Assets Gained For UK Prove To Be Liabilities

Donovan Explains Required Surplus

UK now has on hand $151,000 for upkeep. This money, which must be used for maintenance, projects, and emergency needs of the University, is the only source available which is unrestricted and unallocated.

Included in a financial report of the University released last week by President Herman L. Donovan, this information was included as a reply to an article which appeared in the Louisville Courier-Journal on January 21, 1954.

In the Courier-Journal story, under the byline of Hugh Morris, Dr. Donovan said the surplus was left "to infer that the University hasn't been spending the money it does have and, therefore, that there is any increase in its appropriations at least until all of its unrestricted, restricted and plant funds are spent."

Explains Restricted Funds

Restricted funds, Dr. Donovan explained, are those funds which are restricted for the purposes for which they may be used. They follow money restricted for the operation of activities; funds restricted by the terms of the donor making a gift or grantor of the monies; funds restricted by University agreement; funds in clearance account undistributed; funds belonging to students and held as deposits.

Plant Fund Balances Come Under Five Categories

Monies held for the payment of bonded indebtedness; monies received from the sale of funds issued by the University; monies appropriated for men's and women's residence halls; monies appropriated for plant fund purposes and no longer needed for the original project; funds credited to the Agricultural Experiment Station plant fund and appropriated for repairs and new equipment for the Agricultural Experiment Station projects, land and roadways.

Unrestricted Funds Explained

Unrestricted funds, from which the $151,000 comes for this year, has the report states, the following source:

The Congress of the United States in 1945 enacted Public Law 346, known as the G. I. Bill of Rights. This law provided that institutions which charge the cost of the education of a veteran to the Federal Government and which have a stipulation would be reimbursed on the basis of the established cost of education of a veteran.

"It will be noted that the amount has varied from $8,033 to $1,445,393 in 1947-48."

"Instead of spending all the money we received in any one year it was early decided to spread this money over as many years as possible, spending $400,000 to $500,000 per annum instead of being rich one year and poor another. This information was omitted when the Courier-Journal reprinted Dr. Donovan's report last Sunday."

"It is from this source that we were able to build up a surplus capital for the University which has resulted in a surplus year after year. I do not hesitate to predict that if the University is not permitted to have a reasonable balance that it may carry over from one year to the next it is in for hard sledding in the future. All of the current unrestricted balance as of July 1, 1953, has been budgeted for current operation of the University during the year 1953-54."

Tau Beta Pi Sets Date Of Initiation

An aluminum Tau Beta Pi key and a sledge hammer distinguish the 19 new pledges of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary. The boys, who were pledged last Friday, will be initiated at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Union.

Following the initiation there will be a banquet at the Campbell Hotel. The faculty members chosen to be honorary members of Tau Beta Pi are: Dr. M. E. Allison, associate professor of electrical engineering, and Dr. K. O. Lange, professor of mechanical engineering. The 18 officers who will be initiated are: R. A. Jefferson, R. L. Rodgers, P. C. Stephens, W. S. Norman, W. R. Dripps, G. R. Bush, J. A. Burka, R. Boyle, J. J. Schmitt, C. H. Lowry, D. A. Webster, J. W. Walker, C. W. Cockerill, M. H. Ginoch, P. G. Lucas, and A. O. Head.

'Y' To Unveil Atomic Show Opens New Portrait Of Bart Peak

A portrait of Bart Peak, director of the University YMCA, will be unveiled Tuesday night in honor of Mr. Peak's 22 years of service to the Y. Jim Hudson, president, announced.

The portrait, painted by Alvin Brewer, a local artist, will be unveiled at 7 p.m. in the Y-Lounge following an informal reception.

Mr. Peak is a graduate of the University. He received his degree in history in 1917. While he was at the University he played both basketball and football.

During his undergraduate days, he was president of the YMCA and Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity. He was also a member of the then existing Honor Council. This Council was formed to try cases in violation of the honor system then in operation.

He entered the Army as a private in 1917 and was discharged two years later as 2nd lieutenant.

After his discharge from the Army, Mr. Peak did graduate work in economics at Vanderbilt. He also attended a YMCA Secretary's School.

Mr. Peak came to the University in 1920, when he assumed the position of secretary of the YMCA. He is a member of the Rotary Club and is past president of that organization. Mr. Peak has also been a member of the Board of Directors of Rotary International. This group is made up of 15 members, six of whom come from the United States.

He has served one term in the Kentucky Legislature and was defeated in last year's primaries for the national legislature.

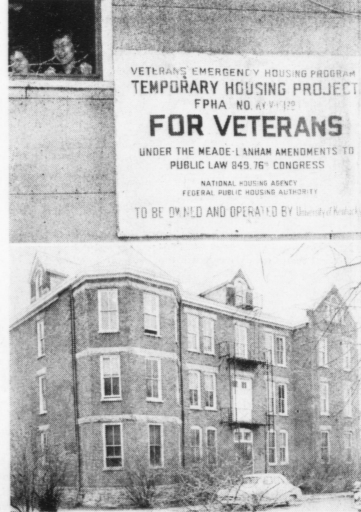

Law Students Win Academic Prizes

Prizes for academic achievement in the College of Law for last semester have been awarded to 16 students. Dr. Elvis J. Stahr Jr., dean of the Law College, has announced.

Winners of the prizes, in the form of books, include Stanley E. Rogge, Robert R. Humphrey, James Thomas Soyars, Thomas P. Lewis, David B. Seiver Jr., C. Richard Doyle, L. M. Tipton Reed, James Lewis, Gil E. Decker.

Roger B. Leland, Joe Lee, C. Paulson, Henry V. Pennington, Mrs. Dianne McKnight Walden, Donald Combs, and Theodore D. Dunn. The prizes were awarded on the basis of achievement in various law courses, and in the case of Pennington, for Law Club competition.

In June according to Dean Stahr, additional prizes will be awarded, including those for the highest overall standing in the College of Law. The prize winners, with one exception, list their home towns as being in Kentucky: Stahr, Rogge, and Decker, of Louisville; Seiver, of UK ASSETS?—All of the University's firetraps and eyesores are listed as assets on the annual report in spite of the fact that they could be more accurately listed as liabilities. In one of them, two amused residents of the women's annex watch the Kernel photographer from behind the weatherbeaten "For Veterans" sign. Scott Street Barracks and Neville Hall, both condemned, house several hundred men and the psychology department, respectively. At lower right is one of the houses in Slawnetown where married students and their families live.

'Y' To Unveil Atomic Show Opens New Portrait Of Bart Peak

Your hair will literally stand on end when you see one of the exhibits now being shown in an atomic energy display at the Coliseum.

A Van de Graaff electrostatic generator is the instrument causing all the hair raising during the four-day exhibit, a joint undertaking of the National University Extension Association and the American Museum of Atomic Energy at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The generator, invented by Dr. Robert J. Van de Graaff, associate professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, makes a person's hair stand on end if he establishes contact with it. Exhibit guides have emphasized that it is perfectly safe, however.

The Coliseum display will feature a museum model of the giant atom smashing generator, creating a 250-600-volt charge of static electricity. This relatively small machine is dwarfed by large nuclear research models of the Van de Graaff generator. These models create as much as 5,000,000 volts and are several stories high.

To Last Through Sunday
 The atomic energy exhibit will remain on display at the Coliseum through Sunday. Hours of operation are 9 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 to 4 p.m., and 7 to 10 p.m. today; 1 to 5 p.m., and 7 to 10 p.m. tomorrow; and 1 to 6 Sunday afternoon.

The NUERA exhibit is currently on a Kentucky tour sponsored by UK and various co-operating agencies. Cities included on the tour schedule during April are Ashland, Army Building, April 1-4; Covington, Naval Reserve Armory, April 8-11; and Louisville, Male and Girls High School, April 22-27.

Vivid displays on the production of radioisotopes, the most important peacetime products of our current atomic energy program — are featured in the exhibit.

To help explain the rather complicated procedure involved, exhibit models will be requested to place a dime in the radiotelescope reactor. The silver will become irradiated.

Literary Society Sets Deadline For Applications

Wednesday is the deadline for applications to Patterson Literary Society, open to sophomore men, who have completed at least one speech course or its equivalent at UK. Bill Douglas, president, announced this week.

Information and application blanks may be obtained at the office of Dr. J. R. Stierret, associate professor of speech, in Room 131 of the Fine Arts Building, he said.

The society, the oldest existing organization on campus, is devoted to cultivating awareness and literary interests, and participation among its students, Douglas added.

ORATORICAL CONTEST TO BE HELD HERE
 The annual State Oratorical Contest will be held on campus Wednesday, J. Reid Stierret, chairman of the Kentucky Oratorical Association, has announced.

The women's contest will be held at 3 p.m. in the Guignol Theatre and the men's contest will be held at 7 p.m. at the same place.

John Lester and Dick Allen will represent UK. Miss Lester, a junior in Arts and Sciences and a journalism major will speak on the subject "Are We Cows and Cows?" Allen, a senior in Arts and Sciences and a philosophy major, will speak on "The Category of Mistrust."

Other Kentucky colleges to be represented in the contest are Kentucky Wesleyan, Centre College, Berea College, Georgetown College, Eastern State College, Western State College, and Asbury College.

All colleges represented in the contest are members of the Kentucky Oratorical Association. The contests will be open to the public.

New York Philharmonic To Play At Memorial Coliseum Tuesday

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Dimitri Mitropoulos, will present a concert in Memorial Coliseum at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday. This program is another in the series presented by the Community Concert and Lecture Series.

The New York Philharmonic was founded in 1942 and is America's oldest orchestra. In 1928, soon after Tosti became its conductor here and Carnegie hall was its memorable decade with the orchestra, the Philharmonic merged with the 80-year-old New York Symphony, which was then under the direction of Walter Damrosch.

In 1942 the Orchestra celebrated its centennial, presenting the most distinguished conductors in the entire country. In August of 1951, the Philharmonic became the first American orchestra to be invited to the Edinburgh Festival.

On December 12, 1951, the New York Philharmonic marked its 50,000th concert. Through 23 years of concert-broadcasting over CBS radio network, the orchestra plays to an estimated weekly audience of more than two million listeners.

In the words of Lawrence Gilman, the Philharmonic-Symphony, after countless metamorphoses, countless changes within itself, survives as a marvelous instrument of recreation and artistic expression, trained and directed by generations of great conductors.

Conductor Mitropoulos is a Greek by birth but has become an American by adoption. He brought with him a brilliant European reputation when he made his Boston Symphony debut in 1926.

Active In Midwest
 From 1937 until the spring of 1939 his activities were centered in the Midwest where he was music director of the Minneapolis Symphony. He made his first appearance with the New York Philharmonic in the 1940-41 season.

In the 1930's when he was appointed regular conductor of the New York orchestra and was made Musical Director of the following year, Mitropoulos studied at the Conservatory of his native Berlin. For a number of years he was conductor of the Athens Symphony.

Report Includes Men's Barracks, Little Commons

By law and by statistics, UK assets total more than $38,000,000. In reality and by fact, many of these "assets" are liabilities—liabilities which remain because of a lack of funds to work with.

Some of the so-called assets of the University include the Scott Street Barracks, the women's barracks, Cooperstown and Slawnetown housing projects, the Little Commons, Neville Hall, the Social Science Building, the Chemistry Annex, and the Psychology Annex.

The Scott Street Barracks were erected by the federal government after the Second World War with the understanding that they were to be used only for five years to handle the flood of returning veterans and to give the University time to provide better facilities.

The barracks are still in use, and, according to President Herman L. Donovan, may still be in use for another five or 10 years.

Guignol Sets Opening Date Of 'Merchant'

William Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" will be given by Guignol Players Wednesday and April 1 and 2, with a matinee on April 3.

The presentation revolves around the merchant's friend, Bassanio, who goes to Venice to woo Portia. After much difficulty, he is successful in his pursuits.

The setting will be modern, with painted backdrops.

The cast of characters includes: The Duke of Venice, William Omer; The Prince of Morocco, Lee Stone; Antonio, David Stull; Bassanio, Ben Arvey; Guineo, Leonard Nave; Shylock, Bob Sexton; Salanio, Dwight Shaver; Shylock, Jim Holloway; Lancelotto Gobbo, Jim Hurt; Old Gobbo and Tubal, Joe Ray; Banio, Meo Bailey; Nerissa, Sandra Ingram; Portia, Betty Stull; Jessica, Nancy Nicholson; Singer, Lorraine McGee; and Lorenzo, Clayton Garland.

Mr. Lester is the director of the play. George Moore is head electrician, with James L. Read in charge of the set and lighting. Jim Holloway and Tom Gover are in charge of make-up. Mrs. Lola Robinson will assist with costumes.

Tickets will go on sale Monday with all seats reserved. The price of admission is 50 cents.

High School 'J' Students Visit Campus

Approximately 400 high school students and faculty advisors will represent 32 Kentucky high schools in the annual convention of the Kentucky High School Press Association at the Journalism Building today.

Dr. Niel Plummer, director of the UK School of Journalism, announced that a full schedule including lectures and visual programs, has been arranged for the benefit of the visiting students and their advisors. The convention will open at 9 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. Six classes will be conducted during each hour.

Dr. William M. Moore, associate professor of journalism, will conduct sessions on the proper use of lighting in photography. Special emphasis will be placed on the methods of back-lighting and extension-lighting.

McCauley Will Lecture
 J. A. McCauley, assistant professor of journalism, in charge of student newspaper evaluation and will also give a series of lectures on methods of effective newspaper making.

Victor B. Portmann, secretary of the Kentucky Press Association and assistant professor of journalism, will conduct discussions on the "All-American Newspaper."

Two special features are planned for the morning session. Dr. Plummer's etymology class will hold an "open house" at 9 a.m. to give the visiting high school students an opportunity to observe a college class in operation.

John White, Edward Coffman, and Frank Marchant, present and former journalism students at UK, will conduct a panel discussion at 9 a.m. The panel will investigate the advantages of entering the armed forces before attending college, completing college before entering the armed forces, and then returning to college. Each member of the panel has had experience in the stand that he will represent.

The high school newspapers will (Continued to Page 8)

Suky Announces 1954-55 Officers

Suky officers for the 1954-55 term and three delegates to attend the National Intercollegiate Pep Conference were elected at the meeting of the student pep organization.

David Linkous, a junior in engineering, was elected president of the club. Other officers are Debbie Schwarz, vice president; Jacqueline Averill, recording secretary; Jill Mahoney, corresponding secretary; Nancy Liebert, treasurer; Neal Ashby and Virginia Calvert, try-out managers; Bill Webb, Card Section, and Dick Chin, Homecoming.

Debbie Schwarz, David Linkous, and Bill Webb will represent Suky at the National Pep Conference to be held at Oklahoma A&M, Stillwater, Okla., April 22-24. In previous years the campus groups has sent delegates to the Southern Pep Conference, rather than a national one.

Last year four representatives attended the Southern Rally in Miami, Florida.

At the Suky meeting, tentative plans were discussed for electing cheer leaders for next year, sometime in April. A new system will be set up, plans for which will be announced at a later date.

Kentucky Writer Will Examine Fiction Problems

Novelist Janice H. Giles will speak on problems in the writing of fiction at 4 p.m. today in the Music Room of the Student Union. Dr. Jacob H. Adler, of the UK Department of English, will preside.

Mrs. Giles, who lives in the ridge country of Adair County, first won attention with "The Enduring Hills" and "Miss Wile," novels depicting life in the hill country.

DR. IRWIN EDMAN To Speak Here

Blazer Talk To Concern Philosophy

Prof. Irwin Edman, professor of philosophy at Columbia University, will present the fourth of the current series of Blazer Lectures in the Guignol Theatre at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Dr. Edman, who was educated at Columbia, will speak on "Philosophy and our Current Anxieties." Dr. Jesse DeBoer, associate professor of philosophy at UK, will preside.

Prof. Edman has served as lecturer of Amherst College, the University of California, Hamilton College, the National University of Brazil, and the Sorbonne in Paris. He is author of numerous books in the field of philosophy, including "Philosopher's Holiday," "Fountainheads of Freedom," "On Going to College," "I Believe," and "The Philosophy of Santayana."

Dr. Edman has also been a frequent contributor to such publications as The New York Times, Harper's, The Saturday Review of Literature, and The New Yorker.

Last summer Prof. Edman lectured at Oxford University and Mandel College with a group of American professors under the auspices of the Fulbright Commission. The program was Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the University's Department of History.

Dr. Clark describes Prof. Edman as a proverbial absent-minded professor, as well as a humorous lecturer. "On Going to College," "I Believe," and "The Philosophy of Santayana."

University Needs Funds Badly, Financial Picture Is Not Bright

The total assets of UK as of June 30, 1953, were $38,844,787.81. These figures, unless understood properly would tend to make the UK financial picture brighter than it really is at the present time. The UK administration certainly does not have $5 million dollars which it is free to spend.

University assets include every item, large or small, which the University owns. Buildings which are a sore spot to the University such as Scott Street Barracks, Cooperstown, Shawneetown, Neville Hall, White Hall, are all included in the list of University assets. Any student who has lived in or attended classes in any of these buildings can say from experience that they should have been torn down long ago—yet these are UK assets.

Most of these buildings were erected for temporary use only and it was specified that they should be torn down at the end of a five year period. The ventilation, heating, and lighting of these temporary shacks are not conducive to study on the part of the students—yet they remain. It should be the obligation of the State to officially condemn these buildings and erect new ones, but this obligation has been overlooked by the State.

UK's total budget ranges from approximately seven to 10 million dollars annually depending somewhat on the amount of construction which is done. It should be mentioned at this point that only about four million of this amount is provided by the State. The remaining sum is provided by Federal grants and individual donations. The major part of Federal grants is set aside specifically for agricultural experimentation. In reality, more of this money is spent for the people of the state than UK students. Dr. Donovan stated that it was harder to obtain money for the use of the students than for the benefit of the Kentucky populace.

To avoid a financial crisis such as occurred in June, 1952, when members of the faculty, staff, and other employees received no salaries for two months, the University has an unallocated surplus in the unrestricted fund of $151,000, which is actually too small for a safe operating balance of an institution the size of the University. A fund of this kind is essential to meet any emergencies which might arise during the year.

An example of such an emergency occurred in 1953 when Governor Wetherby found that the state's income from taxes was lower than had previously been estimated and it became necessary for him to cut the budget of the University by $279,800. If the University had not operated on the policy of having a surplus, all salaries of employees would have had to have been cut back so as to absorb this loss in revenue. As it was this institution was able to meet the reduction in income without reducing salaries at a time when the cost of living was still rising. It should be clear that for the University to be on safe ground there should be a surplus of four or five hundred thousand dollars at the end of the year.

Another sum which is included in UK's assets and not understood by many is the restricted fund. These funds are restricted for the purpose for which they have been designated. Most of this money represents gifts which have been given for the benefit of the University over a period of years. None of it has come from state appropriations which have been paid by taxpayers. This money has been given for the purpose of carrying on many different types of activities by individuals who have a high regard for the work the University is doing.

These restricted funds are sacred to the purpose for which they were given and if the time ever comes when we should require the pledge we have made to the donors, then the University would be unworthy to receive future gifts. This source of income for the University would dry up immediately since few, if any, foundations or wealthy donors would permit their donations to be turned over and controlled by any other body than the Trustees of the University.

If the State Legislature is growing tired of our pleas for more money, it is unfortunate, because these pleas will continue until the University is allotted sufficient funds to operate on a satisfactory scale. Any future implication that the University is not spending the funds it does have should be recognized for what it is—pure malarkey. UK is operating on a subsistence scale and this scale should definitely be raised.

All Should Attend Atomic Exhibition

On March 1, the United States detonated a thermonuclear device somewhere in the Marshall Islands. The force of the explosion was equal to five million tons of TNT—the fireball measured 28 miles in diameter, and the mushroom cloud soared 90,000 feet into the stratosphere. No one had expected that the device would be so powerful. On the same morning the device was set off, a Marine corporal on Kwajalein wrote home that he had seen the sky light up and that "we heard loud rumblings that sounded like thunder."

The rumblings the Marine heard came from several hundred miles away, and, sometime in the next week or so, he is likely to hear more thunder in the sky. The same device will be dropped from the bows of a giant B-36 by parachute. It is expected to duplicate the explosion of March 1.

Meanwhile, atomic voices from another source will be heard this week, here in Lexington. These voices, unlike the harsh bark of the destructive weapon, will give many people an opportunity to get acquainted with the peacetime applications of the atom.

We refer to the Atomic Energy Exhibition which will be shown in Memorial Coliseum March 25 through March 28. This opportunity to see some of the peaceful applications of atomic energy should not be missed. In a world that has come to think of the atom only in terms of Nagasaki and Hiroshima, the chance to see the hopeful side of the atom should be welcomed by every student and faculty and staff member on the campus.

Judging from the amazing advances made in peaceful applications of atomic energy in the fields of industry and medicine, only sheer folly could sway an intelligent person from learning something about the nature of the revolution which will soon be affecting each of us as members of the nation, the state, and the community. The exhibition is a rare chance—we shouldn't pass it up. R.B.

You're Another One

By JIM BARRICKMAN
Cooperstown and Shawneetown aren't really such bad places. A fellow can have a lot of fun living there. Like spending a gay evening with the wife and kids—plugging rats with a .45.

Nature, just for the records, has gone blue. According to the atom-size calendars on the walls around here, Spring should have been here March 21. Reliable sources say Spring met Winter on the way and got hung up. A real cool affair, man.

A scientist recently reported to the public that monkeys walked on their hind feet when placed in snow. Science scores another brilliant victory! It would take a fairly stupid monkey to go around dragging its belly in snow.

UK coeds should stay in bed when it rains. Those slickers they wear make them look like tents. . . . tents no respectable Arab would fold up and steal silently away with in the night.

The Thermonuclear device set off in the Marshall Islands on March 1 had the force of five million tons of TNT. Which, all told, is just about enough to ludge the line in front of the JB movie.

At last we have found something harder to find than a needle in a haystack. What is it? A story in which Liberace plays the piano!

Today members of the High School Press Association will hear a couple of guys around here discuss the merits of finishing school before joining the armed forces or vice versa. After seeing what mid-terms have in store, we recommend the Foreign Legion.

Local Rumpus Over 'French Line' Proves Movie Censors Can't Win

By LESLIE MORRIS

The furor which erupted last week over the Lexington showing of Howard Hughes' "The French Line" illustrates graphically a problem which has almost invalidated the attempts of self-appointed censors to "protect" the skittish morals of the public. That problem is the seeming inability of the Breen Office to prohibit the release of pictures which it considers in violation of the lengthy and time-worn Production Code.

Any inconveniences that may result from the denial of the Motion Picture seal of approval are more than made up for by the valuable and gratis publicity which such disputes inevitably provoke, and if thousands stay home in disgust, well—thousands more who would have stayed at home go flocking to the local cinema out of curiosity and indignation at being "told what to do."

So, the "censors" can't win. If they're upheld, the public accuses them of ripping asunder the Bill of Rights, Constitution, etc., (unless its south of the border in Memphis and environs where they enjoy being pushed around), and if they lose—they really lose. In the local case, for instance, the abortive protest only gave the picture a free publicity splash in the tabloids, and increased the line at the boxoffice by another square block.

Because of the apparent ineffectiveness of the MPAA—which was instituted under Will Hays in the hey-day of the roaring Twenties to dolly the camera out of the bedroom—and the fear of social and welfare groups of hurting their cause by protesting, the public has been treated to some red-blooded fare, lately. We will say this, however, "The French Line" and Jane Russell, take the cake, frosting and all.

Now Mr. Hughes, the disgruntled multi-millionaire owner of RKO, is a past master at commercializing sex. He began 10 years ago with the same gal in a western titled simply, "The Outlaw." The movie was released after five years of wrangling and a good bit of it was evidently left in the dust of the cutting room floor. This time, however, the scissorsman would have had to cut Janie out of the whole movie, because her censorable, Voom-gowns stay wrapped around her after she climbs out of her levis in the first five minutes, except for occasional plunges into soapsuds, etc.

As we said in our column this January, Hughes has lost a pile of nuggets in his movie venture, and every once in a while likes to get back at everybody. The picture, itself, was pretty terrible, but it'll make a couple of million, and confound the suffering censors—and Fly-boy Hughes will get a big laugh out of it all. The guy we pity is poor Bob Waterfield who makes a profession of slugging drinks in uticleths who make nasty remarks about his ever-loving, Bible-reading wife.

While the local clubs here and elsewhere fret about the morals of corruptible youngsters, we might remind them that any kid old enough to toddle, can—for ten cents up—buy a magazine at any news-stand with sundry pictures and words that would make Lili St. Cyr blush. Some of the literature now available for public consumption is little more than pornography in content and intent—and it's that stuff that's more dangerous, in our opinion, than the maneuvers of a healthy American actress on a film strip. . . .

The latest CinemaScope pic, "Hell and High Water," was one of those entertaining and rowdy free-for-all which satisfies the house, but makes them wonder what in thunder is going on. This movie tried to cram enough violence into its long reel to placate the sadists in the audience, but the blood dripped over and probably shocked the white-haired matrons in the balcony. A special accolade we would like to bestow upon screen veteran Vic Franceu, who really earned his pay. This old gent was cursed at, fired at by machine-guns, poked by fire, had a thumb hacked off with a pocket knife, was rolled around and upside down the corridors and walls of a rocking ship, and was finally blown to bits by an atom bomb.

Cincinnati is having Broadway in for April, so we suggest you get your car out of hock. Coming into Burger territory soon is Maurice Evans in "Dial M for Murder," Yul Brynner in "The King and I," and Walter Slezak in "My Three Angels." . . . A reader who finally succumbed this corner last week concerning our Oscar picks, happened to ask us about our favorite TV show. Next week we'll talk about "What's My Line."

Cynical Joe Says Clubs On Campus Are Really Great

By RONNIE BERTLER

"Joe, campus organizations are great things. You should join a few of them."
"Any particular reason, or are you just being cynical again?"
"Now, seriously, these clubs, honoraries, and societies are really great."

"I'll make a deal with you, Sam. You find one that's worth joining and I'll buy you big oranges for a month."
"OK, how about Seeds and Pits, Upperclass Honorary for Lowerclass Minds?"
"What's its function . . . what's it here for?"

"According to its president, Sam Surilla, Seeds and Pits meets once a week for the express purpose of forming a publicity committee."

"What's it need a publicity chairman for?"
"So it can inform the Kernel it met last week."
"Yeah, that's what I figured. Any more ideas?"
"Uh huh. How about getting in Kings, Society for People Who Barely Exist and Regret it?"
"Kings, huh? Whatta they do?"
"Briefly, Kings meets once a month to decide when its next meeting will be held."
"Say, now, that sounds good! Any more suggestions?"

"Yep. Here's one called Spears, Intermediate Nothing Fraternity for Nobodies."

"They do anything outstanding?"

"My boy! Spears meets every three weeks to decide on its annual Spear's dance committee for the Big Shaft Dance."

"That one sounds kind of dull. Try again."

"Ah, here's just the thing, Figs, Lowerclass Honorary for Honorable Lowerclassmen."

"Figs. Sounds familiar. Give me the dope."
"Well, Figs puts on its big Comets in the Day-light program once a year for people who think they're shooting stars."

"I like! Put that on the maybe list."
"Just in case you don't like that one, here's one I might even consider."

"What's that?"
"Light Bulbs and Square, Honorary for Dimwits."

"And what do these fine people exist for?"
"They exist for their annual Madza Dance, sponsoring A. C. Kurent and his Shocking 110."

"Uhh . . . forget it. Any more?"
"Yeah, here's Awful Magnesia Matter for People Whose Parents Mad 'Em Sick."

"Skip it. Keep going."
"How about Putty Plate, for Soft Minded Freshmen?"

"Does it have a motto?"
"No, but it's a great song, 'Cement Mixer' . . ."

"Can it, will you? Get serious."
"OK, whatta you think of the Borrowed Hair Society for Jet Pilots Who Stick Their Heads in the Exhaust?"

"What's their purpose?"
"They meet twice a week, slobber over the suggestions of their brass-covered advisors, and try to get their instructors' names in all their publicity releases."

"Mmmmm, no!"
"Well, there's always the Spiked Drink Society, for those Big Orange Belays."

"No."
"Have you considered Stock and Grille?"

"Isn't that the one that has the most pull on campus?"
"Yeah, let's forget it. You got any ideas?"

"I'd sort of like to know what kind of guy joins one of these things."
"Simple. First, you gotta be a frat man. You know, show your frat you're really out to represent it?"

"Uh huh. I get it. You gotta be a real attention addict."
"That's the idea. If you're the kind of guy that gets his kicks by announcing meetings to the Kernel . . ."

"Say, I get it. If you're a real knothead to begin with, joining a bunch of clubs with a lot of other knotheads makes you forget that you're a knothead yourself!"

"That's it in the lead!"
"Joe, let's form an honorary. We'll call it Alpha Beta Soup Society for the Prevention of Membership in Other Societies."

"I have my report ready for the Kernel now."
Alpha Beta Soup, Prevention Society, met last week in Room 348468833 of the Student Union, Joe Ziggerzag, president, has announced. Purpose of the meeting was to get together with Zaggerzag, the other member of the club, he said. Zaggerzag and Zaggerzag will initiate each other after a banquet tomorrow night, Ziggerzag said.

"And, Joe?"
"Yeah?"
"Scribble the priceless thing in pencil so it can't be read."

Our Readers Speak: On Activities, Parking, Bands

To eliminate gold-bricking, and because many sorority and fraternity pledges are required to "join up" with a certain number of activities, very likely it would be wise to count only active service in clubs, etc., that is, a member would not receive a point for mere membership, but a few members would be awarded points at the end of the semester by some committee—perhaps the faculty advisor or advisors and the officers. Many campus groups make awards on some basis, anyway—of sweaters, keys, and so on. Honoraries, of course, could simply carry a certain number of points for election with others callable for activity.

(Omitron Delta Kappa's point system might be used as a starting basis for a plan, incidentally).
Of course, for relations with other universities the present grade point system would have to remain unchanged. But the idea of "He has a 1.4 overall and a 2.2 with activities" would be a nice honor for deserving students and also a convenient gauge for many uses.

This plan would, of course, be strictly set up and defined in order to insure that no one could "put something over." For instance, a rule would state that no student could earn more than a certain number of activity points in any one semester, or count more than a specified number toward graduation. It would be necessary to note expressly that no student could graduate or do anything else on the basis of a standing if his standing without activity quality points were deficient (that is, below all).

This area is located by the "Little Commons." One area would provide for many parking spaces. Second, the area located in and around the tennis courts would solve our parking problem to a great extent.

As a last resort for setting the parking problem I should like to suggest that permits be issued to students and faculty members living a great distance from the campus. The "first come first serve" basis for issuing parking permits would prove successful if we had more parking areas to offer. At present, I think they should be issued in accordance with the need for the permit.

Why doesn't UK have more handbands? Smaller schools in other states have three or four leading bands to play at their dances every year. The University is off the beaten path of touring bands, but it seems it could be arranged when they are in cities less than 100 miles from Lexington.

It seems that a large crowd turns out for a big band when it does happen to be here, so it couldn't be such a losing affair. If a band is on tour, aren't the rates lower? Surely a school as large as UK could arrange for a few of these bands to come to Lexington sometime.

Yours truly,
Betty Hughes

Dear Editor:
Many UK students are active in campus affairs to which they give a good deal of time, energy and talent.

They do these things, obviously, because they want to—for the fun of it, for the experience and knowledge they gain, and because they like to work with their friends. Since many students graduate each year with no such activities at all—and, incidentally, many of these with only average scholarship records—this is purely a matter of choice.

However, should there not be some reward for these activities, benefiting the University, other students, and one's own education and leadership experience—in addition to personal satisfaction?
I would suggest that a limited number of quality points, not credits, be made available to students under a plan set up, perhaps, by SGA and approved by the University faculty.

This plan would, of course, be strictly set up and defined in order to insure that no one could "put something over." For instance, a rule would state that no student could earn more than a certain number of activity points in any one semester, or count more than a specified number toward graduation. It would be necessary to note expressly that no student could graduate or do anything else on the basis of a standing if his standing without activity quality points were deficient (that is, below all).

In reference to the present parking situation, I don't see how it could be improved on until there is more space provided for parking areas. I should like to mention several places which could be converted into parking areas.

List Of Assets Covers Firetraps, Gives Wrong Impression Of Financial Condition

BARRACKS—This bathroom in one of the women's barracks must provide for 12 students. Its size can be estimated from the fact that, when the picture was taken, the photographer was standing with his back parallel to the other side of the wall. More than four persons cannot enter the room at the same time without crowding it. The barracks are located on the west side of Jewell Hall. The three barracks house close to 42 women students. They include both upper division and graduate students.

MORE "ASSETS"—The Little Commons, a long abandoned cafeteria on Limestone Street, is still counted in the total of UK's resources despite its dilapidated condition. In the lower picture the outside of a house in Shawneetown for married students is shown.

COOPERSTOWN COMMISSARY—A "colorful," modern, fully equipped store, is counted as one of UK's assets. Behind this building, to the left, is the Cooperstown laundry, about one fourth its size. The laundry has two sinks, a washing machine, a dryer, and an open drain in the floor for the rinsing basins.

Law Requires UK Surplus

June 30 is now appropriated and allocated for the current year, and as of this date we have an unallocated surplus in the restricted fund of $151,000, which is too small for a safe operating balance of an institution of the size of the University.

Therefore, Dr. Donovan explained in an interview early this week, UK's surplus balance for this year—money left over for emergencies of any kind—total $151,000.

At the beginning of the financial report (also omitted by the Courier-Journal last Sunday), Dr. Donovan gave one reason for maintaining a surplus at the end of every year as follows:

"More than a quarter of a century ago the president of a Kentucky state college overspent the appropriation made for his institution and created a deficit of some thousands of dollars. He requested the General Assembly to bail his institution out of this financial dilemma. Very reluctantly the state administration and the legislature made an appropriation covering the deficit and at the same time enacted a law which stated in substance that in the future if any college president permitted his institution to incur a deficit, he would be subject to a fine and prison sentence."

"Since I prefer to reside in Lexington rather than at Le Grange, I have during my 26 years as a college president scrupulously obeyed this law."

Women's Barracks, Neville Are Counted

Shawneetown, when approached, frequently falling apart board by board. Junk and garbage often litter the yards.

The Little Commons, built as a cafeteria to handle the returning veterans after the Second World War, is deteriorating. Panels are broken out of at least two of the doors, and the locks can be easily forced.

The Social Sciences Building, the Chemistry Annex, and the Psychology Annex, also put up as temporary structures, are in slightly better condition. In many of the classrooms, however, the heating is either inadequate or in excess.

Need To Be Replaced
Other buildings, such as White Hall and Frazer Hall, are outdated and need to be replaced. All these things are part of UK's "assets," and these "assets" will remain liabilities until more funds are available.

UK's budget for this year will approximate $10,000,000. About half of this moneys ($4,000,000) comes from the Kentucky Legislature—the rest comes from the federal government.

And most of this money, state and federal, will be used for agricultural purposes. Some of it will be included in funds now being used for building.

But there won't be enough to get rid of the sick part of the $38,000,000 "assets."

Miss Joyce Perbix Wins Assistantship

Miss Joyce Perbix, instructor in the Physical Education Department, has received a graduate assistantship at the University of Wisconsin for the school term, 1954-55. Three assistantships, which will involve part time teaching as well as work toward a doctor's degree in physical education, were available this year.

Would Banning Finals Cure Cheating? Umm...

By DEE SHINNICK
The question of cheating at UK brought a suggestion from some students that if there were no final examinations there would be no cheating. So the roving reporter asked the question this week. Do you think that eliminating final examinations would eliminate cheating?
Eleanor Kington, home economics sophomore: "I wouldn't eliminate all of it, but that is where most of it starts. I'm all for not having finals."
James Barnes, commerce junior: "I came from a school where they had an honor system, and I think that it would eliminate cheating here. I do think that they put too much emphasis on finals."
Mary Deddes, Arts and Sciences sophomore: "No. Students will still cheat on other tests."

Squadrons A & E Tie For Honors

Two AFVOTE honor squadrons were chosen after the AF Wing Review last Monday. Col. R. S. Larson, professor of air science and tactics, has announced.
Two squadrons were chosen, he said, because of a tie between Squadron A and Squadron E during the review.
One squadron received a white ribbon and the other a blue ribbon at a presentation made Wednesday. The ribbons are kept for one week.

Writing Clinic Set For Tomorrow

A lecture on writing will be given at a creative writing clinic at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in Room 211 of the Journalism Building.
The lecture and clinic are sponsored by the Department of English and Radio Arts, the School of Journalism, and the University Press.
Keller Dunn, instructor in the English Department, will preside at the lecture.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE
When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.
Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T. - Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.
So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy - Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.
It's not surprising Luckies lead in college circulation. These better-tasting cigarettes are tops across the nation!

Dance After All-Campus Sing To Be Held For First Time

By ANN O'BROAK

It's new—and it should be fun. For the first time in UK's history a dance will be held after the finals of the annual Carnival of Dunes in order to present the trophies to the winners of the sing. Tonight's the night.

The come-you-are dance will be held in the Ballroom of the Student Union after the end of the finals in the contest. Charlie Blair and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing and celebrating until 12, the witching hours.

The highlight of the dance, which will be semi-formal for those not participating in the contest, will be the announcement of the best singing groups in the women and men's divisions of the "Tune Festival."

Tomorrow night Charlie Blair will be playing again in the Bluegrass Room of the Student Union for the annual upper women's dorm formal dance.

Spring Will Be Theme
Spring will be the theme of the dance, with paper flowers carrying out the motif. Blanket bids have been sent to fraternities and the girls will invite their own dates.

The formal will last from 8 p.m. until midnight.

The ZBT's are planning a big weekend and will begin tonight with a house party which will start at 8 p.m. Tomorrow night they will hold a dinner dance at Bowling Springs.

The festivities will begin at 6 p.m. Get out your oldest potato sacks and meet best up blue jeans for the Phi Tau annual Hobo party tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at Castlewood.

The TKEs will have a barbecue tomorrow at 8 p.m. at their house. The Lambda Chi faculty tea will be given Sunday in their new house from 2 to 5 p.m. The Kappa party for the basketball team will be held Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

Triangle Officers Elected
The new officers of the Triangle fraternity are Randy Duppes, president;

Bolla Jefferson, vice-president; Harry Mason, recording secretary; Warren Kammer, treasurer; and Alan Stollberg, corresponding secretary. Their new initiates are Paul Johnson, Warren Deatrick, Don List, and Vernon Petty.

Kappa Alpha Theta elected their new officers—those that are recent. They are Vicky Shaver, president; Lynn Marshall, vice president; Dede Link, secretary; Mary Jo Back, treasurer; and B. J. Carter, social chairman.

They initiated 15 girls who include Clara Estil Yates, Tippi Daniel, Pat Ward, Jane Driver, Donna Howard, Christie Vandergrill, Hort Haggis, Carol Cutchins, Ann Stone, Nancy Cooley, Libby Craig, Minnie Beth Lewis, Helen Hamilton, and Barbara Benjamin.

Those recently chosen for supreme command in the Sigma Nu fraternity are Ray Jones, president; Leslie Dawson, vice president; John Strachan, treasurer; and David Noyes, recorder.

Sigma Nu Initiates
The Sigma Nu's initiated 14 men. They are Robert Barlow, Edward Ernst, Jr., William Fisher, James

Fisher, William Knight, Joe Koch, Eddie Larese, William Latham, Robert Lencke, Norman Lindquist, Allen McCain, Henry Mayo, Horace Nicholson, and John Strachan.

The new officers of Delta Delta Delta are: Joy Seefeldt, president; Ann Patrel, vice president; Sue Nail, secretary; Mildred Terrell, treasurer; and Rae Harris, house president.

They initiated 15 girls who are Susan Clark, Barbara Coover, Patsy Coons, Pat Gilson, Shirley Harris, Betty Hodgkin, Saranne Howes, Irla Lewis, Nancy McKinley, Gladys Menges, Barbara Minty, Barbara Penhale, Ann Rouse, Peggy Shouse, and Marian Williams.

The new officers of Kappa Sigma chosen recently are Del Cannon, master of ceremonies, Ellis Eosterly, secretary, and Dick Rushing and Bill Hoernel, guards.

Chamberlain To Speak To Covington Rotary Club

Dr. Leo Chamberlain, vice-president of the University, will speak to the Covington (Ky.) Rotary Club Tuesday.

Dr. Chamberlain has been asked to tell the club the purpose UK had in mind in forming the Northern Extension and what the future of the Extension is likely to be.

To Attend Deans' Meeting
Three representatives of the University will go to the National Association of Deans of Women in Washington, D. C. April 1 through 3.

Cosmopolitan Club To Sponsor Dance
The annual Cosmopolitan Club Dance will be held from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. on April 2 in the Ballroom of the Student Union. Sharon Adams, publicity chairman, has announced.

Jack Goshoff and His Rhythmic Jinks will perform for the dance, which will be semi-formal.

Tickets are $2 a couple and may be purchased at the Student Union.

Dean Sara B. Holmes, dean of women, Miss Jane Hovell, assistant dean of women, and Miss Margaret Storey, head resident of Jewell Hall, will attend the meeting.

As State Chairman
Dr. Alberta Server, professor of Spanish, will attend the Kentucky chapter of the American Association of University Women at Mansmoth, Ky. April 2 and 3.

She is attending in the capacity of state chairman for the Status of Women and Civil Defense of the AAUW.

To Open Exhibition
Clifford Amey, associate professor of art, will open an exhibition of his oil paintings April 3 at Wilmington College, Wilmington, Ohio. The paintings cover his work in the last four years.

In the old days, when a fellow told a girl a naughty story, she blushed at it. Today she tells him the new version.

"Are you a college student?"
"No, a horse-steep on my hat."

Cosmetics Expert To Visit Campus

Miss Adrienne Stratton, special representative of Charles of the Ritz, will discuss and demonstrate good grooming for college students at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Room 205 of the Student Union.

Miss Stratton has traveled over the world with Charles of the Ritz and is known as an expert in the fields of fashion and makeup. The program will be especially geared to answer grooming problems of college students.

Following the discussion, Miss Stratton will be available to answer questions during the coffee hour.

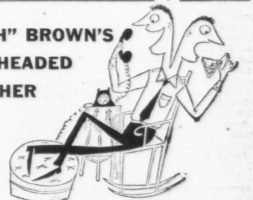

UK Receives Bids On Girls' Dorm

Bids are being received and a contract will be awarded shortly for construction of the new women's dormitory.

The new housing unit, when completed, will accommodate 306 coeds. The dormitory, which will be built in the lot north of Patterson Hall, will be ready for use in approximately a year.

Work on the new men's dormitory on Rose Street, part of the dual University project, has already been started. The 300-man dorm will have a cafeteria in the basement which will serve 1,200 students.

"FLASH" BROWN'S TWO-HEADED BROTHER

A certain Sophomore named Brown acquired the appellation "Flash" not because he was lightning on the gridiron, but just because he was never without an answer.

You'd pass him on the quad and say "How's it goin', Flash?" He'd answer, "An' Express." Get the picture?

Brown often referred to his "two-headed brother" in conversations. One day a few men in his fraternity were kidding him.

"Your brother's two heads must percent quite a few problems," they roared. The only problem was his neatness," said Flash.

"Neatness?" "Yes," answered Flash, "he worried about it. But he couldn't find a shirt that didn't wrinkle around the collar. You see, he was often looking in two directions at once or caring and talking on the telephone.

Hard on a collar?"

"What did you do?" They knew he did something about it. "Simple. I got him the Van Heusen Century shirt with the different collar styles and colors. $3.95 for the white, $4.95 for the colors and superfine whites. You should have seen the grin on his faces when he saw how those collars stayed neat all day and night without starch or stays."

"I guess he can really hold his heads up now," said one.

"Yep. He figures he gets four times more wear from Century than from other shirts. Of course, he actually only gets twice the wear. He just figures in both heads."

One of the men visited Brown at Christmas, and found it was all true.

UK Fencers Finish Season; Three To Compete In NCAA

By DON HENRY
Three men from the University of Kentucky's fencing team are in Chicago, Ill., this weekend as representatives in the NCAA fencing tournament.

These three men left Thursday and will start in the competition which will run through Friday and Saturday. Representing the Wildcats are Capt. Tom Prather, John Whittenberg, and Bob Dodson.

The Wildcats team ended this year's regular season with a 7 win and 2 lost record. They rounded on the season with two losses last week. The first was to Cincinnati, who they had beaten earlier this season, and the second loss was recorded against a very strong Notre Dame team.

The Cats dropped the Cincinnati match, 14-13, and lost to Notre Dame, 24-3. This last meet was the poorest showing for the Cats this season.

Tom Prather, this year's captain, entered this last week just two percentage points away from the all-time high for a Kentucky fencer with 82%. He needed to win five of his six matches last week in order to climb up to 85%, which is the record, held by last year's captain Bill Zeller.

Prather was unable to make the mark though, as he dropped two of his six matches and finished with a season's mark of 67%.

There will be 33 schools participating in this year's NCAA meet at Chicago. Each school sends the top man in each of the three classes, foil, epee, and sabre. These men are selected as to the highest percentage of matches won for the year.

For Kentucky, Tom Prather will be the sabre man. He has the highest mark of any Kentucky fencer with his year record 83%. John Whittenberg will go in the foil class. His season mark is a respectable 70%. And Bob Dodson is the Kentucky epee man with a 67% for the year.

Whittenberg held a much better mark before last week's play in which he dropped 13 percentage points as he lost all but one of his six matches. This was not his usual style as his 67% standing up till last week indicates.

Kentucky will face four teams in the tournament which they have defeated in the past. They are Cincinnati, Illinois, Notre Dame, and Indiana.

Notre Dame, the tournament favorite, defeated Kentucky in a very poor, under-standard meet, last week 24-3. Only Prather, Whittenberg, and Vittoie were able to register victories in this match. They each posted one win in each of the three classes, to account for Kentucky's three points.

Against Cincinnati the Cats fared a little better in splitting with the Hoosiers, 1-1. Kentucky won the first meet earlier this year, 18-9, and then lost last week in a close one, 14-12.

Illinois, the Big-10 champion fencing team, took the Kentucky fencers by a 20-7 margin. Illinois will enter this tournament with a loss to Notre Dame behind them.

The Wildcats came out far in front with the last of these four teams, Indiana, by registering two wins over the Hoosiers. They beat them decisively in the first match, 18-9, and then eased to a 15-12 win the second time the teams met.

Last year Kentucky was not allowed to attend the NCAA because of the suspension inflicted on the school by the NCAA over the basketball scandal. Last year's team was one of the strongest Kentucky has ever had. Last season's NCAA fencing champion was Penn State.

The tournament is run on a round-robin basis with each man fencing every contestant in his particular class. The winner is declared on the basis of the most total wins registered by any one team in all three classes combined.

Since Kentucky will send its top three men, they are expected to make a better showing against teams like Notre Dame and Illinois to which they lost rather decisively in regular season. The Cats entered this season with four fencers who had never fenced before and, facing men with much more experience, they could be expected to lose some by large margins.

The tournament though they will be represented by three consistent winners, with records not to be taken lightly. Tom Prather is the only Cat to have ever made the trip to an NCAA meet before. He went as the Wildcat sabre man in 1952.

During regular season play the Cats lost only three meets, and two of those were in last week's competition when they were definitely below par, and ran up against some of their toughest competition.

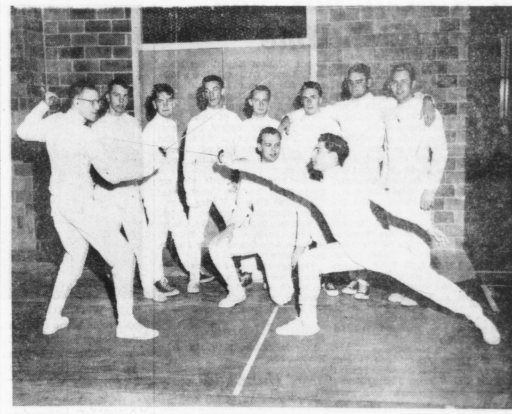

They lost to Notre Dame 24-3, Cincinnati 14-13, and to Illinois 20-7. Their second wins were posted against Cincinnati 18-9; two against Vanderbilt, which only has a foil team, 6-3, 5-2; two against Lincoln Memorial University of Hanagate, Tenn., 16-11 and 21-6; and two over Indiana, 15-4, 15-12.

In the Cincinnati match last week, which the Cats dropped 14-13, Bob Dodson led Kentucky in the epee with a 3-0 win score. Joe Clark and Charles Vittoie each got one win and two losses.

In the sabre class, Tom Prather had a three-win record to lead, and was followed by Lee Shine, and Ed Schriener with 1-2 scores. John Perrine was top in the foil with 2 wins and 1 loss. Bill Hartley lost two while winning one, and John Whittenberg dropped three.

Kentucky's only posted three victories against Notre Dame, in losing 24-3. Prather took one in the sabre, Whittenberg, one in foil, and Vittoie, one in the epee. The one outstanding feature in an otherwise dismal match was the fine showing John Perrine, who has only been fencing in the foil class for three meets, made against Notre Dame's top foilman. He lost by a slim margin, 5-4.

Bowling Begins Monday
The badminton tournament is in progress at the present time, and will be completed next Thursday afternoon. Bowling will start on Monday with the schedules being posted this afternoon.

Baseball Lags With Weather

By DAVID NAKDIMEN
Bad weather and the high school basketball tournaments have kept UK baseball practice at a minimum during the past week. Baseball Coach Harry Lancaster has, however, decided on a probable and more definite lineup for the season opener against Eastern on April 2.

Of this group, Day, Anderson, Fynn, Shanahan and Lawson are holdovers from last year's club that won seven and lost eleven. Willard is the only 300 hitter returning although Shanahan was only a few points shy of that mark.

Previously, the honor of pitching the opener had been a battle between Day, Charles Fichtelmaier, and Herd Hunt. Day, a right-hander, is probably best remembered for his whitewashing of Tennessee last year, a game in which he also scored the winning run. Two years ago, he stood Fort Knox's professional league club on its ear for eight innings before the soldiers got to him in the ninth and won the game, 5-2.

Lancaster is not too high as yet on hitting prospects but he expects the pitching to be above average.

Big Three Sparkle In All-Star Contest

Kentucky's "Terrible Trio"—Hagan, Ramsey and Tsirosopoulos—teamed to give the East All-Stars 20 of their 73 points, as their team was defeated by the West All-Stars 81-73 Monday night in the Shrine Casino at Kansas City.

Ramsey was top for the ex-Wildcat cagers with 14 points. Hagan tabbed 11 and Tsirosopoulos 13.

Coach Adolph Rupp, playing a much different role, was the coach of the Easterners. It was the first time Rupp had coached a losing team since St. Johns upset Kentucky in the NCAA tourney in 1952.

Rupp, fearing criticism if he started all three of his Kentucky aces, kept Hagan on the bench until late in the first quarter. Only for a few minutes in the third period were all three UK players in the game at the same time.

Hagan and Tsirosopoulos both left the game on personal fouls. Hagan going out with 16 seconds left in the third quarter, and Tsirosopoulos leaving with 1:13 to play.

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY
"I didn't know there was such a job."
EMMETT SMITH, E.E., '53, never heard of telephone traffic work, but what he saw of the job intrigued him. He explains how it worked out.
(Reading time: 90 seconds)
Emmett Smith supervises operation of this training switchboard, which he originally helped to design.

"Communications have always been one of my main interests—in the Navy and at the University of Michigan. So I was very happy when the Michigan Bell Telephone Company invited me to visit their headquarters to talk about a job."
"In Detroit I had a chance to look at a number of departments, including one I'd never heard of before, the Traffic Department. I found that, in addition to the engineering of switchboards, its work involved the supervision and the actual handling of customer calls. It struck me like a wonderful opportunity to combine staff engineering and field management."
"My first impression was right, too, because my work covered both. First, I had on-the-job training assignments in several different kinds of offices—local, Long Distance, dial and manual. Then I worked in engineering, translating estimates of future growth into the actual number of circuits and switchboard positions required."
"Now I'm supervising the operation of one of the boards I helped engineer. Briefly, my job is to see that my district gets the kind of equipment it needs and that what we have is functioning properly. Working with people is another major part of my job, too, because I serve in an advisory capacity to the supervisors of the Long Distance operators."
"Needless to say, I'm happy with my job. A job I didn't even know existed."
Emmett Smith's job is with a Bell Telephone Company. There are similar opportunities for college people with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.

Track Team Practicing For Season's Opener

By BILL HURLESON
The progress of the track team has been slow this year due to the inclement weather and the question surrounding football practice. This was a statement by Dr. Don Seaton, track coach, when he addressed the subject of the track team.

The endermen from UK will get three seasons underway on Saturday, April 10 against Ohio State here. Dr. Seaton is hunting for a meet April 7 to give his boys some experience before running up against the experienced representatives from the Big 10.

A lot is being placed on the shoulders of the members of the football team who are very active in track. Dick Rushing is being counted on in the hurdles, Dick Mahoney is doing well in the pole vault, Dick Mitchell and Bradley Mills are being counted on in the high jump and the javelin throw respectively. J. T. Frankenberg and Arvin "Tootie" Byrn are holding down the discus throw.

These men have permission from Coach Seaton who is worrying whether they will be in shape for track after football drills. Coach Seaton said that there is a great need for sprinters, pole vaulters, and hurdlers and that it was not too late for those wishing to try out to do so.

Captains Frank Scott and Don Weaver have both been coming along nicely, according to Seaton.

Adrian Barnes, Charles Welk, Jim McGinty, and Loman Gipe are beginning to show promise and may prove a big help before the SEC meet rolls around on May 14 and 15. Ronald Ferguson will be of some help in the shotputting event.

The team has been hurt by illness and men being declared ineligible. They have lost Art Nachand, Dwight Pries, Jack Kason, Frank Ford, and Bob Morgan due to one or the other of those. Jess Curry may decide to play baseball instead of track.

Bill Valleau and Bill Thomas are the ones that are being counted on in the hurdles, while Jack Brown, Don Cooke, and Eddie Ernst are being relied on in the sprinters. Cooke had a knee operation and is a question mark.

Besides the meet scheduled tentatively for next Friday, the Big Blue will have dual meets with Ohio State on April 10; Sewanee on April 16; Tennessee on April 24; Vanderbilt on May 1; University of Cincinnati and Hanover on May 8; and the SEC meet on May 14 and 15 at Birmingham, The Ohio State, Sewanee, and Vanderbilt meets are to be held at Lexington.

The difference this year will be whether the football players can participate in two sports at the same time without hurting their ability in one or the other. Also if a sprinter or so would materialize from somewhere to give the other sprinters the help that they need so desperately. The coach said they could have a good team if everything goes well, but that this poor start due to the weather has automatically become vice president; treasurer, Tom Prather and E. E. Planiel; secretary, Brooks Talley and Sherlock Noel.

YMCA Members Receive Ballots

Ballots for voting for 1954 YMCA officers are being sent to all members this week. The slate of candidates for office follows:

President, James Baker and Glen Sandifer (the second highest will automatically become vice president); treasurer, Tom Prather and E. E. Planiel; secretary, Brooks Talley and Sherlock Noel.

SIDELINE SLANTZ!

by John K. Ryons

Coach Blanton Collier's announcement this week that he would not continue Bryant's plan of limiting the number of out-of-state grid scholarships did not come as a surprise to most observers. From the very beginning the plan had not worked out, as it was hoped. In the first place it was not fair to the out-of-state boys, who should have just as much right playing football here, as they have to come here and study. Secondly the policy would only work if all of the outstanding gridlers in the state chose to attend UK. This has not been true, however, in several instances as a few of the better players chose to attend other institutions.

Coach Collier still desires to have the limiting policy in effect, but does not wish to have an exact number set, as to the number of outsiders who may receive scholarships. He also announced that he would not use an extensive and far-reaching recruiting plan, such as is used today by many schools. He considers these recruiting plans used by many other schools to be one of the major evils of big-time football today.

It is the opinion of this observer that Coach Collier is right in his decision concerning his recruiting policy. We certainly want our team largely composed of home state players, but it was a definite burden on many outstanding out-of-state boys, who had their heart set on attending UK. This new policy should prove fair to all.

Coach Adolph Rupp left Lexington Wednesday morning to take a well-deserved vacation in Florida. Doctors had advised him to take the vacation several weeks ago, but he would not leave the team until the season was over. Coach Rupp coached the East team in the Shrine East-West game at Kansas City Monday night. He plans to spend several months in the Sunshine state along with his wife and son Herky. Certainly if anyone was ever deserving of a vacation Coach Rupp is the man. He had more troubles this year from outside sources trying to get even with UK than most coaches would have in a lifetime. It just seems that everyone is always jealous of a winner.

The Associated Press this week selected the Kentucky Wildcats as the Number One basketball team in the nation. UK certainly deserved the honor this year, since they were the only unbeaten team in the country. However, the Cats received unexpected competition for the top berth from the LaSalle Explorers. The Explorers won the NCAA championship last week with an easy victory over the Bradley Braves, but were beaten by the Wildcats by a 73 to 60 count in the Christmas tournament at the Coliseum. Therefore, it appears that the Wildcats are 13 points superior to the number two team in the country, which is a great margin for any champion.

Roger Messick and Paul Bollinger, two of UK's top-notch swimmers, are competing in the NCAA meet this week at Syracuse, N. Y. Bollinger set a SEC record in the recent conference meet in the 220, along with winning the 440. Messick pressed Georgia's great swimmer Reid Patterson all the way in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle before finishing second to him in the conference meet. These two swimmers give UK excellent representation in the big meet this week.

Dom Fucci, former UK football star and All-American baseball performer, recently signed with the Detroit Lions. The Lions were Pro-football champs for the past two seasons. Fucci has served in the Air Force during the last couple of years and graduated from UK in 1951.

Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey, and Lon Tsioropoulos will play in the Herald-Tribune Fresh Air Fund All-Star game in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. The "Big Three" made an excellent showing in the East-West game at Kansas City on Monday night of this week with each of them hitting for double figures. Ramsey paced the scorers on the East team with 14 points, while Tsioropoulos scored 13 and Hagan 11. Hagan and Ramsey will play in the barnstorming series next week between the College All-Stars and the Harlem Globetrotters. One of the games on the series will be played at Cincinnati Garden on April 14. The game at Cincinnati will give UK fans in this area a chance to see how the UK greats are shaping up against the pros.

The weatherman finally gave Coach Collier enough of a break this week to allow him to start spring grid practice. Previously the opening was postponed three times, because of inclement weather and the state prep tourneys.

Speaking of the state high school tournament held last week in the Coliseum, it seems to be the general opinion of everyone that it was one of the finest tournaments in history. The games were all a battle all the way with eight of the contests finishing the winner's margin five points or less.

Don't forget the K-Club dance to be held in the SUB a week from tonight. This is a fine opportunity to support the athletes you have cheered this year. The Campus Ovals of Miami University of Oxford, Ohio, will furnish the music for the dance.

Spring Grid Practice Begins; Competition Keen For Berths

By DICK PURKINS
Spring football drills finally got under way at UK Tuesday after old man weather and numerous other difficulties had caused a delay of some three weeks.

Coach Blanton Collier, starting his reign as Cat chieftain, was greeted by 99 candidates, including eight seniors, 20 juniors, 29 sophomores, and two mid-term freshmen. Two of the juniors, Bob Daugherty, a transfer from the University of Cincinnati, and Don Brewer, from North Carolina State, will not be eligible for the coming campaign, since transfer students are required to forfeit one year of eligibility under conference rules. Both are returning service men. Daugherty from the Marines and Brewer from the Army.

The two frosh, Sammy Reynolds of Park and Bob Sambaugh of Abilene, also will be ineligible under the new SEC rule barring freshmen from varsity competition. Here are the prospects and the outlook for this fall by position:

LEFT END—The starting nod here should end up in the hands of either Howie Schnellberger or Harry "Duke" Hennessy. Schnellberger, who played frequently as a frosh and developed into quite a zizzer last fall, seems to have the inside track, but he'll have his hands full with "Duke," a pint-sized but vicious performer. Other candidates are sophomores Bill Holt and Roger Park. This position should be adequately manned.

LEFT TACKLES—This should be another two man fight, or possibly even three. Arvon Bivin and Duke Curran, both juniors, should wage a fierce fight for this berth. Another junior, Ken Lutz, who has not seen too much varsity duty as yet, could be a surprise. He has the size, 6-4, 215 pounds. Two sophs, Jack Butler and Jim Palmer, will lend support to a position that should have fair depth. Fulmer, however, is recovering from a recent knee operation and is not at top strength as yet.

RIGHT GUARDS—Senior N. L. Lowry will probably win this job from Stanley Walton, a fine sophomore prospect, on the strength of his experience. Others are Gayle Rouse, John Goble, Jim Miller, and John Mullins. Lack of experience (Lowry being the lone letterman) may hurt this position. Walton and Rouse have seen limited service, but the others are untested.

CENTERS—This should be one of the strongest positions on the Cat squad, with three holdovers returning. Leo Strange, a two-time letter-winner, and Dave Kuhn, who lettered as a first year man last fall, look like the best bets, but Ken Williams, a converted fullback and a great competitor, could easily win the starting nod. The other center is Steve Kiefer, rated as a potential star.

RIGHT GUARDS—This spot is a tough one to crack. Other than Joe Koch, the "toy bulldog," there are no other returnees. O. E. Philpot, who was expected to see heavy duty a year ago, was plagued by injuries, as was Joe Stuart. Two sophs, Bob Bennett and Dale Walter, are excellent prospects, and could make the right guard slot much stronger than it appears at present — if they come thru.

RIGHT TACKLES—This should rate with the center slot as a bright spot.

Frosh Cagers

By BILL SURFACE
LOGAN GIPSE-GUARD-OWENS-BORO, KY.
One of the states most colorful schoolboy athletes this year, Gipe was coached by the same mentor, Lawrence McGinnis, who sent Cliff Hagan, Bobby Walton and Bill Bibb all to the Wildcats. An All-State selection in '53, the 6'7" cager participated in six different All-Star contests last summer. He earned the respects of coaches last campaign, when he paced his Owensboro club in scoring with a 28-point average.

Gipe operates well in close to the basket in both shooting and rebounding. The 180-lb. guard was hindered by a back injury early in the season, but came back strong during the latter half of the frosh campaign to rank fourth in scoring with an 11.3 average. Gipe was also an outstanding track star for the Red Devils and is expected to aid the Kentucky squad considerably in both sports next season.

Once there was a Sophomore who was planning a "Wah-doo" weekend in New York. Being a Man of Foresight, he carefully packed his copy of "New York Confidential," his consultation of Terrific Manhattan Numbers, and his list of Suburban Homes in the Big City. Likewise 1 clean shirt, 1 toothbrush, 1 razor and 1 package of Sen-Sen. He was ready.

Just then his roommate came up with a Tip for the Traveler. "Hey," he said, "have you wired about the your Hotel Reservation?"

Our Hero puffed. "Don't be dull," he answered. "I'll make up my mind where I want to stay when I get there. New York is Full of Hotels."

He was right. New York is full of hotels. On this particular weekend, however, it was also full of People. Pained conviction.

Oh, he's all right again now. Two nights on a bench in Central Park never killed anybody. The thing that bothered him most was the "New York Confidential." He thought they were looking at him oddly.

Geology Teachers To Meet Today

The East Central Section of the Association of Geology Teachers from four states will meet here today and tomorrow for a conference dealing with work in geological curriculum.

The four states to be represented are Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

Papers will be presented by various members dealing with work in the geologic curriculum. The members will be shown the areas where field mapping are taught at the University.

The conference includes members from 18 major universities and colleges in the four-state area.

Dr. V. E. Nelson, professor in the Geology Department, will preside over the conference.

PR To Appear IN VFW Parade

An exhibition platoon and the Confederate Squad of UK's Pershing Rifles will participate in a parade at Hazard tomorrow.

The parade will be part of the ceremonies accompanying the annual spring conference of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Kentucky.

Joyce Sue Blevins, a freshman and PR's sponsor, will accompany the group.

'Dittos' Notes From Exchange Papers

By DEBBIE SCHWARZ

If you can cook, And like to run, Then head for Colorado, The pancake race has begun!

The University of Colorado does not pretend to have a "Fabulous Three", an undefeated basketball team, or an Adolph Rupp. Its main claim to fame is a 1953 pancake champion, which title, incidentally, they hope to recapture this year. That is, if one of their lassies can run faster and flip a pancake higher than any other contestant in the country.

The race consists of a 400 yard run with skillet and pancake, with a flip of the cake both at the start and finish. The winner from Colorado will compete in Kansas against winners from other states and the national winner will then compete in a time trial with the English champion for the world title.

In addition to the power sex, the only other qualifications are that the contestants be over 18 and supply their own skillet and pancake. Anyque for bride?

The censorship of the Ired and Black student paper at the University of Georgia, has brought criticism from other elements of the press, student and professional North and South.

In typical Northern style, the Augustans (U) Observer lashed its anti-censorship editorial "That old Suttum" Charm" at Louisiana State University, the Daily Reveille pleaded, "Lord, Deliver Us!" and from Rollins College, Fla., came this word of support: "We hope they continue to publish—perhaps under the name of 'The Black and Blue'."

For those uniformed readers—several weeks ago in this column an article was carried on the censorship of the Georgia paper by school authorities because of an anti-discrimination editorial.

A ray of hope shines through the darkness! A University of Oklahoma student senator may have the answer to the "high price of coffee" problem. The cool-minded student has launched a "Tea for Tuesday" campaign, encouraging not only fellow classmates but townspeople as well to substitute tea, milk, or soft drinks for the precious black liquid one day a week.

years, will be hard to handle. Both won their first letter last season. Neville Meyers, an untired sophomore, is the only other sophomore.

LEFT HALVES—At first glance (one senior and four soph) it would appear that the left halfback position is somewhat weak, but such is not the case in this instance. Dick Mitchell, the senior, will have to fight off the thrusts of Billy Mitchell (no kin), Tom Curmiste, and Henry George. Curmiste and George, like Dick Mitchell, are pint-sized scorchers, whereas Billy Mitchell is more the deceptive type runner. D. Mitchell should get the call here.

The other soph is Jerry Platt. RIGHT HALVES—Dick Maloney seems to be a cinch for this spot. Besides being a better-than-average punter, Maloney is outstanding on the field. Should he later, soph letter winner Don Netoske, would probably step into his shoes. A dark horse candidate could be Bob Phillips, a hard running junior with little experience. Lucky Brown, fully recovered from a late season broken leg, and socks Jack Freeman, Rick Lewis, and Roger Harrington could prove useful.

PULLBACKS—The fullback post appears to be well stocked. The battle for the starting berth here should be something to watch. Hayden Hooper, who was being counted on as number one relief nose last fall before being dropped by a broken leg, should be in the thick of the fight, although he will not take part in any rough work for some time. Rough Ray Callahan, Dick Trushank, and sophomore Jim Gibson are other top-flight candidates, although there is a possibility that Trushank will be moved to quarterback, where there is a shortage.

Junior Frank Pettit, moved back to the backfield after serving a season at tackle, could surprise many people. Sophomore Bobby Walker will probably be used sparingly this season to gain experience. The other two candidates, Brewer and Dougherty, will continue to drill with the squad but will not be eligible this fall.

From these prospects will come the team that will meet Maryland in the opening game this fall.

Atomic Exhibition Opens This Week

ated by operating a nuclear furnace.

Pottery Contains Uranium

Any bright orange or yellow pottery around the home probably contains uranium, the rare material of atomic energy, the NUCA exhibit points out. But only if it has been around the home for several years and not recently purchased.

Originally, uranium was used as a pigment, especially in yellows and browns. It was plentiful then, the exhibit demonstrates, being a by-product of radium refined from pitchblende ore. Now radium is a by-product of uranium, probably the most sought after metal in the world. So important is uranium, that the Atomic Energy Commission offers a standard bounty of $10,000 for new uranium finds of consequence.

Two other elements also may be used to generate atomic energy, the exhibit points out. One is thorium, found in monazite sands. The other element is plutonium, artificially produced from uranium-235.

Serving as co-sponsors of the atomic exhibit with the University are the Lexington Chamber of Commerce, Kentucky Utilities Company, Lexington Herald-Leader, and the J. D. Purcell Company.

The Coliseum display is non-commercial and is open to the general public without charge.

It is rumored that the Engineering College is baffled by the fact that the girls with the most streamlined figures seem to offer the most resistance.

"Is your roommate broomhanded?" "Say, that's all he thinks about."

Then And Now Adcock, '26, Is Pastor Of Mississippi Church

The Rev. H. Corbin Adcock, 1926, of Campbellsville, Ky., is now pastor of the First Christian Church, West Point, Miss.

Rev. Adcock was formerly pastor of the Highland Park Christian Church, Louisville.

Since going to Mississippi, he has served as counselor in Intermediate Camps throughout the state, directed the church's Junior Camp, was president of the Adult Conference of Mississippi two years ago, and is director for this year.

He also served as second vice president of the state convention of Christian Churches in the state, and last year was first vice president of the convention. He will serve as president this year. The exhibit has been visited by the Mississippi Christian Missionary Society for the past two years.

Mr. Adcock received his A.B. degree from the University and his B.D. from the College of the Bible, Jackson, Ala.

John G. Gay has been promoted to Lieutenant Colonel at Ft. McClellan, Ala., receiving his silver leaf from Col. J. E. Burns, commanding officer of the Chemical Training Command there. Col. Gay and his wife and three children are living in Anniston, Ala.

G. D. Robertson has been named supervisor of project computing for the Naval Ordnance Department of General Electric.

L&M FILTERS ARE JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED

I've been waiting for a filter cigarette that really gave me the feeling that I was smoking. I knew that L&M Filters were what I had been looking for with the very first package I tried. They have a fine filter and they taste good. The facts below make sense to me.

Bennett Cerf

THIS YOU GET...

1. Effective Filtration, from the Miracle Product—Alpha Cellulose—the purest material for filtering cigarette smoke and exclusive to L&M Filters.
2. Selective Filtration—the L&M Filter selects and removes the heavy particles, leaving you a light and mild smoke.
3. Much Less Nicotine—the L&M Filter removes one-third of the smoke, leaves you all the satisfaction.
4. Much More Flavor and Aroma—the right length—the right filter—the right blend of premium quality tobaccos to give you plenty of good taste.
