Dear Fred,

It is a late day for me to be writing you a letter of congratulation on your election to the presidency of the American Medical Association.

However, I feel that sincere good wishes are worthy of expression even though it be a little late, and I want you to know that I am very happy over your election. I have always regarded you as one of the real friends that I had the privilege knowing while I was at the Clinic, and I assure you that you have in me a friend who will always take pleasure and pride
