

Fraternity Average Shows Improvement

Majority Make Required 1.3

The all-fraternity average last year was the best that it has ever been on the Kentucky campus, the dean of men's office reports this week. Sixteen of the twenty fraternities on campus made above the required 1.3 over-all standing for the year.

The average of the fraternity men for last year was 1.418. Triangles and Alpha Gamma Rho were the next highest in the fraternity ranking. Delta Chi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Alpha Sigma Phi were the only fraternities that failed to meet the required 1.3 standing.

These four fraternities will be on social probation for this year, according to the faculty rule passed two years ago which placed the requirement of a 1.3 over-all average for each fraternity.

This rule, which applies to all campus organizations, went into effect last September. However, this does not mean that organizations that are on social probation cannot enter intra-mural sports, have rush, or any similar activities. They cannot have dances and parties sponsored by their organization.

If these organizations should fail to make the required standing the second year, they will then have to meet with the faculty and present adequate reasons for remaining on campus.

Since the fraternity standing improved so much last year, there is the possibility that the University has moved from being one of the lowest ranking state universities in fraternity scholastic averages to one of the highest in the country for last year, said Dean Kirwan.

The ranking of the fraternities last year was:

Parm House, 1.678; Triangle, 1.615; Alpha Gamma Rho, 1.515; Zeta Beta Tau, 1.505; Phi Delta Theta, 1.477; Kappa Sigma, 1.469; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 1.449; Phi Sigma Kappa, 1.436; and Lambda Chi Alpha, 1.425.

Phi Kappa Alpha, 1.415; Delta Tau Delta, 1.412; Kappa Alpha, 1.402; Phi Kappa Tau, 1.379; Sigma Nu, 1.361; Alpha Tau Omega, 1.359; Tau Kappa Epsilon, 1.302; Delta Chi, 1.276; Sigma Chi, 1.239; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 1.234; and Alpha Sigma Phi, 1.197.

Dean Kirwan said that the improved fraternity scholastic standing was probably a result of the faculty ruling and the action taken by the Inter-Fraternity Council.

The average of the fraternity men for last year was 1.418. Triangles and Alpha Gamma Rho were the next highest in the fraternity ranking. Delta Chi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Alpha Sigma Phi were the only fraternities that failed to meet the required 1.3 standing.

Senior Notice

Seniors expecting to graduate at the end of the first or second semester or the summer term must make application for degrees on October 16 and 17 in Room 16 of the Administration Building. This applies also to candidates for the bachelor's degree who will be charged a graduation fee of $9.00. This covers the rental of cap and gown, diploma fee, the Kentucky, and other necessary expenses. Candidates for advanced degrees, other than the doctorate, will be charged $30.00. This will cover the above with the exception of The Kentuckian and in addition the cost of the hood to be presented to candidates. The students receiving the doctorate will be charged $25.00. Graduation fees are payable not later than the fourth day preceding the commencement.

YM-YWCA Annual Membership Drive Will Open Monday

The YWCA and the YMCA will hold their annual membership drive from next Monday through Friday, it was announced this week by membership chairman Jane Stockton and George Shadown.

Highlighting the drive will be an open house in the Student Union Ballroom at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 6. A skit explaining the various functions of the Y will be given by the cabinet members of the two groups. A brief social period will follow the skit.

Visits by the Y cabinet members to the men's and women's dorms has been planned for Monday. Students may register for the Y's at the open house and at the membership booths which will be given for that purpose in the Campus Book Store and in the Student Union ticket booth from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. next week.

This year the Freshman Y will be combined with the upper class group. Meetings will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesdays in the Student Union. Requirements for membership are the same as in previous years and take part in the Y activities.

UK Enrolls 5,574 For Fall Semester

A total of 5,574 students have enrolled at the University for the fall semester, UK Registrar Richard L. Tutthill announced this week. Saturday noon was the deadline for all late registrants.

This fall's enrollment is practically the same as last year's "last fall," Dr. Tutthill said. The figure released on the final day of registration last fall was 5,574.

Of the 5,574 students enrolled for study this semester, 5,100 are taking classes on the University campus. The UK Northern Extension Center at Covington enrolled 348 students, and 125 persons registered at the University's College of Pharmacy in Louisville.

The first semester of the 1953-54 academic year will continue through Jan. 29. Except for Thanksgiving holidays, Nov. 26-30, and Christmas holidays, Dec. 19-Jan. 4, the semester will continue without a break.

Oct. 26 has been set as the last date a student may drop a course without a grade. Dr. Tutthill added.

University Press Publishes Work By Mississippian

A new book, "The Missouri Controversy, 1819-1821," written by Dr. Glover Moore, professor of history at Mississippi State College, has been published by the UK Press, according to an announcement Saturday by Press editors.

Dr. Moore, a native of Birmingham, Ala., holds a Ph.D. degree from Vanderbilt University and a B.A. degree from Birmingham-Southern College. With the exception of four years military service during World War II, he has been a member of the History Department at Mississippi State College since 1936.

The UK Press editors, in commenting on Dr. Moore's book, said, "He has told the story of the Missouri Controversy in its entirety for the first time."

Suky Plans Pep Rally Tonight At Coliseum

A giant pep rally and torch light parade will be held at 7 p.m. tonight at Memorial Coliseum and adjacent the Phoenix Hotel to welcome the Florida football team.

Ellmarie Locke, Mary Ann Miley, John Lorch, and Ted Bennett, who were cheerleaders last year, will be familiar figures at the pep rally, but Delores Kercher, Kathryn Thompson, and John Strachan will not be known for the first time and lead the student yell.

These seven, along with alternates Peggy Ellis, Jane Cole, and Jo Anne Shelton, were elected by popular ballot last Thursday in Memorial Hall. The number of try-outs had been narrowed from 34 to 16 by a preliminary elimination, two days before in the Student Union ballroom.

The card section for tomorrow's game has been enlarged to almost 1,000 students and will present a candle trick and a half moon as the Marching One Hundred plays "Orchids in the Moonlight." Another card trick will pay tribute to Ann Smith, band sponsor for the 1953 season. Tickets are again being sold to fraternities for seats in this section. If, however, these seats are

I-D Cards Needed For Florida Game

Students may pick up their I-D cards in the front lobby of Memorial Coliseum, 12 noon-2 p.m. today and 8:30 a.m.-12 noon tomorrow, D. T. Doyle, assistant of the Athletic Department, reported this week.

Registration tickets will not be honored for the UK-Florida game tomorrow night unless stamped by the Athletic Association. When picking up I-D cards, registration receipt must be shown for proof of identification.

Students who have not yet had their picture taken for their I-D card may report at the same place and time as above.

Conway Is Added To Music Faculty

Forrest Conway has recently been added to the music faculty of the University, according to Dr. Edwin Stein, head of the Music Department.

Mr. Conway received his B.A. in 1947 from the University of Dubuque. During his undergraduate days he was awarded the full Rudolph Ganz Piano Scholarship. He received his Master of Music in 1948 from Chicago Musical College.

While serving a period of time in the army, prior to receiving his Master's Degree, he studied for four months at the Conservatoire National de Musique in France under Yves Nat. He returned here in 1950 and studied for two years with Jules Gentil.

He has served on the music faculty of Western Kentucky State College and the Colorado State College of Education. Some of his students have gone on to win scholarships at Juillard and Yale.

Mr. Conway, 38, is married and has two daughters, ages five and 11.

WBKY Picks Jane Clarke As Manager

Jane Clarke, a radio arts senior, has been appointed station manager of WBKY, student FM radio station, for the coming year.

Jane, who is from Covington, Va., is president of Jewell Hall and treasurer of the House of Representatives. She worked in the continuity department of WHAS, Louisville, last summer. She is a member of the Richmond Professional Institute of Washington and Marysville, and the Kentucky Broadcasters' Association Award that is given annually to the outstanding Radio Arts major based on scholarship, radio aptitude, character, and intention to enter the radio profession.

Claudia Wilkins was appointed continuity director, and Forrest Thompson was named to the music director's post.

Claudia is a Radio Arts senior from Portsmouth, Ohio. She is a member of the chorus and worked in the continuity department of WPAY in Portsmouth during the summer. Forrest is a junior in Radio Arts from Martinsville, Va. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, the University band and the orchestra. Chorister, and president of the Men's Glee Club. He also directed the BSU choir last year.

The positions of program director and traffic manager have been filled by Jack Oshman and Ann Young.

Jack is a senior transfer from the UK Extension Center in Covington. He comes from South Fort Mitchell where he produced an audience participation program for WZUP called "Fun Incorporated."

Ann is a sophomore radio major from Danie, Va. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi, Omega, Alpha Lambda Delta, and the publicity committee of the Student Union Board. She was music librarian of WBKY last year.

Bob Taylor and Don Stewart will be co-sports editors. Bob is a sophomore from Evansville, Ind., and Don is a junior from Louisville and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Both have done play-by-play work before on WBKY.

Mike Murphy, Radio Arts senior from Ashland, was appointed publicity manager. He is a member of Sigma Nu and represented them on IFC last year. He conducted a disk jockey show on WBKY last year called "Jane Masters."

University Asks Raise For 1954-55 Budget

SGA Talks About New Directories

By RONNIE BUTLER

For the second consecutive meeting, the Student Government Association discussed the possibility of combining the Faculty Directory with the Student Directory. Also, for the second consecutive meeting, on Monday night, there were not enough members to form a quorum.

Carter Glass, SGA president, attributed the lack of members to the absence of the secretary, Lois Smith. Miss Smith, he said, has taken a teaching job at Crutchen, and was not present to inform Assembly members of the meeting.

It was reported that the extra cost of combining the Student Directory with the Faculty Directory would amount to $89. Some members, however, said that the project was not worth the cost. One member said, as a reason against the plan, that "the faculty wouldn't want us to be calling them anyway."

Total costs for last year's Directory were $688.45, and according to Capp Turner, chairman of the Directory committee, the cost for this year will be about the same. Approximately 3500 copies are needed for this year.

Turner also mentioned that his committee was having trouble finding the names of the presidents of the 290 student organizations on the campus. A. D. Kirwan, dean of the campus, told Assembly members that the names and members of the organizations could be procured at his office.

Dr. Donovan Reports UK's Financial Needs

The University will ask for a $127,000 increase in its appropriation for the 1954-55 school year, Dr. H. L. Donovan, president, announced this week.

The General Assembly allotted $4,412,500 to the University for the current fiscal year, but this was ordered cut by $278,500 last July when Gov. Lawrence Westery found that the state would not receive in income general fund purposes the amount estimated in 1952 and appropriated to various agencies last July.

Dr. Donovan announced the appropriation request at a press-radio dinner at the Student Union and said the request for the increase was based on these factors:

1. To reduce to the budget appropriations of the University the cut made in July.
2. To make up depletion of reserves built up during the post-war years and used to supplement state appropriations.
3. Critical needs for salary adjustments for academic and non-academic personnel.
4. To meet the continuing impact of inflation upon cost of supplies and materials.

Reserve Funds Depleted

The major increase asked was $623,964 to make up depleted reserve funds and other increases in the request included: $388,038 for salary adjustments to meet the rising cost of living, $50,000 to cover the loss of G.I. tuition from the federal government, $62,500 for the increased work of the Kentucky Geological Survey, and $150,000 for increased work in extension and at the Agricultural Experiment Station.

"We here at the University have given detailed and careful consideration during the past year to the needs of the University for the biennium 1954-56," Dr. Donovan said.

"The seven colleges and the graduate schools," he said, "face expanding requirements for modern equipment, educational facilities, and increased salaries for trained staff. The Agricultural Experiment Station is constantly urged by farming interests of the state to do more experimental research and publish more information for distribution to the public. The Agricultural Extension Service is progressively more county agricultural agents and home demonstration workers."

More To Educate

"There are more boys and girls to educate, more experiments to run, and more farmer requests to satisfy."

"If the University is to meet the needs of the parents of its students, and the farmers of the state for additional training and research, it must have additional state support. If the people are to get the information available through research, the extension service must be strengthened and supplemented."

Pointing to the needs for salary adjustments, Dr. Donovan said, "Teachers in public institutions of higher education in Kentucky work for salaries well below those paid

Guignol Players Plan Comedy Production

Guignol Players will give their first play of the season, "The Madwoman of Chaillet," from Oct. 29 through Oct. 31.

A comedy by Jean Giraudoux, the story takes place in Paris. Countess Aurelia, the Madwoman of Chaillet, enforces the evil, greedy people in Paris, who represent all the evil in the world, down into the sewers of Paris. The Madwoman is aided by three of her friends.

The cast includes Countess Aurelia, Madwoman of Chaillet, Claire Wood; Mme. Constance, Page Williams; Mlle. Gabrielle, Sue Jackson; Miss Josephine, Lucy Moberly; The Bagpiper, Jim Inman; President, Paul Warraker; The Prospector, Ben Arderly; The Seewerman, Charles Petras; The Broker, Tom Gower; Dr. Jadin, Bob Cransler; The Baron, Jim Holloway; Irma, Louise White; The Waiter, Jim Hurt; Pierre, Lynn Murray; The Street Singer, Nancy Lillis Beam; The Little Mute, George Wood; The Little Woman, Paul Ward; The Policeman, Jim Hatfield; The Sergeant, Jim Ford; Shelley Rumbel; Panette, Ann Fretwell; The Press Agents, Daily Sullivan, Sandra Ingram, Nancy Niles; The Ladies, Elsie Baker, Barbara Francis, Lucy Ford; The Vagabonds.

Kentucky Chemist Honored By ASCE

Prof. Daniel V. Terrell, dean of the College of Engineering, was presented a leather briefcase Thursday morning in recognition of his recent election as president of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The token was presented to Dean Terrell at the meeting of the student chapter, ASCE, held at Memorial Hall by Glen Alderdice, president of the UK chapter. Alderdice presided over the meeting, at which Warren Parks, Director of District Nine, ASCE, and L. E. Gregg, President of the Kentucky Section of ASCE, were guest speakers.

J. Stephen Winkles, contact member of ASCE, was given a set of book ends of Kentucky iron ore made in the UK Metallurgical Laboratory in appreciation of his services to the local chapter of the society. Prof. Alvin L. Chambers of the Student Union was also present.

Following the meeting, a luncheon in the Student Union was attended by about 40 members and officers of the student chapter and graduate civil engineers.

Dean Terrell will be installed as president of ASCE for the one-year term Oct. 1 at the annual ASCE meeting in New York.

Dr. Chamberlain Will Be Honored

A dinner honoring Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, University vice-president, was given by the faculty and staff who visited foreign countries last year will be held at 6 o'clock tonight in the Student Union.

Sponsored by the UK Women's Club, the dinner will be an open house for all the faculty and staff, their families and friends.

Dr. Chamberlain will be the dinner speaker and will speak on his experiences in India and Pakistan, where he traveled last year on an assignment for the U. S. Department of State.

Students To Sign Up For Yearbook Photos

Photography for the 1954 Kentucky yearbook will begin at 9 o'clock Monday morning, Oct. 5, on the second floor of the Enoch Greban Journalism Building.

Five-minute appointments for each student will continue Monday through Saturday noon, for the next four weeks, closing Oct. 31. No portraits for the 1954 Kentucky yearbook will be made after Oct. 31 when the studio set up in the Journalism Building will be closed.

Appointment sheets are now available on the campus. Fraternity and sorority members have been making their reservations the past week along with independent seniors.

Reservation blanks will be available throughout the photography period at a desk at Room 116, School of Journalism main office. Hours for signing up will be 8:30 a.m. daily, and 1:30 to 5 p.m. daily, and 8:30 a.m. on Saturday.

At the end of the portrait photography, a week will be arranged for group photography, beginning Nov. 2.

Organizations will be called by Kentuckian staffers for arrangements for appointments.

Editor-in-Chief Jim Perry set 25 staff members to work on the new Kentucky early this week. A few more assignments are available, he said yesterday. With the dummy for the book completed, he is preparing to push production of the yearbook toward one of the earliest press dates in its more than a half-century history.

Meanwhile, subscriptions for the Kentuckian are running far ahead of previous years, he said yesterday. The position of program director and traffic manager have been filled by Jack Oshman and Ann Young.

Jack is a senior transfer from the UK Extension Center in Covington. He comes from South Fort Mitchell where he produced an audience participation program for WZUP called "Fun Incorporated."

Ann is a sophomore radio major from Danie, Va. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi, Omega, Alpha Lambda Delta, and the publicity committee of the Student Union Board. She was music librarian of WBKY last year.

Bob Taylor and Don Stewart will be co-sports editors. Bob is a sophomore from Evansville, Ind., and Don is a junior from Louisville and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Both have done play-by-play work before on WBKY.

Mike Murphy, Radio Arts senior from Ashland, was appointed publicity manager. He is a member of Sigma Nu and represented them on IFC last year. He conducted a disk jockey show on WBKY last year called "Jane Masters."

Students Must Realize University Is In A Critical Financial Position

Students at UK are taking their University for granted.

As they go about the campus attending classes, meeting friends, and taking part in college and social activities, the University itself is shoved aside. Students are not conscious that each of them plays an important role in the operation of their state university.

At present the University is operating on a deficit budget. This is a shaky foundation for such an institution. In the interest of state education as a whole, and especially higher learning in Kentucky, the University deserves an appropriation designed to cover its needs.

During the summer, the University appropriation of $4,411,900 for the 1953-54 school year was cut $287,830 when the state did not realize its estimated income. This amount should be restored, in addition to an increase in the appropriation.

Students are directly connected with the University's budget needs. They will be affected in the classrooms, residence halls, and through tuition boosts. It is evident that UK cannot continue to operate properly without sufficient funds. The state has always been the main source of revenue. With the increased cost of education, UK's request for additional funds does not appear out of line.

The University must maintain its building program and faculty standards.

UK's program of expansion can be halted, to the detriment of students throughout Kentucky desiring to enter their own state university. Or it can go forward, opening the way for additional research and training.

Each year more and more professors are being wopped away from UK by other universities who offer tempting salary increases. The teachers are not at fault for accepting the new positions. The blame falls on those responsible for the inadequate salaries at UK. Kentucky's college teachers are paid less today, in terms of cost of living, than they were in 1940. The cost of living is up 91 per cent, while the teachers' salaries are up only 71.6 per cent.

In comparison to neighboring state universities, Kentucky receives the smallest appropriation of any, with the exception of Virginia which has a considerably smaller enrollment than UK.

If students would only realize that their University is in a critical position, they might become aware that they hold a vital stake in its future.

The Registrar's office has finished a complete count of UK's enrollment this semester. Probably counted the legs and divided by two.

That wouldn't be too accurate, however. There are some whom we feel should be divisible by four.

We had a terrible experience the other day. We thought we saw a parking space. Started for the Registrar's office at a dead run to report such an obvious oversight. Then it occurred to us—they've found the solution to the parking problem. They've mined the parking spaces.

Four young ladies dressed, according to propaganda, only in bathing suits will take part in half-time festivities at the Wildcat-Gator football game Saturday night.

Now there's an idea—not much of one, but an idea none the less. Why not dress the UK squad in bathing trunks? If we can't whop 'em, we can sure scare hell out of 'em

Our Contemporaries Say: Subversive?

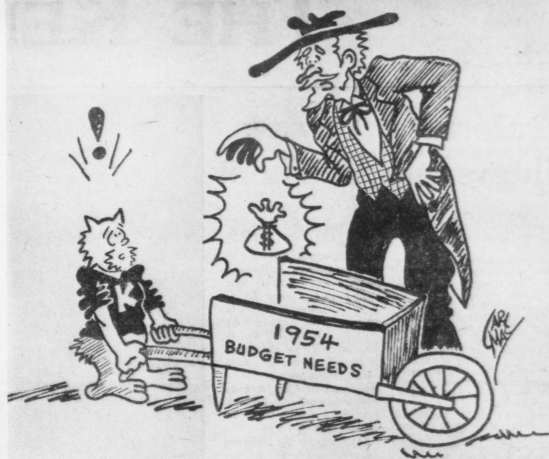

An inactive reservist with the Air Force can scarcely be considered in close touch with vital defense secrets of the United States. Even if he were, however, his formal expulsion from the Air Force as a security risk because of the alleged activities of his father and sister would be a procedure difficult to justify.

The reservist is Lieutenant Milo Dadulovich, now a G.I. Bill of Rights student at the University of Michigan. He faces a hearing relating to his expulsion and the charges, according to his attorney, are that his sister took part in picket-line activities and his father reads a radical newspaper.

If these are indeed the only charges, then the Tenth Air Force at Selfridge Field, where the action originated, is deserving of severe censure. Picketing is not only not subversive, it is not even illegal, and there is not yet a list of publications in this country the mere reading of which establishes a man as a suspicious character. But much more important than whether this man's sister pickets or his father reads radical journals is the question: How does it concern the Air Force if they do? The citizen of a free society is not called to account for the activity of his relations, or subjected to official discrimination if this activity displeases some bureaucrat.

On its face, the Air Force's actions are an unpleasant reflection of the hysteria that most of us had hoped was confined to a lunatic fringe of the population. Such hysteria has no place in the thinking of the armed services and we hope that the responsible officers, if indeed this is the sum total of their case against the reservist, will be told so in unmistakable terms.

Frankie Rates Dramatic Laurels In Film, 'From Here To Eternity'

By LESLIE MORRIS

Well, here we are back again just as we warned, with a brief, but lucid commentary upon the cinema version of Jim Jones' unpretty novel, "From Here To Eternity."

For those of you who have only read the turreddown pages of the book, the plot is concerned with the trials and trails of three members of Company C, a tough watch-dog unit stationed in Honolulu, during the infamous fall of 1941. The dog-faces—Prew (Monty Clift), Sgt. Warden (Burt Lancaster), and Maggio (Frank Sinatra).

We do not intend to review the movie's story—you should have seen it yourself. But we do wish to compliment Mr. Sinatra, who, finally realizing he cannot sing, has done a great job of emoting as the little Italian pop-off, who finally gets his insides kicked headward by a pugacious top-sarge. His death scene is especially well carried off. But how a rail like Frankie-boy ever latched on to Ava G., if only for an interim, is irrelevant and beside the point, but an intriguing question none-the-less.

Clift, as usual, is excellent, but a little punchy; and Lancaster is his usual tenacious, but genteel self. Donna Reed, for the first time in her inglorious career, makes like she can act; Deborah Kerr is still more convincing in a hoop-skirt.

Squeamish movie patrons may have found the fare a little too red-blooded, but Hollywood has nothing to blush about. The tone—to quote the classic review—may have been an "obscene . . . lot of ink," but the film rendition is but a well-scrubbed synopsis of same.

We thought the whole business a trifle sluggish, and the wind-up scene, with our two femmes fatale accidentally meeting aboard a liner leaving the remains of Pearl Harbor, a sort of maudlin "Story of Two Loves." But we bow to majority vote, and urge you to see this sex-pence, if you haven't already.

Scheduled to open at the Kentucky Theater today is a movie that should be worth a night off. It is another cinematic adaptation of a Book-Club choice, "A Lion Is In The Streets." It has been denied, but this is undeniably a fictionalized biography of the late Louisiana "Kingfish," Huey P. Long.

The novel, by-forget-who, is a powerful study of a good man corrupted by an indomitable ambition. Much similar to "All The King's Men," it runs a gamut of colorful incidents and passions which ultimately earn the demagogic Hank Martin the governor's chair and a resultant bullet in the cerebellum.

Lexington has evidently received an advance release of this feature for we haven't seen any worthwhile critiques, but it would take a bit of treachery to mess this one up. With the incomparable Jimmy Cagney as Hank, this should be a sure-fire hit. But never underestimate the power of an inept movie-maker.

While we're on the subject, we see that the same theater will soon show a well-received number, "Little Boy Lost," made in France, and starring der Bingle and an undermourned child actor, Christian Fourcade. This we didn't like however. Crosby seems somewhat uncomfortable in his histrionic plight, and his songs are squeezed in even though they break the poignancy of a drama supposedly unmusical in theme. If Sinatra knows when to keep his mouth shut, Bing should also.

Eskimo's Belch Saves Cold World

By RONNIE BUTLER

Let me tell you about the greatest contest ever held.

It was a belching contest, funny as that may sound, and it took place in the far stretches of the North Pole.

This is how it happened. J. Edgar Crutcherbox was a geology major at the great University of Kentucky. His specialty was icebergs, glaciers, and other frigid subjects. His girl friends were much the same.

It happened in 1959, if you remember. The Big Freeze. Remember how the XYZ Bomb froze everything north of Greenwich Village, New York, including the Board of Censors in Boston?

Well, it was a tragedy, and Crutcherbox, disappointed in love, set out to unfreeze the huge sheet of glacial ice.

It wasn't an easy job, because the only people still living up there were a few hardy eskimos.

Crutcherbox set up headquarters in an igloo condemned by the local fire department. It was made of dry ice, and, therefore, considered a fire hazard. However, this is beyond the point. The important thing is the methods J. Edgar first employed.

First, he detonated an H-bomb right smack on top of the biggest fank of ice up there.

Result: Two eskimos snooching on a slippery iceberg suffered lacerations and embarrassment.

Second, he lit 3,000,069 cans of Sterno by the ice.

Result: Two low-flying birds were singed.

Third, he hypnotized several billion termites and told them that the ice was really wood and that they should go at it.

Result: Several billion quick-frozen termites. Crutcherbox was almost disappointed. If it hadn't been for a cute little eskimo gal, who was getting to the point where she would share her blubber with him, he might have left.

Furthermore, the Geology Department was putting pressure on J. Edgar. They wanted results . . . and quick.

So he put his brain to work.

Crutcherbox employed the Zerberpium 69 Bomb! The bomb that threw terror into the world.

The bomb scientists believed would destroy all life.

The bomb that would make a flaming, miniature sun of the Earth.

Crutcherbox sweated over the details, double and triple checking to avoid bugs.

Time: 0014, January 11, 1969.

Crutcherbox pressed a button.

Result: Patt Hall girls, hearing the noise, rushed to the windows in hopes of another panty raid.

DISAPPOINTMENT! To say the least.

He considered suicide, but was afraid he might hurt himself.

He considered resigning from the Geology Department, but he couldn't. He knew the boys had let their hair rock on his success.

Worse of all, he considered marriage.

With the Eskimo girl, Frigina.

So, he asked her if she'd marry him. "Yes," she said, and he was another name on the eternal list of suckers.

They prepared a feast, a feast to beat all feasts.

And they had it on top of the biggest, coldest sheet of ice they could find.

Needless to say, both were equipped with flamed underwear.

Frigina cooked the blubber, Crutcherbox roasted the seal.

Then they ate—and ate—and ate—and ate.

Their hunger satisfied, Crutcherbox broke out 69 cases of beer.

And they drank—and drank—and drank.

Then it happened.

Frigina belched.

Crutcherbox was shocked. A cute thing like that belching. He was so upset he drank some more beer.

Frigina belched again, and Crutcherbox, feeling rosier, added one of his own.

Frigina belched, Crutcherbox belched. The great North Regions rumbled with the echoes.

And then it happened.

He knew it was coming—he felt it coming on . . . the biggest belch known to mankind. THE ZERBURPIUM 69 BOMB HAD AFFECTED HIM!

He listened to Frigina's belches for a few seconds, inspired by her resonant rurs.

Suddenly, rushing forth from his gaping mouth, it came.

THE BURP.

Lightning flashed, and thunder rolled over the vast sheets of ice. Sixty-nine million birds were knocked from the air, a tidal wave was set up, and finally, the ice broke up, dissolving in dispar—and admiration—at the greatest belch the world has ever known.

J. Edgar Crutcherbox saved the world.

He did it with a belch.

Inspired of course, by his ever-loving wife, Frigina.

Which proves that good things do come out of mixed marriages.

Burp!

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Belcans He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"So long in the lake," squalled Sheedy's mermaid with baited breath, "You look simply crabby with that messy hair. Better get your hooks into Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic. Keeps hair combed with no trace of greasiness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Relieves annoying dryness. Contains lanolin. Non-alcoholic. I shall never see you again until you start using it." Paul crabbed 299 and bought Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he's the crab-apple of hog eye. So water you waiting for? Hurry and get a bottle or handy tube at any toilet goods counter. And next time you visit your barber, ask for Wildroot Cream-Oil on your hair. Then you'll be the best catch on campus.

"The median salary at Kentucky (state) institutions of higher learning averages 24 to 30 per cent below the median salary at 177 colleges in 48 states. Kentucky's college teachers are paid less today, in terms of cost of living, than they were in 1949 by 19.4 per cent. The cost of living is up 91 per cent, whereas the salaries of Kentucky's college teachers are up only 7.6 per cent. The salaries with reference to non-academic personnel are faced with comparable conditions," Dr. Donovan outlined the depletion of its financial reserves.

"During recent years, the University, large number of veterans, so the federal government paid additional funds to the University representing instruction cost. The regular fee paid by a student at the University represents about 33 per cent of the actual cost of his education."

"Because of a reserve built up during the last six or seven years," Dr. Donovan said, "the University had supplemented its income during the past few years to the extent of $500,000 to $800,000 each year in order to meet increased costs of education. These reserves are now depleted."

"We are supplementing the current year's operation for colleges $815,979 and the Agricultural Experiment Station $109,984. These reserves which are used this year aggregate $625,964. We, therefore, need this addition to the state appropriation in order to continue the current program."

The University's budget request this year will be combined, for the first time, with the needs of Kentucky's five other institutions of higher learning—Eastern, Western, Morehead, Murray and Kentucky State colleges.

Children Of Alumni Enroll At University

Some of the children of alumni who have entered the University were in the islands last summer. Coach Bryant participated in a coaching clinic there, and coached one of the high school teams in an all-star game. Mr. Williamson and family were visiting in Honolulu and met the Kentucky coach and Nancy Hatfield, daughter of Ewell Hatfield, Charleston, W. Va.; and Barbara Ann Denham, daughter of Sam B. Denham, Florence.

Charles N. Gray, Lexington, a salesman for the National Cash Register Company who holds a lieutenant colonel's commission and is commanding officer of the Second Battalion, 8803rd Army Reserve Technical Service Unit, an Army reserve unit with headquarters in Lexington, has been named the new commander of the Fifth Mobile Support Group, Kentucky Civil Defense.

J. Soule Smith of Webster Groves, Mo., was a visitor in the Alumni Office this week. He was called to Kentucky because of the death of his brother, Sidney, also a University alumnus.

Harrison D. Braliford, B.S.M.E. '23, E.E. '39, of Milton Point, Rye, N. Y., president of Braliford and Co. Inc., an engineering, development and manufacturing concern, there, visited the campus with his wife and daughter early this month.

Mr. Braliford's company specializes in small-quantity production of electro-mechanical and electronic devices, instruments, and components.

Brig. Gen. Elbert DeCoursey, MC USA, director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, welcomed visiting pathologists to the week-long seminar on Pathology of Tumorizing Radiation held last week at the Institute's headquarters in Washington.

He also conducted a two and one-half hour critique on the last day of the conference.

Wesley Fellowship Group Schedules Hayride Tonight

A hayride to a farm on the Lem-on Mill Road is planned tonight by the Wesley Fellowship. Members will meet behind the Student Union Building at 6:30 p.m.

Election of vice-president of the Foundation will be held at 9:15 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 4, at the First Methodist Church. This election is being held to replace Don Powell, who was elected last year but is unable to return to school.

Those nominated for the office by the group's nominating committee are Don Mosley, Louisville, and Bill Stratton, Ashland. Other nominations will be made from the floor Sunday, and the entire slate will be voted on.

Disciples Student Fellowship
The Disciples Student Fellowship will hold a retreat this week-end at a river camp.

A special communion service at the Central Christian Church will be held Sunday morning. Dr. Leslie Smith, pastor of the church, will speak on "The History of Communion."

Newman Club
The Newman Club will hold its annual Mardi Gras Dance the night of Oct. 27. Susan Stark, social chairman of the group, announced. Other activity dates will be announced.

Former Student Poses Problem Concerning Kyian

Yashitaka Iwaguchi, former special student in the College of Commerce, poses a difficult problem for UK Director of Publications, Dr. Neil Plummer.

Iwaguchi, who now lives in Osaka, Japan, wrote to Dr. Plummer and asked if he could buy a 1952 Kentuckyian. Because of the currency exchange rate between the United States and Japan, Iwaguchi cannot send money.

"But," he wrote, "I can send any article such as dolls, curios, lanterns, abacus, fans, etc. Therefore I would accept a Kentuckyian ($) for anything you would like in equal amount. Of course, I have no intention to ask such terms strongly, but if you think my proposal is agreeable, please do so. If not, no reply is required."

"Lastly I express my sincere appreciation for kindness and friendship which the students of UK extended to me. I wish I could see again that splendid ball game."

Professor: Will you men in the back of the room please stop exchanging notes?
LNA: They aren't notes, sir. They're cards. We're playing bridge.
Professor: Oh, I beg your pardon.

A third-string quarterback named Witherspoon had a Lovable Ambition. He wanted to be first-string quarterback. Particularly to start the opening game under the Admiring Eyes of his Number One Girl. Unfortunately the coach was a Hard Man to Convince. So our hero, undismayed, uncorked a Master Plan.

Two weeks before the opening game, the coach got a Telegram. Message: "Ten reasons why Witherspoon should be first-string quarterback. First, Witherspoon is resourceful. Without this approach..." Each day the coach received a similar Telegramic Tribute to the Sterling Qualities and Gridiron Proves of Witherspoon, ending on the tenth day with "Witherspoon knows the T-formation to a T. Incidentally, his father is considering endowing a new gymnasium."

Who started Stanway? Our boy, naturally. Did very well, too. Played all season. "Just one of my Finds," the coach murmurs modestly, when found in the New Athletics Building.

Nothing puts a point across as convincingly as a Telegram... whether you're trying to get a "Yes" out of a Coach, a Chick or that Checkbook at home. (Fact—when it comes to trying Pines out of a Recalcitrant Parent, a Telegram is just about the world's Best Crow-bar). Whatever your message, it'll Mean More when it goes on the Yellow Black.

Only $4.50? Fantastic!

Walking away from the ruins of his flying saucer, the tiny creature opened his emergency kit. Peering into it with his middle eye, he beheld a stack of greenbacks, packs of chewing gum, and a sheet of instructions which read: "In this kit you will find everything you need to live as a college student. All college men wear clothes and chew gum. Buy clothes, chew gum constantly... and good luck!"

Scratching his left antenna with his lower left hand, he tore off half of a five dollar bill, popped it into his mouth, and scuttled into a nearby college shop. "Let's see your finest shirt," he squeaked.

The trembling clerk handed him a Van Heusen Oxfordian. "Gleeks, that's really a mimsy!", screamed the little fellow, feeling the luxurious Oxford fabric. "How much is it?"

"Only $4.50," quavered the clerk. "I have them in the smartest new colors... and white to boot. Plus roll collars, button-downs and new short collars."

"Only $4.50? Fantastic!", piped the creature. "I'll take one of each!"

Carefully he counted out twenty sticks of gum and laid them on the counter. "Keep the change," he chortled, putting the shirts under his middle arm. And munching merrily on a crisp ten dollar bill, he waddled out.

Tonight, the first of the annual All-student pep rallies will be held in front of the Coliseum at 7 p.m. The last one was held before the Texas A&M game and was attended mainly by freshmen and well attended, we must add.

Stuky has decided that, in order to make a revolution in school spirit, the freshmen must be influenced before the high-hatting upperclassmen get their hooks into them. This is a shame. It should be that the upperclassmen lead the freshmen and not the fresh lead their advanced brethren.

Let's get together and move some of that spirit which exists in Greek organizations over to the Coliseum. Let the Greeks lead the rebirth of spirit on campus. Bring Fraternity Flags and all. We will recognize in next week's column the organizations which bear their colors to the rally.

It appeared to be just a little too much reserve strength on Ole Miss's part and not enough, in natural sequence, for the Wildcats in the 22-6 loss last week.

Many close observers feel that the difference in the two teams was the Rebels' ability to take advantage of the many mistakes which the Cats made and breaks. Ole Miss had two TDs materialize out of two breaks while the Wildcats were able to take advantage of none of their breaks.

According to "Smoky" Harper, team trainer, both Ray Correll and Tom Adkins, who were removed from the game due to injuries, were not seriously hurt and will, in all probability, be back in action when the Florida Gators enter Stoll Field tomorrow night.

We feel that one victory will set the boys on a winning trek for the remaining season but when will the win come? Tomorrow night the Gators come into town fresh from a 0-0 upset tie with the mighty Engineers of Georgia Tech, considered by many as top dog on the SEC ladder.

With a young and inexperienced squad such as Coach Bryant has this year, one mark in the win ledger would give the confidence such a team needs to go on to upsets down the line. In the past few years this has been exceptionally true.

In 1951, the squad lost three of their first four games but came back to wind up with a 20-7 win over T.C.U. in the Cotton Bowl. Last year, the annual "Comeback Kids" lost three and tied one of their first five games but won the next four before tying Tennessee in that historical game in Knoxville.

To Wildcats fans, don't become discouraged till they finish their first four or five games. They'll come back.

"Impressive" is the only word that can be used to describe the play of John Delmar Hughes, 18-year-old front quarterback from Prestonsburg who sparked the squad to the Rebel seven-yard stripe late in the game with his passing after Joe Platt's 62-yard run. The TD failed when Hughes was nailed for a couple of losses and the gun sounded. His passing showed potentiality of a great nature. He has been described as more advanced than Babe Parilli at this stage of the game. If you will remember, Babe didn't show too much in his freshman year but rumors have it that we will see much more of this promising young quarterback.

UK-LSU May Or May Not Meet On Basketball Court

There is a very good chance that Kentucky and Louisiana State will meet on the basketball court this coming season.

Sources in Owensboro announced this past week that UK and LSU will dissolve their differences and play a game on a neutral court.

A committee of basketball enthusiasts seeking to arrange the SEC's round-robin system of scheduling game said approval had been given by Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky, Dr. Troy H. Middleton, president of LSU, Commissioner Bernie Moore of the Southeastern Conference, and the athletic directors of the two schools.

Formal approval awaits meetings of the athletic governing bodies of the schools.

'Dames' Members To Model In Show

Ten UK Dames Club members will model the latest fall fashions in a style show to be presented at the first meeting of the semester next Wednesday in the Music Room of the Student Union Building.

A short business session will begin at 8:00 p.m., followed by the style show which is being sponsored by a local department store.

The Dames Club is a social organization for wives of UK students, graduate students, and graduate assistants. Anyone interested in becoming a member may join at this meeting.

She was only an insurance salesman's daughter, but I certainly asked her policy.

A spokesman for the committee said, however, that all signs indicate the game will be played in Owensboro's 7,000-seat Sport-center around the middle of January.

Kentucky's one-year suspension by the SEC wiped out a game scheduled with LSU at Baton Rouge last season. It was set up under the SEC's round-robin system of scheduling the championship. LSU argued Kentucky should play the game in Louisiana this year and Kentucky refused on the ground that action of the SEC rather than its own caused the cancellation.

In later reports since the rest of this article was written, L.S.U. officials have denied any such arrangements being made by the two schools.

T. P. Heard, L.S.U. athletic director said that "there is nothing in the works" to any such report. He reported that the school has a complete schedule for 1953 and that they had no plans to add another at this time.

Cross Country Squad To Open With Cincy

The Kentucky Cross Country squad will open its 1953 schedule against Cincinnati in the northern town on October 23.

Cincinnati and Marshall, which will run against UK and Butler the following week in Lexington, are two new additions to the schedule. DePauw, a team which the Harriers defeated last year in the triangular meet with Butler is not on this year's schedule.

Charlie Wells, Frank Scott and Tom Sandidge are working out regularly among the returning veterans. Dave Collett, an outstanding freshman prospect who won the Spiked Shoe State Cross Country Run last year, will be counted on heavily. Specie Fries who laid out the Spring track season with illness, will not run this year.

The schedule is as follows:
Oct. 23—Cincinnati, there Oct. 31—Butler and Marshall—Piedmont, 11 a.m.
Nov. 7—Morehead and Berea—Piedmont, 10 a.m.

Kirwan Leads UK Grid Team In Big Year—1952

Wins Over Centre And Tennessee Are High-Lites

By BILL BURLISON

It is the year 1952. Kentucky is supposed to have a powerhouse this year. They play a rugged nine game schedule. On it are Maryville, Chicago, Clemson, Washington & Lee, Sewanee, Centre, Alabama, V. M. I., and Tennessee. The big game is with a team that they haven't scored a touchdown on in eight years, Centre.

Maryville is the first to fall to the Blue and White gridlers by the score of 13 to 6. Chicago takes their measure 9 to 6, but the Cats bounced back and down Clemson 19 to 6. The W. L. Generals shut them out 23 to 0, but again the Cats claw Sewanee 14 to 0 to get on the winning trail again.

This is not a spectacular record to bring against the Gold and White Warriors. But Wildcat supporters get renewed hope from the fact that this is not the team that downed Harvard or was regarded as the greatest team assembled. No, Centre is on the downgrade and this will be the year!

CAPT. AB KIRWAN

Rain Hits
The day before the game there is a downpour and it lasts well into the night and the day dawn dark and cloudy. But this doesn't keep twelve thousand from traveling to Danville and Cheek Stadium.

You sat in the stands well bundled to keep from being chilled by the wind on this last day of October. The stands are a whirl of color. The bands try to drown out each other with the cheering section adding their vocal chords to the melee. You see the Gold and White flag of the Colonels, flying proudly from the flagpole. The captains meet at the center of the field. Kentucky will kick off.

Centre runs a play. Then there is a fumble on the 17 yard-line. The Wildcats recovered! They run a play but are penalized 15 yards. Gavie Mohney then runs to the two. "Ab" Kirwan slashes over for the first touchdown in the first five minutes. It is fitting that the captain should be the one to break the eight year jinx. Mohney then added the extra point.

Cats Lead, 10-0
In the second quarter Mohney added a field goal to put the Big Blue out in front 10 to 0. Some excitement was added to the game when a plane flew over and rapped candy bars in little parachutes. Children scurried on the field to retrieve these. In the third quarter Len Tracy and Frank Phipps combined their line plunges for a score with Phipps going over. This ended the scoring with the last quarter being played in near-darkness—Pandemonium reigned and the Wildcats were victorious.

The big iron that should now be found in the trophy case in the Student Union. Where are some of these great heroes of the past that were compared to the men of Troy on that one day of accomplishment? Gavie Mohney is progressing law in downtown Lexington. Len Tracy is teaching English here and writing for the "Thoughtful Leader." Frank Phipps is the State Game Commissioner. "Ab" Kirwan is Dean of Men. The coach, Fred J. Murphy, is retired and living in Florida.

Kirwan Speculates
Dean Kirwan when approached on if this was his biggest thrill while playing here said, "No, the Tennessee game was the biggest. The Centre game was a big thrill but as the years passed and the rivalry with Tennessee built up while Centre was on the downgrade. We beat them 23 to 20 with Len Tracy scoring three touchdowns and Gavie Mohney kicking a field goal. We have only beat them once since then."

Civil Engineers Schedule Meeting

R. R. Haber, soil mechanics engineer for the West Virginia State Road Commission, will be guest speaker at a meeting for civil engineering juniors and seniors at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Anderson Hall, Room 206.

Haber, formerly connected with the UK Highway Research Laboratory, will talk on soil mechanics with special emphasis to highway engineering and landslides.

Legal Fraternity Holds Rush Party

Approximately 90 students and faculty members from the College of Law attended a rush party Thursday night given by Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity.

A large number of freshmen law students, active and pledges of the fraternity attended the party held at the DeRose Club on North Lime-stone.

Law students, pledged to the legal fraternity during the first week of classes, include Dusty Rhodes, J. Q. Westley, Jim Kemp, and Glenn Meadows.

Date of initiation will be announced later.

Pledges Have Abrupt Awakening

By JOHN STRACHAN

A strange silence has fallen on the University campus this week. The quiet is even deeper than that which is found in a bookmaker's office after a long shot has paid off. What is the cause of all this oblivion?

Did somebody steal the pool cues from the Student Union's optimism? No, the problem seems to lie in the hands of the sororities and fraternities. Bush has ended!

Some people may not know what this means, and others may just sigh with relief. But hold on, the

He has been a member of the spring track squad and cross country team for the past two years.

Frank Scott, senior transfer, was elected vice-president and Bill Val-lance, junior hurdler was elected Sec.-Treas. of the organization. fun's just started. This is merely the hull before the storm.

All of a sudden the rushe who thought he or she was the King of the Campus finds him or herself in the revolving position of being a pledge. The bright and shiny future looks slightly tarnished already.

The first sign of the big change was the elimination of a multitude of handshakes. Smiles are replaced by fiendish grins. The silence is now being punctuated by the constant tapping of the frat boys working out with their punching bags.

No longer are cigarettes stuffed into empty mouths, and promptly lit with matches stamped with the proverbial words, "Long live our fraternity."

Instead the answer to the query for a smoke is, "The machine is downstairs. See a pack, and the money we clear goes into our padded fund."

Shifting the scene to the fairer sex, we find all is equally as unret-

Newsletters selling for a penny apiece were begun in the 1830's. "Let's make a date for Saturday." "I have a date for Saturday." "Then let's make it Sunday." "I'm going out of town Sunday." "How about Monday?" "All right. All right. I'll go Saturday."

Social Swing Gets Under Way

"Life is but a game at football." Nothing could be truer, especially during the fall and on a college campus. Tomorrow night the UK Wildcats will tangle with the Florida Gators while most of the students will cheer the Big Blue on to victory.

Chi Omega is holding an 'Owl' night Saturday night to honor their new pledges. This Tuesday night there will be the second "Swing" of the year. This informal dance will be held in the Student Union Ballroom for all those who enjoy a good evening of dancing.

Finals Are Scheduled In Speech Contests

Final competition in the state-wide high school speech contests will be held here Oct. 31, according to a schedule released Sunday by the UK Extension Department. Competing in the finals will be winners from nine regional competitions to be held Oct. 22, 23 and 24 in various colleges and high schools throughout the state.

for the fall, instead of the spring when they are normally held, is to create an interest in the coming November election in which citizens will vote on the proposed repeal of Section 193 of the Kentucky Constitution. Extension officials said. Repeal of this section, they said, would remove restrictions on how the legislature may spend school funds and might provide for a minimum foundation educational program. The general theme of the speech events, "A Minimum Foundation Program for Education," is aimed at explaining the issue, the officials said.
