

PART 1

THE PEST

THE COURIER-JOURNAL, LOUISVILLE, TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 29, 1932.

stitutions, shooting down children, kidnaping the darlings of the home; organized gangs of crime that laugh in derision at the feeble attempts of a government to protect its worthier citizenship.

Let the boys and girls of the Kentucky mountains make just one trip east, and let the veil of corruption, of crime and the disregard of God's most holy injunctions, be lifted for their vision, and they will return
