TISHRI 5760 – HESHVANRI - 5760

The celebration of Consecration and Simchat Torah at Temple Adath Israel is always a special night. For those who may not be familiar with Consecration, the ceremony is a uniquely Reform Jewish custom of celebrating the formal beginning of a child's Jewish education. At Temple Adath Israel, we celebrate this ceremony with our kindergarten class on Simchat Torah eve. The members of the class dress in special robes, stand before the congregation to recite the Sh'ma, and are presented with a variety of gifts to celebrate this special night.

Simchat Torah is the traditional celebration of the completion of the yearly cycle of reading the Torah and the beginning of the next year's cycle. The holiday comes at the end of the festival of Sukkot. The Torah scrolls are taken from the ark and, with much singing and rejoicing, paraded around the sanctuary. Adults take turns carrying the Torah scrolls. The idea of completing and starting the Torah reading cycles on the same night fits with many Jewish concepts of continuity.

Last year, we began what I hope to be a tradition at the Consecration/Simchat Torah service. I took one of the Torah scrolls and together, and with the help of those present, unrolled it around the outside of the sanctuary. Kindergarten parents, friends and community held it. I gathered the Consecration class together in the middle of sanctuary and showed them the inside of the Torah. I told them that from Torah comes our wisdom and knowledge about living a good life and a Jewish life. I told them that we, the adults, must always hold up the Torah for the next generation of Jews and teach them what it means.

The confluence of Simchat Torah and Consecration is the icing on the cake. Not only do we rejoice with the Torah scroll, but also we rejoice in the continuity of Jewish life. These kindergarten children are our future. We must think of holding them and embracing them with the same reverence with which we hold a Torah scroll. We must work together as a community to teach these children the meaning of Torah as it has been taught and expounded for 3,000 years. They must see our enthusiasm for learning about Judaism so that they will learn about all aspects of Jewish life with vivacity and embrace them with joy.

How wonderful it would be for these children to see a full sanctuary of adults excited about Simchat Torah and about celebrating the beginning of this journey of Jewish learning. How wonderful it is for adults to see the next generation of Jews eager to learn. Please join us on Friday night, October 1, in this celebration.

From

The President's Office

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder" - and do we have some Temple areas to behold! The tile flooring in the art foyer and the office hall gives us a lovely, light and spacious look. What a nice difference tile creates.

The religious school is now a happy, colorful and very functional area. This year will begin with the new curriculum and should create a positive Jewish outlook for the students, teachers and parents. Thanks and appreciation to Marsha Rose, Stacy Bloomfield-Dunahue and the Youth Education Committee.

A special thanks and appreciation to Bonnie Sobel for redesigning the courtyard. She has created a restful scene with a water fountain and a lovely sweet bay magnolia tree. Bonnie and the landscaper will have a plan for various plantings, so if you would like to contribute a planting(s) in memory or honor, please contact Bonnie. This area is and will be conducive to various Temple functions, such as the late Kabbalat Shabbat service last month. (Thanks to the Worship Committee for this innovation. I am sure it will become a routine part of summer services.)

So - remember when you behold all these new Temple renovations, please show your appreciation by thanking those who have worked to bring beauty to our Temple.

We have all been concerned by the senseless shooting in Los Angeles and are therefore concerned with the safety of our Temple and community. I have appointed an Ad Hoc Committee to ascertain and assess our security needs. Anyone with questions can call the committee co-chairs, Beth & Paul Engel, at 269-6555. I would ask that we all remember to use common sense regarding this matter.

North American Federation of Temple Brotherhoods, 75th Anniversary Celebration

The 37th Biennial Convention of the North American Federation of Temple Brotherhoods, December 15-19 at Orlando's Hilton Hotel, offers delegates the opportunity to learn and grow and to celebrate NFTB's 75th anniversary!

The theme for the convention, "Voices of the Past, Visions of the Future," expresses the special connection that NFTB has created through its years of service to our brotherhoods, congregations, and the Reform Movement.

A special 75th Diamond Jubilee dinner has been planned where we have invited and will honor the "oldest member" of NFTB and all men who have over 40 years of membership in their Brotherhood.

If you are interested in attending the NFTB convention, please contact your Brotherhood President, Al Kaplan, at 223-2846.

Preschool News

Preschool is off to a great start. We have nine 2 ½-year-olds, fourteen 3-year-olds and eleven 4-year-olds. Mrs. Tomko is assisted in our 4-year-old class by Mrs. Gerall, and Ms. Mosey is assisted in our 2 ½ and 3-year-old classes by Mrs. Jennings. Many wonderful things are planned for the month of September.

We have been learning about the Jewish holidays of Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, and Sukkot through storytelling, art projects, musical experiences, and holiday taste treats. We will make and decorate a sukkah in our classrooms, which should be an especially fun project.

Our Extended Day sessions, traditionally offered to our 4-year-old class members, are currently held on Wednesday afternoons, and are taught by Mrs. Tomko and Mrs. Gerall. The teachers have some exciting plans in store for our special time together! In addition, some members of the 3-year-old class will be joining the after-school group for an afternoon of fun and enrichment. This is the beginning of a wonderful school year!

FROM ARZA/WORLD UNION NORTH AMERICA

Short Takes

Reform Movement Biennial Convention is December 15-19 in Orlando, FL

Wouldn't you like to be part of the largest gathering of Reform Jews this century? You can be one of the 5,000 people who will gather in Orlando, FL, Wednesday through Sunday, December 15-19 for the Reform Movement's Biennial convention.

The Union of American Hebrew Congregation's five-day convention includes the announcement of major initiatives for the 21st century by President Rabbi Eric H. Yoffie, more than 160 workshops on all aspects of synagogue life, major addresses by political, religious and international leaders, the opportunity to worship in a wide variety of styles, late-night songfests, and study with leading scholars.

Delegates to the 65th General Assembly will be making decisions that affect the lives of Reform Jews throughout North America. In past years the General Assembly has voted on policies determining the role of the non-Jew in synagogue life, and has taken stands on issues such as economic and welfare reform and the separation of church and state.

And, not to be overlooked, the Biennial features the works of artists and crafts people in the largest collection of Judaica ever assembled in North America.

As might be expected, the Biennial program focuses on Reform Judaism in the 21st Century. Four keynote sessions, designed to spur debate on major issues facing Jews in the coming century, will focus on Raising Ethical Children, A Vision for Synagogue Transformation, Lessons from Twenty Years of Outreach, and Baby Boomers, Older Adults, and Our Congregations.

In addition, for the first time, Biennial participants will be able to focus on a particular area of concern over the course of the convention by following tracks devoted to issues such as the CCAR's Statement of Principals, conversion and outreach issues, adult learning, building a synagogue leadership team, social action and social justice, and formal and informal education.

Concurrent with the UAHC's Biennial, the Women of Reform Judaism will hold its 42nd Assembly and the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods will hold its convention, celebrating the 75th anniversary of the founding of NFTB.

For a full program, visit the UAHC Web site at <http://uahc.org/orlando/schedule.html>. If you are interested in attending, please speak to the president of your congregation.

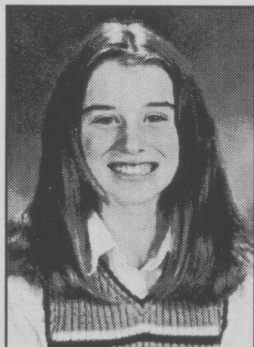

FROM THE YOUTH EDUCATION DIRECTOR – Marsha Rose

Welcome back! By the time you read this, religious school will have been in session for several weeks. It promises to be a great year. A few bits of news:

- An in-service was held for our four-year old through sixth grade teachers on Sunday, August 29th. Excitement and enthusiasm were evident, not only because of our new ARE curriculum, but also due to our beautiful new surroundings.
- New rules and regulations will be implemented for religious school, and students will receive a copy from their teachers shortly. We want to stress the importance of respect for all teachers, students and our facility.
- Our enrichment classes run from 11-11:30 and 11:30-12:00 on Sundays. If you are planning on being in the Temple at this time, we could truly use your manpower/womanpower for just a few minutes to usher the children in a timely manner to their designated classes. Please contact me if you are available to help. Also if you are interested in substitute teaching, please contact me or the Temple office.

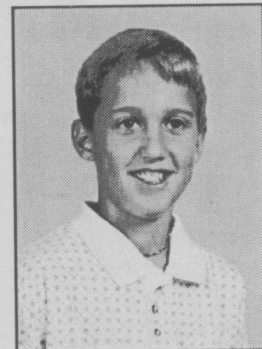

My very best wishes for a healthy and happy new year.

RABBI RON KLOTZ, DIRECTOR OF GOLDMAN UNION CAMP INSTITUTE WILL VISIT SUNDAY MORNING NOV. 21.

Rabbi Klotz, director of our regional Reform Jewish camp, will visit our congregation on Sunday morning, Nov. 21, to promote our special camp. Over the years dozens of TAI children have attended G.U.C.I. Last 32 Temple children went to camp as campers or counselors. Rabbi Jon and Sandy Adland worked at camp during the first session. Dr. John Harrison served as camp doctor for one week. If your child is in grade 2-9, then this camp may be just the place for a unique Jewish experience this summer. Come to Temple that Sunday morning, listen to Rabbi Klotz, and think about giving your child the time of his/her life.

Adult Jewish Growth

ClickonJudaism Web Site Attracts Young Jews

Young Jews in their 20's and 30's, many of whom are not currently members of a congregation, are discovering clickonJudaism, a web site created by the UAHC almost a year ago.

Written by both lay people and professionals, the Web site at <http://clickonJudaism.org> is aimed at inviting the unaffiliated to learn more about Judaism and to engage in Jewish life.

ClickonJudaism is a Web site where seekers can ask questions and get personal answers from rabbis and other scholars in a non-threatening or intrusive manner. Many of the questions involve interfaith issues, such as "What are the major differences between Jews and Christians?" and "In the interfaith marriage, can there be a ketubah?"

Free Israel Trips for College Students: Apply Now for December 29-January 9 Trip

Has your college-age child visited Israel yet? If not, the UAHC College Education Department has a special gift – a free, ten-day trip to Israel! That's right...FREE!!!

Space is limited on the KESHER Israel Connection (KIC) trip to Israel, December 20-January 9, 2000. All costs, including airfare, housing, tours and food are included. To apply, please visit <http://uahc.org/keshernet/Israel.htm> or call (212) 650-4070.

The KIC program is sponsored by Birthright Israel, KESHER, and the UAHC. "Birthright" implies that every Jewish person has a right to experience the beauty and culture of Israel.

SUNDAY IN THE LOUNGE DISCUSSION GROUP

Almost every Sunday morning (when Religious School is in session) an informal discussion group meets in the Temple Sisterhood lounge from 10-11:30 AM. Bring a topic, the newspaper, an idea from NPR, or a Jewish concern to the "Sunday in the Lounge Discussion Group" for discussion and contemplation. Everyone is welcome.

JEWISH LITERACY OCTOBER 13 & 27 7:30 - 9:00 PM

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations' Department of Adult Jewish Growth with the encouragement of the president of the UAHC, Rabbi Eric Yoffie, is strongly encouraging an enhanced level of Jewish literacy among the members of our movement. The Department of Adult Jewish Growth is asking all Reform Jews to read Jewish books.

The first book on this year's list is Who Wrote the Bible, by Richard Elliott Friedman. The Temple office will have several copies of this book available for members to borrow and read.

The dates for the book are October 13 & 27, 1999.

Though it is certainly preferable to read the book before the discussion, the contents of this book should promote lively discussion and learning even for those who haven't read it. Everyone is welcome to attend. All discussions start at 7:30 PM.

YOUTH GROUPS

TRYB

The white water rafting, rock climbing and rappelling trip was a wonderful experience for the entire group that went. There was plenty of water in the New River and we had lots of great and exciting rapids to ride. We climbed a huge rock (30 ft) and then rappelled down an even larger cliff. The view of the gorge was fantastic. As Jordan Kahan put it: "The rafting and rappelling trip was extravagant. I had the most fun and thrilling experience I think I have ever had." Thank you to the parents who participated in this trip: John Harrison, Paul Epstein and Polina Parker.

TRYB's social action project this month will be to participate in the Memory Walk of the Alzheimer's Association on October 3. The goal of the walk is to raise funds and increase awareness about Alzheimer's disease and the community services and programs that help families who meet the daily challenges of Alzheimer's disease. All Temple members are invited to participate also. The walk begins at Commonwealth Stadium at 2 PM (registration is at 1 PM) and is a 5K walk around town.

Middle School Challenge by Jordan Barnhill

Wow! Did we have fun at Jacobson Park! The middle school youth really met the challenge on Middle School Challenge Day. We played games, had a limbo and twist contest and had hot dogs...yum! With our leader, Shainey Marcus, of CKJF's Jewish Family Services, we had a great day. We wouldn't have been able to do all this without our sponsors: Central Kentucky Jewish Federation, Temple Adath Israel and Ohavay Zion Synagogue. We can't thank them enough.

If you are wondering who won the limbo contest, the answer is Leah Martin. She won a Louisville Slugger baseball bat for her amazing flexibility. Thanks to the great DJ's, Sound Off, we had music to dance to.

Well, I guess that about wraps everything up. See you next month in the November bulletin.

A kick-off program for FAFY is tentatively scheduled for October 3. All fourth and fifth grade students are invited to participate in a Temple beautification program. We will get rid of some weeds and plant flowering bulbs on the Temple grounds. We will start with our traditional pizza lunch (please bring $3) immediately following religious school. Participants will need small shovels or spades for digging.

A trip to the Newport Aquarium is being planned. Watch for details in future bulletins.

Boy Scout Open House

On October 3 at 12:15 PM in the TAI Social Hall, members of our local Boy Scout Organization will come to the Temple to talk to kids and parents about starting Cub and Boy Scout troops. Please attend this meeting to find out all about the exciting programs that we can offer our children through an affiliation with this well established organization.

ADULT PROGRAMMING

Saturday Night At the Movies

On October 9, the Temple library will be converted to a movie theater for the Lexington premiere of the Australian comedy "The Dunera Boys." This film is in the style of the American TV show Hogan's Heroes as it shows us the antics of WW II Australian prisoners of war. Please reserve your seats by calling the Temple office. In other words, let us know that you are coming so we know how many chairs to set up. There will be a $2.50 admission charge for the movie. Sorry, we will not have stadium seating.

Initial Meeting of the TAI Chess Club

On October 17 at 12:15 PM, chess players of all ages and levels of experience are invited to the initial meeting of the TAI chess club. At this meeting we will decide how we want to organize the chess club (i.e., when and how often to meet, how to arrange matches) and we will have matches as well. Please call the Temple office to RSVP and let us know if you can bring your chess set.

Jewish Cooking Class November 4, 11 & 18 Please Note: Dates in the Adult Ed. Brochure Are Incorrect

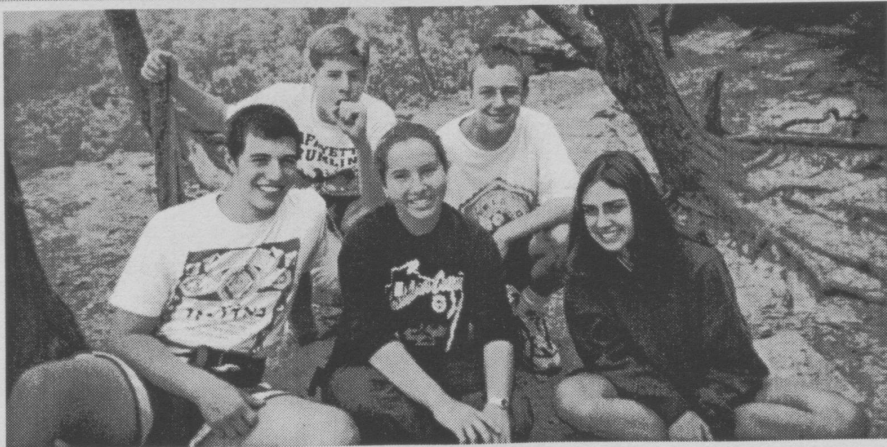

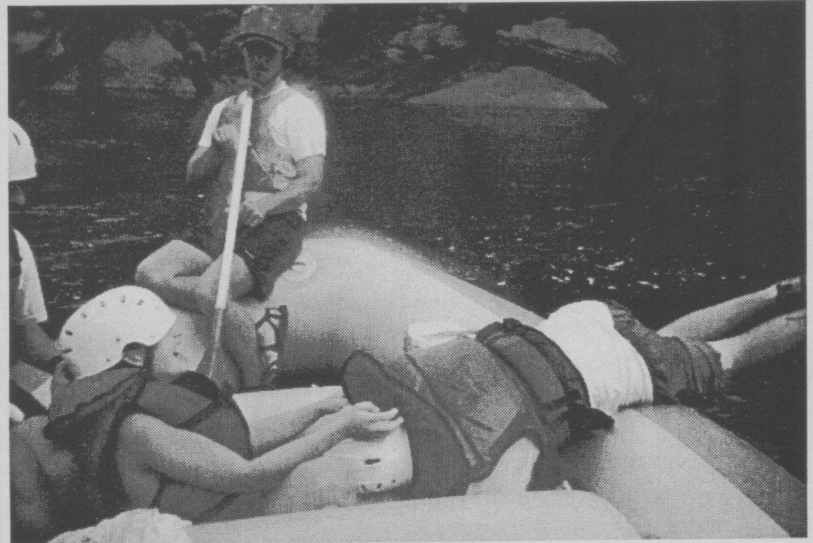

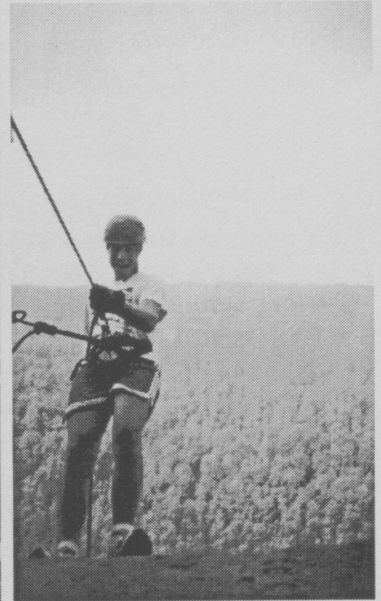

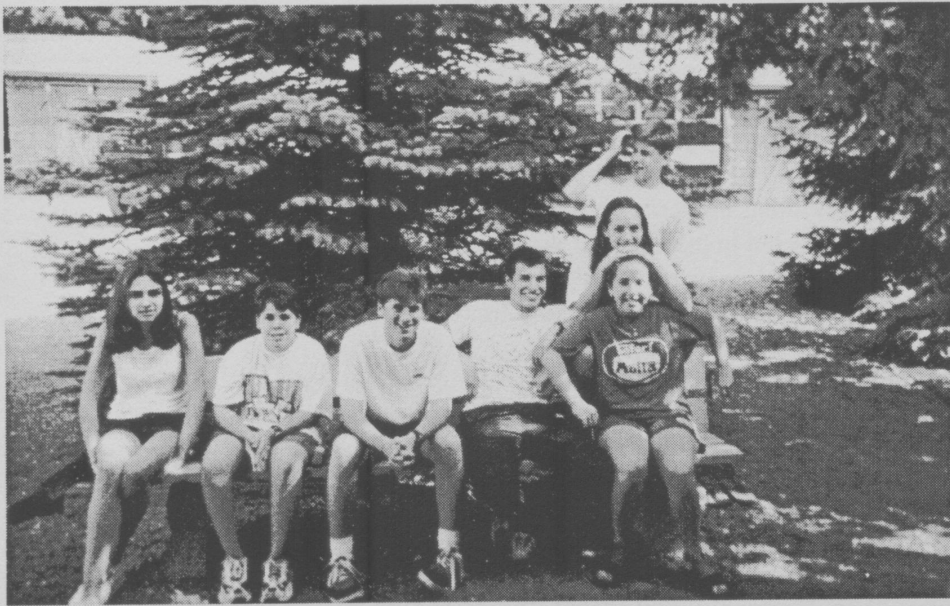

Register now for a truly tasteful experience. For the small fee of $10, you will spend three consecutive Wednesday evenings in the Temple kitchen with chefs Bobbi and Drew Fried. This hands-on class will prepare some traditional Jewish delights.

Trip to the Holocaust Memorial Museum set for February

A trip has been planned to visit Washington, D.C. The itinerary includes a bus tour of the city, a visit to the Holocaust Memorial Museum, a stop at the National Jewish Museum and more.

Departure from Lexington is February 19, from Bluegrass Airport. We'll return to Lexington February 21. More details are available at the Temple office.

THE BLOOD OF ABRAHAM: INSIGHTS INTO THE MIDDLE EAST PROBLEM

By Jimmy Carter

Reviewed by David M. Glixon

As Jimmy Carter reminds us in this insightful book, "The most unremitting conflicts of the Middle East are not on the battlefields but in the minds of the people who live there." The former president's interest in the Promised Land — together with America's role in the Middle East — accelerated during his term of office, climaxing with the momentous 1978 Camp David Accords that he initiated.

Though published nearly fifteen years ago, The Blood of Abraham remains a prescient overview of the political, religious, and ethnic conflicts that have fragmented that tumultuous area. It provides a highly readable analysis, in both historic and ongoing contexts, of each country's perspective and involvement.

Particularly helpful is the succinct chronology of over a hundred relevant events. Beginning with prehistoric times and the early struggle between Egypt and her neighbors, Carter goes on to cite Abraham's journeys from Ur to Canaan around 1900 BCE, the exodus from Egypt some seven centuries later, and the anointment of Saul as king of the Israelites. The chronology continues up to our own time, with such crucial developments as the Balfour Declaration of 1917, which promised a Jewish national home in Palestine, its termination in the 1948 proclamation of the State of Israel, the establishment of the PLO with the goal of destroying Israel, and on to the initial withdrawal of Israel's forces from southern Lebanon in 1985.

The Blood of Abraham delves extensively into the centuries-long background and motivation of Israel-Arab hostility. One section deals with the rise of Yasir Arafat. Founder of the al-Fatah guerilla group, then chosen by the PLO to be its leader, he successfully solicited world-wide recognition of the Palestine cause, and raised funds for the support of Arabs who had left Israel either voluntarily or as refugees. But, as Carter records, the next exodus of Palestinians was not from Israel but from Jordan, after the clash between Palestinian militants and the Jordanian regular forces. Rejected by Syria and Egypt, many Palestinians wound up in Lebanon. The book provides a masterly analysis of the ensuing developments and of the PLO's efforts to improve its status.

Supplementing such details of recent trends and events are several absorbing chapters on the respective histories of Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia. Carter even notes such minor though fascinating points as the origin of the name of Palestine — derived from the Philistines who inhabited the seacoast of what is now Israel and the Gaza Strip, and who competed with our ancestors for control over Canaan.

Carter vouchsafes the unfortunate truth that "there is no magic answer to the Middle East puzzle." And though The Blood of Abraham ends in 1985, this account — besides being a pleasure to read — enables us to follow current developments with a greater awareness and understanding of all that has gone before.

As Jimmy Carter concludes, "The blood of Abraham, God's father of the chosen, still flows in the veins of Arab, Jew, and Christian, and too much of it has been spilled in grasping for the inheritance of the revered patriarch. It still cries out to God — an anguished cry for peace."

PLEASE LET US KNOW!

If you or someone you know is going into the hospital, please let the Temple office know so that the Rabbi can make a visit.

The hospitals do not always contact the Temple about Jewish patients, nor is religious preference always requested on the hospital intake. Your help in this matter will insure that every Temple member in the hospital is contacted by the Rabbi.

Temple Adath Israel Bulletin Guidelines

All Temple members and Bulletin readers are warmly welcome to contribute news and views for publication in our monthly Temple Bulletin. (Individual readers are especially encouraged to submit articles for "Musings and Schmoozings" -- our catch-all column for your personal thoughts on anything Jewish.)

If you would like an "editor" to review your work before it gets put in the Bulletin, please call Deborah Isenstadt, Bulletin Committee chair (269-5542), and she will be happy to arrange the process. Please note that any articles submitted are routinely subject to minor editing for clarity and conciseness.

The guidelines below are provided to insure that your Bulletin submissions are received and printed as efficiently as possible. Thank you!

General Procedures

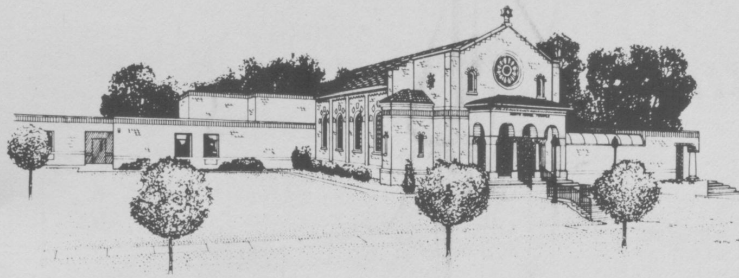

- ¶ All articles and announcements must be submitted to the Temple office no later than the posted deadline. (See Bulletin calendar each month). Late articles and announcements are subject to being bumped to the next month's issue.
- ¶ Submissions to the Bulletin should be type-written. If possible, entries should be submitted on a disk in Microsoft Word (PC) format, with a hard-copy printout as backup, to the production secretary (Sandee).
- ¶ The Bulletin Committee may delay publication of non-time sensitive material by one month, if necessary, to keep each issue to a manageable size.

Editorial Guidelines

- ¶ Articles should be as concise as possible. (Try for 200 words or fewer.)
- ¶ All submissions should include a suggested title and sub-headings, if necessary, to help guide readers through the article or announcement.
- ¶ All submissions are subject to line editing by the Bulletin Committee. If you would like to proof your own entries prior to printing, please notify the production secretary upon submission.

Advertising and Flyers

- ¶ Ads related to Temple programs and committees are printed free of charge as space permits.
- ¶ Paid advertising is welcome and will be printed in the Bulletin and charged to the advertising establishment.
- ¶ Separate flyers about upcoming Temple related events will be routinely printed single side, 4 announcements to the page, free of charge to Temple committees, the Rabbi, and program office. Groups with separate membership dues and budgets (e.g., CKJF, Sisterhood, Brotherhood) pay for their flyer inserts. Any committees or groups may choose to include larger (e.g., full page) ads if desired, but are subject to additional printing and copying charges.

TEMPLE ADATH ISRAEL BULLETIN

NOVEMBER 1999

VOL. 67

NO. 4

CHESHVAN 5760 – KISLEV - 5760

November is the in-between month. It is the month in between our holy day celebrations and (usually) the arrival of the celebration of Hanukah. Even though November is the in-between month, it doesn't mean that we shouldn't be Jewish. In fact, it is during this period of time that we usually must work a little harder.

It is easy to feel Jewish during the High Holy Days. Temple is dressed differently. There is a buzz of excitement in the air. It is always easy to feel Jewish at Hanukah. We decorate our houses. We light candles. We cook latkes. Even after December almost every month has a holiday: Tu B'shevat, Purim, Passover, Israel Independence Day, Shavuot. We feel different-and Jewish-because of the celebrations around us.

In November, there aren't any Jewish clues in the air or lights or foods that cry out to us that we are Jews and we should remember this. Therefore, it is up to you and me to find a way to make November a Jewish experience. You could come to a Shabbat Service. Even better, come to a Shabbat morning service. That would be different and encourage that feeling of being special. You could attend an Adult Jewish Growth program of which there are any number going on. You could read a Jewish book. You could participate in a Social Action project that lends itself to the meaning of Tikkun Olam. You could stay at home one Friday evening and celebrate Shabbat with a special dinner, blessings, study, and family.

What we shouldn't do in November is forget who we are because the Jewish calendar has overlooked us this month. In many ways, it hasn't overlooked us, but given us great opportunities for celebration of our Jewish souls. Let us not miss the opportunity.

Rebbitzen Adland

From

The President's Office

The Consecration Shabbat Services are always a joy to attend. This year we have fifteen students beginning their Jewish education. The Sanctuary was filled with positive energy and happiness as the Torahs were carried by many through the aisles. There was a sense of awe and delight from everyone who held the Torah as it was unrolled to encompass the Sanctuary. Rabbi Adland pointed out the different books, and for those post Bar and Bat Mitzvah students, their Torah portions. As the proud parents and grandparents kvelled with pride, the Consecration class recited the Shema and received their certificates. Parents and all congregants need to give their support to the Religious School in matters of education and finances. After all, we have to be the examples of Jews who practice Mitzvot, Tzedakah and continuing Jewish education. These children are our future – L'dor, v'dor, generation to generation.

Jewish education is an ongoing process, no matter what our age. There is always something new to learn. This could be reading a Jewish book, learning a new Jewish song, or participating in a study or discussion group. The congregation was mailed a green brochure listing all the opportunities for adult Jewish living and learning at the Temple. If you did not receive one, you can pick up a copy at the Temple office. Let 5760 be your year to learn something new in Judaism.

FROM THE YOUTH EDUCATION DIRECTOR – Marsha Rose

News About Our Religious School Curriculum

Many of you are aware that Religious School has implemented a new curriculum. However I wanted to provide you with information concerning our A.R.E. (Alternative to Religious Education) program, which covers all classes from our four-year-old class through Confirmation. I also wanted to give you more details about Sha'at Tarbut, our new enrichment program that comprises the second hour of Religious School for grades kindergarten through 5th grade.

A.R.E. Curriculum

The A.R.E. curriculum was originally developed for Temple Sinai in Denver, CO and won an award from the National Association of Temple Educators. The A.R.E. curriculum designates objectives, subject matter, suggested hands-on manipulative activities, student texts, teacher references, and evaluation ideas for each grade level. The curriculum is defined by six core areas: Holidays, Symbols, Prayer and God, Jewish Values, Hebrew, Jewish Customs and Practices, and Bible and History. This is a stepping stone process from year to year. The material will be challenging and prove to be intriguing as well. The education that our Religious School children will receive will benefit them for years to come.

Sha'at Tarbut

Religious School begins for all classes at 9:45 AM in the Sanctuary, with a short worship service conducted by Rabbi Adland. Students then proceed to their respective rooms for class from 10 – 11 AM. From 11 AM to 12 PM, Kindergarten through fifth grades participate in Sha'at Tarbut – enrichment classes – one topic each from 11-11:30 AM and from 11:30 AM to 12 noon. The Sha'at Tarbut schedule for each class varies from week to week or month to month, but includes: Arts and Crafts, (Linda Noffsinger, teacher); Bible Characters, (Janet Tamaren & Jeff Davidson, teachers); Rabbinic Studies, (Alison Courant, teacher); Cooking, (Anita Mersack, teacher); Drama, (Sheryl Rade, teacher); Hebrew, (Rhoda Cantor and Starr Gantz, teachers); Hebrew Crafts, (LisaMarie Price and Bonnie O'Neill, teachers); Israeli Dance, (Stephanie Barrett and Elise Mandel, teachers); Newspaper, (Jane Grise, teacher); and Music (Sandy Adland, teacher). Debbie Masters, our four-year-old class teacher and Kaye and Al Kaplan, our sixth-grade teachers, will also have various enrichment classes provided throughout the morning.

If you have any questions about the A.R.E. curriculum or Sha'at Tarbut, please feel free to call me or stop by my office.

Welcome Aides!

Joel Harrison, Ilena Parker, and Micah Vandervort are our assistants this year. Beth McDonald is, once again, Iris Silberman's Kindergarten Assistant teacher. If you are interested in being a Religious School aide, please contact me or the Temple office.

Congratulations To Consecration Students & Parents

I want to congratulate and thank the Consecration children and parents, Beth McDonald, Iris Silberman, and Rabbi Adland for this year's beautiful Consecration ceremony. Everyone worked hard in a very short period of time to conduct an outstanding performance and a very moving and fun Simchat Torah service. Thank you and Mazal Tov!

REPORTS FROM THE RELIGIOUS SCHOOL CLASSROOMS

Four-Year-Old Class

Debbie Masters, Teacher

Jacob Ain and Ryan Lazur are the only two students this year. Although our class is small we have started the year having fun. We learned about Yom Kippur, Sukkot and Tzedakah.

Ryan wants everyone to know that his favorite things about Religious School are the giant puzzles we have, and his buddy Jacob.

Jacob's favorite part of Religious School is doing the dot-to-dot pictures and reading books.

We plan to learn a lot while having fun this year.

First Grade Class

Anita Mersack, Teacher

The first graders have been very busy studying the holidays that come at this time of year. We learned that Rosh HaShanah is the Jewish New Year and that "Rosh" means "head." We discussed how the Jewish calendar year differs from the secular one and that this Rosh HaShanah begins the year of 5760, and that the Jewish calendar year begins with the month of Tishri.

We learned that "Yom" means "day" and that on Yom Kippur, we say "I'm sorry" and try to figure out ways to make the coming year a better one.

We also read the story of Jonah and the Whale and made a whale with Jonah peeking out of its mouth.

On Sukkot we went into the sukkah and waved the lulav and smelled the etrog.

Simchat Torah ended the cluster of holidays and we made a model Torah and learned about the Shema.

Second Grade Class

Alison Courant, Teacher

What a great class the second grade is! Nine members strong!! Second grade is learning about the Synagogue, what the name of our Temple is, and why Jews go to Temple.

We read about Sukkot while in the sukkah, learned all about Yom Kippur, Rosh HaShanah, and Simchat Torah.

Second graders made honey-apple muffins in Jewish cooking class and started learning Hebrew words.

We are already very busy!

SHA'AT TARBUT CLASSES

Bible Rabbinnics

Alison Courant, Teacher

In Bible Rabbinnics class, the students have a children's Jewish story read to them and then have discussions and activities related to the stories. The stories teach about Jewish values and basic beliefs of Judaism.

So far the students have learned about the Prophet Micah, mercy, justice, humility, Rabbi Hillel, and "Do unto others..." We are having fun learning about how God wants us to be.

Rabbi Ron Klotz visit
Sunday, Nov. 21, 1999

Rabbi Ron Klotz, director of Goldman Union Camp Institute (G.U.C.I.), in Zionsville, IN, will visit our congregation Sunday morning, November 21st, during Religious School. He will make a presentation to the children at the beginning of the morning and then be available to speak with parents.

G.U.C.I. is Reform Judaism's regional camp. Over the last decade, dozens of Temple Adath Israel youth attended this camp along with Rabbi and Sandy Adland. During the summer of 1999, 27 youth were campers, 1 young man participated in the Avodah experience, and 4 young women were counselors.

If you are interested in an excellent Jewish camping experience for your child, then this is the camp for you. Children currently in 2nd grade are able to attend one of two two-week sessions, while children currently in grades 3-9 can opt for one of two four-week sessions. (Children in 3rd grade can go for either two or four weeks.)

If you have any questions about the camp, or its facilities or program, contact Rabbi or Sandy Adland. Temple Adath Israel and the Central Kentucky Jewish Federation offer scholarships to assist our families in sending our children to this camp.

YOUTH GROUPS

TRYB

The TRYB chose last month's Memory Walk for the Alzheimer's Association as this year's first social action project. The donations supporting our walkers came to $470.

On November 5, TRYB members will lead our Shabbat service. In keeping with the Torah portion, which will be read by Josh Adland and Jeremy Gantz, TRYB members will share their views on the subject of false gods and idolatry. Please join us for this special service.

This month's TRYB meeting will be November 14 at 6 PM at Temple.

MSTYG

The November program was in the process of being planned when the Bulletin went to print. Considering attending a Thoroughblades game on a Sunday. Flyers will be sent out soon.

FAFTY

FAFTY has done it again! These industrious children have again contributed to the beautification of the Temple grounds by giving their time and energy in planting flowering bulbs around the entrance to the Temple preschool. Be sure to watch for a colorful display this spring. Thanks go to Erin Gold, Tina and Mark Simpson, Ilyse Lonsbury, Annette Milch and the Temple Brotherhood for all their support for this project. Flyers will be distributed to announce the next program.

TWO PART STUDY OF HANUKAH TO BEGIN NOVEMBER 17

The Temple Adath Israel Adult Jewish Growth Committee presents a two part in-depth study of Hanukah on November 17 and December 1. Each session taught by Rabbi Adland begins at 7:30 PM.

The first week will look at the history of Hanukah and special liturgies for Hanukah. The second week will consider the traditions and customs surrounding the celebration and commemoration of Hanukah. We will cook latkes and tell stories.

On March 8 & 15, Purim will be studied. Please mark your calendars.

SUNDAY IN THE LOUNGE DISCUSSION GROUP

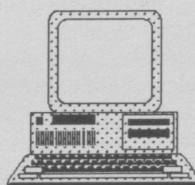

Almost every Sunday morning (when Religious School is in session) an informal discussion group meets in the Temple Sisterhood lounge from 10-11:30 AM. Bring a topic, the newspaper, an idea from NPR, or a Jewish concern to the "Sunday in the Lounge Discussion Group" for discussion and contemplation. Everyone is welcome.

FEAR NO EVIL

By Natan Sharansky

Reviewed by David M. Glixon

Early in the morning of his 30th birthday, two strangers barged into the Prague apartment of Joseph K., a bank accountant, and informed him that, by order of someone in high authority, he was under arrest, charges unspecified.

One evening, Natan S., a 29-year-old computer specialist, was seized by two strangers in the elevator of a friend's Moscow apartment house and driven to the KGB prison.

In Kafka's The Trial, Joseph K. had no idea why he was being arrested. But Natan Sharansky had for some time been aware of being tailed, and knew that he was suspected of being an American spy and Zionist dissident.

K.'s subsequent fate was execution; Sharansky's could have been the same. Instead, he was to undergo 16 months' detention and nine years' imprisonment, mostly in solitary confinement. And he would eventually become Interior Minister of Israel and the author of Fear No Evil.

Another difference is that Joseph K.'s account, though equally bizarre, lacks humor, whereas Sharansky's, despite his own horrendous experience, abounds in wit and humor.

Accused of hostile activity against the Soviet Union, he had replied to the interrogation officer: "My work as an activist in the Jewish emigration movement and as a member of the Helsinki Watch Group was directed exclusively at informing international public opinion and the appropriate Soviet organizations about crude violations, by the Soviet authorities, of the rights of citizens striving to emigrate—" The investigator interrupted him. "You are threatened with capital punishment," he cackled: "death by gunfire... and now neither Israel nor America will help you."

From the time of his arrival at Lefortovo, the KGB interrogation prison, Sharansky was subjected to thorough searches of his cell, his clothes, and his person, as well as confiscation of his most intimate belongings, including the photo of Natan and Avital taken in 1974, a few weeks before their wedding.

Sharansky's memoir provides vivid descriptions of life in a prison cell: the physical and psychological discomforts and the humiliation. He found relief in playing solitary games of chess. Using the rules of the game, he worked out the optimum method of "non-cooperation" with the authorities' countless probings into his thoughts, motives, and actions. He tried in vain to convince the interrogators that all his efforts had been centered on stopping the harassment of the refuseniks (Soviet Jews who were denied exit visas).

On July 15, 1978, after 16 months at Lefortovo, Natan Sharansky underwent the dreaded actual trial for treason. It's all set forth graphically and dramatically in Fear No Evil — the ominous atmosphere, the repeated brutal questioning, the prisoner's daring and carefully thought-out responses — together with the inevitable verdict and the sentence of 13 years' incarceration in the Gulag. The final ten years of his sentence turned out to be at the Perm prison camp in the remote Ural mountains.

Though conditions there were better than in the Moscow prisons, it took all of Sharansky's bravery, humor, and indomitable spirit to make survival possible. He suffered several years of ill health, cruel restrictions, and periodic confinement in the camp's punishment cells — plus his voluntary hunger strikes — but the long ordeal ended at last on January 22, 1987, with expulsion from the USSR, reunion with Avital, and the couple's arrival in Israel. For Fear No Evil is also a love story.

FROM ARZA/WORLD UNION NORTH AMERICA — Short Takes

Progressive Congregation Given Synagogue Building Despite Ukraine Chief Rabbi's Protest

Local authorities in Yivpratoria recently handed over a pre-Soviet-era synagogue to the city's Progressive congregations in the Ukraine. Ukraine Chief Rabbi Ya'acob Bleich had sought to prevent the building's transfer by calling Progressive Judaism an "undemanding religion" whose members worship in "luxurious temples," in a letter to Crimean officials.

ARZA/WORLD UNION, North America Executive Director Rabbi Ammiel Hirsch asked the leaders of the Jewish Agency, the Joint Distribution Committee, the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, and the United Jewish Communities to "convey to Rabbi Bleich our movement's deep pain and disappointment."

"We find it particularly offensive, and contrary to the Jewish spirit," Hirsch wrote, "that a Jew — let alone someone who presumes to represent the wider Jewish community — would speak so ill of fellow Jews to a foreign government."

The synagogue building had been used as a warehouse during Communist rule. A 1992 Ukrainian law provides for the restitution of religious community property that had been seized by the Soviets.

Join ARZA/WORLD UNION, North America and learn more about our programs in the former Soviet Union where Jewish life is being revitalized after 70 years of Communism.
