MORAL PLAGUE
INFECTS WORLD,
SAYS BINGHAM

Speaker Declares
Youth Must Fight
For Democracy

By fighting for democratic principles, America's youth must, says a vital part in combat a moral plague that has infected the world today. Barry Bingham, owner and publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal, declared at a general convocation Friday in Memorial hall.

The newspaperman described the plague as "a revolt against Christianity and the brotherhood of man," and added that "both Christianity and democracy are based on a fundamental belief in the brotherhood of man and the rights and dignity of the individual."

Stating that he believed "this kind of audience care for democracy for democracy's sake," Bingham added that "now the time has come when we must literally live for democracy. If it is to go on living for us." He said that he did not think that the young people are willing to "crusade merely to maintain the kind of democracy we have had."

BURIAL SERVICES
FOR MITCHELL
SLATED TODAY

Rites To Be Held
In Memorial Hall
At 2:30 p. m.

Funeral services for Prof. John Stapp Mitchell, 52, principal of the University training school, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in Memorial hall. The Rev. John K. Johnson, pastor of Maxwell Street Presbyterian church will officiate.

Classes in the education college will be dismissed at 2 o'clock this afternoon, according to Dean W. S. Taylor's office.

Professor Mitchell died unexpectedly at 9:45 Sunday morning as a result of a heart attack. Several days he suffered a minor attack, but was not complained of before when he retired on Saturday night. He was stricken again at 7:30 Sunday morning and was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital where he died.

Professor Mitchell had been associated with the University since 1928 and had been principal of the training school since 1930. He has been a resident of Lexington since 1926, when he came here to complete work on his master's degree.

FARNSELY LEADS
CATS TO VICTORY
IN LAST GAME

"Fuzzy" Gets 17
As Kentucky Beats
Vanderbilt, 58-31

Keith Farnsley made his last home stand a red-hot effort by dropping in 17 points to lead the Wildcats to a 58-31 victory over Vanderbilt in Alumni gym last night.

The battle was rough all the way through with a total of 46 fouls being called on both teams and a Vandy guard, Jack Jenkins, being ejected by fouling in 17 points. In a preliminary game the Kentucky Kittens downed the Union Blue Devils 58-31 with Graves leading the Kittens with 13 points.

The Commodores noted ahead on Lipscomb's free throw after the officials had ruled that he had been flagrantly fouled by Carl Staker. Keith Farnsley tied it up with a charity shot. Open came back with a long shot from the side and an easy trip to give Vandy a 5 to 1 lead.

After while had made a grade three throw which Farnsley matched, King scored a rebound in and Farnsley pushed two in from the front court. Rose followed with a push shot in the second and Kentucky led 23-13 at the half.

Waller White opened the second stanza with a shot from the side. Lipscomb scored a free throw which was matched by Akers and King. Farnsley made a pointer on a crisp shot and four minutes to run the margin to 30-14.

At this point the Big Blue began to roll and scored 19 points while the Commodores scored a free throw which Kentucky spurt was engineered by Walter, Farnsley, and Akers while the Vanderbilt margin was made largely by Bud Lynn and Bill Rue.

Two Cokes And A Package of Nabs

Those who went to the grill instead of convocation last Friday missed hearing one of the best speeches given at UK in several years.

"It Is Later Than You Think"

Editor's note: Contrary to an easily understandable popular belief, there are a number of intercollegiate political organizations which do not concern themselves with listening in on the Moscow party-line.

There is one recently organized association, calling itself the "Student Defenders of Democracy," which has particularly drawn ASU's fire.

These are grave moments for those who believe that the French Revolution was not fought in vain.

The Fight Over Civil Liberties

BEHIND IMAVED WALLS BY ALLEN E. WISER

Thousands of gallons of copy already have been written about civil liberties during the war crisis in Europe and the United States.

Each side is absolutely sure it knows the meaning of such stereotyped terms as free speech, free press, the rights of labor, the rights of capital, free worship.

Exactly what are free speech, free worship, the free press, the right of labor? What do these mean to the civilian and to the soldier?

Hope in the League of Nations... The Soviet Revolution... The Washington naval conference... I. I. O. ... Kellogg Briand pact ... disarmament.

Today the people of Britain, China and their allies fight the Axis war machine. For three years Chinese heroism has withstood the Japanese aggressor.

Times That Try! The Souls Of Men And Universities

To the Editor of The Kernel: Don't look now but you're standing on a corpse. You don't know it yet, and it hasn't begun to stink, but it will.

The University as it exists today is going. Every complaint from professors, strained, unvisited professors, every evidence of dilatory, careless students who must have their cokes, cigarettes, dates, and money from home.

We face a revealing little slant of conversation the other day. Two students were discussing a third, not well known to either, and one of them said, "I really don't know much about him. All I've heard has been good."

Interfrat Council Has Pulled A Hitler Plebiscite

To the Editor of The Kernel: The Interfraternity Council has really broken down and done something, perhaps, something drastic.

As a substitute for the fraternity formal, it was decided that two interfraternity, along with Phi Kappa Psi, and a repeal seems pending.

The issue was brought up by representatives of the smaller fraternities who have not given a formal in recent years.

There are about 1,172,000,000 cross ties in railway tracks in the United States.

Our Fight Must Be For A Better, Truer Democratic Life -- Bingham

Editor's Note: In response to numerous requests, Tom Kernes is publishing the following editorial which was delivered in Memorial Hall Friday by Barry Bingham, publisher of the Courier Journal and Louisville Times.

The world scene is like a motion picture that is being run off too fast. You have sometimes thought that way when watching the screen and the background shifting before it comes properly into focus.

What is this plague, then, that threatens to infect the whole world? I believe it is a revolt against Christianity and the brotherhood of man.

Germany, Italy, Japan and Russia are the centers of infection, but Germany is the best laboratory for study, since the epidemic has progressed furthest there.

Here is a plague that America can directly face. We believe in democracy in this country, or at least we say so.

What is happening in Germany today is not simply an old-fashioned outbreak of imperialism that would be satisfied by the expansion of a political boundary there and there.

Let's go back for a minute to the analogy of an epidemic across the world in Ohio. Suppose we learned today that such a wave of disease had broken out in Cleveland and

BOARD OKAYS HUGE WPA FUND FOR RECREATION

Executive Group Approves Changes in UK Personnel

The University took another step toward aiding the national defense effort when the executive board voted at its meeting Friday to make available $400,000 in WPA funds for recreation of soldiers and defense workers in Kentucky.

"Recreation for soldiers off the reservation" and "recreation for displaced population groups" will benefit from the new projects, Dr. M. E. Potter, head of the physical education department and state adviser for the recreation department, explained.

Projects of such public nature in Kentucky must be sponsored by the University before the funds will be granted, Acting President Thomas P. Cooper said.

Foris Will Be Site The recreation program for soldiers will be concentrated around Fort Thomas and Fort Knox because of the recent attraction of undesirable elements to these districts.

Games, sports, reading rooms, and other recreation will be sponsored in Jefferson, Kenton, Harlan, and Campbell counties. Towns in which new defense industries are arising will also get WPA diversion funds.

Vacancies Filled In the University administration, the board appointed E. J. Beers, field agent in cream grading; Carl Allen, graduate assistant in the extension station; Mary Clay, instructor in home economics for the second semester; Dorothy J. Lewis, clerk in the agricultural extension department; and Terry L. Campbell, field agent in cream grading.

Dorothy M. Watkins was appointed clerk in the home economics office; Rita Cates, nursing assistant in the hygiene department; Harriet Estes, graduate assistant in philosophy; Rex Osteen, research assistant in commerce; Glen B. Morrow, research assistant in the business research bureau; Elizabeth Johnson, Shelby house director; Mrs. Lucy Berry, MacDowell house director; and Mary K. Robinson, clerk in the experiment station agronomy department.

Resignations accepted included those of Wendell C. Binkley, graduate assistant in the department in farm economics; C. E. Pike, assistant in markets and rural finance; Virginia Harlin, clerk in the department of agronomy; and Mrs. Ethel Warner, clerk in the home economics agricultural extension division.

Present at the meeting were Judge Richard C. Stoll, chairman; B. P. Hobson, Louisville; James Park; D. H. Peak, business agents and Acting President Thomas P. Cooper.

BINGHAM

(Continued From Page Two) leave this kind of audience care for democracy for democracy's sake, and not for what it may give us in terms of dollars and foreign markets and business prosperity.

If we can't rally around an ideal while we are young, when will we ever be able to do it? Democrats to the vast majority of young Americans is something worth living for or fighting for or even dying for. Strangely enough, living for it is the hardest task, because it requires constant attention and unwavering devotion.

We have all lived by democracy in America, accepting its rare privileges with little gratitude. Now the time has come when we must literally live for democracy, if it is to stay living for us.

HITLERS PLAN FOR YOUTH The position of the young people of America in this world crisis is a fascinating study to me. We are now that Hitler considers German youth the backbone of his program. This is the ideal he has expressed for the training of these young people: "Here a youth will grow up before which the world will shrink back. A violently active, dominating, brutal youth—that is what I am after. Youth must be all these things. It must be indifferent to pain. There must be no weakness or tenderness in it. I want to see once more in its eyes the gleam of pride and independence of the best of prey."

From such a concept of youth we shrink back indeed. Nothing could be further from the ideal which American youth would choose for itself. But that does not mean, of course, that young people in America are spineless or afraid.

I went to the commencement exercises at Harvard last year, and heard a quotation by a man who was celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his own graduation. He charged the youth of today with cowardice in their view of world affairs, and compared them unfavorably with the young people of his own generation who went to war in 1917. I have never heard anything more unfair or untrue.

All of us who have grown up since the last war have been warned repeatedly against war propaganda that we are naturally wary. We want to know who we are giving ourselves to this time, and we have every right to know. I believe that the outlines are becoming increasingly clear to our eyes.

STATUS quo NOT ENOUGH If I know anything about the point of view of youth, I can safely say that there is not a young man or woman in this room who would be willing to give his fullest effort just to maintain the status quo in the world. In other words, we want to see the Europe of the 1920's restored at the end of the present war, because that would lead inevitably to another conflict.

If Germany should win this war, we know good and well that there will be no just peace. If Britain and her allies win, we want to make certain that a better order will emerge in Europe, based on some principle of fairness to all peoples. That means that we in America have got to accept some responsibility not only for the war but for the peace that comes after.

The United States has grown up completely knowing it is no longer a frontier nation, struggling to establish itself. But if we want our country to have the advantages of being a world power, we must accept the corresponding responsibilities of being a world power.

I am equally sure that the young people of this country could not give themselves to a crusade merely to maintain the kind of democracy we have had. Our fight must be for a better and truer democratic life.

There are millions of people in America today who are reaping few of the benefits of life under a democratic system. We have got to spread those benefits to them, so that our body politic can be healthy all the way through. If it has a weak spot anywhere, that will be the spot where the anti-democratic disease will strike.

FOREFATHERS HAD IT EASY It seems to me that what American youth is willing to go all out for is another chance for democracy. The young people of today have not had another opportunity to see what they can do to make democratic work as it should work. They think they may have the formula, and the will to carry it through.

But the opportunity is not going to be handed to them on a silver platter, as it was to earlier generations in this country. Perhaps this generation will cherish it all the more for that very reason. They will realize that democracy is not our heritage. It is the rare privilege that came to us as individuals with the accident of birth. Nobody can guarantee that we will keep it all our lives. That is nobody but ourselves. It is up to us to earn it and deserve it, where our fathers and grandfathers accepted it as a matter of course.

Then let us face this time of crisis for what it is worth. It may have some potentialities of future good for our country within it, if we are determined to explore those potentialities to the limit. On the other hand, this critical time is not going to be an easy one for any of us. We are just not living in an easy world. We will probably be called on to make choices that will Involve sacrifice and suffering which way we take them. But surely that is nothing to be afraid of.

"TESTING POINT IN HISTORY" We are not living in the red push era of mid-Victorian England, or our own Gay Nineties, when life seemed secure. We happen to be living at one of the crucial testing points in history. Within the next few years will be decided the course of many generations to come. Either the world will plunge downward into an abyss of black reaction, of slavery and barbarism, or it will resume its slow and painful progress upward toward the Christian democratic idea.

We are the people chosen to be alive at such a time. We are the guardians of this country's great destiny, and thereby the guardians of the democratic principle in the world. Can any generation ask for a higher role to play in the long history of man?

ACR, Sigma Nu, Take Over Top Intramural Positions

Grave Diggers, K Club Still Lead Independent Teams

The Alpha Gamma Rho's of division I and the Sigma Nu's of division II took over disputed first places in their respective groups with triumphs last week as the intramural basketball season moved into the third week.

The AGR's had an easy time as they erased a Delta Chi team that has only one victory to its credit, by the score of 55-13. The Sigma Nu's held the Phi Sigma without a field goal as they took the big end of the 27-4 score.

The Grave Diggers of the independent league fell from the unbeaten ranks Friday night, but came through in the closing seconds to win their fourth straight victory, 14-12. Three of the regulars were missing from the lineup that faced the Dare Devil team.

K's Dump Wolf Patrol

The K club showed they were ready for the game with the Grave Diggers tonight by trouncing the Wolf Patrol in an easy manner Friday night, 34-6.

Other games in the independent league found the Outlaws winning from the Quadrangle Quintet, 26-7, Jake's Independents beating the Dairy Club, 27-26, and the Fleming County Firecrackers taking a forfeit by the Hound Dogs.

B Games Postponed

Only two games were played in the B league Friday night as the Phi Tau-SAE and Triangle-Lambda Chi battles were postponed to a later date.

In the games played the KAs fell before the Deltas, 14-7, and the Sigma Nu's, with Survant again leading the attack with 14 points, stopped the AGR's, 24-22.

C league competition was practically at a standstill as the Deltas won over the KAs, 21-9.

Fencing Team Beaten By Vandy

The University fencing team, now coachless due to the illness of Dr. Scott D. Breckenridge, lost a hard-fought 8-7 decision to the Vanderbilt squad here last Saturday afternoon.

All bouts were fought with foils as the men from Nashville had speer or saber men. Johnnie Jones of Kentucky was high man with four wins and no defeats. A. Jones, Carl Holland, and Virgil Beasley each won one bout for the Wildcats. Goldsby, Moore, Edwards and Farringer won two each and Foster took one bout for Vanderbilt.

Next Saturday at 2 p.m. Kentucky will be host to Georgia Tech and Cincinnati in a triangular meet.

Colorado's 15 national forests occupy one-fifth of the state.

Running Wild

By JOHN CARRICO

Suggested speech for Bernie Shively, as host at the Southwestern conference tournament, at the opening of that event:

"One quarter score and four years ago, our fathers brought forth in this region a new conference, conceived in competition and dedicated to the proposition that all teams were to be approximately equal. Now we are about to become engaged in a great journey, testing whether that conference, or any other conference so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure . . . ."

We are met in a great city where the tournament is to be held. We have come to dedicate a portion of that city as a final resting-place for those who will give their all that the conference halo might be theirs. It is altogether sporting and proper that we should do this . . . ."

"But in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men—Oppor, Huber, Edwards, Sale, Rouse, Farnsley—graduated and still enrolled, who struggled here have consecrated the tournament far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember the guffe that we shoot here, but it will never forget the baskets that these men shot here . . . ."

"It is for us, the 1941 Wildcats, rather dedicated here to the continuous reign which they who triumphed here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for you—Huber, Staker, Allen, Brewer, Ramsey and the rest—to be dedicated to the great task remaining before you, that from these honored alumni, you may take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave a full measure of devotion to bring victory.

"And you should here highly resolve that these alumni should not have fought in vain; that this conference, under Mike Connor, shall have no change of mastery, and that dominance by Kentucky, for Kentucky, and always Kentucky, shall not perish from the Big 12.

As to the winner of the conference diadem, we sincerely think it will be the Wildcats. We make this selection with the full consent of our head and our hip pocket—both logic and the mazzuna point to a Kentucky victory. For the Wildcats are usually at their best in the tournament; the boys get tough when the chips are down.

In our humble opinion it will be Kentucky and Tennessee in the finals, with the possibility of a Kentucky-Florida match not entirely ruled out.

Stephenson Wins 10th Straight But Spartans Swamp Catfish

Padawer Annexes National Crown At Louisville Meet

When Letelle Stephenson took first place in the diving at Richmond Saturday night, it marked the tenth straight triumph, including five this year, for the Catfish merman. Except for the Stephenson triumph, Michigan State dominated the meet as the poolside Kentuckians were beaten, 58-17, in an exhibition match.

Kentucky was outclassed by the more experienced Michigan State and Marvin Padawer's surprise victory in the 50-yard dash was Kentucky's only other first place. Padawer was one of three freshmen that Michigan State permitted Kentucky to use in the meet.

Michigan State was the winner in the 220 and 100-yard dashes, the 200-yard breaststroke, the 150-yard backstroke, the 440-yard distance.

The summary:
300-yard relay—Michigan State; Becker, Grant, Ladd, Time, 3:23.

220-yard free style—Feeney (Mich.), Himmilim (Mich.), Stoll (Ky.), and Johnson (Ky.) Time 2:41.

50-yard dash—Padawer (Ky.) Grant-finton (Mich.), Escoorn (Ky.), Grant (Mich.), Time, 26.2.

Diving—Stephenson (Ky.), Luoto (Mich.), Curtis (Ky.), Stullman (Mich.).

100-yard dash—Newton (Mich.), Ladd (Mich.), Keplar (Ky.), Jones (Ky.) 57.8.

150-yard backstroke—Becker (Mich.), Walker (Mich.), Schwartz (Ky.), DeRoode (Ky.) Time 1:50.5.

200-yard breaststroke—Bigelow (Mich.), Grant (Mich.), Riddell (Ky.) Time 2:52.5.

Top Honors for Chesterfield

it's the smoker's cigarette

COOLER, MILDER BETTER-TASTING

SALLY YOUNG
Top-ranking bridge player in National Contract Tournaments

They're MILDER—Every leaf of Turkish and American tobacco bought for Chesterfield is fully ripe and mild to begin with. The way these tobaccos are conditioned, the long period of aging and the way Chesterfield blends them, all help to make them for milder.

It's called the SMOKER'S cigarette because Chesterfield is the one cigarette that gives you a COMPLETELY SATISFYING smoke. You try a Chesterfield and find them COOL and PLEASANT. You light one after another and find they really TASTE BETTER. You buy back after pack and find that Chesterfields are MILDER.

You can't buy a better cigarette

Do you smoke the cigarette that Satisfies....it's the smoker's cigarette
