Kernel Sweetheart

This week's Kernel Sweetheart is Ann Davis, a freshman from Hazard. Ann, who recently pledged Alpha Gamma Delta, is majoring in elementary education.

LEADERSHIP MEETING WILL BEGIN SATURDAY

Jefferson County Judge Bertram C. Van Arsdale will give the keynote address to more than 100 UK student organization leaders at the annual Leadership Conference at 9 a.m. Saturday at Camp Daniel Boone.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss organizational problems and also those pertaining to student, faculty, and administration relations.

Gerri Denbo, Lexington, is general chairman of the meeting. Group discussions on student religious life, government, social life, scholarship, service programs, and school spirit and morale will be conducted Saturday afternoon.

Those participating are: Donna Lawson, Louisville; Taylor Jones, Judy Schrim and Barbara Bedford, all of Lexington; Jeff Brother, Mt. Sterling; Alice Broadbent, Cadiz; Garryl Sipple, Morning View; Bill Williams, Greensburg; Jim Heil, Mt. Healthy, Ohio; and Myra Tobin, Harned.

Sponsors of the two day conference are Links, Mortar Board, and Omicron Delta Kappa, and UK honorary societies. Conference moderator will be Dr. J. Don Marsi, assistant dean of students, Wayne State University, Detroit.

Saturday evening activities will include a dinner and dance. Vespers will be conducted by the YMCA. Bob Wainscott, will conduct interdenominational services at 9:15 a.m. Sunday.

A faculty panel will discuss "are our universities preparing our students for leadership in the world of today?" at 10:15 a.m., conducted by Doctor Marsh.

Panel members will be Dr. Frank G. Dickey, University president; Dr. L. L. Martin, dean of men; Dr.

Doris Seward, dean of women; Dr. A. D. Kirwan, professor of sociology.

Dr. Marsh will give the closing address, followed by lunch and an evaluation panel by the group leaders. Buses will leave Camp Daniel Boone at 3:15 p.m.

Language Conference

Dr. Jonah D. Skiles, head of the Department of Ancient Languages, left Lexington yesterday for Morgantown, W. Va.

Skiles will attend a two-day Mountain Inter-state Foreign Language Conference. The conference was founded by Skiles two years ago.

Lances Plan Changes In Future Carnivals

Because of conflicts with other activities, this may be the last year Lances, junior men's honorary, will sponsor Lances Carnival, Bob Wainscott said yesterday.

"Lances is presently considering a plan to get several of the other honorary groups to combine and sponsor one big show," Wainscott, Lances Carnival committee chairman, said.

"The way it stands now Lances is being crowded," he said.

"Though at present we are only considering the move, we feel it will be of genuine benefit, not only to Lances, but each of the other organizations as well.

Wainscott said Lances has not been completely pleased with the results the carnival has had over the past few years.

"Too often the sororities and fraternities, as well as the other organizations on campus, have programs which conflict with the carnival date.

"This conflict hurts both the carnival and the activity of the other groups as well," he said.

Both Panhellenic Council and Lances have already passed regulations which have caused several changes in the carnival this year.

Panhellenic agreed that the sororities should combine all the separate shows into one show in order to facilitate the work each sorority would have to do to perform in the carnival.

Martha Ammerman, Alpha Gamma Delta Panhellenic representative, said the group agreed on the action because it would enable the sororities to present a better performance.

The single show will take up the equivalent space of four side shows. The acts will consist of a takeoff on the recording "I'm a Mummy," and a chorus line.

Both "I'm a Mummy" and the chorus line will contain representatives from each sorority.

Fraternities this year will give shows just as they have in the past, according to Wainscott.

Wainscott said the Lances committee had also made several changes on the way the acts will be handled this year.

"First," he said, "a $50 ceiling has been placed on the cost of producing each act. Before there was no limit on the amount which the act could cost.

"Also no big boxes or displays will run out into the walkways. The committee passed this ruling to keep the passageways free for those attending the carnival.

"The committee also agreed that no speakers or public address systems should be used on the fairway. If used at all, they must be within the act itself," he declared. Fraternities who had registered their acts late Thursday afternoon were:

Sigma Phi Epsilon, "Flames, Flappers and Flasks"; Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Kappa Tau, "Ye Old Fashioned Church Meeting"; Pi Kappa Alpha, "Shooting Gallery," and Triangle, "Game of Chance."

A queen and four attendants will be presented at the dance Saturday night. Each fraternity

SU Board Votes To Honor One Student Each Month

There will no longer be a selection of the UK Man and Woman of the Month.

This is the essence of a decision made by the Student Union Board Wednesday afternoon in the SUB.

The decision states that instead of giving monthly recognition to a pair of outstanding students, only one student will be recognized each month by the SU Board.

The Student of the Month will be chosen for having done something outstanding which deserves recognition, according to Judy Schrim, SU Board president.

"It will be for some contribution to UK that hasn't been recognized," Miss Schrim said.

The reason for the change, the president said, is that there has been increasing difficulty in finding both a man and a woman on campus who have made some exceptional contribution during the month that hasn't already been recognized.

Application blanks for the student will be much the same as the previous selections, she said.

The program of choosing outstanding students was initiated by the board last fall.

Hungarian Orchestra To Perform Tonight

The Philharmonia Hungarica Orchestra will open the Central Kentucky Concert and Lecture Series tonight at 8:15 in Memorial Coliseum.

The organization's beginnings can be traced back to the Hungarian revolt of 1956. It composed entirely of Hungarians who were members of their country's foremost orchestras before they fled to neighboring Vienna, a spokesman for the group said.

While staying in refugee camps awaiting the Austrian government's task of finding better accommodations for them, it is reported that these musicians would often pass the time by playing various instruments.

After listening to these renditions, Zoltan Rozsnyai, who is now permanent conductor of the group, came upon the idea of organizing an orchestra as a means of providing work for the musicians in the camp.

Their American tour is sold out from coast to coast, and the New York Herald-Tribune has said of their New York appearance:

"This orchestra is an accomplished ensemble which can be compared to the most prominent music groups of today."

Student Gets Scholarship Worth $500

James W. Bowling, a marketing and advertising senior, has been chosen from 15 UK applications and awarded a $500 cash scholarship on the basis of business potential.

Omer Kirtley, who has been custodian of the Journalism Building for more than seven years and who has become a tradition to the School of Journalism, has been transferred to Funkhouser Biological Science Building. The transfer was announced by M&O yesterday.

Renumbering Of Courses Allows For Class Expansion

A new system for the renumbering of courses has been approved by the University faculty and will go into effect next fall.

The system, which is presently used by most universities, will provide for the expansion of classes and the opportunity for departments to reserve blocks of numbers for structuring special classes, labs, and seminars.

According to Dr. Charles F. Elton, registrar, the system will simplify matters for students and their advisors. There will be no question as to which classes are open to freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors, and graduate students, he said.

Each level of classification will have a separate block of numbers. They are:

- 001-099—No credit and/or non-degree courses.
- 100-199—Open to freshmen; gives undergraduate credit only.
- 200-299—Prerequisite sophomore classification; gives undergraduate credit only.
- 300-399—Prerequisite junior classification; gives undergraduate credit only.
- 400-499—Prerequisite junior classification; gives undergraduate credit and graduate credit for non-majors.
- 500-599—Prerequisite junior classification; gives undergraduate and graduate credit.
- 600-699—Open only to graduate students.

Although there will be preclassification of classes this year, the new system of renumbering will not go into effect until September, 1960.

All bulletins and catalogs listing classes will for a time, have both the old and new numbering systems to lessen confusion.

'Health Blast' And Lances Included On Weekend Slate

By ALICE AKIN

Those Kappa Sigs have the right idea!

Everyone is suffering with heat attacks and the KS's being the philanthropers they are have rushed to the scene with relief.

Sunday the "medics" and their "nurses" will revive themselves with the waters of Herrington.

The entire afternoon will be devoted to swimming, boating, and water skiing. Then to climax this "health blast" the pledges will fire up the charcoal and all will consume juicy steaks.

Lances Carnival tonight with all its spectaculars . . . queen candidates, fraternity skits, bourbon, p.a. systems, gin, costumes, vodka, short shorts, dirty tarpaulins . . . anyone care for a dry martini in a dixie cup?

Saturday the "big wheels" will roll off early in the morning for Leadership Conference at Camp Daniel Boone to weather crisp air and chiggers all in an effort to learn how to lead us better. (God bless our leaders!)

And so all the insignificant little people left on campus will have to seek entertainment on their own. There's Lances Dance until midnight with the announcement of a brand new queen and we all know how much this campus needs queens.

If you don't give a big dance who gets the queen title, there are other things going on. Gossip has it that Tommy Gentry is planning a big blowout after the races. Of course if T.G. loses Saturday this could fall through.

Also Caroline Colpitts informs us that there are some real interesting nude portraits in the basement of a local restaurant. If you are interested in the "cultural aspects," this might not be a bad place to spend Saturday evening.

If nothing on the social schedule is appealing to you, then pack those bags and go home . . . you'll be a lot better off comes Monday morn. See you next week?

Little Commons

The End Of Old Eyesore

The University's antiquated eyesore, Little Commons, will soon be removed from the campus and with its departure comes the addition of 20, or possibly more, parking spaces.

Erected during the student increase after World War II, this monument—almost a tradition on campus now—has been used for storage of many odds and ends by UK until the recent purchase of two tobacco warehouses provided sufficient closet space.

The concrete floor of the building will be used for the surface of the lot and, although this may raise doubts, the cost of paving a similar lot would exceed $3,000.

Perhaps the razing of Little Commons is only the first step in removing several of UK's frame firetraps from the campus. We look hopefully to the time when the University is completely free of its barrack-type buildings and equipped with modern, efficient facilities.

But, since this involves appropriations from the state administration for new classrooms, maybe we are being too hopeful at the moment.

Top Secret

The Lexington weather, in a startling reversal of form, has turned from sweltering to crisp during the past week and University ROTC cadets are no longer grumbling (silently, of course) because they had to don their heavy blouses in 80 and 90 degree temperatures.

But the heat is over, UK cadets are wearing their blouses peacefully and unperspiringly, and all enmity against that bureaucratic group is forgotten. In fact, compelling the cadets to wear their blouses may have had a bright side to it (only for the military, of course).

We figure they may have had another one of those top secret training programs to prepare troops for jungle operations.

The Readers' Forum

Noback Answers Letter

To The Editor:

While I recognize that there may be some difficulty in presenting an individual's statements accurately in a news story, and while I prefer to refrain from appearing to argue with letters to the editor, the anonymous letter in the Oct. 7 Readers' Forum compels me to write you.

I was incorrectly quoted in the first two paragraphs on the page two article in the Kernel on Friday, Oct. 2. My statement to your reporter was to the effect that as an individual I agree with the view that compulsory immunization should not be extended. At no point in the interview was 'abolition of the present compulsory vaccination law discussed.

In matters as personal as protecting your health I believe that voluntary immunization using easily understandable and readily available measures provides an accessible and effective way of bringing specific preventive measures into general use.

The writer of Wednesday's letter seems to confuse certain important points. The analogy between routine and readily available immunizations to avoid recognized hazards is not analogous to the need for protecting the public from something like bad food handling or preparation which the restaurant patron cannot see unless he himself has the time and technical skill to inspect the restaurant. Further, the notion that Kentucky physicians are in favor of increasing illness is too ridiculous to warrant comment.

A belief in the effectiveness of education, in the reason of my fellow citizens, and in the duty of the citizen to be informed and to make his own decisions about important issues is basic to my opinion about immunization. Honest differences of opinion between individuals are to be expected and often precede sound developments. Discussions and understanding are not furthered by name calling or innuendoes.

Apology To Biology?

To The Editor:

In your Oct. 6 issue, you apologize editorially to a student whose delicate sensitivities were disturbed by a cartoon depicting a young woman who is decidedly pregnant.

Might I suggest an Apology to Biology?

The time honored gestation period for homo sapiens is nine months. Yet this cartoon shows an enceinte of advanced stages in the fall. And the caption asks what she has been doing over the summer.

Summer to fall? Ah, so, we see this is a biological error (on the part of the cartoonist, that is). In these days of increased demands for technical skill, you should be more alert in doublechecking scientific facts.

This, no doubt, is why that fine student was upset by the cartoon. He has a scientific mind, reflective of the Space Age, and disliked having a statistical blunder put before his (or her) eyes.

"BITS THE HAND"
Edmund Burke first noted that some men will bite "the hand that fed them". But Mark Twain, in "Pudd'nhead Wilson", refined the observation and made it biting:
"If you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous, he will not bite you. This is the principal difference between a dog and a man."

"PRAISE THE LORD AND ETC."
Perhaps the most popular remark to come out of World War II is this exhortation made at Pearl Harbor by Lt. Comm. Howell M. Forgy, a Navy chaplain:
"Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition."

"IGNORANCE IS BLISS"
It was Thomas Gray who coined this comforting generalization in behalf of all "D" students. See his "On a Distant Prospect of Eton College":
"...where ignorance is bliss,
'Tis folly to be wise."

Cats Challenge Mighty Auburn

By JOHNNY FITZWATER

The night was clear. The moon was yellow. The leaves came tumbling down. That was the scene on October 11, 1958, when the Wildcats of the University of Kentucky gave the nation's number one team at that time, a scare that slipped out of reach only in the last seconds. The Cats lost that one 8-0.

Tomorrow afternoon in Auburn, Ala., Kentucky will try again. The stage is set for a real thriller. The Plainsmen lost their opener to the Vols of Tennessee and then

UK Runners Meet Ohio U.

Sporting a record of 2-1, the Wildcat cross country team, defending SEC champions, will journey to Athens, Ohio to meet thrice-beaten Ohio University, Saturday.

No official statistics were available at press time, but this year's Ohio team has been beaten by West Virginia, Bowling Green of Ohio and Pittsburg. The top runners for Coach Burch Oglesby's team will probably be Henry Wineski and Don Rose who placed 14th and 22nd respectively at the Dayton AAU meet in 1958.

Kentucky, who lost to a powerful Miami team while edging Central State in a triangular meet, will be out to ring up win number three. They defeated Berea 16-42 Tuesday. The Cats are led by front running Press Whelan and two sensational sophomores Johnny Baxter and Dave Purdy.

Whelan's running mate in previous seasons, E. G. Plummer has been slowly rounding into form. Plummer moved his time down one whole minute in just four days. The fifth man for the Cats and one whose position of finish is the vital one, is Danny Jasper, a junior from Somerset. This year Danny has been moving his times steadily down closer to the leaders.

The Wildcats, pending improvement of their fifth and sixth men, may possibly have one of the strongest teams in the school's history.

Going along with the varsity will be the Kentucky freshmen who have rung up one victory this year; that being over Bryan Station high school. Keith Locke and Allen Cleaver, the leading freshman runners, will meet stiff opposition from the Ohio U. fresh in Ray Fleming, Ohio state high school mile champion, who toured that event in 4:23 last year.

bounced back to defeat Hardin-Simmons in a real show of power last weekend.

The Blue-White charges of Blanton Collier fell to two of the country's top grid powers in their first two tries and then last Friday night they turned on the offensive machine that has been missing all season, to smash the Titans of Detroit 32-7.

One thing that may be in the favor of the Cats is the 'psychological advantage'. The Cats were a little downhearted when they moved North to Detroit. After proving to themselves that they did have a team with the 'go, go' ability the spirit in the camp has gotten back to normal and the drive seems to be increasing.

Both teams will be in tip-top physical condition at kickoff time. A big factor in the Cat attack will be the recovery of Jerry Eisaman from a knee injury. This will give senior Lowell Hughes a chance to rest, and will put Coach Collier in the position where he can call on any one of three signal blockers. The third man will be junior Leeman Bennett, who scored two markers against Detroit.

Another big factor for the Cats will be the depth now available at fullback, in the personage of Glenn Shaw, Gary Cochran and Jimmy Foynter. Most of the season at least two of these men have been hurt when game time rolled around.

The biggest edge in the game may have to go to the Plainsmen, in that they have one of the biggest lines in the nation, averaging 225 pounds. Leading this group of mammoth footballers will be a man that is considered perhaps the finest guard in America, Roger 'Zeke' Smith. The big-fellow is rather small compared to his fellow lineman, as he stands 6-2, and weighs 210 pounds. Smith, now a senior, is a product of the Auburn red-shirt system.

The Cats' coach, not running down his own club, noted yesterday that Auburn "should be ready for a top emotional and physical effort against us." He added that "they did not seem ready when Tennessee upset them, 3-0, and against Hardin-Simmons last week they seemed to be holding back despite a 35-12 score."

Collier also noted that the line weights would be an important factor. "We are outweighed 20 pounds," he noted.

The second-guessers feel that Collier will take to the air, and try to pass over the gigantic line. With all three quarterbacks in good shape this might well be.

The Cats will arrive in Columbus, Ga., by chartered plane at 1 p.m. today, and coach Collier said that he planned a workout at Cliff Hare Stadium in Auburn soon afterwards. Tomorrow's contest at 2 p.m. (CST) will be the Wildcat's first daylight encounter.

Fitz's Facts

By John Fitzwater

Why is it that the only way that a team can be considered good is by winning? A silly question? Well, maybe it is but the answer should only come after a close look at team statistics, as well as schedules.

In August and early September the talk of the football world was that the team to watch in the Southland was Kentucky. The fans felt that with the horses and experience available in Wildcat Manor, the Big Blue should roll.

Then things began to pop. On several occasions during the pre-season practice sessions Coach Blanton Collier didn't have enough men in the physical condition to scrimmage. Believe me, this can put a team and an individual way behind. The team doesn't have the opportunity to work together in a unit, individuals get out of shape and in general the squad is badly hurt.

For better than two weeks the squad was bombed by the flu, ankle injuries, old hurts returning and accidents that happen only rarely. Still when the season opened the Cats put together all that they had and poured out a great second half against Tech and followed with a good show against Ole Miss.

Granted they lost, but the Yellow Jackets and the Rebels are now both rated with the nation's leaders, and Kentucky outplayed them in every department but scoring. OK . . . you say that is what counts.

Don't sell this team short on the basis of what has happened in three games. After knocking off Detroit Friday, Coach Collier told me that the over-all spirit was high and the boys were ready. Tomorrow will be a bad time to check me on this, because Auburn is tough, and I mean tough.

A Louisville reporter said a month ago this team should be in the proleague. For the first time all season all of the top UK men are in good enough shape to see at least some action.

If the students and fans will stay behind this club, win or lose, we will be darn proud of them in November. Don't forget this team is good.

Tappa Kegs, ME Win In I-M Play

Tappa Kegs, BSU, ME, and Wesley Foundation scored victories in Tuesday night's intramural flag football competition.

In the only game played in Division II of independent play, Tappa Kegs scored a decisive 28-0 victory over Dorm One.

In Division I of fraternity categories were posted by Wesley Foundation, who defeated Dorm Two by a baseball score of 2-0; Baptist Student Union, knocking off the Newman Club, 13-6; and the Mechanical Engineers, with a 28-12 romp over the Band.

In division I of fraternity competition, shutouts were posted by Pi Kappa Alpha, 20-0, over Farm House, and Kappa Alpha 6-0, over Phi Delta Theta. In other Division II play, Delta Tau Delta defeated Sigma Nu, 15-6.
