Good Luck Grads! Happy Vacation To Everyone

VOLUME XXXVIII 2446

Fall Session Begins Thursday, Sept. 6

Classes Will Start Monday Sept. 20

Packing their bags to leave for a month's break between terms, UK students checked Sept. 10 on their calendars as the day fall registration gets underway.

Registration will begin signing up for classes on Thursday, Sept. 16, and continues through Friday. Classes start Monday, Sept. 20.

Many universities throughout the country will go through a slackening-off in enrollment, according to Registrar Maurice Seay, but UK won't be one of this group.

The University is not "filled up" for one and it is not difficult for the University to accept more students than it can accommodate.

One physical plant has been supplemented to provide more facilities for the student, and the faculty has been greatly strengthened.

Dr. Victor Lee M. Chamberlain said that 21 war surplus structures will be used for temporary living units while over 100 students.

Housing Shortage Ate But a hitch in another record enrollment could be found in the lack of living quarters.

The housing shortage will be as acute this fall as ever before, Dean A. D. Kirwan said.

He said his worst headache was in living quarters for married veterans.

The waiting list for Cooperstown is a Shawneestown already has more than the combined number of married veterans living both places.

Cooperstown will have 89 houses, and Shawneestown 102.

Five hundred freshmen will fill the men's dormitories, and the balance will provide living space for about 500.

Fraternity houses will take care of 490 men, and the balance will be provided by the University.

Housing for women is limited too. All the dormitories are full, according to Dean Robert M. McMillan, and any cancellations will probably be filled easily by new applicants.

Applications for rooms are slow in coming, according to Dean Robert M. McMillan.

Students who don't get in a University home will live in private homes or commutes. Lists of homes and boarding places are kept in the offices of the deans of men and women.

No big social events have been scheduled for early fall, according to Miss Margaret Bruce Cruise, social director.

Graduation will be a busy time for the University.

Those who have to speak will undoubtedly stumble over the simplest words, and just as you girls are about to receive your diplomas on the platform, you will trip and fall flat on your face.

There will be someone who will step on the trailing end of his gown as he arises, and trip the bottom right of it.

For the rest of their normal lives, if you could call them normal, today's graduates will be plagued by bad luck if the gods hold them true.

All through modern history people have feared this day, and with good reason.

Historic Fear Fear of Friday was handed down from the day Christ was supposed to have died. Triakadekaphobia or fear of 13 comes to us from the 13 people present at the Last Supper.

Well, get this! All the diplomas will be signed by both the president of the University and the governor. Nothing wrong with that, do you say? Well, Herman J. Donovan has 13 letters in his name. Earl Clemons has the same number.

To go a little further, our espionage service reports that charges are being made in the commencement program.

In graduates are to be draped in black, the color of death, and are to walk down an aisle covered by a canopy of leaders, and they will hold a leash on the other end of which will be a black cat. They will march to the tune of "The

Tables Are Turned As Students Grade Commerce Profs

By Stanley J. Schill Education Editor Something new has been added to the grade system at the University. The proverbial worm has turned, and the professors are liable to find the tables falling on them soon.

With final exams in sight, a group of commerce students living in the Scott Street Barracks have decided to get back at their instructors by showing them what it feels like to be graded.

A poll was taken of all the barracks men who have ever taken courses in the College of Commerce to see how the instructors rate by their students. Although the straw vote is not official, no good reason is given for the project.

It is hoped that the idea might catch on, and that the project be become campus-wide in the fall.

Prof. May Frank The position of a project are numerous. It is probable that some of the professors will find "to grade" what the students grade.

Students instead of vice-versa. Who knows, maybe the English department will be the first to try.

Students to correct. Professors will be nipping their brows after being subjected to a first drawn up by their students. At last the students will have a say in the grading.

It will be kept in President Donovan's office until the new Fine Arts Building is completed and they are transferred to the art center.

Delegates Attend World Conference

Combloux, France, was the scene of a recent reunion of UK's two students in Europe, Harold Friedly and Shelby Davidson.

The occasion was an international conference of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Friedly, traveling for the World Student Relief Fund, United States student Welfare organization, had completed a tour of German centers learning which included Freiburg and Heidelberg.

Bartholme, local SOGA delegate to UNESCO, had just returned from a trip which had arrived from travels through England and France.

Senior 400 Seniors Graduating Tonight

Nearly 400 graduating candidates, largest summer graduating class in the University's history, will receive degrees tonight in the Memorial Hall Amphitheater.

The graduates, who will file into the amphitheater at 7:30 p. m., will hear Dr. Alfred Leland Crabb, Nashville author and educator, give the commencement address.

"Everything Begins At Home" is the title of Dr. Crabb's speech. Dr. Crabb, an historical novelist, is the author of "Supper at Maveville House," "Dinner at Belmont," "Breakfast at the Hermitage," "Looking at the St. Cloud" and a new book, "Home to the Hermitage," published this year.

Dr. Crabb is a native Kentuckian and has received the LL.D. from UK. He is now professor of education at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville.

May Ask for Tickets Today Graduation candidates may ask for tickets today at the dean of women's office at the University. Additional reserved tickets, in case any were left over, will be available until the appointment of a new department head.

Dr. Crabb will replace Dr. Robert J. Dely, who recently resigned after holding the position for about a year.

A member of the University faculty since 1938, Miss Wofford will assume her new position as acting head of the department until the appointment of a new department head.

Dr. Crabb is married and has three children. He is a member of the National Teachers Committee on Liberal Arts and Music. During World War I he served as a lieutenant in the Navy.

The appointment of Dr. Crabb will be announced by the Board of Trustees Monday.

Hats and coats off to the "Conscientious Kernel Reader" who supplied the pickles to last week's episode! That was one take-off which crashed the campus.

The Margaret King Library was the center of social activities for the weekend. There weren't enough dark corners to go around.

Herbe Caldwell seems to have an unlimited supply of those ever-popular "fraternity pins."

Stanley's Steamings

Rejoice, all you happy people -- just one more day to go. All that's left now is to take a quick fling at those finals, throw some clothes in a suitcase, and take off. And so, with the water starting to run low in the oil boiler, and the steam pressure falling off, the oil steamer is about to bank the fire for the summer and take a vacation.

The epitome of conceit: What's the matter with you and Bill?
He loves himself too much. The other day he bought a book called "What Two Million Women Want" just to see if they'd spelled his name right.

Any similarity to actual persons living or dead, is purely coincidental.

Since this issue will probably find its way into the homes of many of the students, and might possibly wind up in the hands of those guardian angels who pay all the bills, here's one for Dad:
Father - And to think that I mortgaged the house to send my boy to college. All he does is go out with girls, drink and smoke.
Lodge brother - Do you regret it?
Father - Yes, I should have gone myself.

Before the steam gives out, we'd like to give our fond regards to our guiding star who has kept us from being sued for libel too often -- Jack Sarrille, editor of the Kernel. Now that this issue has gone to press, Jack is an alumnae. So good luck to you Jack, and to Babe (that's his wife) too.

You gotta give 'em credit. An eskimo is the only one who can be married one day and have a good sized family before the end of the next day.

Have fun everybody!

Gridders Start Prepping For Opener On September 1

Wildcats Meet Xavier Here On September 25

The 1948 edition of the Kentucky Wildcats starts prepping for its opener with Xavier on September 1. The Musketeers will invade enlarged Stoll field three weeks later on the night of September 25. More than 30,000 autumn-clad fans are expected to be on hand to make up the largest audience ever to witness a football game in the State.

Despite heavy losses in the forward wall, the Wildcats will be comfortable favorites. Observers point with pride at nearly a dozen tested and proven backfield men, and a view of last year's reserves to pull the Cats through their opener victories.

Head Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant expects 50 veterans and nearly twice that many freshmen to report for opening day drills.

From a crop of better-than-average sophomores and a few eligible freshmen, Bryant and his assistants will have to find replacements for eight of last year's regulars, six of whom were linemen.

Line HH Hard

One are such stalwarts as All American third-starting pivotman Jay Rhoadsmyr, All-SBC Tackle Wash Serrin, Guard Leo Yarusit, and Tackle Bill Griffin, all now signed by the pros, who helped to make the '47 Kentucky line one of the best in the South.

Leach Wins Tennis Halos

By Boyd Keenan
Serious Leach can lay undisputed claim to the title of Bluegrass tennis king. After last week's Bluegrass tourney no fan or victim of Leach doubted that he reigns supreme on Central Kentucky courts.

Leach, graduate student at the University, annexed three crowns in the finals of the annual tournament held last Saturday. The Nicholasville court demon breezed through the singles competition with comparative ease, and provided the winning punch in giving his men's doubles and mixed doubles teams the championships.

Only one player in the tournament was able to steal a single set from Leach. This was accomplished by Carl Hoppe of Centre College in the semi-finals. In the finals of the men's singles, Tommy Ashbury fell before Leach's tremendous overhead smashes in three straight sets. Ashbury had gained the finals because of some brilliant playmaking in up setting two highly-seeded strikers. The former UK net man knocked second-seeded William Evans out of the running in an exciting quarter-final match. On at quarterback. The halfbacks, Bill Boller, Shorty Jamerson, Jim Howe, and Dick Martin are all fast, shifty and seasoned men. Offensively and defensively they are big threats. Take your pick and put him in the lineup and he'll give you a great game tournament.

The heavily-favored American team advanced to the finals by romping over Mexico, 71-60, Wednesday, while the dark-horse Frenchmen were knocking out Brazil, 43-33. Any of a half dozen other teams in the tourney were favored to reach the finals before France, but the plodding bunch of hoopers from around the Seine, while the eyes of the sports-world were focused upon the more-publicized teams.

The Frenchies barely made it into the elimination tourney with a 3-1 record in Group D with Mexico.

The previously unbeaten Mexicans topped France, 56-52, in the round robin tournament, and since the U.S. trounced Mexico, 71-60, comparative scores would indicate an American walk-away, by something like 45 points.

The cagers from South of the Border had been hailed as the "second tallest team" in the event, but they still couldn't cope with the U.S.'s lanky speedsters.

Relying chiefly upon cagers from the University of Kentucky, the Americans built up a halftime 29-15 lead. They outscored Mexico in the second half.

Big Alex Groza was again the scoring leader with 19 points. Bob Kurland, although ejected from the game because of roughness after playing but one quarter, and Wallace Jones, scored 18 points each.

Lizana Acuna paced the Mexicans with nine points, followed by Captain Leon de Santos, with eight. The American-trained Santos is usually the Mexicans' No. 1 scorer.

Cliff Barker, Kentucky forward, was hurt early in the game, when he was knocked down under the basket, and hit his nose. He returned to the lineup in the second half.

Oliver and AAI cagers played most of the first half, building up a 23-15 lead before Kenny Rollins, Wildcat captain, went into the game. The U. S. held a 31-17 half-time advantage.

Seven-foot Bob Kurland led the U. S. with 19 points, followed by Jesse Renick and Alex Groza with 10 each.

Lombardo, Uruguay's high scoring center was held to 14 points, lowest of the tourney for him, by Groza and Renick.

Other U. S. scorers: Beck, seven; Pitts, six; Rollins, four; Barkdale, three; Boryla, two each.

In the lower brackets Mexico advanced to the semi-finals by downing Korea, 43-32.
