Owing to the fact that the staff is still incomplete, it is the plan of the editors to devote the first few weeks vacant. An opportunity will be given to any newcomers at the University or any others whose journalistic talent has not yet come under the notice of ability to hold a place on the college paper. Selections for the staff will be made of those who submit the most promising work. Assignments will be given to those who apply at the Kernel office, in the basement of the Administration Building Saturday morning.

Besides the positions of editor-in chief, managing editor and assistant ed by Professor Carl Lampert, ac. Gavin Norment, Miss Louise Will and Bob Raible, respectively, only two appointments have been made. Donald Dinning wil lbe sporting editor and Mr. Herndon Evans, Squirrel Food

TE SALUTAMUS.

"Hello, old man, glad to see you!"

This expression, which has been heard on all sides for the last week, opitomizes the general good feeling of the student body in the opening of what promises to be the most notable year that the University of Kentucky hes yet known. Old students of ante-bellum days grasp the hands of men whose names they have forgotten and bluff that ever welcome expression, "Hello, old man."

It is with this feeling that the Kentucky Kernel greets its friends of former years; it is with the same spirit that the new student is welcomed; perhaps a little more warmly is the newcomer welcomed to our midst.

This should be the University's greatest year. Never was there a more representative body of students gathered together in "Old Kentucky" than the present enrollment. Every county in the State, from the Big Sandy to Mills' Point, has sent the best of its young men and women to this institution for their higher education.

Lexington is greeting the students this year with even a heartier welcome and more good Kentucky comradeship than ever before. The citizens realize the extensive benefits to be derived from college community and are extending an added welcome to the students of this year and the years to come by fostering the plans for the new State Memorial Building. Lexington proposes a bond issue of $7$55,000 to raise its quota and the Fayette Fiscal Court has already appropriated $25,000 to complete the combined city and county quota of $100,000. Incomplete reports from the State generally indicate that at least $200,000 of the sum is already assured.

The University plant itself has never been so well equipped for the great work to be done and improvements made in physical aspects of the institution alone in the last eighteen months have converted the University from a small inadequately appointed college, so to speak, to a physical status more nearly approaching the dignity of its great office in the Commonwealth.

The faculty this year has met the student body with open arms and the f

The Kernel invites criticism and suggestion from faculty and students and hopes to become, throughout the session just opening, the boon companion and good comrade of both.

BENEVOLENT ELIMINATION.

The European War has been settled, the National League pennant has been cinched, the Bolsheviks defeated, the peace treaty signed, the League of Nations practically decided upon, but the greatest issue of all—how to prevent the painless extraction of the Freshman's hirsute adornment—continues in a state of nervous uncertainty.

Despite the warning of an ever tolerant faculty and the promises of condign punishment of offenders unlucky enough to fall into their grasp, some youngsters who proudly boast of things that will be accomplished in 1923 have appeared on the campus with their heads resembling a cubist's dream. The work along this line this year seems far ahead of that of the olden days and in many instances the labor smacks strangely of professionalism.

Hair-cutting is an ancient custom of the University

Hair-cutting is an ancient custom of the University and belongs with the never-running water fountain and the antiquated gym. In the old days when moral suasion was never used to accomplish the work no first year man escaped; he always remarked after the iob was completed that he didn't care much anyway. The city barbers with their incidentally fattened tills never registered a complaint, so far as had been learned up to the hour of going plaint, so far as had been to press.

Many styles are used by the weilders of the clippers. Scissoristically speaking their work has been highy successful. Beginning at the northeast end of the head and proceeding in a southwestern direction no one can tell what the result will be when a upper classman grabs the shears and starts after his victim.

The writer, whose sins of commission in this particular field of progressive elimination are perhaps too many lar field of progressive elimination are perhaps too many and too recent for him in this instance to suggest a rem-edy without subjecting himself to suspicion of hypocrisy, nevertheless devoutly believes the day will yet dawn when young Kentuckians entrusted with the impressive duty of sustaining University tradition will see their way clear to desist from a practice that has long been a source of embarassment to the faculty and perhaps by no means an emphatic mark of credit to the malefactors.

Meantime the shorn locks of the unsuspecting Freshman still tremble in the autumn wind and the culprit escapes the wrath of the faculty through the loyal, if not commendable refusal of the victims to "peach" on their tormentors.

Matter of Interpretation

"It is a matter of civic duty," Dr. McVey said. "In a way Lexington is host for the hundreds of students who come here to attend the University, and we ought to do everything we can to make their stay here as profitable and convenient as possible."-Lexington Herald.

Why Not Trade Hara

-BECAUSE-

The selection of suitable drug store goods is better here than usual for the very simple reason that not only do we stock practically anything and everything that any drug store anywhere could offer you. but we arrange and display them in such a way as to make selection easy, rapid and satisfactory. The quality of everything we sell is high-grade. True, there are medium priced and low-priced goods, but value for value, price for price, there are better offerings here than elsewhere. When the question of drugs is considered there is but one quality and that is the highest that science can produce. that is the highest that science can produce.
