Nursing admission policy approved by U Senate

By DEBBIE McDANIEL
Kernel Staff Writer

After extensive debate yesterday the University Senate passed the College of Nursing's admission policy proposal, despite the Senate's apprehension concerning the issue of random-selection of surplus nursing applicants.

The policy will go into effect for the 1978 fall semester. When Senate members questioned the fairness of "placing the destiny of prospective students into a random-selection lottery," College of Nursing Dean Marion McKenna answered, "We do not intend to use random selection unless we have more applicants than we can provide for."

The nursing program has spaces for 130 students, with Kentucky residents getting preference over out-of-state applicants. The policy requires each applicant to have a GPA of at least 2.0, an Associate Degree in Nursing, and a license to practice in Kentucky.

If a surplus of applications occur, a computer will randomly select 100 applicants for admission to the College of Nursing. McKenna reported a total of 70 applications for the 1978 fall semester, and Louise Stone, College of Nursing director of student services, said these applicants have been informed of the new admission policy requirements. "This is in favor of the students," Stone said, "All of this struggle was to eventually make it (the admission program) a valid system for the student."

The faculty's reasons for revising the admission policy were widespread grade inflation, discrimination against applicants who had a low GPA but nursing experience, and the lack of a valid criteria to judge the value of an applicant's qualifications.

Stone's office will initiate a three-year research program this fall to identify criteria that might predict an applicant's success. One such procedure will be the administering of National League of Nursing achievement tests to pre- and post-program students to test their nursing knowledge as applicants and as graduates.

A second procedure is faculty evaluation of nursing students with a follow-up employer evaluation being recorded after graduation. Biographical and educational data will also be collected on each applicant.

These research findings will be presented to the University Senate during the 1980 fall semester. In other action, a Senate Council resolution concerning class days lost during January's snowstorms, was read to the Senate in response to questions about make-up of lost class time. The resolution stated "The Senate Council recommends that the make-up of lost work due to snow days be arranged where appropriate, feasible or necessary by mutual agreement between the instructor and students."

Other business included: reports by Academic Affairs Vice President Dr. Lewis Cochran, Medical Center Vice President Peter Bosomworth, Student Affairs Vice President Robert Zumwinkle, and UK Safety Director Tom Padgett on administrative actions during January's cancelled classes.

A report on the UK Graduate Education and Research Program by Dr. Wimberly C. Royster said UK received research awards totalling $23 million this year. He also warned that, "The quality of research by the faculty is not sufficiently high to compete on the national level with other colleges."

Sliding two-step

Hall revamps lineup

Cats rebound at Ole Miss

Information for portions of this story was taken from the WVLC game broadcast.

With a starting lineup designed to awaken a few slumbering players, Kentucky partially snapped out of its deep sleep with a 64-53 win last night over the Ole Miss Rebels in Oxford, Miss.

The win lifted third-ranked Kentucky's record to 10-2 in the conference and 18-2 overall.

The two new starters for the Wildcats were forward LaVon Williams and guard Tim Stephens.

"I felt we needed to wake some people up," UK coach Joe Hall said. On Ole Miss's first trip downcourt, Williams blocked a layup attempt by forward John Stroud, who had 38 points Saturday in the Rebels' win over Vanderbilt. Stroud went on to score only four points in the half and 12 for the game.

"We wanted to discourage them from going to Stroud early," Hall explained.

UK proceeded to grab early leads of 4-0 and 10-4 and never looked back. Rick Robey, who moved to center with Mike Phillips pulled from the lineup, scored eight of his 12 points in pacing the Wildcats to a 15-9 lead midway through the first half.

UK managed to keep a lead of between four and nine points throughout the half, despite the rotating corps of guards difficulty in scoring from the outside and feeding the inside men. The half ended with the Wildcats on top, 27-19.

We goofed

Because of an editing error in yesterday's Kernel, it was incorrectly reported that an applicant for the nursing program must be "a licensed practical nurse." The new policy states that applicants must only have a license to practice nursing in Kentucky.

In fact, the women are full members.

In the same story, Sgt. Maj. Donald Sayers was quoted as saying he thought it "physically impossible for a girl to survive" the training for Ranger and Air Borne divisions. What Sayers had said was inadequate field facilities made it impossible for women to complete the course.

The Kernel regrets the errors.

Greeks vote for officer positions

Interfraternity and Panhellenic councils elected officials last night in separate elections.

Members of the IFC elected the following:

- President — Perry Bentley, accounting junior, Delta Tau Delta.
- Vice President of Chapter Services — John Hutchings, political science sophomore, Kappa Alpha.
- Vice President of Rush — Scott Moffitt, agricultural economics senior, Alpha Gamma Rho.
- Vice President of Finances — Ken Fister, accounting and business senior, Theta Chi.

The presidency of the Panhellenic Council is rotated between the sororities. Chris Plinke, english junior, Delta Gamma, will serve this year's term.

Other officials were voted by members of the council. They are: Vice President — Betsy Phillips, accounting junior, Alpha Delta Pi. Secretary — Beverly Peel, marketing and advertising junior, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Treasurer — Melinda Wheat, education junior, Gamma Phi Beta. Programming Chairman — Diane Mason, education sophomore, Kappa Delta.

Communications Chairman — Jennifer Garr, art therapy, Delta Delta Delta.

Publications Chairman — Kathy Lee, engineering sophomore, Alpha Zeta Delta.

Campus offices offer help to student victims of fire

By LINDA CAMPBELL
Kernel Reporter

For the 35 UK students who lost books, clothing and personal items in the Ivanhoe Apartments three-alarm fire last Wednesday night, replacement could be a long and frustrating process.

Josie Dunlap, theatre arts senior, is spearheading the Student Government project to locate students who were residents of the building and help them replace lost articles. Dunlap brought the idea to SG to help fire victims and volunteered her time to coordinate efforts to help students affected by the fire.

"We are discussing several options with Kennedy Bookstore to help these students obtain books," said Dunlap. "But these students must come by the SG office (120 Student Center) before going to Kennedy's. We can then tell those who are eligible what to do to replace their books."

Campus housing for displaced students is limited, said Charles Still of the University housing office. There are a few rooms for undergraduate men but they must sign a contract for the balance of the semester. Still said students who need help are asked to contact the housing office in 218 Service Building. The phone number is 257-1866.

"We are willing to help these students," depending on their problems," said Associate Dean of Students Frank Harris. "We are working on an individual basis; as the students contact us." The office is in 513 Patterson Office Tower. The phone number is 257-3734.

David Prater, coordinator of student loans, said financial aid may be available through his office but the students must contact the office. Prater's office is located in 567 POT. The phone number is 258-5706.

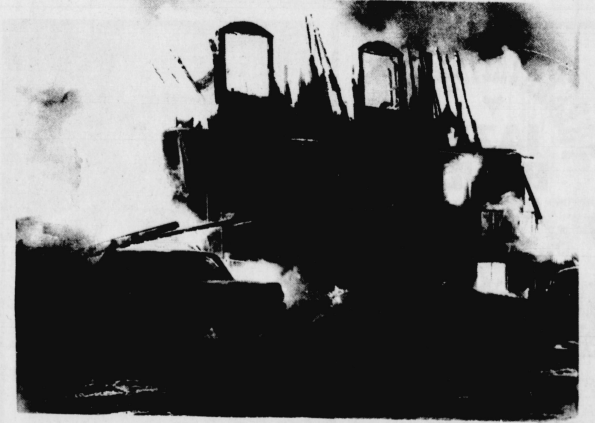

Prater said a short term loan fund is available for such emergencies, but loans are dependent on the amount of money in the fund. It is a revolving fund and money can only be loaned as it is repaid. However, there is no money in the fund at this time, said Prater.

If students check everyday, said Prater, "within four or five days" he will "probably" be able to help them. Some students can also qualify for federal financial aid, funds that Prater said are "unlimited."

Some clothes have been left at the SG office. A student, who was involved in a similar fire two years ago, has left written advice to help students locate sources of help.

"Everyone lost almost everything," said Doug Hopwood, a business administration junior who was a resident of the apartments. Hopwood and his roommates were in their apartment when they heard water splashing on the floor above them. "Then I heard someone scream 'fire.' We ran into the hall, saw smoke and began alerting our neighbors. The whole building went up so fast," Hopwood said.

"I feel really lucky that we got out. At least what we lost can be replaced. Lives can't."

A three-alarm fire at the Ivanhoe apartment building Wednesday night left 35 UK students without a place to stay. Student Government, various UK offices, and a local bookstore are providing help in finding lodging, books, clothes and information for these students.

THE POSSIBILITY OF POWER CURTALMENTS and ensuing layoffs increase as the coal strike and bitter weather continued to eat up coal stocks in Kentucky.

John Stapleton, deputy state energy commissioner, said mandatory curtailments, which generally would affect industries first, may be necessary within days for some utilities and within up to two weeks for others.

At Kentucky Utilities, based in Lexington, coal supplies have reached the "critical state," said KU President W.A. Duncan.

Duncan said the company estimated it had 39-day supply of coal as of midnight Friday.

THE SCIENTIST WHO FIRST PROPOSED solar-powered satellites called yesterday for an international effort to construct 112 satellites to beam solar power to an energy hungry world by the year 2025.

Dr. Peter E. Glaser told the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that the solar power satellite, SPS, represents one of the most promising power generating options that could help meet global energy demands.

Such a satellite system might provide 25 percent of the world's electric power needs, said Glaser. He said the first commercial SPS could be put in orbit around 1985, adding that a pilot plant could be assembled from components carried to orbit by the space shuttle, which is to begin flying in 1980.

CANADA'S FOREIGN MINISTER said yesterday his government will ask the Soviet Union to pay more than $1 billion as the cost of recovering radioactive debris from a Russian nuclear satellite that fell on the Canadian tundra.

External Affairs Secretary Donald Jamieson also said the Canadians will demand the United Nations adopt "a stronger regime" to prevent space accidents such as the disintegration of the Russian satellite on Jan. 24 over sparsely populated northern Canada.

Canada's claim for reimbursement would be the first test of an obscure U.N. treaty which obligates a launching nation to pay the expenses of locating debris from manmade objects that fall from orbit.

For buying cards Good idea isn't enough

Tom Edison told us years ago that the work of genius requires more perspiration than inspiration. That maxim was demonstrated this year to UK students with the great Student Buying Power Card fiasco.

The cards, sponsored by Student Government, were a great idea. But good ideas don't work unless the details are taken care of.

Distribution of the cards was supposed to be at registration last fall, when all students could be reached. But L & B Marketing, the distributors, didn't deliver the cards until the second week in October.

The delay meant a loss to several stores, who had depended on the cards as a way to reach students at the first of the semester. It was also a loss to students, who could have saved money on the discounts.

The fault appears to be that of L & B distributors, who needed several weeks longer than promised to deliver such a complicated item as plastic cards.

According to SG President Jim Newberry, the company had assured them the cards would be delivered on time. After the August deadline was missed, L & B missed another delivery date, Newberry said. When the cards did come, distribution was minimal and both stores and students were the losers.

Let's hope SG is able to revive the project successfully, because it could help students and businesses a great deal. But this time, the distribution should be checked out completely and agreed to in a strict contract; the idea alone just isn't enough.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks, Hugh

I'd like to thank Hugh J. Findlay for a fantastic commentary on "vectors." It makes me feel good to know that someone else feels the same way as I do, but Hugh was able to express it so humorously. He is right, though.

When I came to this university one and a half years ago as a junior, his impression was my first impression of UK. I came here with the attitude that I was going to be super friendly and meet as many people as possible. So between and during classes I would smile, say hello to unfamiliar and familiar faces and try to start conversations. It was as if I was talking, smiling and saying hello to brick walls or either I felt I was putting people off by trying to get acquainted.

The University I had come from used time between, before and after classes to socialize with fellow classmates. Here at UK, it's a race to see who can get to their next class, dorm or apartment first. I've always wondered whether the majority of students here take Sidewalk Construction 101, the way they study it walking between classes. I did finally realize that UK's socializing is done around the keg later on at night, but I've always wondered why it can't be done during the day also; you can really meet a lot of interesting people that way.

Also, a few big, beautiful smiles from some of those "beautifully built, big-bosomed-blond-vectors" and (as in my case) beautifully built, big-shouldered-and-chested-males could set a few people on fire or at least brighten someone's day. Isn't this what we need more of?

And, Hugh, your poem summed up the article beautifully. It will have to go into my collection of clippings of thoughts for the day. It expresses so well how sad it is that we don't take advantage of human interactions.

More bottles

The time has come for all of you out there who are wondering what one can possibly do to improve man's relation to his environment to stand up and take notice. State Senator John Berry is currently sponsoring SB 141 in the General Assembly and I strongly believe that the passage of this bill would be a giant step for Kentucky in the war against waste. The measure is commonly referred to as a "Bottle

Bill" but is more accurately described as mandatory deposit legislation. The concept is very simple and easy to apply. First of all, any container with a removable pull ring would be banned. Secondly, a five cent deposit would be required on all beer and soft drink containers.

Many at UK have shown their support by signing petitions and helping us mail cans to President Carter, but we again need your help. Wednesday, Feb. 15, there will be a rally held in the State Capitol in support of Senator Berry's bill. It seems a bill that is so popular (most polls show at least 70 percent in favor) would sail smoothly toward passage, but this is not the case. The industry folks who are profiting from the trashing of America have plenty to spend in lobbying against a bottle bill and their money talks.

So we need all the warm bodies we can get in the State Capitol at 10 a.m. next Wednesday. For your convenience we are forming a car pool in the Student Center parking lot at 8:30 on Wednesday. If you need a ride or can drive others, please stop by the Student Government office and sign up or call 257-2891.

The Kentucky Kernel welcomes letters and commentaries submitted for publication. Articles must include the signature, address, phone number, year and major if the writer is a student. Commentaries should have expertise or experience in the area their article pertains to. The Kernel editors have final decision on which articles are published and when they are published. The editors reserve the right to edit submissions because of unsuitability in length, grammatical errors, or libelous statements. All letters and commentaries become the property of the Kernel.

The best-read letters are brief and concern campus events, though commentaries should be short-essay length. Letters and commentaries can be mailed to the Editorial Editor, Room 114, Journalism Building, University of Ky. 40506, or may be delivered personally.

Cheerleading days over, This Feminist joins game

Today is Valentine's Day. I admit it's a hype. It is commercialized out of proportion and it's corny—but I like it nonetheless.

I like it because I have seen people who rarely get sentimental about anything turn into sweetness and light on Valentine's Day. Take my Dad for example, a responsible nononsense stockbroker who presented his children, four sons and one daughter, with Valentine's cards every year. That is nothing compared to what he gave our mother. I remember one year when he presented her with a bright red bra with matching lace panties. Don't think my brothers and I didn't know what was going on.

It reminds me of an experience I had in a communication class when I was a sophomore. The professor was attempting to explain referential meanings of words and in an effort to illustrate his point, he asked of the class who thought that their mother "fucked." I was the only person to raise my hand. Hey, I'm no fool, I know what red hot underwear means. I find it hard to believe, however, that no one else has parents that they consider human.

There are some facts of life that unfortunately aren't so pleasant. In this more-than-one-horse town there exists a certain lounge that specializes in disco music. The owners of this particular bar, in an effort to increase profits, have begun to charge a $5 cover charge on Saturday night. Why anyone in their right mind would fork over five bucks to listen to disco music for any length of time at all is beyond me—even zoos are free, right? This lounge offers more. They heap insult on injury by discriminating against their clientele.

For one thing, men are discriminated against in a way. They can't get in free by wearing titillating clothes and a wide, wet smile. Women can follow this simple easy method and get the big nod from the doorman. It's no problem at all and if they play their cards right, they may even get a free drink on the house. After all, they have become an investment of sorts and part of the show that others have paid their $5 for.

There is one catch, however. If you happen to enjoy wearing a hat, you will have to forfeit that pleasure because there is a "house policy" about wearing hats. After all, it's difficult to market merchandise if it isn't displayed properly.

If you happen to be a female with some measure of self-respect and no notion of hustling, then get your money ready at the door. It's obvious to the management that you have no intention of doing your part making men thirsty.

Now there are certain people who are offended by this blatant display of discrimination and sexism and these people aren't going to patronize that bar anymore. They are going to tell their male and female friends and they aren't going to patronize that bar anymore. It may not even make a dent in this bar's profit, but it will make drinking at a different bar a lot more fun.

Another incident that has caused my bile to rise involves a prank caller. An off-campus phone rings and is answered. The caller claims that he is being initiated into a fraternity and says he is required by the fraternity to call three "girls" and urge them to say something obscene to him.

I would like to think that this sort of behavior is not what pledging a fraternity is about. I would like to think that this person is not in a fraternity at all and is someone that needs psychiatric help. Not only does this type of prank use women for cheap, humorous amusement, it does very little to promote good public relations for the University and the fraternities.

By now some of you have labeled me "one of those women-libber types," and you're right. But if I am to be labeled, I prefer to be called a feminist. The dictionary defines a feminist as "a woman who demands the same rights politically and economically as men." Now what is so damn threatening about that? In this day of t-shirt philosophies, I've seen my share of shirts proclaiming "I choked Linda Lovelace" but I have yet to see a single man wearing a t-shirt that says "Men of quality are not threatened by a woman of equality." Why is that?

A friend recently asked me if I would be a cheerleader for his independent basketball team. I declined saying, "My cheerleading days were over two years ago when I got divorced." It's my turn to play in the game. I'm mad as hell and I'm not going to sit on the bench any more.

Gerima speaks at SCB theatre

Filmmaker presents lecture today

Ethiopian filmmaker Haile Gerima will present a film-lecture program today in observance of Black History Month. The UK Office of Minority Affairs is sponsoring the program.

Gerima, who teaches film at Howard University, will present and lecture on his feature film, Bush Mama. The program will be presented tonight at 7 in the Student Center Theatre with the lecture and discussion immediately following the film screening.

With the release of his two recent feature films, which also includes Harvest: 3000 Years, Gerima has become recognized as a major new talent on the independent filmmaking scene. Critics have cited his films as marking the emergence of a "New Black Cinema."

Clyde Taylor, Director of the San Francisco-based African Film Society says of Gerima, "He is the articulator of an advanced black film aesthetic, part of which is the need to demystify film for black viewers."

Born in Gondar, Ethiopia in 1946, Gerima came to the U.S. in 1967 to study at the Goodman School of Drama in Chicago. He later studied at the UCLA film school where he completed a 47-minute film, Child of Resistance, before returning to Ethiopia to direct Harvest: 3000 Years, his first feature-length film.

Harvest was shown at the Museum of Modern Art's "New Directors, New Films" series and he has also been honored at film festivals here and abroad, winning numerous awards.

These awards include the Grand Prize at the Locarn International Film Festival, the Georges Sadoul Prize of the French Film Critics Association, and the Oscar Micheaux Award for Best Feature Film from the Oakland Museum's Black Filmmaker's Hall of Fame. Bush Mama, the film Gerima is bringing to UK, was done as his thesis film while he attended the UCLA film school. It portrays black life in our inner cities, but it is also the story of the transformation in the consciousness of a strong black woman forced to discover her identity.

In commenting on the film Gerima stated, "I was interested in the process of transformation, because every human being has the potential to transform, and to show people in struggle is a positive thing. Too many films deny the potential for change in people, and everyone has the potential to transform, to come to the same self-awareness as Dorothy."

No admission will be charged for the lecture or the film showing and the public is invited. For further information, call 258-5641.

Ethiopian Filmmaker Haile Gerima will present a film-lecture program on his feature film, "Bush Mama." The program will be presented tonight at 7 in the Student Center Theatre.

Wrestlers pin 20-18 loss on Florida

By KATHY BURNETT
Kernel Reporter

In what coach Fletcher Carr called "a hell of a win," the UK wrestling team defeated Florida 20-18 in a dual meet at Memorial Coliseum Friday night. It was the first time the Wildcats had ever beaten the Gators in dual competition.

Senior Harold Smith won the meet for UK with a pin over Florida's previously undefeated Mark Totten in the heavyweight class. Smith's heroics came in the final match of the evening, after Florida had been leading 18-14.

"It means a lot to me," an excited Smith said. "I worked hard for it."

A small, but spirited, crowd turned out to watch the Wildcats.

Carr called the win a tremendous effort by the whole team, especially by senior Kurt Mock. Mock suffered a pinched nerve in the first period of his match against Art Haberman in the 134 lb. division.

When Carr was ready to take him out and forfeit the bout, Mock said he would continue. Although he finished and won, Mock will probably be out for the rest of the season. Carr said that his injury would hurt the team.

Carr said he was in doubt about the meet for a while, particularly when Florida's Bill Teutsch (177 lbs.) pinned freshman Jon Waters to even the Gators with UK at 14-14. "We were fighting, fighting, fighting," Carr said. Although Florida is very physical, he thought his Cats were in better shape, despite just returning from a difficult road trip.

"Our conditioning really helped us," he said. "The key was (Ricky) Dellagatta's comeback against Mark McNitt." Dellagatta, a freshman, rallied to lose only 16-11. Smith, who said that he has never met anybody smaller than himself on the mat, added that he doesn't think about the weight difference too much.

"I try to be positive and never underestimate the other guy," he said. Other winners for UK included freshman Reggie

Burke, who defeated Mike Picozzi 12-10 in the 118 lb. category; senior Tim Moussetis, who decisively defeated Mike Collins 9-3 at 142 lbs.; and sophomore Lane Young, who outpointed Rich Potter 3-2 in the 167 lb. class. UK's Luis Gutierrez finished in a tie in his match against Florida's David Herst, 5-5.

New lineup awakens UK in 64-52 win

"We just did not get good guard play offensively from anybody," Hall said. "We played hard defense and got a better effort from everybody. Had our guards played well, we would have had an easier time."
"The ball-handling by our guards was atrocious. (Ole Miss guard Henry) Jackson was penetrating our defense and drawing fouls."
Kyle Macy was UK's highest scoring guard with 10 points, but he was able to connect on only three of nine field goal attempts.
Hall substituted a total of 17 times in the first half, apparently trying to shake up his offense. "We were trying to keep defensive pressure on," he said. "They were setting a lot of picks and screens."
Poor ball handling didn't help the Wildcats either, as they turned the ball over a total of 23 times. Leading 51-36 with only 4:44 left in the game, Kentucky turned the ball over for the 10th time in the half on a traveling violation by Stephens.
The patient, aggressive Rebels cut the margin to seven with just over two minutes left in the game. But UK forward Jack Givens, the Wildcats' leading scorer with 18 points, broke free for two straight layups and a 59-50 lead, sealing the victory for his recuperating team.

Catfish split meets

By ANDRA LANGSTON
Kernel Reporter

The UK varsity swim team hosted two dual meets last weekend, losing Friday to University of Cincinnati 68-45 and Saturday beating Eastern Kentucky University 73-39.

Regardless of the loss to Cincinnati, Coach Wynn Paul was pleased with the overall swimming. "These are probably the best two dual meets for times that we've ever had," Paul said.

This could very easily be true, since two UK dual meet records were broken against Eastern.

In the first race of the Saturday meet, Matt Williams (backstroke), Bob Heimbrock (breaststroke), Dan Ward (butterfly) and Mark Gribble (freestyle) got things rolling by setting a new 400-yard medley relay dual meet record with a time of 3:34.5.

The second dual meet record was broken by Mark Gribble, who registered a 48.5 in the 100-yard freestyle. He also won the 50-yard freestyle, making him one of only two three-event winners for the Wildcats.

The other three-event winner against EKV was freshman Matt Williams, who won the 200-yard individual medley, the 200-yard backstroke and added strength to the record breaking 400-yard medley relay team.

Bob Heimbrock had an impressive weekend winning the 200-yard breaststroke to the 400-yard Medley Relay. Other first place individual victories for the Wildcats (against EKV) went to Dan Ward (200-yard butterfly), team captain John Denison (200-yard freestyle) and Paul Fallot (1000-yard freestyle).
