WILLIAM HUGH PEAL WINS APPOINTMENT AS RHODES SCHOLAR

University Man Selected To Represent State At Oxford University

WILL STUDY LAW

Nine Applications Submitted To Committee in Charge

William Hugh Peal, son of J. S. Peal, Sr., of LaCenter, Ky., will be the 1922 Rhodes scholar from Kentucky according to a statement made public Sunday night by Dr. Frank Aydelotte, of Swarthmore, Pa., American secretary, in confirmation of the decision made by the State committee at the University of Kentucky last Saturday.

This award carries an annuity of 350 pounds sterling, about $1,400 at the present rate of exchange, and free tuition at Oxford University, England. Peal was selected out of the nine men who applied for the scholarship. He plans to study international law. He will leave Kentucky in the early part of October, 1922, for Oxford and will continue his studies for three years.

Peal is a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Kentucky. His scholastic standing is among the highest in the University and he has been on the high distinction list for three years. He is an ex-service man, having served in the navy during the war. At the present time he is a special trustee in charge of the property and business of the Ex-Service Men's Club.

Peal has taken a very prominent part in many student activities during his four years at the University. In 1921 he won the Bennett Prize for the best essay on "Principles of Free Government." He is a member of Delta Sigma Pi, honorary fraternity of commerce, a member of the Acacia Lodge of Masons. Among the offices that he holds in different student organizations are the presidency of the Patterson Literary Society, speaker of the Mock General assembly, presidency of the Ballard County Club, treasurer and a member of the executive committee of the Democratic Club, secretary-treasurer of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Association

WILMORE ENTERPRISE COMMENTS ON "MIKADO"

Editorial by L. S. Fitzhugh Praises Performance Given by University Students

In the December 1 issue of the Wilmore Enterprise, edited by L. S. Fitzhugh, appears an editorial under the heading, "Decent Stage and Film," in which the editor of the excellent paper discusses ably and at length, present conditions affecting both the speaking and the movie drama.

In this discussion the esteemed Enterprise takes occasion to make generous comment upon the production of the "Mikado" given by University students at Woodland Auditorium, Thanksgiving evening. In behalf of the students of the University, the Kernel wishes to thank the editor for his kindly comment upon the efforts of fellow students to en-

The students in the accompanying picture have been dubbed "The Upper Ten" of the Freshman Class of the University of Kentucky as a result of the application of the army intelligents tests applied to 275 freshmen in the College of Arts and Sciences by the Department of psychology, under the direction of Dr. J. B. Miner, head of that Department.

The scores made by this group range from 177 to 185 representing the ten highest scores made in the class. The made score for the men at the University of Kentucky was 129. The median for white army officers is 139. The median score for the students of twenty American colleges including the upper classmen was 130. The median score for freshmen at Yale in the army Alpha test was 160. A score of 185 reaches the border line of genius. The average for this group therefore ranks these persons probably in the upper one percent of the population for the entire country. In America, a person with an intelligence rating of this kind will have no trouble in getting on in the world either socially or economically.

UNIVERSITY TO ELECT PRESIDENT OF S. I. A. A.

Dr. Funkhouser Is In Line For Position, Several Games Scheduled

According to the plan adopted by the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association Conference at its meeting December 2 and 3 at Atlanta, the next president of the organization will be elected by the University of Kentucky. Dr. Funkhouser will probably have this honor, if he continues as the University's representative at the Conference.

Dr. S. V. Sanford of the University of Georgia was elected president at the last meeting, and Kentucky is next in line for the position. The presidency, according to the constitution of the organization will go from state to state in their alphabetical order. And as the University is the only member of the Conference from this state, Kentucky will furnish the next president of the organization.

Other officers elected at the meeting were J. B. Crenshaw, Georgia Tech, vice president, and N. W. Daugherty, of Tennessee, secretary and treasurer.

The fourteen institutions which are members of the new Conference are: University of Georgia, Georgia Tech, University of Kentucky, University of Maryland, University of Virginia, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Washington and Lee, University of North Carolina, North Carolina A. and M., Clemson, and

ALUMNI PLAN GREAT CO-OPERATIVE DRIVE

Athletics and Legislation Will Share Immediate Attention of old Students

Plans for a new alumni co-operation in athletics that should make possible an undefeated football team in 1922 were formulated at a special meeting Wednesday of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association. President Rodman Wiley was appointed chairman of a "Get There Committee" which will work out details of the plan and submit it to the Athletic Council for approval. Informal conferences of alumni and members of the Athletic Council indicates that the proposals are feasible.

The Athletic Council's policy of "absolutely clean athletics" received the unanimous endorsement of the Alumni Executive Committee which devoted a four-hour session to consideration of University problems, the most extended and most successful meeting held by that committee in a twelve month. The Alumni indicated that further support, if needed, will be given to maintain a field representative as during the last season who will make known to promising athletic material the educational advantages of the University of Kentucky and will aid such students in obtaining positions whereby they may earn their way through the University.

The University's legislative program was given special attention and the sec-

SUE HARVARD CONCERT AND KIWANIS PLAYLET SCORE GREAT SUCCESS

Townspiece Faculty and Students Fill Vast Auditorium to Its Capacity.

AUDIENCE PLEASSED

Proceeds Given To Student Loan Fund.

University students, who were almost ready to give up the struggle to obtain an education because of lack of funds and inability to obtain them, are going about their duties with lighter hearts and a great sense of appreciation for the spirit of the Kiwanians, who, in keeping with the high purpose of their organization, concentrated every effort and got behind the movement that has swelled the Student Loan Fund of the University.

Faculty, students, and towns people combined in filling the vast Woodland Auditorium Wednesday night December 6, to hear the Sue Harvard concert. Although many might have gone primarily because they felt they were helping a good cause not one went away feeling that he had not been amply repaid in personal enjoyment for his time and money.

Sue Harvard, who hails from New Castle Pennsylvania, is the only woman who has ever been admitted to membership in the Kiwanis Club and it can be seen from her youthful charm, and fetching personality coupled with her ability as a singer makes her not only a favorite with her brothers but also with her audiences.

The program of eighteen numbers which she gave without the least apparent fatigue was vast and gave her audience ample opportunity to sense her remarkable scope which included notes so high and sustained that one marveled at the ease with which she accomplished them and then tones so soft and low that one could not definitely tell where they ceased and silence began. The things that were most pleasing about Sue Harvard were her simplicity and graciousness, the clear unaffected qualities of her voice and the near-perfect enunciation

HOLMES HEALTH HINTS

At present there is much Scarlet Fever in Lexington and an epidemic is feared. This would be especially serious if any cases should develop in the University, and all students who are ill in any way should report it at once, as a slight cold may lead to a dangerous disease. Scarlet Fever is a children's disease and is very hard to combat when it develops in an older person.

The Department of Hygiene and Public Health reports that there were no epidemics in school last year and the school has been free from them so far this year. President McVey is very pleased with the record of last year and with the assistance of the faculty and students the same may be accomplished this year and all epidemics may be prevented.

A box of Colgate's tooth paste has been received by the department of Hygiene and at the Dental Clinic a sample will be given to each student.

The Department of Health wishes to inform the faculty that they should not excuse students from classes on account of illness unless they have an excuse signed by some member of the Department. All excuses must come through the Department and are not to be accepted if they are not properly signed. Many students, particularly girls, are presenting excuses from their home physicians to the department of Physical Education and expect to be excused from gymnasium work. When such communications are presented they must be turned over to the Department of Hygiene and Public Health and the physician who gave the excuse will be communicated with. If the excuse receives the okeh of the Department, the student may be excused.

Students and many doctors do not realize the benefits that are derived from the course in physical education as conducted in the University. The work is not strenuous and every student in the University, who is physically fit should take some form of gymnasium work.

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO BE VACCINATED

A communication has been received by the Department of Health from Dr. McCormick stating that there is much small-pox in this vicinity and advising that every precaution be taken to avoid an epidemic. In order to prevent any case which may arise while the students are home for Christmas vacation, all are urged to be vaccinated before leaving school. Dr. Holmes and Dr. Ireland will do this work free, and advise every man, and woman to be vaccinated as it will have to be done if an epidemic develops and this is the best means of preventing the disease.

Every person in Kentucky is required by law to be vaccinated, and no person can become a member of a public school as a teacher or student without a certificate that he or she has been vaccinated in five years.

Youngest and Oldest Students Dine Together

The youngest and the oldest at the University of Kentucky had Thanksgiving dinner together. Mrs. Stoughton Fletcher who is the eldest student, had with her for Thanksgiving dinner at the Leamington, Roscoe Kash, who is only fourteen and the youngest student in the history of the University. Mrs. Fletcher is very much interested in Roscoe, and together the two present a most interesting picture.

Young Kash who is an exceptionally bright young lad is taking a pre-med course and expects to finish his medical course and be ready to serve as an interne in a hospital when he is 21 years old. If these ambitions are realized Roscoe will perhaps be the youngest physician in the United States. But for all his brightness he is a good sport and has made a host of friends on the campus.

Mrs. Fletcher who is 74 years old, is the sunny-faced old lady one may meet most any day on the way to and from classes. She is registered as a special student in the department of language.

Alumni Notes

Butler T. Southgate '92, former president of the Alumni Association, who has been in Arizona for some time because of ill health is much improved, according to reports received by relatives and friends in Lexington. He was very ill during the last winter and spring but recently left the hospital and is now at 270 North Stone Ave., Tucson, Arizona. One of his regular correspondents is J. Craig Shelby '04.

G. Adolphus Rice '15 has been appointed an assistant vice president of the Bank of Italy and has moved to San Francisco. Mrs. Rice, who was formerly Miss Virginia Moore, remained in Lexington for a visit after her husband assumed his new duties.

One of the advisers of the American Delegation to the World Disarmament Conference in Washington is Howard P. Ingels '05, formerly secretary of the U. S. War Industries Board.

Major Walter Gullion ex now on duty with the Militia Bureau of the War Department, Washington D. C., is preparing a manual for the guidance of national guard organizations. Although due for foreign service Major Gullion has been retained at Washington for this special work. He is a brother of Carroll H. Gullion '04 and Major Allen W. Gullion '14. His father, Ed A. Gullion is a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives elected in November.

J. Franklin Corn '16, an attorney at Bowling Green, Ky., was married recently to Miss Irene Knox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Andrew Knox, of Cleveland, Tenn. Mrs. Corn was a social favorite also in St. Petersburg, Fla., where she spent several winters with her grandparents Col. J. H. Hardwick and Mrs. Hardwick. Mr. Corn was an officer in the World War and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Lamp and Cross.

Robert J. Rabble secretary of the class of '21 has joined the United States Foil Company, Louisville, and is in the production department.

W. C. Eyl '17, consulting Geologist, is preparing a map of Kentucky which should be the most complete map ever made of the State. He expects to spend more than a year in its preparation. The scale will be four miles to the inch. He has been collecting data for the map, in connection with his geological work in the State, since graduation.

W. S. "Hi" Hieronymus '18, who was at the Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington, for some time for treatment of an injured hand, has returned to his farming and oil business at St. Helens, Ky.

A visitor on the campus recently was Gilbert Wilson, of Kirksville, Ky., a brother of John E. and Burnam Wilson '13, Grover C. '16 and Hume Wilson '22. Gilbert Wilson was wounded by the premature explosion of a rifle grenade while with the 8th Infantry in France just before entering the front line in June, 1918. He spent more than a year in hospitals abroad and several months in hospitals in this country.

Julia Vansdale '16 is general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in Dubuque, Iowa. Anna E. Lewis '16 is teaching in the Ashland (Ky) High School.

Carroll G. Taylor '10, formerly in the bond department of Henry L. Doherty & Co. has announced the firm of C. G. Taylor & Co., Stocks and Bonds, 27 William Street, New York City.

Betwixt Us

"I have a high regard for the University since being there some years ago as a student and I have the most pleasant memories of all connected with the institution. I greatly admire President McVey. He made a great address to a representative audience here recently."—Mrs. Mary Elliott Flanery ex-Catlettsburg, Ky. Kentucky's first woman member of the House of Representatives.

"Enclosed find a check for alumni dues. I am glad to see the University coming to the front and wish it the best of success in all its efforts."—J. Guy Aud '15, 13 Tew Street, Silver Creek, N. Y.

"Enclosed my check for alumni dues. I would have sent it sooner but have been moving about so much the Kernel would not have reached me. R. M. Perrin, also of '21, and I have been making maps for the Tennessee Geological Survey since June. I want to keep up with athletic, social and musical happenings on the old campus. Please shoot the Kernel along to this address."—C. C. Anderson '21, Mays Hotel, Centerville, Tenn.

"Please address me now at 1904 Jefferson Avenue, Toledo, Ohio."—R. N. O'Hara '21.

"As a matter of interest to the alumni recently, I am dispatching this communication to tell you that Dean P. Paul Anderson came to Kansas City and addressed the local chapter of the American Society of Heating & Ventilating Engineers.

"Professor Anderson's talk dealt with his work in the A. S. H. & V. E. Research Laboratory and the program which he has outlined for various Universities to cooperate with the Research Laboratory in an endeavor to compile new and useful data for the science of modern heating and ventilating.

"His talk was characterized by that punch and pep which only 'Little Paul' can put into an address. He was heartily and enthusiastically received by the fifty or more men who attended the meeting. Edgar Cline of the class of '05 and Lynn Evans of '15 were among those present. The writer introduced Dean Anderson as GALLEY TWO speaker of the evening. Professor Anderson's present work and line of endeavor is of inestimable value to the University and I wonder how many of us realize it. I want to say that one of the men who attended the meeting came up to me afterwards and said that if such men as Professor Anderson composed the faculty of the University of Kentucky, he certainly wants his son to attend that institution."—Herbert E. Barth '15, Mgr. Kansas City Office American Llower Company.

"In the past it has been customary to hold a Smoker at Keen's Chop House, in honor of visiting Kentucky Alumni attending the annual convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. This year the various colleges which have been holding Smokers or Reunions separately have been requested by the Society to hold a joint Smoker at the Fifth Avenue Restaurant, 200 Fifth Avenue (at 23rd Street) Wednesday, December 7, at 6:30 p. m.

"The Society has arranged a program of entertainment, and a large representation from all colleges is expected. Let us show them that the University of Kentucky table can hold its own."—J. T. Lowe '12 Secretary, 400 West 151st St., New York.

CAMPUS CHATETR

The Engineering Faculty Club of the University of Kentucky will hold its annual Christmas Dinner in Dicker Hall, on the evening of December 17. Quite a few outside guests are expected to attend, among them being Governor Morrow. This is the third dinner of its kind to be held by the Engineering Faculty Club and it promises to be a big success, as has always been the case in the past.

Meeting of the White Mathematics Club Tuesday, December 13, 1921, in the Civil-Physics Building. Mr. R. V. Blair will speak concerning "Denumerable and Non-denumerable Classes." Time of meeting 3:30 p. m.

The Chapel hour Tuesday was given over to the Committee on Vocations for Women's League of the University and a large number of women students of the University attended. Mrs. Mary Love Collins of Lexington, spoke on general essentials for success in the vocations open to women. After she had aroused the interest of the audience, Miss Frances Jewell explained the function and aim of the new committee which was created by the Woman's League under her direction. Miss Lula Blakey, the president of the Woman's League presided over the meeting.

Prof. Harry Best, head of the department of Sociology, delivered an address at Hamilton College Wednesday morning. His subject was "The Choice of a Life Work."

A Christmas program consisting of stories and carols appropriate to the Yuletide season will be the feature of the Y. W. C. A. services held at Patterson Hall next Sunday evening at 6:30. Several members of the Lampert family will render some Christmas musical selections and they will contribute in making this last Y. W. C. A. program of the year, attractive.

The Y. M. C. A. State Student Conference will be held in Winchester from Friday noon to Sunday night of this week. There will be a special faculty conference Saturday afternoon. The University is entitled to twenty-five students and five faculty delegates. Because of this meeting there will be no Y. M. C. A. program given Sunday night.

The Philosopher Literary Society met in Patterson Hall Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The president, Margaret Settle presided during the short business session and the following program was rendered:

An original story by Louise Barnes read by Pansy Myers.
Current events by Lucille Bush.
A musical reading, "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," Riley, by Catherine Fields, accompanied by Gladys Blatts.

An enjoyable meeting of the English Club was held in the University Cafeteria Wednesday afternoon at 5:30. The program was in charge of Dean Frances Jewel, Frances Marsh, and Pansy Myers.

After dinner, the meeting was called to order by the president Frances Marsh, and a well prepared program was given. Miss Allen, librarian, gave an interesting talk on "The Evolution of Magazines." Pansy Myers read a paper on "The Relation of Magazines to Library Work." Each person brought a favorite magazine and a roundtable discussion was held.

Miss Amy Allen, cataloger of the University Library, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association held at Versailles, December 15. "Children's Books" will be the subject of Miss Allen's talk, which will be followed by a discussion hour. Miss Allen is well qualified to speak on this subject, as she teaches a course in Children's Literature at the University. She was Library organizer for the state of Ohio before coming to the University. A group picture of the Pre-Med. Society will be taken at the next meeting of the society, Wednesday December 12 as only a few of the members came out for the first picture which was taken several weeks ago.

The program for the meeting, which will be held in Dr. Prior's room at 3:30, consists in an interesting talk by Doctor Funkhouser. All Pre Meds are urged to be present and to remain for the picture.

Prof. J. T. C. Noe, as a member of the Board of Regents spent Monday of this week at Berea where he inspected the Berea Normal School.

The Patterson Literary Society will hold its annual declamation contest Tuesday, December 13, at the fifth period in chapel. The prize is the gold medal which is valued at twenty-five dollars, given by George W. Crum, Louisville, in honor of his son who was a member of the Patterson when he attended the University. Any member of the Society is eligible to try out for this handsome medal.

The Horace Mann Literary Society held a most interesting Meeting Thursday evening in the Education Building, when Clay Porter delivered an oration and Mariam Kincheloe gave several delightful selections on the mandolin. A pleasant social hour followed. A splendid program has been arranged for next Thursday evening.

Rinelia Voiers of Butler, Ky., former student at the University, was the weekend guest of Katherine Reed at Patterson Hall.

A meeting of the Catholic men on the campus was called by Father William T. Punch at his home on Barr street Sunday morning, for the purpose of organizing a Catholic Club.
The purpose of the organization is to bring the men in closer contact with each other, and with the members of the Catholic Church outside of Lexington.

The officers elected were Gerald Griffin, president, and Al Muth, treasurer. A meeting of women will be called shortly after the Christmas holidays, and the officers of vice president and secretary have been left open to the women.

Preliminary rifle competition begins in the Armory Monday afternoon December 13 and continues through Wednesday the 15. The fifteen men who make the best scores from each company will be selected for the rifle team which will enter in competition with other colleges. The military team is in receipt of a challenge from De Pauw University for a match sometime early in February.

There will be another machine gun firing exhibition in charge of Captain Bethurum, held on the field beyond Clifton Pond at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, December 10 and all University students are invited to attend the demonstration which promises to be interesting and instructive.

The Radio Club has established communication with several large stations, and will be more than glad to send messages for any of the students. Students desiring messages to be sent leave them at the station or mail them at the Post office of the University in box 512. The regular meeting of the club will be held in Civil and Physics Building Tuesday night at 7:30. Subject for discussion will be "A Radio station for advertising the University." Every one is cordially invited.

Delta Sigma Pi, international professional fraternity in commerce, held its second annual initiation and banquet last Saturday at the Lafayette hotel.

Dr. Edward Weist, head of the school of commerce at the university, was the principal speaker at the banquet. He spoke from experiences he had gained in business in Washington and New York City. Other speakers at the banquet were Fred K. Augsborg, secretary of the Lexington Automobile Club; Paul P. Cooper, Joe Lovett, sporting editor of The Lexington Herald; Glen Tinsley and Guthrie Duvall.

Active members of the fraternity present were Paul P. Cooper, Glenn Tinsley, John Casner, Joe Lovett, Hugh Paul, Harold Waits, Otsi L. Jones and Toiber Anderson. Dr. Frank L. McVey and Doctor Weist are honorary members of the fraternity, but because of a previous engagement Doctor McVey was unable to be present last night.

Noophytes initiated included James Wilhelm, C. V. Watson, John F. Dahringer, A. V. McRee, Jr., Guthrie Duvall, Fred Kemp Keffer, Clyde Davidson, H. T. Allen, T. Durham Winstead and Beverly H. Mann. Alumni present were George Sun and Fred Auksburg.

Delegates to the Woman's Self Government Association conference which opened Saturday morning at the university, were welcomed formally on behalf of the association by Miss Frances Jewell, dean of women who explained the needs of the organization and the goal to which the members should strive to reach by cooperation and determination.

Dr. Frank L. McVey spoke of "Leadership as being the characteristic needed in the schools to uphold the educational institutions throughout the State."

In the afternoon the delegates who represented Berea, Georgetown, Kentucky Wesleyan, and Union College for Women, were taken for an automobile drive through the city and suburbs by members of the faculty. It was decided to hold the conference next year at Georgetown College.

Following the drive the delegates were entertained at a tea by Miss Jewell in the Women's League room.

That night in the Little Theater they witnessed a play by students, "The Gift of the Magi."

HIGH SCHOOL TOURNEY MIDDLE OF FEBRUARY

Boles is in Charge of Preparations Assisted by Buchheit

Plans are already in the process of formation at the University of Kentucky for the annual high school basketball tournament, held under the auspices of the university in the gymnasium, usually about the middle of February, and also for the interscholastic high school field meet, which has been decided on Stoll Field some time during May for the past several years.

S. A. Boles, athletic director, is in charge of preparations and is being assisted by George Buchheit, basketball and track coach.

The two Louisville high schools, Male and Manual Training, carried off the honors in the basketball tourney and track meet last year.

Friday and Saturday, February 10 and 11, 1922, have been set as dates for the coming basketball tournament and invitations will be sent to each high school in the state in the near future. Complete plans and rules for the contests will also be sent with the invitations.

The Kentucky interscholastic high school meet will again take place in May but no exact dates have been named.

A debate and essay contest were held in connection with the field meet for the first time last year, and these features will be included again this year.

The complete program, which has been prepared by the extension department of the university in cooperation with the athletic department, is being printed and will be ready for distribution in a few days.

A AND C COMPANIES COME BACK STRONG

Companies A and C in the University battalion of cadets tied in the number of points received for the month of November. The score made by each of the two companies was 164. The average of B Company was 159 points for the month. These grades combined with the ones received last month which were for A Company 166, for B Company 175 and C Company 172 produce the following rating, A Company, 330, B Company 334 and C Company, which is in the lead thus far with a total of 335 points.

HOLIDAY KERNEL

As it has been the custom in the past, this will be the last issue of the Kernel until after the holidays. The Kernel takes this opportunity to extend to the Faculty, Students and Alumni its best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"ON EARTH, PEACE"

In pursuance of a custom of long standing in the University the current issue of the Kernel is its last until after the holidays. It was delayed purposely until the present date in order to incorporate material of vital interest to its fast growing alumni subscription list.

The Kernel staff, therefore wishes to say au revoir for the brief season that intervenes until we meet again and to extend its hearty good wishes for a happy, restful holiday.

The semester up to this time has been gratifying and the Kernel desires to bear testimony to the excellent spirit both the student body and faculty have maintained each to the other and both to the University. It is consequently a season when the Kernel prefers rather to say kindly things than otherwise and to do its mite toward sending the boys and girls home to their loved ones in a happy and hopeful frame of mind.

To make the holiday a real season of Christmas cheer we must seek to make it one of bringing cheer to others; to put a wreath in the window, that the passerby may see and take courage to continue the journey; to speak a kind word to those who are weary and who are broken and for whom life's horizon holds but little of sunshine and of joy. To him who celebrates Christmas thus, in our humble opinion, reflects best the spirit and the teaching of Him who came amid the silence and the awe of that wondrous night when the shepherds watched over their flocks in peaceful Judea. This is the season for consecration unto others and withal not merely one of joy but likewise one of Thanksgiving.

Let us seek so to pass this brief breathing spell between the end of the day's work and its resumption, that we may be able to say that we have done somewhat to bring joy to those who would have been joyless and laughter to those who had not been wont to smile, for did not He whose birth we celebrate, say "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me?"

THE SUE HARVARD CONCERT

Wednesday evening Miss Sue Harvard, of the Metropolitan Opera Company sang at Woodland Auditorium before a large audience, and those who heard Miss Harvard and witnessed the Kiwanis play, were more than satisfied with the entertainment, the proceeds of which went to a worthy cause, The Students Loan Fund of the University.

The Kiwanis Club of Lexington is responsible for the appearance of the noted soprano in this city and it is owing to the big heartedness of this organization that the proceeds of the concert will be turned over to the Student Loan Fund. The entertainment was well attended by University folk but not so largely as it should have been. There should have been a ticket sold to every student of the University of Kentucky who could possibly afford to buy one because, not only was the concert well worth the money, but because the Loan Fund needs funds and aid will help to keep worthy men and women in school until they can complete their education, which they might not be able to do without assistance of the loan fund.

The Kernel, speaking for the student body, takes this means of extending to the Kiwanis Club of Lexington its hearty thanks for the good work it has done for Student comrades.

The spirit of the great chief Kiwanis is clearly exemplified in the good will and generosity which thus has flowed from the noble organization which bears his name; and students of the University will long be in debt to Kiwanis, a debt of gratitude, for the interest they have taken and the friendship they have shown for a worthy cause.

"MIKADO"

Professor Lampert, Milton Revill and every member of the "Mikado" cast are to be congratulated on the excellent showing at Woodland Auditorium. Everyone who attended it is of the opinion that the opera could not have been improved upon even by a professional company.

The scenery was grotesque yet beautiful and plainly showed the results of careful toil spent by the students of the Art Department under the guidance of Professor Sax.

"The Mikado" surpassed even the success made by the presentation of Robin Hood which marked the beginning of the Musical Department's operas last year. Nothing can create a better impression upon the townspeople and future students than such a demonstration of the work of the University.

A GOOD SEASON

Football season is over and we listen to the comments of the old timers on the teams the Wildcats used to have in the good old days, but we are satisfied with the showing made by the Blue and White team this year. The Wildcats played in hard luck in two of their games and should have gone through the season with but one defeat, that from the hands of Centre which is out of our class. But the showing was a good one nevertheless and the students are proud of the team which represented Kentucky on the gridiron.

Two of the old letter men will never play football again, "Bobby" Lavin and Jim Server have carried the pig skin down Stoll Field for the last time and will never again hear the yells that cheered them on to victory.

Thanksgiving Day was "Bobby's" final grid game and it was a fitting finale to an illustrious career as quarterback of the Wildcat eleven. He played his last game with the same fighting spirit which has characterized his playing for four years with the Blue and White team. Never again will we see him tuck the pigskin under his arm, duck his head and dodge his way through the enemy eluding the clutching arms of the leaping tacklers. Never again will we see the little giant leap into the air and snatch the ball from the expecting arms of an enemy.

"Big Jim" Server also played his last grid game Turkey day and while he was on the field only the first few minutes, having been taken out due to injuries, yet he played the game from the sidelines just as hard as any man in that fighting, muddy mass of humanity. Old Jim has played his four years and has served his Alma Mater well. This year as captain and one of the best line men on the team he showed his true Kentucky spirit.

"The Mikado" Starts Tour On December 16

The cast of "The Mikado" and twenty members of the chorus will leave Friday afternoon for Maysville where they will present the opera at the local theatre in the evening.

On Saturday afternoon and evening they will repeat the performance at the High School Auditorium in Ashland.

Mr. W. Hall Strode, president of the Alumni Association at Maysville and Mr. Forgey Editor of the Ashland Independent, and member of the Survey Commission will have charge of the production in their cities. They expect to do everything to make it a great success and bring before the people of their cities the best musical talent in the University.

DR. PRYOR WILL READ PAPER AT CONVENTION

Head of Pre-Medical Department Will Address American Anatomists.

The American Association of Anatomists will hold its annual meeting at Yale University, New Haven Conn. during the coming holidays. This meeting is of interest to the students of the University of Kentucky as well its alumni on account of the fact that Dr. J. W. Pryor, Head of the Department of Anatomy and Physiology, will read a paper the subject of which will be, "The Difference in the Time of Appearance of the Centers of Ossification in the Male and Female Skeletons." This will be the first paper on this subject to be read in the United States.

Doctor Pryor has been doing re-search work on ossification and its various stages since the discovery of the X-Ray, has read four other papers at meetings of this noted Association, and is a recognized authority on this subject being so quoted in the modern text books. He is the first Kentuckian ever admitted to membership in the Association, having been a member since 1906.

Agricultural Extension Workers Have Meeting

The Agricultural Extension Worker's Conference held at the University of Kentucky, was one of the feature events of the week. The Conference started on Tuesday, December 6, and ended Friday of the same week. The main subjects under discussion were "Community Programs" and "The Better Organization for Program Execution." Each morning, throughout the conference, was devoted to the general session held in the chapel, at which time many addresses were delivered. The women met in Dicker Hall every afternoon.

On Tuesday evening, December 6, President McVey spoke in Dicker Hall on "The Extension Worker as a University Representative." Several county agents were on the program and several specialists and out-of-town speakers added their influence. The conference has attracted widespread interest in the betterment of Agricultural Extension.

COLLEGE DELEGATES HAVE CONFERENCE

The Association of Kentucky Colleges composed of Georgetown, Transylvania, Centre, University of Kentucky, Berea, and Kentucky Wesleyan met at the Uno'clock.

Dr. W. J. Hutchins, of Berea, opened the conference with an address which was followed by a most interesting talk on "The Effect of Intercollegiate Athletics Upon the Morale of the Student Body", by Dr. P. K. Holmes head of the department of hygiene at the University of Kentucky.

After luncheon at the University cafeteria Dr. Joseph Ragland, Georgetown, spoke to the association on "The Value of Latin and Greek."

The state superintendent of public instruction, George Colvin, of Frankfort, gave an address on "The Relation of the Association of Colleges and Universities to the State Department of Education."

At the conclusion of this address Frank Rainey, of Danville, spoke on "The Function of the Christian Colleges in Resisting Forces of Religious Disintegration." After routine business matters were disposed of the meeting was closed.

FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN WILL CLOSE THURSDAY

Y. M. C. A. Teams Prepare For Final Drive. Nearly One Thousand Dollars Pledged.

That the Y. M. C. A. Financial Campaign is progressing in excellent style is shown by the fact that a total amount of $933.50 has been collected to date. There are still many among the faculty members and students who have not reported. A supper will be given to the winning team Thursday night and at this time a final report will be made.

Colonel Ringo of the Blues won the banner for his division with the sum of $347. Fleenor Heath won the pennant as Captain of the leading team of Blues with a total of $126. The other Captains of the Blues are Gilbert Smith, Sneed Yager and A. L. Atchison.

The Whites with Colonel Hukle leading reported the sum of $243. Captain Ridgway's team won the pennant for this side by raising $80. Captains of the Whites are F. A. C. Thompson, S. S. Shouse and George Baumgartner.

The faculty has raised the sum of $308 but not more than half of the members have reported up to date.

The students up to the present time have reported a total of $621.50.

Y. M. C. A.

The last joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. before the Christmas holidays was held last Sunday evening at Patterson Hall. Mrs. Ida Harrison of Lexington was the speaker and her subject was "Disarmament."

Mrs. Harrison said in part, "The churches will be held more responsible if another great war comes. We want to see whether the church can do more than it has done in the past. A meeting was held in Chicago last spring. Its object was the reduction of the arms. Labor, Women's Clubs, Business—all were represented at this meeting. Thus the conflicting points of view were all brought together. This great need of the world will bring us all together as never before. June 5 was designated as Peace Sunday. A petition from 20,500 ministers was presented to President Harding, and he called another meeting in July.

"The settlement of controversies by law rather than by force is one of the inevitable requirements of democracy. Disarmament is necessary for this reason. Our own reduction would be in naval disarmament, as our army is already reduced to the smallest possible size." Mrs. Harrison urged that everyone take the following pledge: "As for me I will do all I can both as an individual and as a member of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. to use all my influence that the Conference shall do its part in ending wars."

A social hour followed the meeting and refreshments were served.

Shallenberger's Meter—1888

Single-Phase Meter—1924

Oliver B. Shallenberger

IT IS ONE THING to produce a new idea that is simply of theoretical interest. It is another to make the new idea into a commercial success.

This is the story of Oliver B. Shallenberger, and how in 1888 he discovered the principle that led him to invent the watt-hour meter, the familiar little device that makes practicable the commercial distribution of alternating current, which means 95% of all the electricity that is distributed.

Shallenberger, who resigned a Naval commission to take up his work with Westinghouse, made his discovery while experimenting with a newly devised alternating current arc lamp. His attention was attracted by the behavior of a small spring which had fallen upon the main magnet of the lamp, into such a position that the forces proceeding from both the magnet coil and the extended soft iron core affected it. And the simple little thing that he noticed was merely that the spring was slowly rotating! But to the intelligently curious observer, that was enough.

Further experiments having satisfied him that the action was caused by alternating electric currents, he set to work, encouraged by his knowledge of Westinghouse policies, to make practical the newly found principle. Three weeks of almost uninterrupted toil, and he had produced the first practical alternating current meter of the induction type—the universal type of the present time.

Thus for the first time the measurement of the quantity of alternating current passing through a line was made commercially practicable and its distribution became possible from an economic as well as an engineering point of view. In fact, the whole structure of our great power systems depends upon the accurate measurement, by millions of such meters, of the electricity used in the homes and industries of the nation. So well was Shallenberger's work done, and so complete was his conception of the possibilities of his discovery, that for more than thirty years his fundamental idea has been in use in many and various forms.

The encouragement which Westinghouse has always given to new ideas, and the judgment with which they have been evaluated, are nowhere better exemplified than in this story of the alternating current meter.

G. G. and G. D.

The above hieroglyphics, in English, designate good girls, those who are not so familiar; and good dates, those who are not so particular, as seen thru eyes adorning the vacuums of Junior mechanicals.

If it is not plain and easily understood I will gladly explain upon application in person, at the office.

Cheer up girls! If your name is on the list.

G. D. you will be very popular. You have had many famous contemporaries. Ann Boelyn and Cleopatra. King Hen thought she was a G. D. but fell hard. Anthony thought the same thing about Cleopatra that same boy is thinking about you, but nevertheless he lost his head, heart and soul, thinking he was the Vampire instead of the Vampee. Its been done before.

Then too, the only reason your name might be on the good girl list is because the right boy did not happen along or your secret passion did not turn up or he did not go at it in the right way or was too much of a gentleman to blab about it.

We will not publish the list here for I want a few dates myself, before the rush starts in; however a complete list will be published in the next issue of the Kernel.

"THE BELLES"

(Pardon us Edgar)

Hear the laughter of the Belles,
Happy Belles!
What world of merriment their Euphony fortells!

How they giggle, giggle, giggle
In the dancing hall at night!
While the eyes, that besprinkle
All the corners, seem to twinkle
With a suggestive delight;
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the tintinnabulation that so jazzyly wells.

For the pleasure of the Belles, Belles,
Belles, Belles
Belles, Belles, Belles—
For the giggling and the wiggling of the Belles.

ENNUI

I'm tired of shaving every morning and then having to clean the razor, sorority dances where the house is crowded to the jamming point, newspaper write-ups which say that the show was wonderful, in fact the best ever seen in the city, Arbuckle jokes that arn't funny but merely lowbrow, rooms full of foul air, fraternity rushing and sticking out the glad hand, the absence of wealth and wearing the same hat morning, noon and night, hair that is puffed out in a cheap manner over the ears with a few fragile hairpins that are on the verge of taking a plunge, rain and mud, and newspaper stories covering the front page telling of murder, robbery, bankruptcy, war, cutthroats, jail sentences and hangings. Furthermore I'm tired of the shimmy and the cheek to cheek dance, movies, going to Patt Hall for a "date" then to town and back again and nothing to do and no where else to go, girls who cake the powder on and try to act sweet and coy and lastly, boys who are always going someone one better or doing something that no one else can do.

A MODEST PROPOSAL

It has often been said by many a knowledge-saturated professor that he has trouble in keeping the attention of the students for an hour, that they don't show any interest in the subject and seem to be working for credits and nothing else.

Let us investigate this, granting that it is true and see if we can't point out a suitable remedy. Let us play the part of an efficiency expert.

A student gets up in the morning about seven, that is if he is a freshman, in a cool room and dresses in a hurry to keep from freezing. He breathes a lot of wholesome oxygen into his or her lungs, whistles a tune or combs her hair and then goes down to breakfast, to grub her or himself.

Then after partaking of prunes, coffee, toast, mush, not the same mush as was dispensed during hugging time the former evening, however, but just plain mush which needs sugar, he or her, (use your own pronoun) goes out to school crossing the threshold just as the Prof. calls the roll. Ah, how fresh and exuberant he feels!

This felling lasts for fully fifteen minutes and then he begins to grow tired. His thoughts wander out across the meadow and gambol on the green. Then they return to the sidewalk and a pair of feet hurrying to class trying to get there before the bell for the next hour. He then braces himself up and tries diligently to listen to the lesson and he begins to get drowsy and to suffer from that dull languor and inertia which makes one look so distingue.

His brain becomes foggy and he would love to go to sleep, and all the while the instructor is laboring laboriously to teach him, little thinking that all of the windows are pulled down tight and that the student is being asphyxiated, so to speak, with foul air. Air that has a wee bit of fresh unpoisoned oxygen in it, and that wee bit is tucked away in someone's pocket or in a drawer of the desk, where a nose cannot possibly reach it.

He leaves that class, gets out in the fresh air and gets awake again so to speak, then right into another room of CO₂, and the performance is repeated with variations, in the form of bawling-outs and failures. He takes in little of the lesson and frequently fails at the end of the term, because his nose knows not and knows not that it knows not.

During the years of this Pierian endeavor that have been spent in this place where freshmen grow wise and broke I have breathed in any number of cubic feet of sleeping gas. There are several rooms that are fresh and airy and those who ornament these places are to be complimented. The Library invariably puts me to sleep. The other morning there were 107 students festooning themselves around in there and away back at the back one of the twenty windows was lowered from the top exactly one and three quarter inches.

TO MILAYD'S EYEBROW. (Pindar McLeigh)

O, who has done this evil thing to you—
And how has Beauty reached so sad a plight?

You, who have ruled the fairest realm of all

Luxuriantly, sable as the night;
Full-formed and handsome on your snowy throne—

Yourself divinity, your right divine—
What vandal wrought his senseless
wreckage here,

And made of you this thin and meagre line?

How painful was your passing? Tell me this,
And tell what cruel hand your fairness took.

Who thought it wise to steal away your grace

And leave you with this lean and hungry look?

Many Colleges Provide Army Tests In Examin- ing New Students

The matriculation lecture on Saturday, December 3, was devoted to explaining of the Army Alpha mental test taken by the freshmen of the College of Arts and Sciences by Dr. Miner of the Psychology Department. In speaking of this test which was used in the army, Dr. Miner said that some idea of its significance could be judged from the fact that a 2,000 page volume had been published on the results obtained.

Dr. Miner said that these tests were not a recent innovation, Columbia University using them in the late nineties, and that in 1908 a French psychologist devised a system for obtaining the mental level of individuals and developed the idea of mental tests. Then came the group tests and a great many more people were reached in this way than by the individual tests.

The speaker said that more than 100 colleges use these mental tests and that this system of entrance examination to college is not being discussed. He said that at Columbia University a Student with a good record may enter by taking the psychology test. The colleges, the speaker said, are not the only users of these tests, business men having found the value of them. "All through life," said Dr. Miner, "we are tested by comparing how we compete against others and we shall find this tests to be of great value to us." The freshmen taking this test, he said, compared favorably with students of other colleges and with the officers in the army.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarette aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

certain their friends and the public upon that occasion and take also the liberty to reproduce from the utterance here referred to, the following commendation of the production of the "Mikado":

"Last week it was the privilege of the writer to witness a production of the "Mikado," given in Lexington by the students of the University of Kentucky, which took him back to the days when this and others of its fine class were the usual offerings of the stage. Expecting to see the general run of amateur performances, earnestly attempted and fairly given, he was astonished at the even excellence of the performance. He has seen this opera given by some of the best companies in their day and that it suffered not at all in comparison is a tribute which he heartily offers.

"But best of all was it to see the auditorium filled with young men and young women, students largely, who were getting genuine enjoyment out of an entertainment that had in it no line of suggestion, so called, but appealed with humor so spontaneous and with music so good that they were not only amused but heard a score that gave the lie to jazz as harmony and elevated the musical tests. It was at once entertainment and instruction, in good English, quick wit and pure harmony.

"You need not tell us that these young people did not go home feeling better and with a sense of having passed a pleasanter evening than if they had been to a musical comedy or play, of the modern standard, which they would feel ashamed to outline in detail at the breakfast table next morning."

which carried the message of her songs straight to her hearers and dispelled the illusion that English words are not understandable when sung.

Miss Ethel Watson Usher of Knoxville Tennessee and also a member of the Metropolitan organization came with noted singer on her first southern conquest and as pianist added to the enjoyableness of the program.

In addition to the concert the Kiwanians staged "The Spirit of Kiwanis" a one act drama written by Professor Saxon of Transylvania which told the story of the high purposes of their organization, patriotism clean business community service—these are the ideals of Kiwanians. The little play was striking in its effect and we can readily understand the praise accorded it in eastern cities where it has been produced by the Kiwanians.

The University is grateful to the Kiwanis Club for the inestimable service rendered in making possible the continuation in college of some of its most worthy students who would otherwise have been compelled to discontinue their education. All Lexington is glad to have been given the opportunity of hearing Sue Harvard. Therefore the Kiwanis Club has rendered its community a double service.

ORIGINAL DRAWINGS ON EXHIBITION

her sister Miss Helen Lowry, were recently members of the faculty of the University of Kentucky. They were the first art teachers in the University.

Mrs. Van Verveke has specialized in woman's fashions, and examples of her original designs for smart gowns, wraps, and suits appear every Sunday in the Lexington Leader. Her work is remarkable for its modern spirit. Her drawings of the modern "flapper" are a delightful commentary on the much discussed recent phenomena.

Mr. Van Verveke's illustrations have been reproduced in photogravure, a process that brings out all the freshness and dash of the originals. His work is particularly interesting because of his great versatility in treatment and subject, the superb taste which characterizes his composition, and the masterfulness of his draftsmanship.

The exhibition itself is a remarkable example of the necessary qualities that go to produce preeminence in illustration. It shows Mr. Van Verveke to be a scholar as well as an artist. He is able to treat of the details and local color of any given period in history, of any station in life, and of any national environment. He is familiar with the intimate characteristics and idiosyncrasies of the various historical, personages.

In addition to this, his keen sense of humor is the cause of unceasing joy. It is vividly shown in several of the illustrations now on display, among them being "When Caesar's Wife Was Not Above Suspicion," "Dante's Most Impassioned Moment with Beatrice" and "Rights of the Iliad."

All of the illustrations now on exhibition have appeared in the magazine section of the New York Times.

The exhibition will continue until next Wednesday. The studio will be open all day and Professor Sax will explain the exhibit to all students after 3:30 p. m.

UNIVERSITY TO ELECT S. I. A. A. PRESIDENT

Tulane, regarded as a probable member, failed to show up.

Dr. Funkhouser, S. A. Boles and Hogan Yancey, who represented the University of Kentucky at the Conference Meeting, returned Sunday night from Atlanta. Dr. Funkhouser, Mr. Boles and Prof. H. E. Curtis will leave Thursday night for the annual meeting of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association to be held at Birmingham December 9 and 10. Prof. E. C. Miller, of Transylvania, will also attend this meeting.

"Daddy" Boles reported some progress in the making out of the 1922 Wildcat football schedule while he was at the Conference meeting. The most notable feature of this was the arrangement of the two year contract with the University of Alabama, the first game to be played on Stoll Field on November 18, 1922, and the second at Tuscaloosa on Armistice Day, 1923. The Blue and White schedule for next year now stands thus:

- Schedule As It Stands
Sept. 30—Marshall at Lexington.
Oct. 7—Louisville at Lexington (tentative).
Oct. 14—Chattanooga at Lexington, (tentative).
Oct. 21—Vanderbilt at Nashville, (tentative).
Oct. 28—Sewanee at Lexington.
Nov. 4—Centre at Lexington.
Nov. 11—Georgetown at Georgetown, (tentative).
Nov. 18—Alabama at Lexington.
Nov. 30—Tennessee at Knoxville.

If the above card is unchanged, the Wildcats will play six of their nine games on Stoll Field.

Base ball schedules probably will get a great deal of attention at the S. I. A. A. meeting, but Kentucky did not arrange for any diamond contests at the Conference meet.

retary authorized to prepare such pamphlets as might seem advisable for acquainting legislators and others with needs of the University and reasons why these needs should be satisfied. Satisfaction was expressed over the greatly increased amount of publicity for the University and athletics, especially, obtained in the daily and weekly newspapers of Kentucky. Note was taken of the series of articles appearing in the Courier-Journal Sunday magazine written by members of the University faculty and staff on educational and general subjects. Comments were made indicating a feeling that this is the most constructive publicity obtained by the University in many years. Arrangements for the series were made with C. E. Heberhart, news editor of the Courier-Journal. Barry Bullock '04 is managing editor of the Courier-Journal. Thornton Connell, Wayne Cottingham and James

Dixon all alumni are members of the city staff.

Approval of the series of conferences between members of the Kentucky General Assembly and President McVey under auspices of Rotary clubs in the several congressional districts was spoken by the Executive Committee and the local alumni clubs urged to co-operate with the Rotarians. These meetings are being held at Paducah, December 14; Henderson, December 15; Hopkinsville, December 16; Ashland, December 19; Covington, December 20; Bowling Green, December 21, and Louisville, December 22. The Seventh district was held in Lexington, December 8.

Louis E. Hillenmeyer, vice president of the Alumni Association and alumni representative on the Athletic Council made a detailed report on athletics.

Herbert Graham, secretary of the Association, reviewed achievements of the Association in the last year, including the general feeling of citizens of the state as a whole toward the University and the recognition of the University's value and importance by newspapers of the state, due in a considerable part to the organized efforts of alumni. More than half of the expense of the providing field representative, Herndon Evans, for the University, whose duty last summer was getting in touch with prospective athletics, was borne by voluntary subscriptions of alumni.

Membership in the Association, according to the Secretary's report, has increased from 200 to 1178 in fifteen months and the alumni clubs from 2 to 27 in the same period. Steps are being taken to increase considerably the number of active clubs in Kentucky in the next two months.

VARSITY WRESTLERS TRAIN FOR SEASON

Thirty Applicants For Berths On Team. Heavyweight Material is Lacking

The Wildcat mat squad began its second week of practice Tuesday with thirty men out for the team together with the letter men of last year. The team under the guidance of Harold Enlow is fast whipping into condition and expects to carve out another enviable record this season.

There will be fourteen men on the team classified in seven different weights. Mat practice is held every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 4 to 6, but the wrestling room may be used any afternoon by those who desire to practice.

The final try-outs will not be held until after the Christmas Holidays. The squad is short of heavyweights and Coach Enlow urges that all heavy men come out for the final, even those who have not had any wrestling training. The wrestling schedule has not been completed, but matches with the following are expected: Ohio University, Ohio State, West Virginia and Indiana.

Program Is Arranged For W. S. G. A. Meeting

Delegates of the Woman's Student Government Association, who will meet at the University Friday and Saturday, will be honor guests at a Christmas party to be given Friday evening at Patterson Hall.

The feature of the party will be the visit of Santa Claus, who will distribute presents to the audience, which will gather around the Christmas tree. All girls affected by student government are expected to attend the party.

Saturday morning will be given over to a business session, and during the afternoon, a play entitled "The Gift of the Magi" will be given in the Little Theatre. The performance will be followed by a tea given by the Woman's league and President's Council in the restroom in White Hall.

In Selecting a University

For a college education, there are five things to be taken into consideration:

1. The men at the head of the Institution.
2. The scholastic standing and ability of the Teaching Staff.
3. The location and advantages of environment.
4. Equipment, buildings, laboratories and libraries.
5. Cost.

In all these respects the University of Kentucky commends itself to those seeking a higher institution in which to carry on their education.

All Departments, including Liberal Arts, Sciences, Agriculture, Law, Education, Mining, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering.

DISARMAMENT QUESTION APPROVED BY STUDENTS

Political Science, History and Public Law Classes Send Resolutions

University of Kentucky students in Political Science, History and Public Law, have sent the following resolutions, pertaining to Disarmament to Hon. Charles E. Hughes, Chairman of the American Delegation, Premier Arthur James Balfour, of the British Delegation, and to Premier Aristide Briand, of the French Delegation. The resolutions are signed by a committee composed of C. R. Petree, J. L. Hayes, and O. W. Bain, and express the attitude of the students toward the disarmament Conference.

TO SECRETARY HUGHES

November 28, 1921.
Honorable Charles E. Hughes
Chairman of the American Delegation
Washington, D. C.

Sir:
We, the General Assembly, composed of Political Science, history and Public Law students of the University of Kentucky, interested in the welfare of burdened humanity, the progress of civilization, peace and good will among nations; and realizing the horrors of war, the burden of armaments, and having faith in America, our flag and our delegation, take this opportunity to express our approval of the steps taken by our Delegation, and also our desires and best wishes for the success of the Disarmament Conference which is now in session.
Committee:

TO PREMIER BRIAND

November 30, 1921.
Premier Aristide Briand
Chairman of the French Delegation
Washington, D. C.

Sir:
We, the General Assembly, composed of Political Science, History and Public Law students of the University of Kentucky remembering the mutual sympathy which, from its very beginning, has been maintained between this Government and that of the Republic of France, wish to express our appreciation that France has again shown her readiness to join with the United States and the other nations of the world in an effort to perpetuate peace by the limitation of armaments and it is our sincerest desire that your great Republic will let nothing of petty jealousies stand between you and a proper adjustment of a disarmament program on the basis of humanity and peace for the nations of the World.
Committee:

TO PREMIER BALFOUR

November 30, 1921.
Premier Arthur James Balfour
Chairman of British Delegation
Washington, D. C.

Sir:
We, the General Assembly, composed of Political Science, History and Public Law students of the University of Kentucky, appreciate your presence at the Disarmament Conference, which shows

FRESHMEN ORGANIZE BASKETBALL TEAM

The freshman basketball team was organized Wednesday afternoon. There is an abundance of good material in the freshmen class and a large number of men to are out for the squad. "Daddy" has already written to several high schools for games and it looks as if the freshmen will have a complete schedule. A great deal of good natured rivalry exists between the different men competing for a place on the squad and there is plenty of hard work in store for the Fresh goal-agers.

that your nation still holds to the friendly attitude which has been unbroken for years, and that as nations we are growing closer in ideals and are willing to lay down petty jealousies before greater principles of humanity.

We wish to express the further hope that this friendly relation which has been so amicable and of mutual profit will continue and that it will grow into a common ideal for the peace and harmony of all nations toward which this Conference is a great step.

Perhaps no better example of peaceful relations can be found than such as has existed between the United States and Great Britain in regard to the boundary line of Canada and the United States. Here two great nations have lived side by side peacefully and in harmony with no thought of fortifications or military defense. That the United States and Great Britain can use their influence to extend this principle which has stood the test of a hundred years, is our desire and hope.

Kittens Toss A Mean Ball in Net Practice

Under the leadership of Dorothy Potter, captain, the girls basketball squad has started practice with prospects of developing into a quintet that will be difficult to defeat. A large number of aspirants are out, more than forty girls have already reported to Sarah Blanding, coach.

Practice is being held two afternoons every week and on Thursday nights the girls use the men's gymnasium for extensive practice in goal-shooting. A game was played Thursday night between a Lexington High Alumnae team and a team picked from the girls out for the Varsity squad. In the near future the squad will be divided into two sections.

The schedule of the Kittens has not been definitely decided but it will include games with the University of Cincinnati, University of Chattanooga, Kentucky Wesleyan, and possibly the University of Louisville. Margaret Jameson, Cynthia, is business manager of the team.

Pledges of Chi Omega Give Dance

A beautiful tea dance was given Saturday in the Armory of the University by the pledges of the Chi Omega fraternity of the University in honor of the Lambda Alpha Chapter. The decorations of the Christmas month and the fraternity colors, cardinal and straw, were used with lovely effect.

The hostesses were Margaret Chenault, Nan Chenault, Anne Hickman, Frances Green, Carolyn Nicholas, Ida Kenney Risque, Rachelle Shacklette, Clay Miller Elkin, Jeannette Lampert, Mary Louise Covington, Ellen Hughes, Betty Barbour.

One of the University orchestras furnished the music, refreshments were served, and the favors were little candy figures in the Chi Omega colors.

The hostesses were assisted by Miss Frances Jewell, Miss Adelaide Crane, Miss Dora Berkeley, Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Justice, Dean and Mrs. Paul P. Boyd, Colonel and Mrs. Freeman, Major and Mrs. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Combs, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Wiest, Professor and Mrs. Farquhar, Mrs. Eugenia Young, Mr. and Mrs. McCarty Harbison.

The guest of honor were the active chapter Louise McKee, Carlisle Chenault, Lucy Kavanaugh, Frances Ripy, Elizabeth Allen, Margaret Smith, Mildred Morris, Annette Harrison, Virginia Harrison, Daisy Lee Tinsley, Frances Marsh, Martha McClure, Gargaret Harbison, Jeolyn Webb, Mammie Miller Woods, Eleanor Moise, Emma Lee Young, Ruth Taylor, Frances Ronick, Elizabeth Jackson, Mary Marshall McMeekin and Fanny Summers Tarlton.

Alumnae present were Misses Nancy Innes, Eliza Piggott, and Roberta Blackburn.

Among the other guests were Grace Davis, Emily Holloway, Eleanor Smith, Shelby Northcutt, Helen Skain, Helen Van Derveer, Frances Ashbrook, Katherine Fuller, Mary Snell Ruby, Margaret Lavin, Alleene Arnold, Jo Lawson Tarlton, Ruth Gorman.

Also representatives from all the men's fraternities of the university, the guests numbering in all about two hundred.

Thursday Miss Shelby Northcutt will entertain with a tea dance, 3 to 6 o'clock in the ball room of the Phoenix Hotel in honor of the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity of the University of which she is one of the pledges.

Friday evening the annual Pan-Hellenic dance by the men's fraternities of the University will be given at the Phoenix Hotel in the palm room. This will be the formal opening of the palm room, which has recently been completed at the Phoenix.

Saturday evening the Faculty Club of the Engineering College of the University, on the campus, with their annual old-fashioned Christmas dinner. There will be about 40 men present and among city of Kentucky, will entertain in Dickier the guests of honor who will respond to toasts, are Prof. F. Paul Anderson, arriving home from Pittsburg, Pa., to spend Christmas with his family, Judge Robert W. Bingham, Mr. J. Irvine Lyle, of New York.

The active chapter of the Masonic Fraternity was host at a dinner and an informal dance given at the chapter house on Harrison avenue in honor of W. H. Peal, winner of the Rhodes scholarship, Saturday evening from 8 until 11:30 o'clock.

FUNKHOUSER AND LEWIS WRITE FOR MAGAZINE

Two Kentucky Professors Authors of Articles in Courier-Journal

In the Magazine section of the Courier-Journal last Sunday in a very prominent place illustrations and pictures of the writers were articles by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, head of the department of Zoology and Prof. W. Lewis Roberts, of the Law department. Another acknowledgment by the state press of the scholarship and ability of the University of Kentucky faculty.

Dr. Funkhouser, one of the most popular men on the campus, is a scientist of international reputation and is a member of Sigma Xi the scientific research fraternity. His story was about "Kentucky Birds." Some of the statements from various parts of the story are reprinted: "Students of birds throughout the world associate the name of the State of Kentucky with that of Audubon, the most famous and best beloved of American ornithologists. The citizens of this commonwealth may well be proud however not only of the heritage in ornithological research left them by Audubon, but of the wonderful bird life represented within the state's boundaries.

"According to reliable estimates, more than one million dollars is lost annually in the United States on account of the ravages of various insects." Some figures were given to show that "we pay more to feed our bugs, caterpillars, beetles, grasshoppers, scale-insects, plant-lice, weevils, and cut-worms, than we do to keep up our entire school system. Our easiest solution of the problem is to encourage the natural enemies of the insects, especially when these enemies happen to be the best friend of man. Foremost among these friends are the birds. The number of insects eaten by certain birds, and the amount of insects fed to the young during the nesting season is enormous."

In closing Dr. Funkhouser said, "We have at our homes and as visitors who appreciate our hospitality the most marvelous voices of the bird world—thrushes, song sparrows, wrens, and mockingbirds; the most beautiful of nature's bird creations, cardinals, tangers, waxwings; the friendliest of lovely travelers—bluebirds, nuthatchers and chickadees; the most beneficial of all the feathered tribe—Cuckoos, warblers, swallows, and vireos. Shall our hospitality be found wanting?"

Prof. Roberts, a member of the Law faculty used as the subject of his story "The Unwritten Law." Some of his remarks follow: "The phase, The Unwritten Law, which came into prominence twenty-five or thirty years ago, gained wide circulation through the press in connection with certain notorious murder trials. We have all heard of the Unwritten Law but we seek in vain for a statement of it in our law books. All of us however have a fairly clear idea of its meaning. It has been the plea of justification offered in murder trials where the slain man has been guilty of some moral offense against the defendant or against some member of his family. The conduct of the slain man turns popular sympathy from him and creates such sympathy for the slayer that the latter's acquittal meets with approval.

"The application of the unwritten law is, in effect, a popular rising above the law by juries who really interpret the will of the people. The danger in such course lies in the possibility of the disregard for all law may be encouraged. The remedy is to be sought in removing the cause which give rise to the occasions on which the unwritten law is appealed to and in raising popular ideals to the standard set by the statutes.

"If it really is the function of the Legislature to embody in statutory form the popular will wherever it makes itself manifest, to be consistent, we should write upon our statute books a law to the effect that our administrative officers may nullify or set aside such laws as they see fit whenever in their judgment it is the wish of the community that the enforcement of certain laws shall be suspended. Such a suggestion may seem a little startling at first though but the French have a similar provision in their code."

In the last paragraph Prof. Roberts says, "The task then is one of restoring at the present time the higher ideals that prevailed before the war swung us into the present reign of materialism. This is not wholly the task of the church and school for every organization or lodge can play its part."

Dr. Cotton Noe of the Department of Education is well represented in "The Poets Pact," an anthology of contemporary verse, which has just been published by Bookfellows, Chicago. This handsome volume, bound in green boards and printed on Old Stratford Paper, is edited by the poet, John G. Neihardt. There are 100 poems in the volume, contributions of forty-six writers.

Doctor Noe is represented by his well-known poems, The Redbird, Mockingbird, Pro Patria, The Golden Fleece, That's What They Say, and Inconsistent. Mr. Neihardt, in "The Stepladder" several months ago called especial attention to the fine quality of Dr. Cotton Noe's verse.

"THERE AIN'T NO MORE" Sergeant John Kennedy

I have heard the death-knell sounded
From a chapel by the way,
And a feeling sad and somber
Stayed with me all that day.
But the thing that really gets my goat,
And makes me peeved and sore,
Is the company mess-sergeant,
When he says, "There ain't no more."
You may talk of melancholy words
Which come from voice or pen;
But the saddest ones by far, I'll vow,
Are not, "It might have been"
For the man whose appetite is good
Will give an awful roar
When he looks around for "seconds"
And he finds—there ain't no more.

He reaches for the coffee, then he
Slams the pitcher down;
And cusses, raves, and tells his tale
Of woe to those around.
He spears the only flay-jack left,
And—drops it on the floor;
Then speechless sits, with heart bowed down.
To bad! There ain't no more!

Now all men die, as well we know,
Mess-sergeants' mongst the rest.
But where they go, above, below,
We, down here, only guess.
Methinks St. Peter, when he's asked
If there's the room behind his door,
Will steer the mess-sergeant down below,
And say, "There ain't no more."

THETA SIGMA PHI ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

Misses Tinsley and Chenault Become Members of Journalism Sorority

Chi chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalistic sorority, held pledging services for Dayis Lee Tinsley and Sue Chenault Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of Miss Marguerite McLaughlin on East Maxwell street, followed by a tea at Candle Glow Inn.

The two new members were pinned by Miss McLaughlin, faculty member of the sorority, with the pledge insignia of Theta Sigma Phi, a pen point tied with violet and green ribbon. Alumnae present at the ceremony were Martha McClure, '20 and Virginia Throckmorton, '21.

The hostesses for the afternoon were members of the active chapter Margaret Smith, Dorothea Murphy, Jessie Dodd, Frances Marsh, Adaline Mann, Katherine Conroy, Irene McNamara, Anna Louise Connor, Ruth Hughson, and Elizabeth Hume.

Theta Sigma Phi was founded at the University of Washington, Seattle, April 1909, and more than twenty chapters have since been established in leading universities of America, among which are: Universities of Washington, Missouri, Michigan, Leland, Stanford Columbia, Indiana, and Illinois. Chi chapter was founded in the University of Kentucky in May 1919.

The purpose of Theta Sigma Phi is to encourage interest in professional journalism among the college women of America. Among famous women journalists who are members of this sorority are Mary Roberts Rineheart and Fannie Hurst.

DEBATING TEAMS ARE NOW BEING ORGANIZED

Preliminary Oratorical Contest Will Be Held January 13

Professor Mikesell is sending out invitations to all students interested in intercollegiate debates to meet him Wednesday, December 14 at 4 o'clock in the Little Theatre. The men will be organized into debating teams for the purpose of preparing for the intercollegiate debates which will be held during the school year.

One of the most interesting debates scheduled for the year is that with Vanderbilt and the department of public speaking is looking forward to this with a great deal of pleasure. Any bonified student is eligible to join the squad whether he be enrolled in the public speaking classes or not.

Another important announcement is the date set for the preliminary contest in oratory which will take place Friday January 13 in the Little Theatre. All those who desire to try for a place on the oratorical schedule with the curious schools will immediately see Professor Mikesell, and give him the subjects of the orations. On orator will be sent to Centre College at Danville to participate in the contest which will decide the winning school in the state in oratory. All the leading colleges of the state will be represented. The winner of the state oratorical contest will go to a sectional contest to be held in the west for the purpose of choosing the champion orator of the several states represented.

An orator will also be sent to the University of Alabama to compete in the Southern Oratorical League against such schools as Johns Hopkins and the University of North Carolina for the championship of the south in oratory.

Notice

All Juniors are asked to turn in a snapshot at the Kentuckian office to be used in the Junior Section of the 1922 Annual. They must be in before December 19!!!!

CHRISTMAS BELLS.

Evangel Ryerson
Chime out, chime on, O, Christmas Bells,
Until each heart with gladness swells;
Ring out in all your joyous mirth
The glorious tidings: "Peace on Earth,"—
For on one happy Christmas morn
The Savior of the world was born;
Ring out, nor let your music cease
Until each heart shall feel the peace
Of our dear Savior's birth, and then
Sound forth abroad: "Good Will to Men."

And O, sweet Christmas Bells, where'er
There is a heart bereft of cheer
By sorrow or misfortune, there
Ring soft and low; in their despair
Rear on the wings of Christ's own love
Some soothing message from above;
And where the fire is dying out
And hungry children roam about
Upon the streets, so frail and poor,
O, Sympathetic Bells, be sure
To lead by your sweet song away
From all the glitter and array
The happy Christmas folk awhile,
To share with them their joy and smile.

O, Christmas Bells, ring far and near
And fill this whole wide world with cheer

CONCESSIONS AT Y. W. FAIR HAVE BIG DAY

White Hall Transformed Into White Way By Novel Event

The Y. W. C. A. Christmas Fair which was given in White Hall last Friday afternoon and evening, by the women's social organizations of the University, proved to be a success both in financial and social aspects.

The organizations which participated in the Fair and the several "concessions" operated on the brilliantly lighted White Hall mid-way, experienced little difficulty in gathering contributions from the pleasure seeking patrons.

Shoe-shining parlors, the managers of which evinced no hesitation in receiving "tips", booths which rivaled a ten-cent store in their assortment of novelties, and theatres presenting Broadway artists were to be found in the several rooms of the building and on the stairs leading from floor to floor.

Among the monopolies operated by the organizations were: "The House of Mystery," by Kappa Delta; Christmas tree grab bag, Alpha Gamma Delta; a booth over which appeared the slogan, "Knock Down the Faculty," Alpha Xi Delta; a play entitled "The Gift of Time," presented by Chi Omega; "Why Girls Leave Home," Theta Sigma Phi; circus booth, Kappa Kappa Gamma; candy booth, Philosophian Literary Society; doll booth, operated by Miss Crane for the benefit of the Armenian Relief Fund; and a novelty booth, managed by the Y. W. C. A. The Women's Student Government Association also operated a tea room.

Publisher

R. E. Garrison and Keen Johnston, of Lexington, have purchased from Senator H. V. Bell, The Anderson News, a weekly publication at Lawrenceburg.

Mr. Johnston, is a senior in Journalism at the University, and after graduating in February will immediately take charge of the editing of their new publication. He formerly owned and published the Elizabethtown Mirror, but on account of returning to school last February he sold the publication. Mr. Johnston of late has been reporting for the Lexington Herald. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge, and of Alpha Delta Sigma and honorary journalistic fraternity.

Mr. Garrison has been employed for 25 years as superintendent of the mechanical department of the Lexington Herald. He has resigned from this position and is now in Lawrenceburg managing the paper. Garrison will be business manager.

The News was founded at Larensburg in 1845. It is the only publication in that county.

BASKETBALL SQUAD LIMITED TO 25 MEN

Pre-Holiday Practice Calls For Light Workouts; Schedule Nears Completion

It was a small but determined squad that showed up for net practice of the Wildcat basketballers Monday afternoon. The varsity squad has been thinned down to twenty-five, counting the letter men of last year, and Coach Buchheit promises another cut for Saturday.

There will be a keen struggle made by those who were fortunate enough to survive the first "blue pencil" of Coach Buchheit's to retain their places on the squad. The twenty-five who survived the initial "cut" are: Atkins, Baylus, Barnes, Boren, Burnham, Davidson, Elliott, Hayden, King, Langsford, Meriwether, Netherton, Neal, Poynts, Riley, W. H. Rice, Riefkin, Smith, Siler, Wilkinson, Lavin, Ridgway, Fest, Wilhelm and A. T. Rice.

Basil Hayden, captain of last year's team wrenched his knee in practice Friday. This is the same knee that Hayden injured last year which kept him from entering last season's track meet, and the injury may cause a little trouble. Basil, however has the knee in a brace and Monday afternoon was pitching goals in his old form.

There will only be eight or nine more practices before the holidays and Coach Buchheit said that that time would be devoted mainly to mastering the fundamentals of the game, and that scrimmage would be set aside temporarily.

"Daddy" Boles has received a letter from Clemson College accepting the University's offer for a game here on February 16. "Daddy" has also arranged two tentative trips. However, no definite information as to which trip will be made can be given out until he has word from the various offering teams. The first trip will include games with Washington and Lee V. M. L. V. P. L., George Washington and the University of Virginia. The other trip will include games with Vanderbilt, University of Tennessee, University of Louisville and Chattanooga.
