

③ were students. They could not help us solve our economic or social problems. They could only stir up trouble and probably cause some tragic outbreak that would hurt our section. Under the circumstances there was nothing for us to do but place them under a peace bond, ~~and~~ send them to jail or send them back home safe and unharmed. We think we adopted the same course. If those who are prone to criticize us for our action had gone through with what we have at the hands of communists, labor agitators and self-appointed investigators seeking material for books, we feel that they would say we have shown great restraint in the way we have handled the situation forced upon us.
