

Candid Photo
Mrs. C. K. McDowell

by
Dr. Rankin

~~Diagnosis:~~

This photo won first prize at the Chicago, Paris and Pizgay International Expositions.

It is an exceptionally lucid view of the patient's kidney, taken at high noon on Jan 2, 1938.

You can clearly observe Willy-Nilly. Willy, upon inspection, appears to be alright, but Nilly suggests the last stages of ~~alcoholism~~ galloping hic-coughs.

The disturbance shown in one corner of the photo. is most unusual. Some experts believe it is the hoof mark of the Duck-Bill Dinosaur or perhaps the Giant Salamander. "G" man Hoover believes it is the thumb-print of President ~~McKenley~~ <sup>Coolidge</sup>. What ever it is, ~~study~~ ~~is needed from top to bottom~~. I will get to the bottom of it.
