking students will attend these meetings.

Program of Forums, Panel Discussions, and Displays On Peace To Be Held All This Week

CLASSES DISMISSED FOR PEACE CONVO

Dr. Walter Horton Will Be Guest Speaker At Convocation

Featuring a general convocation on Thursday morning, April 22, at 10 a. m. in Memorial hall, for which all classes are to be dismissed, a program of forums, panel discussions, and displays on peace will be held this week on the campus, opening on Monday evening and continuing through until Friday.

The peace program includes a forum on the "Present International Situation," to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Patterson hall, which will be led by Dr. E. G. Trimble of the political science department, open to all students and faculty members. A forum on the "Causes and Cures of World War," led last night by Dr. Leon W. Cohen of the mathematics department, also in connection with the peace program.

Cadet Parade Scheduled For 11 a. m. Thursday

The first regimental parade of the school year will be held at 11 a. m. Thursday, April 22, during the fourth hour class period.

Plans for the parade having been made last November when the entire spring schedule of parades was drawn, made it impossible for the department of military science to postpone the parade, it was said.

Eminent Lecturer To Fling Boomerang

Physicists To Hear Dr. C. H. Robertson Elaborate On Bushmen's Weapon

Dr. C. H. Robertson, nationally known science lecturer, will deliver an address under the sponsorship of Sigma Pi Sigma, national honorary physics society, at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the physics lecture room in Kastle hall as one of a series of lectures being made at leading universities throughout the mid-west. His subject will be "The Boomerang—A Gyroscopically Precessed Airlift."

Dr. Robertson is a man of wide and varied experiences which have taken him to all parts of the world. After graduate work at the University of Chicago and at University of California, he was associated with the faculties of South Dakota State College and Purdue University. During the World War he was with the Allied armies in Russia, Siberia, and China. Following the conflict, he was Honorary Technical Advisor to the Ministry of Industries, Republic of China. Since 1921 he has been conducting private studies in research in American education.

BACTERIOLOGY LECTURE

Dr. Philip R. Edwards, of the Agricultural Experiment Station, will speak before the University Bacteriological Society tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Kastle hall on "Present Trends in the Classification of the Streptococci."

ENGINEERS TO MEET

Thomas H. Outler, Kentucky state highway engineer and alumnus of the University, will be one of the featured speakers at the annual banquet of the meeting of the Kentucky society for professional engineers Friday evening, April 23 and 24, at the Brown hotel, Louisville. This meeting, which was originally scheduled for January, was postponed because of the flood.

DOCTOR McVEY TO BE SPEAKER AT WAC BANQUET

All Tickets Must Be Bought By Wednesday Noon So Seating Arrangements May Be Made

PHI BETA TO GIVE MUSICAL SELECTIONS

Honorarys Will Pledge and Announce Awards At Banquet

Addresses by Dr. Frank L. McVey and Brownie Leach, publicity director of Keeneland, awards to outstanding women students, and pledging to women's honorary on the campus will be features of the Women's Administration banquet, to be held on Wednesday, April 21, at 7 o'clock in the Commodore.

All tickets must either be purchased or reserved by Wednesday noon in order that definite seating arrangements may be made. They may be bought from members of the W. A. C. or they may be reserved in the office of the Dean of Women.

On the program are the Women's Glee club and a sextet composed of members of Phi Beta, honorary musical fraternity, in musical selections. A parody skit will carry out the motif of horse racing which is being used for decorations, invitations, and entertainment.

Awards will be made at the banquet to the outstanding junior women by the Association of Women Students, and Mortar Board will present cups to the freshman with the highest scholastic standing and to the freshman residents of Patterson hall having the nearest round Theta Sigma Phi will present an award to the freshman in the department of journalism with the highest scholastic standing, and freshman women who have made perfect cups will be honored.

Members of Phi Beta, honorary literary organization, will hold a feature of the program is the library display which will be held throughout the week. Posters and cartoons some of which are original works of University students, books, pamphlets, and exhibits, all pertaining to peace, will be on display in the main room of the library.

Ryland To Interpret Asbury French Play

Dr. Robert Ryland, head of the department of romance languages, will act as interpreter of "Les Femmes Ridescales," a French comedy by Moliere, to be presented by a group of Asbury College students at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, May 22, in the auditorium of the University Training School.

The entire program will be given in French, but Dr. Ryland will give explanations on the subject matter of the play. Other features of the program will be scenes from "Le Voyage de M. Perrichon," and some musical numbers.

MISS AVERILL TO NEW YORK

Miss Rebecca Averill, instructor in physical education, left Saturday for New York where she will attend three meetings of physical education groups. She will return Monday, April 26.

Campus Hops Will Conclude May 15

The year's series of All-Campus dances will be brought to a close Saturday, May 15, when the last of Dean T. T. Jones' sponsored hops will be held in the Alumni gym from 9 until 12 o'clock. Admission will be 25 cents per couple or stag.

LISTENING POST TO GO ON CBS

Columbia Chain To Present Program From UK Listen-Center Post At Lots Creek On May 2

A small log cabin on remote Lots Creek in Southwestern Knott county will serve as a temporary radio studio for a Columbia Broadcasting System program from 2:45 to 3:15 p. m. Sunday, May 2.

The location from which the program will come is one of the University of Kentucky's 25 radio listening centers established in the isolated sections of the Kentucky mountains. Dr. Frank L. McVey will tell in a brief talk the role of radio in mountain education. David M. Young, curator of the University's geological museum, will deliver an address on the geography of the Kentucky mountains. The program will include interviews with a mountain people in which their customs and mode of living will be brought out, performances of mountain dance music, renditions of mountain ballads, and an explanation of the University's listening center plan.

The broadcast will emanate from the Lots Creek post office, which is named Cordia. This log cabin forms the nucleus of the Lots Creek community center under the leadership of Miss Alice Stone. The object of the center is to raise the intellectual life of the community through the circulation of books, the organization of clubs, the promotion of a recreational program, and the effective use of radio.

To overcome the difficulty of a lack of telephones in this district, which has caused considerable worry to the engineers of the broadcasting system, a portable short wave transmitter will be brought in. The program will be short waved for a distance of seven or eight miles to Hazard, where a receiver will pick up the broadcast and feed it into the telephone lines serving the network.

Vandenbosch Given $500 Study Grant

Dr. Amy Vandenbosch, head of the department of political science, has been given a $500 grant by the Social Science Research council of New York to make a study of the Netherlands' foreign policy and diplomacy. Doctor Vandenbosch will leave following completion of the first summer school term and will be away from the University until February, 1938.

MAGAZINE PRINTS HOPEWELL ARTICLE

An article entitled "Pity the Typesetting Machine," written by Billy Hopewell, sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, appeared with a by-line in the April issue of the Inland Printer, one of the country's leading publications for printers, which is published in Chicago.

The article, which was 1000 words in length, was written for feature writing class under the instruction of Niel Plummer last semester.

Ross J. Chepeleff, Detroit, Mich., junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, is named editor-in-chief of The Kernel, and Roger Brown, Ashland, editor-in-chief of the 1938 Kentuckian. The annual meeting of the Board of Student Publications held yesterday afternoon in McVey hall.

Roger Brown is vice-president of Delta Sigma Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity, member of the Cosmopolitan club, Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising fraternity, Guignol players, and for the past year was editor-in-chief of the Student humor publication. Before his appointment he was managing-editor of The Kernel.

Roger Brown is president of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity, member of Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honorary, Seaboard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, and Lances, junior honorary.

Alfred H. Vogel, Schenectady, N. Y., was named business manager of The Kernel. He is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma Phi social fraternity, member of the Cosmopolitan club, Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising fraternity, Guignol players, and for the past year was editor-in-chief of the Student humor publication. Before his appointment he was managing-editor of The Kernel.

Other positions on The Kernel staff as approved by the board on recommendation of the new editor are: Managing editor, Raymond T. Lathrem, Stamping Ground; Associate editor, George Henry Kerler, Clifton, N. J.; and News editor, Malcolm Patterson, Lexington.

Raymond Lathrem is president of Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity, member of Lances, junior member of Omicron Delta Kappa, advertising fraternity, Guignol players, and for the past year has served as a special writer on The Kernel.

Malcolm Patterson is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, a pledge to Alpha Sigma Phi social fraternity, and for the past year has been an assistant news editor of The Kernel.

Contracts for engraving, and photography for the 1938 Kentuckian were also approved by the board at its meeting yesterday. The Retro Engraving company of Cincinnati was awarded the engraving contract, and Lafayette Studio the photography contract.

Members of the Board of Student Publications are Professor Enoch Grehan, head of the department of journalism; James S. Shropshire, director of student publications; D. H. Peak, business manager of the University; Dean L. J. Horlacher of the College of Agriculture; Virginia Robinson, president of the A. W. S.; Lela Jackson, president of the Men's Student Council; and Dick Butler, president of the senior class.

U. K. DELEGATES AT MEET
Dr. W. S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education, and J. D. Williams, director of the Training School, left Sunday for Gainesville, Fla., to attend a conference on "Cooperative Study of Child Growth and Development" to be held at the University of Florida. Six universities will be represented.

OLD RETIREES, NEW KERNEL STAFF AS PICKED BY BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS YESTERDAY, WILL MAKE ITS DEBUT FRIDAY

HERE SHALL THE KERNEL ALL STUDENT RIGHTS MAINTAIN

To the New Editor of The Kernel:

It doesn't seem quite right for me to be styling an editorial thusly, but I guess you can understand how I feel. This is the last opportunity I'll get to throw my junk into these columns. I advise you not to take it too seriously; just put it down as a whim.

There's not a thing I can tell you about this job that you don't know already. We have worked side by side for a year, and though the result may not have been brilliant, the paper has come out every time it was scheduled to come out. There is no use for me to try to tell you anything about The Kernel, so I want you to understand that I'm doing this merely for my own satisfaction.

But some day, Chep, when you're sitting in this chair, playing on this brow-beaten typewriter, and somebody opens the door and the copy paper blows all over the room, and you're worried there is libelous matter in the scandal column, and the b. (God bless him) wants you to run a free reader's adv., and Billy comes up and tells you we're four inches short for the first run, and they hand you a letter from an alumnus who says this is a heck of a way to run a university, anyway—well, you may want to sink off somewhere and hide.

And then you read Theo and laugh, and Kerler writes a young masterpiece, and Johnson and Harris are carrying the chips on their shoulders at just the right angle, and you grab a nice clean inky-smelling sheet from the press, and Professor so-and-so calls up and says, "by G — what a fine editorial that is!" and then you can say to yourself: not so bad for a bunch of kids who are just going to school anyway.

There'll be many times when you won't want to admit it, but you've got a lot to be thankful for. We hardly know what the word censorship means. But we shouldn't forget that the lack of it implies a trust. Some college editors, even in schools which have a more noted liberal tradition than Kentucky, aren't so lucky. That lack should be respected, because the words in the masthead are "official newspaper" and people off the campus sometimes take that to mean that our columns express the sentiment of the University and its administrators, which isn't the case at all.

Yes, you are fortunate to have a department faculty which wants you to work with them and not for them. When you make a mistake, they will laugh and tell you about the time they got scooped or the time they pied a form or messed a line up in a climactic editorial. And don't forget about the men who hold the plant together, Prof. Grehan and Shrop and Dave, because this always ought to temper your attitude towards the paper and the plant: The Kernel came up from nothing, built itself through sheer hard work and singleness of purpose into one of the finest printing plants in the state, and it was these men and men such as these who did it, and if you sometimes feel, as you will, that maybe it's just not like this in other colleges, remember that you can count on your fingers the colleges that have their own plants, and don't have to run downtown to have some indifferent printer throw the paper together.

Never forget, Ross, that no matter how hard you try you'll never put out a paper to suit everybody or even almost everybody; you'll never be 'clean' enough for the proof-reading maniacs, nor will you ever carry enough of sports for the Bradley hall boys, of scandal for the collegians, of society for the socialites, of editorials for this group or that; as another college editor said, it's like winking at a girl in the dark; it's good exercise, but you get no results.

And by the same token, no matter how good you are, or bad, you will be considered a college newspaperman and no more, just as the grizzled and hard-bitten veteran is considered a full-fledged journalist.

And last of all, remember that when it comes to bare facts, The Kernel is not a publicity sheet for the University, and no matter how bromidic it sounds, your real responsibility is to the student body and to no one else. You know that I think the punch in a college paper should be in the editorial page, and, Ross, I think you're the man who can put it there.

CUTTIN' UP THE CAMPUS

with THEO NADELSTEIN

SPEAKING IN SUPERLATIVES:

The most exciting letter to receive is the one which hints about a package being sent... the most disillusioning letter to receive is the one from your best friend back home in which is recounted all the fickle doings of your heartbeast... the most welcome letter to receive is the invitation to a snazzy week-end party... the most amusing letter to receive is the one from an unknown fan... the most exasperating letter to receive is the one beginning, "Your bill is long overdue—"... the most embarrassing letter to receive is the one you open by mistake... and the most disappointing letters are the ones you expect and never get!

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT — "I'm afraid there are two of you!"

THEO-RIES:

IF WE SENIORS could be freshmen again, could have a chance to start anew, were able to make a fresh start, and live our college lives all over... WE SENIORS in all probability, would do exactly the same things again and have just as much fun!

I OFFER CAMPUSALUTES:

- 1. To the peace education program being offered to stoogents this week through forums and convocation... because if we're going to learn about maintaining national peace, we'd better learn now, while we still have it.
- 2. To editor-in-chief Spencer, who hands over his duties on the Kernel today... because he's done so well with a job that has more "grief" than "chief" in it!
- 3. To the campusweeheart who manages to have lots of gal friends... because that's proof of a really swell personality, women being what they are about other wimmen!
- 4. To the stoogent who can study for an exam two days before it's scheduled rather than waiting until midnight of the eve before the quiz, like the rest of us do... because that's a stoogent for you!
- 5. To the campusmoothie who can offer masculine friendship to gals on a non-romantic basis, and still remain interesting... because they're a rare species in the South.

CAMPUSIGHS:

Campusus who would rather study, when spring is in the air... stoogens shouting out of windows to gals they know, and to gals they'd like to know... getting that "has-been" feeling as time marches on towards graduation... bull sessions in which everybody asks, "Why live?" and nobody has an answer... and meetings which take up all afternoon and all evening!

Seemingly So...

By ODIS LEE HARRIS

It is in a somewhat skeptical manner that we lift our eyebrows while reading a newspaper dispatch concerning the brutal torture and slaying of two Mississippi negroes charged with robbing and murdering a storekeeper. The skepticism arises not as to the authenticity of the story but as to the character of the traditional southern gentlemen who promoted and executed such an act.

If the promoters were of the southern-gentlemen stock then it follows that the South is guilty of deceit in camouflaging animal brutality, pagan savagery, and unmerciful race discrimination under the banner of "southern gentlemen."

The trying of "nigger meat" with blow torches is indeed somewhat of an innovation in the life of the just, God-fearing, God-loving, forever merciful, southern gentlemen as poked down society's throat by tradition.

One is inclined to don the cynical smile when reading the constitution of certain inalienable rights regardless of race, color, or previous servitude. These principles are of no concern to the gentlemen of the South, who go unmoored in their race discrimination.

Just why pigmentation of a man's skin is taken as a criterion of his worth still remains unexplained. The fact that one man's skin, in reflecting less light than another's, determines to a large extent his place and worth in society is gross irony. The color of a man's skin does not affect his soul.

"Justice" in the South is swift, especially so when the punishable are negroes. According to law it is as much of an offense for a white to commit a crime against a negro as it is for a negro to commit a crime against a white; but only according to law, not according to the southern traditions of southern gentlemen.

The South's attitude toward the negro might be explained in part as nothing more than the results of the "die-hardness." It is not easy to forget that the negro was a slave and public property some 75 years ago, and not a citizen of the United States, as he is today.

It is also interesting to know that the bill now before Congress in regard to mob violence such as demonstrated in Mississippi is lacking support of many of the "honorable" senators and representatives of the southern states. They are too much concerned in saving the constitution.

This Campus and That World

By RALPH E. JOHNSON

PATHS ARE CONVERGING, yours and mine. Once, upon this convergence, I will find me a wife, who, as I, traveled a quarter of a century—a third of our promised life—towards this meeting.

Who knows that you and I might not take the same road tomorrow? Who knows? Eagerly, I look forward to that morrow.

Each sun rise promises me one more prize package, contained in which is life or death.

As strange as the vast strangeness of your own birth is the strangeness of tomorrow. Do you know you are free of will? I do not know, nor do I wish it so, for I am enroute as directed and ordained. Responsible for nothing I think or do, contented with my lot, for who am I to object to the gods, I have my purpose, will do my job because I am unable to avoid it.

If it is my purpose to occupy a position of reformer I must not note the savage attack of critics so ordained, for I am to be so regarded. Those little things will be cared for. Meanwhile I shall be eager for tomorrow, eager for the job by which I will contribute my bit and earn my fare. Eager for the wife I will have, or not; for my friends, for my "chips," eager for my enemies.

Eager as I am now for life, its promise and fulfillments, I shall be eager for death in its time. I cannot fear death then for I know the lifted senses I now enjoy shall be dulled. I must then look for relief in release. Freedom to return to the dust of which I really am, to the dust by which I am related to the universes, to all of the fathomless spaces, to each of the billions of stars, more closely and recently to this solar system, then to man to man—my life with its dust belongs.

As proof is death, inescapable, which jerks you out of consciousness and returns you to the earth, which (or with it all) with all it contains, was snatched off of the sun, which is from a larger sun and infinitum—from a oneness.

E. E. Cummings poetically describes his kinship to the oneness of the earth:

When god lets my body be
From each brave eye ball sprout
a tree
fruit that dangles therefrom the purpled world will dance upon Between my lips which did sting
a rose shall beget the spring that madens whom passion wastes will lay their little breasts
My strong fingers beneath the snow into strenuous birds shall go my love walking in the grass their wings will touch with her face and all the while shall my heart be
With the bulge and nuzzle of the sea

So proud shall I be
"With the bulge and nuzzle of the sea."
How can death be feared by me
When "each brave eye shall sprout
a tree?"

I am eager!

The Dice Of the People

By GEORGE KERLER
THE best attended class of the semester met at Keeneland Saturday and as usual we had not learned our lessons. (1) Don't bet on the races and (2) How to pick 'em.

It has occurred to us many times during a long unhappy siege at the bookie that if we could just be on the track and inspect the horses and hug the rail and urge our number home we'd be able to buy some schoolbooks. But alas, a horse race is still as unpredictable as Emily Queigley's next lover.

Not being a native of Kentucky we are more susceptible to recognizing the Dixie and Bloody Ground's traditions. You grew up with them. To you they are as intimate as your arm. But when we see white fences gracing green pastures, horses gossiping in the shade of a tree, the proverbial women of stimulating grammar and sartorial elegance, the reverent sipping of corn elixir, the bronzed, hard faces of men who raise and train horses and the bulging pari-mutuels, we sigh, "That's Kentucky."

Nature gave Keeneland a superb build-up. The scenery passed on the route to the track is an interesting as the stretch run. By the time you reach the course, you're in the mood to see horse races.

The University has hit a social slump, for last week there were only two dances. This accounts for your downcast disposition and our class.

The All-campus gallop was a community ulcer with the stages outnumbering the women as the South's outnumbered Custer. These informal dances will soon go unattended unless someone starts the night from Friday to Wednesday.

Saturday was the Ohio night to howl. This rhythm magnet provided the usual personal turmoil, further established the futility of the cut-in dance, presented good news, edited by Ace Brigade, to your ears, and was enjoyed by the finger-shaking public.

No dance-throwing organization is worth a traffic jam and 150 hangovers.

Reporter Sunny Day, who occasionally scoops his journalism incubator, recently glittered Betty Bosworth's announcement finger with a diamond ring which he gave to her on the third anniversary of their first date.

The coming savior of the Independent Combine, James "Flash" Gordon, has staked his claim on Winona Gatton, a Georgetown colt.

OL' JUDGE ROBBEN'S INDIAN DISK PIPE

MY GOSH, JUDGE—DO YOU MEAN TO SAY THIS IS AN AMERICAN INDIAN PIPE?

YES, INDEED! IT'S A DISK PIPE FROM A WISCONSIN INDIAN MOUND. IT'S VERY OLD.

DISK PIPES ARE OF 2 TYPES—ONE WITH HANDLES AND ONE WITHOUT. THIS IS THE HANDLE VARIETY. IT'S MADE OF MARBLE AND BEAUTIFULLY POLISHED. THE MANNER OF SMOKING THE DISK PIPE IS STILL AN OPEN QUESTION, BUT IT'S ASSUMED BY MANY AUTHORITIES THAT THE DEPRESSION IN THE DISK IS THE BOWL OF THE PIPE.

I ALWAYS THOUGHT INDIAN PIPES WERE ALIKE—SOMETHING LIKE THEIR LONG-STEMMED CALLANETS.

OH, NO! THE INDIAN HAD AS MANY SIZES AND SIZES OF PIPES AS WE HAVE TODAY.

I DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE SHAPE OR SIZE OF MY PIPE—JUST SO LONG AS IT'S LOADED WITH MILD, MILD PRINCE ALBERT.

YES—WHEN ONE END OF A PIPE HAS PRINCE ALBERT IN IT THE OTHER END IS BOUND TO GIVE YOU PRINCELY SMOKING.

PRINCE ALBERT MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

50 pipeful of fragrant tobacco in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert.

Smoke 20 fragrant pipefuls of Prince Albert. If you don't find it the mildest, tastiest pipe tobacco you ever smoked, return the packet tin to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. lege delovely. Gordon says he's gation along splendidly. The pinning happened four weeks ago. I found out Friday. Gordon is my roommate.

Another Sigmanu goes Alphasward. This time it's premed Don Doelker whose opal white star gives Willie Bishop a celestial touch and a happy smile.
Should you hear raucous confusion in Cincinnati early in June that will be Doelker and his Cincy sweetmeat encountering one another.

It takes crafty strategy to lure one girl into your wigwam to sample a solution but the Sigma Chi's lured a whole sorority.

The punch cup at the open villa held by the EX's for the Alphas Friday sunset was not popular when the bedlam began. But by some elementary chemistry the oasis became the more fascinating than the music and the Kalmia lines.

PyKap Chickie Penn attained the apex of conceit last week when he wanted to bet one of his brothers 25 dollars that he could pin said brother's girl by next Sunday night. When the wager was accepted, Penn backed down, saying it would ruin his chances with Campus Sweetheart Irene Sparks. To which to PyKaps thunder, "What chances?" Irene Sparks, Does she?

Next Saturday brings the Phi Sigma Kappa formal with Andy Kirk supplying the rhythm. James The Physigs are going to ask Kirk to play a thirty minute jam session. A jam session consists of playing one tune such as "Sweet Sue" or "Honeysuckle Rose" with the four rhythmmen constantly giving tempo and each horn artist playing two or three individual interpretations of the melody. These solos are interpreted with the most elaborate. By the twenty minute mark, if they have souls, the dancers are in a vigorous state of apoplexy.

There is a grand write-up on Benny Goodman and live in general in the current New Yorker. A month or so ago Goodman captured three pages in the New Republic. He is the symbol of swing. To go from one extreme to the other, Hal Kemp's telegraphic musical messages still sound good on the new clog program on Friday nights. Now, all the jive is gone.

Considerable was the consternation of the student body when Friday's Kernel appeared scandalous. Through some misunderstanding, Mr. Dryden, the editor, and me, never did agree and the paper went to bed minus the social pages.

The editor is not begging your forgiveness.
Until Friday, as Marica said to Preeminent, you take it, Boopy, it's too tur fer me.

By TOM WATKINS
Kernel Sports Editor

ON a loose new cinder track, lacking the last top dressing, Dave Rogan, the Iron Man from Middlesboro, amazed the spectators at Saturday's track meet by his singular speed and stamina. Entered in four events, he won three and was barely nosed out in the fourth.

Dave is the holder of the Southeastern conference record for the mile and half-mile, and annexed these events readily in competition against Vanderbilt thinnies. He also won the two mile race and took a close second position in the 440-yard run. Four grueling events, and Rogan was still on his feet at the end of the meet.

One of the behemoths of southern football and track competed against Kentucky Saturday. Buford "Baby" Ray, the monstrous 290-pound tackle that bolsters up Vanderbilt lines, lifted his mighty ham-like hands to throw the discus, and won that event. Stanley Nevers, the Wildcats' own boast of size and strength, came second in this survival of the art of the ancient Greeks. Ray will no doubt compete against Kentucky again next autumn when the Wildcat gridder tackle the Commodores.

One of the largest crowds of Kentucky track history attended the meet, and the cinder sport will no doubt rise to its rightful place in the next few years as one of the major sports on the Kentucky campus. The crowd shifted from place to place Saturday, from the track to the jumping pits, and thence to the space reserved for the weight-throwing events. The attendance by such a large number of supporters was favorably commented upon by quite a few members of the squad, and it is likely that such attendance will be continued in the future meets of the year.

The 100-yard dash, won by Black of Vanderbilt, was run in exceedingly fast time taking into consideration the fact that the track lacked its top layer, and that no records were expected to be set Saturday. None were, but the hundred was run in 9.9 seconds, good time on a slow track. Captain Ben Willis of the Wildcat thinnies placed second in this event, with a time of approximately ten seconds.

One more week of football practice remains, and, while the fine weather may delight the grid men, Coach Adolph Rupp must consent to losing several of his most valuable men from his own basketball drill sessions. Bob Davis, Red Hagan, Fred Curtis, Lawrence Spears, and Sam Duncan are still attending grid sessions, while Walter Hodge is on the sidelines with an injured shoulder. There is an adequate number of men for scrimmages of the cage squad, and, while basketball sessions will suffer

U HIGH'S SENIORS TO PRESENT PLAY

"Growing Pains" will be presented by the senior class of the University high school Thursday night, April 22, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The play will be under the direction of Miss Pannie Herman and Miss Grace Anderson. Principal characters in the play will be Richards Swope as George McIntyre, Betty Mitchell as Terry McIntyre, Marion Valieu as Mrs. McIntyre, Billy Adams as Professor McIntyre, Louise Lucas as Sophie, Evelyn Bradley as Mrs. Patterson, and Helen Horlacher as Elsie Patterson.

PARADE WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Company C's third platoon and Company E's second platoon won the contests for the best parade lines in the First and Second Battalion reviews Friday and Saturday. Lieutenant-Colonel B. E. Brewer, commandant, was the reviewing officer for the parades, participated in by Companies A, B and C of the First Battalion and Companies D, E, and F of the Second Battalion.

Intensely from the absence of these men, they will not be wholly ineffective.

June Graduates May Obtain Kentuckian Copy

June graduates will be entitled to a copy of the 1937 Kentuckian upon presentation of their receipts for senior fees, according to an announcement by Ernest Shoves, business manager. It is urged that they pay their senior fees as soon as possible and register their receipts at the Kentuckian office, he states.

VANDENBOSCH TO ATTEND

Thursday evening he will attend a smoker at the Hungarian Legation. Guests will be members of the Foreign Relations committee of the Senate and members of the Executive Council of the American Society of International Law. Dr. Vandenbosch is a member of the latter.

Freshman Award To Be Given By Senior Honorary

Lamp and Cross, men's senior honorary, will award a scholarship, which will include tuition for the sophomore year, to the freshman adjudged the most outstanding of his class, basing the award upon scholarship, activities, the need of the student, James Barton, president of the organization, announced yesterday. The award will be made annually.

In past years, Lamp and Cross has selected the outstanding freshman and had his name placed on a plaque, which was hung in the Administration building. They will continue this award in addition to the new one, thus enabling one man to win both awards or two men to share the two awards.

FUNKHOUSER TO SPEAK

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, head of the department of anthropology and archeology department, will address the assembly of the Harrodsburg high school Tuesday, April 20, on the subject of "Kentucky Archeology." Austin S. Durham, president of the school's Science club, will preside at the assembly and introduce the speaker.

HORTICULTURAL CLUB MEETS

A discussion of fruit pollination problems and the showing of a motion picture, "The Realm of the Honeybee," composed the program of the Horticultural club of the University at the regular April meeting held Thursday, April 15, in the Agricultural building. Plans were made for a banquet to be given early in May and a fall fruit show was discussed.
