Smith Fails to Hook Flapper With Democratic Convention Pin; Opines That Omens Indicate a Hard Spring

(By LeROY SMITH)

There was plenty happenin' this week but the news hogs grabbed everything and had it all wrote up by the time I got here, so I parked in the office, lookin' mournful at a typewriter which looked like it needed a lot of sympathy and a new ribbon, and wished somebody would leave a brick through the window, and furnish me with an inspiration.

All the inspiration in sight was a dictionary and a pot of glue. The editorial pipe went out, and I didn't have no more matches, and things didn't look so favorable for the usual weekly editorial content.

Woman's Club Meets

The new officers are as follows: Mrs. C. R. Melcher, president; Mrs. W. A. Roberts, vice-president; Mrs. J. E. Rush, recording secretary; Mrs. Malcolm Kopprus, corresponding secretary;

Mrs. A. J. Olney, treasurer. Mrs. F. Paul Anderson, chairman, presented an attractive program consisting of a three act play given by the College of Engineering.

The engineering scheme was carried out in the tea table which was decorated with spring flowers and illuminated by a brilliant wreath of electric lights.

The programs which were in blue print were in keeping with the arrangements of decorations. Delicious refreshments of ices and cakes were served at the close of the meeting.

Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Margaret Dean Harbison and Mr. W. Lindsey Logan was announced at a beautiful dinner-bridge party, given by Mr. and George L. Willis, Jr., to the members of their bridge club, at Ye Olde Stone Inn, in Shelbyville. In the center of the table was a silver loving cup filled with orchid and rose sweatpeas. Silver candlesticks holding white candles and colorful place cards completed the decorations.

The engagement was announced in a very novel manner. An "Extra" edition of the Shelby Sentinel, which was distributed by the waiters at the end of the first course, contained the announcement in large headlines. Miss Harbison was a student at the university and was very prominent in social activities. She is a member of the Chi Omega social fraternity.

VOCABULARIES INCREASING

After ten years of tests, Professor Harry F. Covington, of Princeton, has concluded that the average vocabulary of the college man is on the increase. The result was arrived at by giving to Princeton juniors and seniors enrolled in the public speaking courses the same word test for the past ten years. In 1916 the average student recognized, well enough to use, 95 out of the 100 selected words. This winter the classes recognized 93 out of the 100, making it the greatest increase over the original number that has ever been made.

According to these tests an increase of seven per cent has occurred in the size of the student's vocabulary. This is about 1,000 words more than the assumed maximum of 18,000 words ready to the tongue of an educated person. Professor Covington's explanation of the increase is that the student has done an increased amount of reading, particularly of newspapers. The New York Herald-Tribune disagrees, however, and gives the credit to the cross-word puzzle vogue.—McGill Daily.

MOTHER'S DAY ON THE CAMPUS

Tomorrow and Sunday several hundreds of mothers of women students will be here to visit their daughters, to inspect the school, and to enjoy the program which has been prepared for their entertainment by a student committee with the assistance of Dean Franke. It will be a time of happiness; a time of pride both to the mother and the daughter; and a time of rejoicing for once more being granted the privilege of seeing and being with each other.

The custom of having a Mother's Day program at the university was inaugurated last year. It was a marked success and brought together at the school the mothers of 300 women students. This year it is hoped that an even larger number of parents will attend and that it will enjoy still a larger measure of success in the accomplishment of its purpose.

Beautiful, indeed, is the motive which prompts the observance of Mother's Day on the campus in this manner every year. It affords an opportunity for the daughter to express in some small manner her filial love; it brings together mothers of many students and succeeds in creating a better understanding between mothers and daughters of today; and lastly it acquaints the mother with the work and purpose of the institution in which her daughter is enrolled as a student.

It is to be hoped that this observance of Mother's Day will continue and that the program will grow year by year. This year it was found impossible to secure accommodations for the mothers of men students of the university and consequently few of them will be here this year. But it is hoped that in succeeding years it will be possible for them also to spend Mother's Day with their sons at the university and that more and more mothers will come to the university each year on this occasion.

To the mothers who are our guests now, The Kernel joins with all the university in extending a hearty welcome to our midst and in expressing the wish that their stay here may be an enjoyable one so that when they return home it will be with a mind full of pleasant remembrances not only of their daughters but also of the university in which these daughters are students.

THE HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT

The university is honored in having as its guests this week-end not only the mothers of many students but also some five or six hundred high school students who are contestants in the annual high school tournament which is now being held here. It is a privilege and a pleasure to the university to act as host to these youthful orators, debaters, and musicians who are now in our midst.

In the years past considerable interest has been shown in these tournaments which are conducted under the auspices of the extension department of the university. This year a larger program than ever before has been planned and more contestants than ever before are participating in the contests.

The whole scheme of these tournaments is most praiseworthy. It affords the high school student an opportunity to match his skill against the best in the state and spurs him on to nobler efforts. It is of benefit to the university in that it acquaints some of the most desirable material in the high schools with the advantages and opportunities offered by their own state university. Lastly it is of value to the commonwealth in creating in its future citizens a broader view, a zeal for knowledge, and an ambition to succeed in all their undertakings even as they desire to be victorious in the various contests of the tournament.

SCHOLARSHIPS IN GROUPS

According to figures just compiled by the deans of men and women of the university, the average scholastic standing of all students for the first semester was 1.382. The average standing of women was 1.61 and the average sorority standing 1.68. The average men's standing has not been computed as yet but the average fraternity standing is 1.318. This year for the first time at the university, an elaborate system of comparative standings by sex, classes, and various groups, is being worked out and a complete report of such comparisons will be issued within a short time.

From the reports issued from the deans' offices, it is evident that the women students of the university excel, by a goodly margin, the men students in scholarship. It also is shown that sorority women, while having only a slightly higher standing than the average women's standing, are 27 points higher than the general student average.

Omega Rho (recently installed as a chapter of Beta Sigma Omicron) led in the sorority standings with the remarkably high average of 2.1. Kappa Kappa Gamma was second with the average of 1.82 and as Omega Rho had but five active members the Kappas with 28 members, the largest group of girls on the campus, are entitled, perhaps, to share equally with Beta Sigma Omicron in first honors. In addition, Kappa Kappa Gamma had the distinction of having every member, active and pledge, make a standing of 1. or better.

For the second consecutive time and the fifth time since the university Y.M.C.A. has been giving a cup to the fraternity leading in scholarship, Delta Tau Delta led the men's social fraternities. In doing so it made a standing of 1.68 while Phi Delta Theta was second with 1.56 and Sigma Alpha Epsilon third with 1.46. These grades show a marked improvement over the first semester of last year when Phi Delta Theta led the field with 1.5 but are about the same as last semester when Delta Tau Delta led with a standing of 1.69.

The Kernel wishes to congratulate the women as a whole and the sorority women on their splendid standings. While the men's fraternity standing is not far below that of the university as a whole, there is still ample room for improvement. Unless the men rally in scholarship shortly women of the institution will have ample proof to turn the tables on the men students in man's centuries-old boast of superior intelligence.

In regard to group standings, the records show that these vary little from that of the average of the student body. If the student as desired he can study and make a creditable average wherever he may room, or he may loaf and fail equally as well in his own home, a dormitory, or a fraternity house. It is a personal question and each individual is master of his own fate.

GEOLOGY OFFERS MANY REWARDS

Unusual Opportunities Are Presented in Life Work in Science of Structure of The Earth

SUGGESTED TO STUDENTS

The following is one of a series of articles designed by Mary Elizabeth Allen and Harland Allen, to aid students in the selection of their life profession. It is reprinted here as perhaps being of interest in showing students some of the possibilities of a life work in a seldom-considered industry.

(From The Chicago News)

LIFE WORK IN GEOLOGY

One of the most popular sciences with college students is that of geology, yet, strangely, many of those who study it are largely interested from a cultural standpoint with little idea of finding their life work in the field. Few of these realize that geology holds a host of interesting and profitable openings for the young man or woman who adopts it as a profession.

The most venerable opening, of course, is with the United States geological survey. This department uses men trained in various branches of geology, particularly in combination with other studies, such as chemistry and physics. This service has always had much of the romantic atmosphere of the pioneer and explorer. It holds great attraction for the young person who combines scientific interest with the desire for the outdoor life. Application for positions and the exact qualifications demanded for present openings can be obtained from the national headquarters of the survey at Washington.

Commercial Field Widening

Coming into prominence during recent years is the field of commercial geology. Although a leading part of such work has had to do with the special field of oil, now coal and mineral developers and similar business men are in need of the services of the man trained in earth history and its present inner secrets. Such a geologist may act as a consulting expert or be in the employ of a single company. The young man usually starts out in the latter post and progresses either to an independent consulting position or to an executive position with the firm in question.

The new interest in scientific investigations of distant lands and civilization also has put a large amount of funds at the disposal of various exploring expeditions, such as the recent one of the American Museum of Natural History in Mongolia, when geologists capable of such a combination of this science and anthropology, archaeology and chemistry can find fascinating employment for their talents.

Satisfaction in Research

Although the largest financial rewards are usually found in the commercial field, because of the necessarily secret nature of many of these discoveries this worker lacks many of the satisfactions of the research scholar. Whichever field you choose depends upon the desire which is strongest within you. In either case first-class training is necessary. At least a B. S. with special work in geology is the minor requirement, while an M. S. or Ph. D. is becoming an increasingly common requisite for advancement, particularly in the research world. The call is for men who know their geology well, and in addition know something of other sciences and who can properly coordinate their learning.

Because of the outdoor character of the work in practically every field the geologist should possess good health and a liking for the open air. This is the chief handicap for women in the field. The income ranges from rather low salaries, in routine and government positions, to $10,000 a year or more for the specialist with the average around $2,000 to $3,000 annually.

There also is room for skillful teachers of geology in the schools and colleges at the regular rates of compensation.

That doesn't look so good, but I got all the crab, and I'm not sure that I put in some extra ones for good luck.

Now is the time for a grand celebration. A real crabbing letter showed up in old 2193 a few days ago. Apparently it came from one of the talented members of the glee club. I don't know why the other one didn't write too. (Now lay off! I'm the Crab! I will quote in part from the volume. But the graceless son-of-a-gun had to bite the hand that's taking what he feeds me. Listen:

"For once since the beginning of things crabby, I'm glad we have them. Your session comes in handy just now. I probably won't read it again until I want to write something for it again, but someone may read it this time. What pains me is the treatment we got on our trip. We went down to sing for K. E. A., and they hired two buses for us. I think the one I rode in was one which was consigned to the junk pile and was rejuvenated to only about 75 years of age. When we got a couple of miles out of Versailles, we broke down. The driver finally got it going again and we went on into Louisville.

"There they put us into a single room with a single mirror and one wash-basin, to dress up in our tuxes. Then they rushed us down and herded us into a coffee shop for a bite of tough steak that had been tested and not found wanting by seven ahead of us, and us singing at a University of Kentucky alumni banquet, too! Rushed us over to the hotel, where we sang to the accompaniment of rattling dishes and scraping chairs and conversation. Hauled us over to the convention hall, where we were received very nicely. Then crowded us over to the broadcasting station, where we sang for the world in general. Then to the buses again, in our tuxes and back to Lexington, in our tuxes. There were 19 of us in a sixteen passenger bus and I rode the whole 80 miles on the nice, soft pine board over the rear wheel, in my TUXEDO. Just about seven miles out of Shelbyville, we broke down again. We were peacefully resting there, when a Dodge coupe came along, hooked on and pulled us into Shelbyville.

"I've had some dirty deals, but I think that was about the worst. The music committee got generous and granted us expense money up to $7 cents for our trip. Broken down bus—crowded full and then someone to wash up after the trip, or to tie my tie in front of a mirror—don't even have us guests at the banquet—no chance to get out of our tuxes for the trip home. All in all, I have a fine opinion of the music committee, or whoever had charge of the whole thing."

Has he commented enough, or would someone else want to add a little to his statement and comments?

I have just learned that a good many of the students have taken my invitation to contribute to mere talk. I am in earnest, and sincerely wish for contributions. This session is not for my own elucidation of ideas, but for the Voice of the People. Have I made myself clear this time? I actually want contributions, which I will publish without the names of the contributors.

WOMEN'S CAMPS ARE PLANNED

Arrangements Completed in 10 Counties by College of Agriculture Show 2,500 Persons May Be Given Vacations

WILL BE EDUCATIONAL

The College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky is perfecting plans whereby at least 2,500 Kentucky farm women may take an educational vacation this year. Camps will be established in different counties where the women may take a week's outing and forget about the work and worry of the farm house.

The home demonstration section of the college, county home agents and homemakers' association are making definite plans for the various camps. Arrangements have been completed for Lee, Garrard, Boyle, Christian, Jefferson, McCracken, Graves, Henderson and Union counties. Women of Garrard and Boyle counties will unite in one camp.

The summer camp vacation idea for farm women originated two years ago with Mrs. Catherine Taylor Johnson, home demonstration agent in Jefferson county. Two successful camps have been held in that county. Other counties tried out the camp vacation idea last year will good results.

You can't always tell from the Campus

THIS is a plain tale of a regular, everyday American undergraduate—an engineer from the University of Cincinnati, with a college record much like that of thousands of other students.

He got a kick out of playing varsity basketball. He caught on the baseball team. When Cincinnati won at football, he celebrated with the rest. For a year he supervised the student cooperative bookshop. He was president of the Engineering Tribunal, the student governing body. In a word, he did the things well, that college students everywhere like to do.

But of the specialization which he was to undertake at Westinghouse—there wasn't a clue.

The case of W. E. Thau is another example of unforeseen opportunities afforded by such an organization to a man with a healthy aptitude for getting things done.

After the usual training given college men, he entered the General Engineering Department. Later he became Engineer in Charge of the Marine Section, handling all marine and government application jobs. That was six years ago.

Within Thau's time, the Diesel-electric drive has come to be the most advanced method of ship propulsion. By means of

The question is sometimes asked: "Where do young men get when they enter a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talents? Or are they forced into narrow grooves?"

This series of advertisements throws light on these questions. Each advertisement takes up the record of a college man who came with the Westinghouse Company within the last ten years or so, after graduation.

it the man in the pilot house controls his vessel as easily and surely as the driver of an automobile. Also, this system uses about one-third the fuel of the ordinary steamship—an enormous saving in dollars, cargo space and weight. Of all the Diesel-electric marine installations in the world today—70 per cent are Westinghouse.

Thau and his associates determine how practical is each application proposed. They diagnose each customer's needs. They prescribe the right Westinghouse equipment.

For instance, when the Government sent word: "Electrify the battleships Tennessee and Colorado," the Marine Section was on the job to install turbine electric drives, which helped to make these warcraft the most powerful units in the National Defense.

Or the Clyde Steamship Line says: "We want to load these lumber-cargo carriers electrically. How can we do it? What will it cost?" Thau must figure to a fine point the exact requirements.

Thus does the Westinghouse application engineer combine commercial and engineering sense to advance the interests of the customer being served.

VARIED EVIDENCES OF SPRING FEVER

Since Akkie was campused and didn't get to be May Queen, it's been like living with a growing cactus plant—in our suite. I really don't know which she's got more, a case of grouchiness or spring fever. I tell her there's no use getting mad over spilled milk, any one that was fool enough getting caught, not coming in the side door, of course.

And the spring fever! After forty months of winter we just didn't expect warm weather to come, but it arrived and knocked Akkie cold—or should I say hot? Now I'm contrite, very contrite; I don't mean 'specially Akkie but everybody (even I have just a little touch of it). Like the other day in Spanish class Professor Holmes calls on about 10 different persons in the hope of finding some one who knew where the place was, but no one knew 'cause everybody was so busy watchin' the man cut grass. Boy! I never seed a man cause so much excitement as that feller did; you'd thought he was a magician or something.

Then the other day I got to take a ride in an automobile (it was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and there was five girls in the car, no men, and we didn't go outside the city limits). We drove past Professor Grehan's house, and there he was in overalls painting his house. By seeing that I knew I wasn't mistaken; spring had arrived.

And the town girls tells me they see more evidences of spring out the pikes. "Course I don't know 'cause I don't ever get on one of 'em, but that's just what they say. Naturally, I, being young and innocent and a freshie, thought they meant by "evidences of spring" that the trees were coming out, and the violets blooming, and all nature proclaiming the glories of spring-time; but they looked disgusted like at me and made some remark about the county patrol not being very successful keepin' 'em down this weather, which I didn't understand.

CHARLSEY SMITH MADE CHAIRMAN

Big Sisters, Girls' Organization, To Be Brought Under Head of Woman's Self Government Association

COOPERATION STRESSE D

The Big Sister organization, which has existed on the campus of the University of Kentucky since 1925, has chosen Miss Charley Smith, sophomore, as its chairman for the year 1926-1927.

This organization was created last year in order that the incoming freshmen girls would assured be of the personal supervision and advice of at least one older girl on the campus, so that in this way complete organization and cooperation could be obtained among the women students of the university.

 Miss Smith was a delegate at the National Big Sister and Big Brother convention which was held in Chicago, January 17-18-19, and she says, "An effort is being made to bring the Big Sister movement under the head of Woman's Self Government Association, and to stress individual cooperation on the part of the students." Miss Betty Heffernan was chairman of the organization this year, and Miss Smith in assuming her position hopes to carry out her ideas and to have definite plans made for the beginning of next year before the end of this semester.

Crows

In a field in sunny Spain stands a stone mortar. Crows hover around it, picking up bits of grain and chaff—cawing.

Here Marcheta, in the fresh beauty of her youth, will come to pound maize. For years she will pound maize. The stone will stand up under the blows; not a dent has the muscle of three generations of women made upon it. But the crows will hurl their black gibes upon a woman aging early and bent with toil. Old Marcheta—still in her thirties.

The American woman does not pound maize. But she still beats carpet; she still pounds clothes; she still pumps water. She exhausts her strength in tasks which electricity can do better, and in half the time.

The high ideals of a community mean little where woman is still doomed to drudgery. But the miracles which electricity already has performed indicate but a fraction of the vast possibilities for better living and the tremendous opportunities which the future developments in electricity will hold for the college man and woman.

Electricity, which can release woman from her burdens, has already created a revolution in American industry. Wherever mankind labors, General Electric motors can be found carrying loads, driving machinery and saving time and labor. And there is no branch of electrical development today to which General Electric has not made important contributions.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

INDIANA COMES FOR TRACK MEET

Dual Event Is Scheduled Tomorrow Afternoon; Gess Is Relieved on Middle Distance Runs; Hoosiers have Stars

LAST HOME APPEARANCE

The University of Indiana, a Big Ten Conference member will send a galaxy of track and field stars into the Blue Grass tomorrow to do battle with the University of Kentucky for supremacy on the cinder path. From the crack of the gun on the 100-yard dash to the running of the relay there should be more action out on Stoll Field than took place at the Battle of the Marne.

Beat 'Cats Last Year

Last year the 'Cats motored to Bloomington and the Hoosiers entertained by administering a stinging defeat to their guests. This season the Blue and White, with one of the strongest track teams ever to represent Kentucky, will attempt to extend the same courtesy to the boys from Bloomington. That this will be a Herculean task is a known fact, but the accomplishment of mighty things is not unusual in McLean Stadium, and more than once the Kentucky Wildcats have fought with his back to the wall until success finally came to him.

Indiana is reputed to have one of the strongest teams in the Big Ten, but when the visitors tie up with such athletes as Root in the hurdles, Brady in the pole vault, and Gess in the middle distances, something interesting is bound to happen.

Indiana Strong in Distances
Although no part of the Indiana aggregation can be said to be weak, the visitors' best bet for points is probably in the distances, since they possess in Rose and White the fastest milers and two-milers in the Western Conference.

THEY ALL LIVED

After all, I don't suppose it would be all right for me to go by the week without expostulating on the "blowout" the boys and girls from the office gave The Herald Monday night, although it does seem that we who labor hard from day to day on the daily might have been allowed the pleasure of the moment by giving us the polite "GET OUT!" that the rest of the regular gang got when the embryonic journalists surged into the news and advertising departments early Monday afternoon.

It appears to me that the party would have gone off all right if LeRoy Smith hadn't busted into everything that was started. His pipe was the most of him and got the most of everybody. The results of his wind jamming labor driving off "Prexy" McVey long before he and the Mrs. were ready to leave around the zero hour.

And then he "sat" on a typewriter from 6 to 11 and about a good page of words was all that he was able to coax from the thing, causing much gossip and speculation among the spectators and which eventually drew from Prexy the statement "It must be good"—he sure fooled himself here.

SUPERIORITY!

As far as I could see, most everybody had that "I got the stuff" air and as far as I can see they showed their stuff. Of course there were those little grammatical "optical illusion" errors that came as the result of too much copy reading—for there were floods of it—but there are the inevitable faults of youth and in years to come will be eliminated, provided these self same editors and editoressees keep at their pencil and typewriter.

Incidentally me and this Arizona cow puncher were about the only ones to get by-line—yes, names over your stories—on the front page but of course we had the most important stories in the paper to write (h-m-m-m), no matter if nobody does agree with us. (P. S.) Smith said put it in this way. (Close P. S.)

I didn't do much and Smith, he did less. And as far as I can ascertain most of them did lesser. There was enough air and gas down there about 8 o'clock to blow up the Woolworth building and so much talking and buzzing and giggling that one had to use a deaf man's combination talking and hearing set to hear his friend say a word three feet away.

EATS—THESE STOPPED THEM

About the only time things died down was when all the "lights" got in the bread line about 11 o'clock and everybody got a mouthful of Coons' ham sandwiches and beer. (Sh-h-h, even the girls drank it, at least Lilwellyn Jones did.) Of course this would stop the best of talkers.

About 11 o'clock I found a place where I could count all the money I won on A. B. Bensinger—yes he paid $23.80—and after that called a $1.00 taxi, tipped the driver 50 cents and went home.

After that the dark and as far as I know everybody lived happily ever after, although the reports have it that Mrs. Giles found some of the girls climbing in at the windows around 4 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Here's a headline, clipped from The Kentucky Wesleyan, that some thoughtful soul left on my desk:

PANTHERS ATTACK TEACHERS AND ARE DEFEATED
Which reminds us that they must raise awful weak animals over in Winchester.

INEVITABLENESS

Familiar phrases heard during the races:
"WAIT A MINUTE TILL I GO ACROSS THE STREET" TO THE BANK"
"NAW, I AIN'T NO GOOD!"
"YEA, I'SE AIMIN' TO PLAY THAT 'UN AND DID-N'T DO IT!"

CATS IN HARD LUCK

It looks as though our Wildcats ran into more tough luck than was their share on the Southern trip last week-end. They played their second tie game in succession down at Western Normal and dropped two hard ones at Vanderbilt.

The first one was lost through bone head plays and errors. John Riffe holding the opposition to 7 hits while the Kentuckians were pounding out 15 and the second was lost when Charley Wert and Skinner failed to hold the Vols and when the 'Cats were guilty of some loose fielding again.

They will journey over to Danville tomorrow to meet the Centre Colonels and should have little trouble trimming the chesty boys. The net home game will be with the Mississippi A. and M. nine here May 17 and 18.

'CAT RACQUET WELDERS WIN

Kentucky's tennis team, coached by Prof. H. H. Downing, took another step toward the coveted state title Tuesday afternoon by defeating the Georgetown Tigers on the university courts five sets to one.

The lone set won by Georgetown taken by Fenn who defeated Spicer 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. Other results of the games were:

McFarland defeated Clark, 6-1, 6-2
Ragland defeated Blackburn, 6-1, 9-7.

McFarland and Ebert bested Clark and Morris 6-3, 6-4.

Ragland and Cohen disposed of Mitchell and Lair, 6-4, 6-2.

Coach Downing has announced that the University of Louisville team would come here for a match tomorrow afternoon.

CENTRE TO MEET 'CATS TOMORROW

Kentucky Nine Will Renew Hostilities with Colonels on Danville Field; Hope to Break Jinx

ARE IN FAIR CONDITION

The University of Kentucky Wildcat ball-tossers, undaunted by the disastrous road trip of last week when they lost two games and tied one, are working hard this week in preparation for the game at Danville tomorrow with the Centre College Colonels.

The Kentucky team seems to be a hard luck team this year. It has a hard hitting aggregation and the fielding is at least fair, but it does not seem to get the proper results. The weakness probably lies in the pitching staff. Injuries, sore arms, and other troubles have prevented the hurlers from reaching their desired form. However, with the arrival of warm weather they should be able to assume their share of the burden. With fair pitching the Wildcats should be a winning organization, for they have demonstrated time after time that they can hit and score runs.

Little is known of the strength of the Colonels this year. They lost several men last year through graduation, and whether these gaps have been filled by men of equal merit is not known. However, Centre can always be counted on to give Kentucky a hard fight.

Jesse Riffe pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Danville boys last year, and Kentucky won by the score of 8 to 0. This was the only baseball game played between the two rival institutions last year, rain preventing the other.

SEWANEE BESTED IN TRACK MEET

Tigers Go Down by 67 to 45 Score as Brame, Gess Show Form in Distance Runs; Root Beats Nash

VISITORS BEST IN WEIGHTS

In a dual track and field meet with the University of the South on Stoll field Saturday afternoon, the Wildcats finished first in eight out of 14 events and won easily by 22 points, the score being 67-45. Placing in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and winning the pole vault and the broad jump, Captain Brady was the high point man of the meet. Nash, a brilliant hurdler and dash man from Sewanee was second to Brady with 13 points. He won the 220-yard low hurdles, the 220-yard dash, and finished second to Lewis Root, in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Brame and Gess Star

Brame in the distance runs, the mile and the two-mile, and Gess in the middle distances, the quarter and the half, completely outclassed their opposition and did not have to extend themselves to win. Elliott and Brown who finished second in these events might have forced them to the limit but it was unnecessary as the Sewanee men had already dropped out. The sportsmanship of Gess and Brown in trying to persuade each other to finish first in the 440-yard dash was commendable.

Probably the most scintillating performance of the day was shown when Lewis Root won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.5. He might also have won the 220-yard low hurdles but he was forced to run on the outside track during the entire distance. Akin ran a very creditable race in the 440-yard dash but was cheated out of second place at the finish when he fell. He suffered painful scratches on the arms and knees but none were serious.

McClean Hurts Leg

While winning the 100-yard dash from Brady in the second event, McClean of Sewanee pulled a tendon in his leg. He started in the 220-yard dash regardless of his injury and would probably have won had not his leg collapsed. Martino who won the high jump from Coons at 5 feet 10 inches displayed best form of any man faced by the team this year. The Sewanee contract did not call for a relay race.

The results of the meet are as follows:

- 1 mile run—Brame, of Kentucky, first; Brown, of Kentucky, second. Time 4 minutes, 53 seconds.
- 100 yard dash—McClean, Sewanee, first; Brady, Kentucky, second. Time 10.3 seconds.
- Pole vault—Brady, Kentucky, first; Small, Sewanee, second. Height 10 feet, 6 inches.
- 220 yard dash—Nash, Sewanee, first; Brady, Kentucky, second. Time 22.4 seconds.
- 120 yard high hurdles—Root, Kentucky, first; Nash, Sewanee, second. Time 15.5 seconds.
- Shot-put—Helvey, Sewanee, first; Anglin, Kentucky, second. Distance 38 feet, 4 inches.
- Discus throw—Helvey, Sewanee, first; Anglin, Kentucky, second. Distance 125 feet, 3 inches.
- 2 mile run—Brame, Kentucky, first; Elliott, Kentucky, second. Time 11 minutes, 56 seconds.
- High jump—Martino, Sewanee,

Krelling pitched good ball for the Kittens, and alighted through the entire game.

The game was well played and a fair sized crowd attended.

'CATS' MISCUES CAUSE DOWNFALL

Errors Allow Western Normal To Tie Score, 9 to 9, and Vandy To Win Two Consecutive Games, 9-7, 9-6

BACH'S HURLING FEATURE

Due to poor base running and petty errors that will break any team, the Wildcat baseball team lost two and tied one on their annual Southern trip which terminated on last Saturday.

Western Normal, Kentucky's first opponent on Thursday, was outbatted and outplayed, but due to some unnecessary errors on the part of the Wildcat, the Teachers tied the score just before darkness descended on the field, 9 to 9. In the two games with Vanderbilt, the Wildcats could not make their efforts count toward a victory, outbidding the Commodores in the first game. The first game was lost, 9 to 7, and the last, 9 to 6.

The most notable performances on the trip was the crack hurling of Anderson who allowed only two scratch hits during the five innings he worked in the Vanderbilt game, and the hitting of Anderson, who got seven hits out of 12 trips to the plate. Captain Rife still maintained his 500 average with the stick. Jess Rife, although unsuccessful in his first start of the year, will probably regain his form in the game with Centre next Saturday.

W. A. A. NOTES

(By MARTHA REED)

Track is fast becoming the leading favorite in University co-ed sport circles. Fair sprinters may be seen every afternoon after 4 o'clock, running along in good form (?). Really girls you should get in on this sport. It is surprising how much it increases lung capacity—a big asset in screaming for in the dispensing of hot air! For the benefit of those tea hounds who do not believe the W. A. A. is in earnest, let us tell you what track really means to us:

- Training.
- Effort
- Active Practice
- Courage
- Kentucky Spirit.

Only the girl who is willing to give her time and energy can succeed in being a true track athlete. However, the association is not an organization for experts; it is an association for sportswomen. If you enjoy track events but feel that you are not expert at them, you are the very girl we are looking for. This year there will be two field days for women. On May 12 a mass track meet will be held for all those who have reported for practice. The field will be marked off into three sections. Those who can run a certain distance in a specified time, jump to a certain height, or throw a discus or basketball so many feet will receive three points for each. Those who fail to meet this standard but reach the second qualification in any event will receive two points. All other entries who are deserving will be given one point. On May 14, another meet will be held for those who make three points in any event of the first track meet. On this second day girls will contest for individual honors and for records in the association.

The events in which girls will compete this year are: 50 yard dash, hurdles, high jump, basketball throw, discus throw, and a class stunt and relay race.

Every woman student in the university should enter these meets and win points for her class. You may practice any time you choose. Directed practice is being held every day at 4 o'clock. Come out and join in the fun! Who knows but what you might leave your "track" in the sands of time!

Election of W. A. A. Officers

At the annual election of W. A. A. officers held Thursday afternoon the following girls were chosen for next year: president, Mable Hill; vice-president, Frances Osborn; secretary, Eleanor Beggs; treasurer, Virginia Robinson. The leaders of sports appointed are:

- Hockey—Georgia Alexander; assistant, Cynthia Smith; Volley Ball—Adrienne Mason; Basketball—Anna Mae Stamper; assistant, Rankin Harris; Track—Marie Kintaler; assistant, Alvie Sharpe; Hikes—Louetta Green; assistant, Katherine Catliff; Tennis—Bess Boughton; assistant, Louise Dyer; Baseball—Dorothy Partch; assistant, Mary Whitehead; Soccer—Mary Alex O'Hara; assistant—Grace England.

Soccer practice is being held daily at 4 o'clock in the women's gymnasium. Now that the weather permits, the men's dormitory. The sport is one which years ago proved a great favorite with Kentucky women. All girls who are interested in learning the game will please report immediately for class teams, as games are to be played off next week. Remember sororities that this sport will count points toward the trophy to be presented at the banquet.

You are too fascinating to forget; You are a soft exotic dream of bliss; You are a luring breath of mignonne— Say, gail, how many guys have tolja dis? —Columbia Jester.

A very interesting musical program featuring the Kentucky Cardinals has been planned for the occasion.

"TWILIGHT DANCE" TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

It was decided not to give the dance on May day but to hold it on this Friday night instead. In the plans for this dance are incorporated the same provisions for gingham dresses for girls and old clothes for boys as at the May which has become a traditional part of the Suky circle's May day dances.

Girls will wear gingham dresses to the dance and boys will dress to suit themselves. If the weather is warm, it will be correct etiquette for them to wear suits and coats. If tonight is chilly, sweaters, old coats or whatever the wearer desires, will be proper form.

All student of the university are invited to attend and enjoy the festivities. Subscription for the dance will be $1.00.

SMITH FINDS CONVENTION PIN IS USELESS AS HOOK

'I heard a loud honk behind me, and a noise like you hear walking past a sorority for most any day, "hey, hey, hey," I jumped out from between my hat and my shoes just in time, and a big bus sailed by, which was full of women, and I figured that maybe this was some of the mothers who was going to be here for Mother's Day. This set me to cogitating' somewhat about mothers-in-law, and how much damage they could do when they got you at close range. I deposited the volume of poetry in a convenient ash can, and went back to the office, where I found that the temporary absence of my pipe had occasioned an influx of flappers. I lit the pipe and the flappers lit out, and I sat down to reflect upon what an unusual spring this had turned out to be.

Is Still Able To Navigate
Just as I had got comfortably grouchy again, in come another dandel and inquires how was the state of my health. I admits I was still able to navigate and sit up and take nourishment at the customary time. I eased two or three puffs of smoke over her way and she says, my, how she did love to smell pipe smoke! I wondered just what sort of specie of female this might be, and let the pipe go out, and lit a cigarette. She says she couldn't understand anyone that didn't like pipes, and I lit the pipe again, and started looking for the aforementioned volume of poetry, and frate pins.

Discovers Mistake
Lookin' the pins over careful, I seen that the brothers that lent 'em to me had made a mistake, and they was all labeled with somethin' about the Democratic convention. I was considerable handicapped, seein' that the poetry was over in the ash can, so I had to rely on the pipe. After while she said that she'd better open a window, so I opened a window. She said she had come in to write a story, but it was kind of stuffy in here, and as she went out the door, she says that she had always liked pipe smoke, but this was the first time she had ever seen one that would fumigate a whole office.

I went over and put the convention pins in the waste basket, and sat down to reflect upon what a discouragin' spring this had turned out to be.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HERE FOR TOURNAMENT

debating team this year. District contestants in this event are, Mayslick, Paris, Richmond, Crittenden, Trimble, Simpsonville, Chaplin, Beaver Dam, Bowling Green, Sturgis, Edyville, Mayfield, Somerset, Corbin, and Witherspoon College Academy. Each district is also represented in girls' declamation, boys' declamation, oratory and public discussion.

Another attractive event of this year's program is the high school scholarship contest which includes the subjects of American history, arithmetic, algebra, language and grammar. The grade schools also have a following contest which embraces the following subjects, reading, spelling, arithmetic, and declamation.

The number of schools which have entries in the musical contests this year is also very large. There are seven entries in the band, seven in the orchestra, four in the violin, nine in the piano, six in the horn, and two in the xylophone contest. The vocal entries consist of four girls' quartettes, two boys' quartettes, two mixed quartettes, and eight solos.

Band Contest Is New Feature

An added feature of this year's program is the band contest. The National Bureau for the Advancement of Music has sent a large silver and bronze cup to be awarded the winners of this event; this cup is valued at $150. The university will also award a silver cup to the winners of the same event. Eight bands are entered as follows: Frankfort High school, Georgetown High school, Kentucky Houses of Reform band, Greendale, Cynthia High school, Louisville Male High school, Ashland High school, Wolfpit High school, Odd Fellows Orphans' Home band, Lexington.

Cups will also be given to winners of the declamation, journalism, oratory and boys' declamation contests. Individual medals will be given to winners of other events.

This year a new ruling has been instituted whereby the students from the various high schools, contestants in the events, are being kept at the hotel instead of at the sorority houses, fraternity houses, and various homes in the city.

played without affecting the reproduction. The uses to which such a device could be placed seem innumerable at first glance, and with the development of the idea will doubtless be extended. The most obvious advantage is the possibility of furnishing musical entertainment in homes, halls, and thetres, the sound being projected from one definite source. From one place in a city, for example, programs could be given each day, the best of music from all over the world being selected in the phonograph records, and by the simple pressing of a switch, like that of a table lamp, those connected with the central station could have music during dinner, for dancing, or for other entertainment.

The great advantage over the radio is the entire lack of static or any difficulty in getting the program, and the wider range of selection afforded the central station, since it would not have to depend on local artists.

Such an invention from the College of Engineering is not the first to come from this college of the university. In 1906, Dean F. Paul Anderson, with associates, succeeded in taking the first successful X-ray pictures in America.
